AGAIN CONSIDER THE UNEMPLOYED

Situation a Little Better in Plainfield Now Than it Was One Week Ago.

APPEAL TO COUNCILS

City and Borough Authorities Will Be Urged to Start Public Work at Once as Far as Appropriations Will Permit.

Some improvement in the prospects for the unemployed in the city of Plainfield was reported at the meeting of the committee of citizens, which has been formed to relieve those who need work, when it met last night for the second time, at the Mayor's office. James T. MacMurray, superintendent of the Pond Machine Tool Works plant, was present at the meeting and said that within the next two or three weeks he hoped that his firm would need a great many men, and that probably within five weeks from 200 to 300 would be employed by them. This would include many machinists, and a certain amount of unskilled labor.

Mayor Stewart was selected as temporary chairman of the meeting, and Leslie R. Fort as secretary, until such time as a permanent organization can be formed, after representatives have been selected from the city and borough Councils, both of which will be appointed this week. Business Agent William Lunger, of the Building Trades Council, said that things had slightly improved with his people, but that there are still many men out of work. 142 unemployed have taken advantage of the opportunity which has been afforded during the last week to register at the Mayor's office, and while more than half of these are laborers, the majority said that they were willing to work at laborers' work in order to get something to do to support their families. Some of these men had been out of work for over a year, while others had only been out for a week or more.

It was decided to urge the various ministers in the city to explain to their congregations the importance of furnishing employment of any kind to these men, including the cleaning up of yards and other manual labor, to assist worthy workmen and to procure these men from the list who have recorded themselves at the Mayor's office. Councilman Blatz was consulted, as was Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, and these two men agreed to start this morning devising ways and means to use some of the unemployed labor in the city, in so far as appropriations would permit.

After considerable discussion a resolution drafted by the secretary, and reading as follows, was adopted:

"Resolved, that at a meeting of a committee of citizens considering the question of the unemployed in the city, held November 1, 1914, it was unanimously voted that the Common Councils of the city of Plainfield and borough of North Plainfield, be requested to start at once all possible public work at which men now unemployed in the city and borough, may be engaged, so far as appropriations permit."

Councilman Cose reported that he had learned from Councilman Hylan that the contractor on the new trunk sewer would be pleased to hire all the local men that he can get, except bosses, as soon as the work is started, and Mr. Lunger said that if the money could be raised for mortgages he knew of a man who was ready to build eight houses in Columbia avenue.

At the suggestion of Mr. Harding and Councilman Calkins, it was decided to have the Mayor add such members to the committee as he thought would be of service, and the Master Builders' Association will be asked to send a delegation to the next meeting. Those added last night were City Clerk James T. MacMurray, David J. Scott, Charles H. Dunham, Elmer Poineer, A. M. Morrell, Mr. Ayers, W. A. Garrigues, A. W. Ransome, S. M. Rosenthal, Herman Schwed and George Luhr.

MRS. JOSEPHINE THOMPSON.

Mrs. Josephine Thompson, of West Fourth street, died this morning after a short illness. Mrs. Thompson is survived by her father, Joseph Dunham, of this city. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STORES OPEN TOMORROW.

All day tomorrow (election day) all of the dry goods, clothing, shoe, men's furnishing goods, and all stores in the dry goods district will be open. Most of the grocery and provision stores will be closed. ***

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue. tf

MAYOR CLARK REPLIES TO SPEAKER BEEKMAN

Says He Was Indifferent to Passage of Validating Act.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, said this morning, in answer to a statement made by Speaker A. M. Beekman in a speech made at Saengerbund Hall, last Friday night:

"In your issue of Saturday evening, October 31, was a report of a speech made by Speaker Beekman in Saengerbund Hall, October 30, in which it states that he bitterly assails the writer of a circular letter sent out under the auspices of the North Plainfield Republican Club. He calls it an anonymous letter, and says the writer is a moral coward in that he failed to sign his name. I am very much surprised at Speaker Beekman's mental discernment in not being able to infer who the writer of this letter was for as the hand of the Mayor appeared all through the latter, the inference could readily be drawn that the Mayor was the author of the letter. Again, as the Mayor was the only one having a thorough knowledge of the facts he was the only one who could state them intelligently, having been an actual participant in the endeavor to get Assembly Bill 724 passed. Now, in order to clear up all doubt who wrote this letter, I will say that I wrote this

CIVIL SERVICE ISSUE TOMORROW

People of Union to Vote on Question for County Employes at Election.

IMPROVES THE SERVICE

Former Senator E. R. Ackerman, of This City, Fathers Bill Which Makes Such Vote Possible Tomorrow—Draw Line Through 'Against'

In the heighth of the campaign, with the many candidates claiming attention, the people of Union county have, to a certain extent, lost sight of the fact that an important question is to be decided at the polls tomorrow. The question of whether or not county employes shall be placed under civil service is to be voted on, the matter being placed last on the right hand column on the ticket.

Plainfielders have a peculiar interest in this matter, because of the fact that it was a Plainfielder who fathered the law which provides for Civil Service for State and county employes. When Ernest R. Ackerman was in the State Senate in 1908, this was a bit of legislation in which he took a very active interest. He drafted the bill, and then saw to it that it was put through the Senate. Carlton B. Pierce, now seeking election as State Senator, but at that time a member of the House of Assembly, piloted the act through a devious course in that body, against the combined efforts of the Republican and Democratic bosses to defeat the measure.

The words "FOR" and "AGAINST" appear above a brief wording describing the matter to be voted on, in the position mentioned on the ballot. To vote in favor of the adoption of Civil Service for county employes, draw a pencil through the word "Against."

Civil Service principles are too well known to need explanation. The adoption of the matter tomorrow by the people of Union county will mean that all of the employes of the county will be taken out of the political spoils class, and placed upon merit basis, with competency the first consideration in their selection. It has been adopted in all departments of the State Government, and in many of the counties and cities of the State, including Essex and Hudson, and Newark and Jersey City. No opposition, so far as is known, is presented against the adoption of the act in Union county tomorrow.

REV. FRED'K TILDON RESIGNS HIS CHARGE

Bethel Chapel Clergyman to End Long and Successful Pastorate.

Rev. Frederick L. Tildon, for eighteen years pastor of Bethel chapel, the East End colored branch of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last evening tendered his resignation as pastor of that chapel. Mr. Tildon is the oldest local colored preacher in point of service in this city. Other preachers who were occupying local pulpits at the time of Mr. Tildon's coming to Plainfield and are still active pastors of churches here include Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, and Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church.

The activities of Bethel chapel have prospered and grown under the leadership of Mr. Tildon during his pastorate of the chapel and he has made a wide circle of friends in all walks of life during his residence in this city. Mr. Tildon is a graduate of Lincoln University, Chester, Pa., which is under the direction of the Presbyterian church. What the plans of Mr. Tildon are for the present are not known.

During the service of last evening, during which the resignation was read, a number of addresses were made by officials of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, among which was one delivered by Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie.

COUNCILMEN ENDORSE CALKINS FOR MAYOR

Graves and Cose Urge Election of Republican Office Seekers.

Open air meetings were held Saturday night at Fourth and Liberty streets, and also at Madison avenue and Front street, where several hundred people gathered to hear the Republican spellbinders. Councilman Charles C. Graves, of the Fourth ward, introduced Republican Mayoralty Candidate Calkins and made a strong plea for his election. He said the only question for the voters was which candidate knew most about the job, since both of them favored economy.

John H. Cose also urged the election of Mr. Calkins. He told the audience that Mr. Calkins did more than any other man to prevent the tax rate going up this year a great deal higher than it did. He said that Mr. Calkins was probably more familiar with the joint sewer plan than any other city official, and that his services were needed until the sewer is built.

Mr. Graves and Mr. Cose also endorsed Mr. Blatz's record in the Council and urged his re-election. Mr. Calkins put in a strong word for Mr. Blatz. He said that while Mr. Coleman might be an able man, he was no more able than Mr. Blatz and it would take him two years to catch up with him in a knowledge of city affairs.

Mr. Calkins said in part:

"There is a lot of foolish talk about tax rates. We could have too low a rate as well as too high a rate. The rate would be too low if we were unwilling to pay whatever may be necessary to make Plainfield a city of which we may all justly be proud. But when the rate starts to go up, and keeps going up a little every year, it hurts the town. It injures real estate and keeps people away. It wouldn't do us a bit of harm to let the rate stay at 1.91 for two years, relying solely on the normal increase in valuations resulting from new building, for an increase of income.

"We should not stop with schools when we talk economy. We should use the knife impartially. Extravagance is the easiest thing in the world in public affairs, because it is nobody's money in particular which is being spent.

"My platform is in these words: 'In public as well as in private affairs it is not only a question of what we would like to have but also a serious question what we can afford.'"

BADLY BURNED PLAYING WITH HALLOWE'EN LANTERN

Harold Kriney, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kriney, of East Sixth street, who was observing Hallowe-en Saturday night, was badly burned about the face, neck and hands, when a false face, which he was wearing, caught fire. The youngster had been carrying a lantern with lighted candles in it and it came into contact with the flammable false face.

The incident took place at the home of J. K. Large, where a number of boys had gathered. The lad was removed to the home of Mrs. William Wyman, of East Front street, where he is under the care of a physician. He is resting comfortably today, and will recover unless complications set in.

GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Democrats to Close Their Campaign in Plainfield With Big Meeting.

THE MAYOR'S VIEWS

Says He Can See a Trend Toward Party Ticket He Had Not Dared Hope for Earlier in the Political Fight.

With the big Democratic meeting in Columbus Hall this evening, when Governor Fielder will address the gathering, the Democrats will have completed their campaign. In discussing the events of the last few weeks, Mayor Stewart, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, said today: "I am satisfied that I have done all any man could be expected to do. I am confident our candidates will win by handsome majorities for I am sure we are in for another Democratic year."

"In the course of my campaign," the Mayor continued, "I have noticed a decided change of opinion in the last few days. In fact, I see a trend towards the Democrats that I had not dared to hope for earlier in the campaign. I have noticed a decided change of sentiment among those who have frequently attended our meetings, many of whom, prior to last week, were pronouncedly Republican in their views and sentiments. In the earlier meetings these men sat stern and mute, apparently hostile from the outset and not really desirous of being converted to our way of thinking. Their presence at succeeding meetings led me to believe that they were at least interested and by concentrating our efforts upon them thought it would not be altogether impossible to convert them. Later events proved this to be true. Before our campaign ended many of these men waited until the close of the meetings and approaching the candidates, frankly told them that while hostile at first they, at last, had seen the error of their ways and from now on they could be counted on in the Democratic column and for whose cause their ballots would be cast tomorrow.

"The speakers we have had on from Washington has done much to dispel the clouds. The Republicans seized upon the business depression—alone due to the European war—and wielded it with bludgeonlike strokes in their arguments against the re-

FINAL P. C. C. DANCE ATTENDED BY MANY

Fitting Ending to Enjoyable Social Season at Popular Club House.

Members of the Plainfield Country Club enjoyed their final dance and reception of the season at the club Saturday night, a large attendance being recorded at the affair. The event took the form of a Hallowe'en gathering and the program was appropriately arranged by the committee to fit the occasion.

Decorations were typical of the season and one of the leading features was the dancing, terpischorean music being supplied by Van Epps' orchestra. During the evening refreshments were served. The reception was a fitting finale to one of the most active social seasons in the history of the club and those present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

SLIPPERY PAVEMENT CAUSE OF TWO AUTOS COLLIDING

Slippery pavement on East Front street, caused by a recent sprinkling, resulted in an automobile owned and driven by Walter W. Westphal, of 247 Washington street, Jersey City, crashing into one owned by the Health Department, which was standing at the curb in front of the office.

The city's machine was badly damaged in the smash. Mr. Westphal went to police headquarters and made a satisfactory settlement for the accident.

VIGILANT OFFICER LANDS A BAD TRIO

Boys Who Looted Clothing Store Held for the Grand Jury.

Vigilance on the part of Patrolman Martin Welsh when he was detailed to rout a runaway boy out of bed, Saturday night, caused the arrest of a trio of much sought petty thieves and their subsequent arraignment in the city court, this morning. Mrs. August Bandle, mother of Alfred Kane, came to headquarters Saturday night, and requested the police to look up her son, whom she said had been missing from home for two weeks, she being suspicious of his actions. Welsh located him in a house on West Second street and took him from the place after being forced to break down the door of his bedroom. While in the rooms Welsh noticed two pairs of new shoes alongside of the bed and reported this fact to headquarters.

The arrest of young Kane followed and Sergeant Higgins and Welsh located some more articles of a suspicious character in the room. He was accused of entering the store of J. Laurie and Company on West Front street and admitted his culpability. In a statement made to Chief Kiely, the boy implicated Jacob Overland and Benedict Kane, two pals, and their arrest followed. Sergeant Higgins and Captain John Flynn located all of the stolen goods taken from the Laurie store on October 25, including two pairs of shoes, three suits and three overcoats.

The boys have all been arrested before and it is the supposition of the police that they have been connected with other robberies in this city. They were each held in $300 bail for the Grand Jury when arraigned today before Judge DeMeza.

CAPSTICK EMPLOYES PRAISE HIM HIGHLY

Say Congressional Candidate Was Always Fair, Liberal and Just to Them.

John H. Capstick, the Republican candidate for Congress for the Fifth Congressional district, was engaged in business for a period of thirty years and, it is said, during that time his employes received the best scale of wages that was paid in that industry. He is said to have been always kind and considerate for the welfare of his employes and, when his plant was destroyed by fire about a year and a half ago and it not being advisable to re-build the plant until business conditions were settled, he did not rest content until he had succeeded in finding employment for his old employes with other concerns engaged in the same line of business, with the exception of about eight or nine of them who are upon his payroll today although he is not operating any plant. He loaned the money to two of his employes to establish themselves in the same line of business.

At a meeting held in Dover, a few days ago, when mention was made by one of the campaign speakers that the treatment by Mr. Capstick of his employes was being made an issue, one of the old employes rose from the audience and requested the privilege of speaking of the kind and considerate treatment of the employes of Mr. Capstick.

The statement below from employes has been given out:

"It has come to the attention of the undersigned that statements have been made with a malicious intent to injure the candidacy of John H. Capstick with the labor men of the Fifth Congressional district of New Jersey. We, the former employes of Mr. Capstick, wish to correct any impressions that Mr. Capstick was unfair on the country. Mr. Capstick has always been kind, liberal and very just to all his men and they are ready to return to him under the same conditions whenever he rebuilds his works which so unfortunately were destroyed by fire; and if every labor man in the Fifth district knew Mr. Capstick as we do, they would support him at the polls for he is a broad, liberal and honest man."

The statement was made voluntary by 41 former employes of Mr. Capstick, their time of service ranging from one to thirty-one years.

"On our left wing the German attacking movement continued yesterday, with the same violence in Belgium and in the north of France, particularly between Dixmude and the Lys. In this region, in spite of the attacks and counter attacks of the Germans, we have made slight progress on nearly the whole front, except at the village of Messines, of which a part has been again lost by the troops of the Allies. The enemy attempted a great effort against the suburb of Arras. She was checked in a similar movement against Lihons and Le Quesnoy en San Terre.

"At the centre, in the region of the River Aisne, we have made slight progress toward Tracey Le Val to the north of the forest of Laigle, as well as at certain points on the right bank of the River Aisne, between this forest and Soissons. MANY ATTENDED ANNUAL FRESHMAN RCEPTION

The annual freshmen-sophomore reception of the Plainfield High School was held Saturday night, with a very large attendance. Only members of the school and their parents were allowed because of the large number enrolled. In former years only members of the freshmen and sophomore classes were invited but the large addition to the school has made it possible for all students to enjoy this yearly party.

The committees in charge had everything perfectly arranged and the reception was enjoyed by all. Games were played in the library and dancing was also enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the new lunch counter.

Y. W. C. A. HAD OUTING.

Many members attended the Hallowe'en party at the Y. W. C. A., Saturday night, and a very interesting program was enjoyed. The rooms were decorated appropriately for the occasion with cornstalks, pumpkins and pictures. Games were played and refreshments were served during the evening.

DEMOCRATIC PARADE.

The parade that will precede the Democratic meeting tonight in Columbus Hall will start from Democratic headquarters at 7 o'clock sharp and all members are requested to be present. There will be about fifteen automobiles which will head the procession.

GHOSTS WELCOMED HALLOWE'EN GUESTS

Typical Celebration at the Home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Meeker.

Hallowe'en was celebrated in the genuine old-fashioned way by forty invited guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Meeker, on Belvidere avenue, Saturday night. The entire house from cellar to attic was transformed into a spooky den inhabited by ghosts who frequently appeared among the jolly maskers, causing momentary outbursts of excitement. The guests entered the house through the rear door and proceeded to the attic through a passageway, bedecked with cornstalks and witchy Hallowe'en decorations.

The attic was similarly garbed, bunches of cornstacks being stacked in corners, brilliant Hallowe'en decorations adorning the window panes and lighted pumpkins furnishing the required illumination. A ghost was ushered in to welcome the party soon after they had assembled and sent the first of a series of thrills up their spines. Following a program of appropriate games and dancers, the latter being featured by a demonstration of a Chinese terpsichorean number by Miss Helen Carson, the guests were taken to the cellar accompanied by weird noises along the stairs and hallways.

In the lower portion of the house refreshments, consisting of pumpkin pie, cider and crullers, were served in the crudest of receptacles. The delicacies were eaten off wooden tables amid typical Hallowe'en surroundings.

INCORPORATE TWO LOCAL COMPANIES

Neuman Grocery Company and Queen City Auto Company Are Formed.

Two Plainfield concerns filed papers of incorporation at the county clerk's office in Elizabeth, this morning, both being in operation here at the present time. The wholesale and retail grocery firm formerly conducted by the late Adam Neuman and Peter Neuman, at 502 Watchung avenue, will hereafter be known as the Neuman Grocery Company. The capital of the concern is stated at $25,000 and one hundred shares were distributed as follows: Peter Neuman, ninety-seven; Eliza Neuman, one, and Ethel M. Gray, one.

The Queen City Auto Company with headquarters at 122 Madison avenue, was incorporated with a capital of $20,000. Fred Endress is the local agent and has forty-eight shares, while Louisa Endress and Elwood Waller each have one share.

TWO ANNOYERS PUNISHED.

Jesse Smith and Petwyn Robinson, of Washington street, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and sentenced to pay a fine of $2 or serve periods of ten days each in the county jail, for annoying James Parrella, an Italian. They told conflicting tales when arraigned and this caused the court to deal out the punishment.

"AT HOME" FOR SIXTY DAYS.

"Cooney" Dunham, a vagrant who was arraigned before Judge DeMeza two weeks ago and let off on a suspended sentence, was brought in again Saturday night, and when arraigned this morning for vagrancy, was given a sentence of sixty days in the county jail to carry him through part of the winter months.

NEWCORN SCORES THE DEMOCRATIC CO. COMM.

William Newcorn, chairman of the Republican County Committee, today gave out the following interview:

"I understand that all election officers appointed upon the recommendation of the chairman of the Democratic County Committee have been summoned to appear at Democratic headquarters for instructions. The express object of the conference is to instruct the officers as to what constitutes a marked ballot. This attempt to influence and prejudice election officers is without a precedent in Union county and is an insult to their intelligence. All of these men have passed a Civil Service examination prescribed by the Civil Service Commission and were appointed upon the certificate of the commissioner that they were qualified for their positions and it would seem that they need no further instructions from the chairman of the Democratic County Committee, particularly on the eve of election.

"Such an attempt to influence the sworn officers of the State or to prejudice them should be condemned by all fair-minded and upright citizens in fact the present law was enacted by a Democratic Legislature to prevent this form of thing."

NETHERWOOD CHURCH CONCERT

The concert and entertainment at the Netherwood Reformed church, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, will present many features of interest. There will be vocal solos by Miss Kelley and others, instrumental music by Mrs. Rush and the orchestra; recitations, and a demonstration of the latest improved Edison talking machine. Arrangements are being made to receive and announce election returns.

ATMOSPHERIC PRESSURE.

Changes That Come When the Barometer Falls an Inch.

Few persons have any idea what tremendous changes in the atmosphere are indicated by such a rise or fall of an inch in the barometer.

A cubic inch of mercury weighs a half pound. When the mercury falls an inch a weight of one ton is removed from every 4,000 square inches of surface. This is a ton for every area five and one-quarter feet square. If your house, for instance, is 25 by 40 feet, with an area of 1,000 square feet, a load of about thirty-six tons is lifted from the roof every time the barometer shows an inch fall—that is, a thirty-six ton load would be lifted if the house were air tight. But as air presses in every direction there is as much of a push upward against the roof from below as there is of a push downward from above. So the roof actually feels no effect from the removal of this heavy load.

In the same way a man of average size would be relieved of a weight of about a ton and a half if there were no air chambers in the human body.

It has been figured that a fall of an inch in the barometer over a territory 400 miles square removes a weight from the surface of the earth of 160,000,000,000 tons. If this were loaded on freight cars, twenty tons to the car and thirty cars to the train, more than 260,000,000 trains would be required to move it. If each train were 500 feet long they would stretch out in a line more than 25,000,000 miles long.

The only noise that accompanies this great transportation feat is made by the wind, which does considerable roaring in the course of such violent atmospheric changes.—Kansas City Star.

The Worst Quarter of London.

What is the most disreputable bit of London? A writer in the London Sketch asked this question of a policeman the other day. He said, "The quarter round about the Harrow road."

It appears that there are byways in that region in which no policeman dare venture unless accompanied by a brother officer. Bermondsey, too, is pretty bad. But Wapping, once the haunt of hooligans, has become comparatively respectable of late.

Pigeons' Eggs.

The two eggs laid by a pigeon almost invariably produce male and female. Some curious experiments as to which of the eggs produces the male and which the female have resulted in showing that the first egg laid is the female and the second the male.

NATURALIZATION HEAD ENDORSES J. C. CALVERT

Neil McLeod, Jr., of Elizabeth, has received a letter from Jerome C. Shear, chief examiner of the naturalization service of the United States Department of Labor, with offices in Philadelphia, in which County Clerk James C. Calvert is endorsed for re-election. Mr. Shear says:

The naturalization business of his office has been conscientiously and efficiently conducted at all times. His experience and training in this branch of the work is of exceeding value, and I sincerely hope that he will be retained in office."

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 2, 1914.

DO IT FOR PLAINFIELD.

Plainfield has four candidates for offices other than those in the city government. All are men of the highest type of citizenship, and worthy of the support of every resident of the city. Former Mayor George W. V. Moy, whose independence as an office-holder is so well known to the people of the city, seeks election on the Progressive ticket to Congress. Mayor Percy H. Stewart, after two years as the chief executive of Plainfield, seeks higher honor as a Democratic State Senator from Union county, and that the "Do it for Plainfield" spirit will give him a large and substantial vote in his home city, is conceded even by his opponents. It would indeed be a sad condition of affairs if his administration as the city's head did not result in a very flattering majority being given to him here.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon seeks election to the Assembly, and the prospects are that he will be chosen by the largest vote ever given a Republican candidate in the county. His sterling character, uprightness of purpose and ability to fill the position are all well known to readers of the Daily Press, and we urge all our friends to cast a ballot for him. The other Plainfielder is Frank H. Smith, the present efficient register of deeds and mortgages. Mr. Smith has held the office since it was first created. By his personal supervision of the work of organizing the office, he has brought it to a high state of efficiency. His opponents' only argument against him to date is that he is a politician. There is no contention that he is a corrupt politician, for that would not be true. He is one of the few leaders who have been in the Republican party for many years, against whom no one can point the finger of suspicion. There has been no intimation that the office has not been well conducted. He should be re-elected because he is a business man for a business office.

THE DUTY TO VOTE.

Every citizen will have the right to cast a vote tomorrow. In a Republic this is the highest privilege that we possess. The man who does not vote is not a good citizen. None of us have a right to neglect this duty. To do so is little short of treason. We fear that many who are entitled to vote to not count the right to so do as of so great importance as it is here considered. Why? Suppose that no one voted or only a few. Who then would be responsible for the kind of government we have? Do you not think it would be those who do not vote? The failure to vote is just as injurious to your city, State and nation as for you to vote for a candidate whom you know to be unfitted, or who will stand for measures which you believe will not be for the public good.

All the evils in government are increased by the lack of interest taken by those whose duty it is to take such interest. What right has a man to complain of bad government, high taxes and the like who fails to exercise the right of suffrage, which is the one thing by which all these evils come. There is no duty, which every man should feel, that is equal to the duty to vote. And the vote should be cast as a serious matter. There are men who never vote without removing their hats because they feel that, at the ballot box, they stand in the presence of the sovereignty of the Republic as they exercise that sacred and solemn responsibility.

No considerations of personal favor or gain should be allowed to enter with you into the election booth. Your country should be your only thought; the welfare of the whole people your sole motive. If every voter would exercise the franchise privilege in that spirit there would never be cause to fear for the future of the nation. A serious minded and independent electorate means a great and prosperous people, living under good laws and their honest and efficient administration.

Just a word for James C. Calvert, Republican candidate for county clerk. The duties of his office are such that experience plays an important part in the proper conduct of the office. Close attention to duty, daily and constant attendance at the office, which he has so ably filled, coupled with a thorough knowledge of Union county and its people, entitle him to the support of every man in the county, regardless of party. Mr. Calvert had opportunity to become the Progressive candidate as well as the Republican, but he had opposition in the latter party at the primary. He therefore declined to accept a condition which might possibly result in his nomination by one party, and not by the other, thus making it necessary for him to run against a man who had beaten him at the primary. He enjoys the good will of hundreds of Progressives, and is thought so well of, that his opponent in the third party is not making a campaign for election, having merely permitted his name to be used in order to fill the ticket.

Two members of the City Council are seeking re-election tomorrow. A. D. Edgar, running on the Republican ticket in the First ward, is unopposed, and will be returned for another two years. He has been a valuable public servant, and his selection without opposition is enough evidence of the fact. In the Fourth ward, Francis J. Blatz seeks re-election, and is deserving of a substantial vote, in approval of his faithful attention to the duties imposed upon him when he was first selected two years ago. Mr. Blatz has given much valuable time to the city, and has a record which could not be improved upon. He has been independent at all times, and has proven that no mistake was made when he was first sent to the Council. It is to be hoped that he will be returned by a liberal majority.

For a continuation of the present well balanced government of Plainfield it is sincerely to be hoped that the voters of the city will name Mr. Calkins as their choice for Mayor tomorrow. He is fitted in every way for the task which he is willing to give up the time to perform, and not in many years has it been possible for the city to secure a chief executive who has had Council experience, such as that of Mr. Calkins.

Shouting for your candidate is no longer important. The time has come to vote. Whoever is elected it will be our duty to be happy and on Wednesday morning take up our private duties in a cheerful and helpful spirit.

cently enacted tariff, to which they erroneously attribute the stagnation. Any man with common sense knows that business, just prior to the war, was on the upward trend and that we were on the very threshold of one of the most prosperous eras this country ever enjoyed. Facts were badly distorted and misrepresented in the Republican canvass throughout the county and State, and every thinking man, whether he be laborer or business man, knows this to be so.

"The issue will be decided tomorrow and, win or lose, we will know that we have done our best. I have been assured by Democrats, and scores of Republicans, too, that we will win and from what I myself have observed throughout the campaign I am sure the ticket will be returned in city and county and Union county voters will again rally about Democracy's standard until it waves in triumph."

Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of those entrusted with the advertising of the Democratic party the large mass meeting scheduled to be held in Columbus Hall, Saturday night, had to be abandoned and one was substituted at Front street and Madison avenue. Judge J. J. Tracey, of Jersey City, was the principal speaker and lauded the candidates being boomed by this faction and urged the election of the ticket in its entirety. He reviewed the work the party has done since coming into power and declared that it was necessary that the nation support President Wilson by giving him Democratic office-holders. He reviewed the good qualities of the candidates with whom he is personally acquainted and endorsed them as a whole.

Judge W. A. Coddington spoke on the city and county issues and particularly of the candidacy of Theodore Martin, aspirant to the mayoralty. He reviewed Mr. Martin's work as a councilman and heralded him as the people's choice for the office.

John P. Owens, the presiding officer of the meeting, spoke for the support of the entire ticket and took occasion to laud several of the office seekers.

"BIG SIX" MATHEWSON TO AID F. H. SMITH

Famous Baseball Pitcher Will Speak for County Register Tonight.

"Christy" Mathewson, who is a personal friend of County Register Frank H. Smith, of this city, candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, has consented to speak at a big mass meeting in Elizabeth, tonight, in behalf of Mr. Smith's candidacy, and his appearance in the county campaign cannot fail to arouse unusual interest at this time.

J. W. Doolittle, who is a developer of New York suburban property, is one of the big realty men in this section of the country, has written Mr. Smith the following unsolicited letter:

"My dear Mr. Smith:—Sometime ago I received a letter announcing your candidacy for re-election as registrar of Union county. As I am a resident of New York city I cannot vote for you, but I wish I could. As president of the El Mora Land Company I have had occasion to use your office a great deal and I am glad to state that in my opinion it is much better run than similar offices in Greater New York. In addition to your management, I want to testify to the courteous treatment and attention we have always received both from yourself and your employes. I trust that you will be elected and that the county will have the benefit of your services for many years to come."

For the first time during the campaign, G. O. P. candidates at a meeting in Elizabeth, Saturday night, replied to charges made by opponents so far as they were political in character. All personal reference was ignored. The charges in each instance were declared by candidates to be grossly misrepresentative of the real conditions that no attention was paid to them on the ground that their falsity was so apparent that no fair-minded voter would be influenced by them.

Mr. Smith, candidate for register, replying to the inference that he received additional money over and above his salary, said that the county budget shows an appropriation to his office aside from his salary, but the second one is for the cost of repairing and re-indexing the books of record.

Mr. Smith explained that through constant handling the books become worn and have to be replaced. The work is done under his supervision and the appropriation is therefore charged to him, making him responsible for it, but in no way does he benefit by it, Mr. Smith said. Replying to the statement that he spends little time in the office owing to other interests, including a directorship in The Plainfield Trust Company, Mr. Smith said that a record kept of his time in the office during the past year is open for inspection in his office and shows that his opponents' charges are groundless in every particular.

George C. Otto, candidate for sheriff, answered the criticism that he was a member of the Board of Freeholders and had not tried to reduce county expenses, by saying that he was a member of the small Board which was ousted from office. Assembly Candidate William N. Runyon spoke for County Clerk J. C. Calvert, who was unable to be present, and explained that since the abolishment of fees many acts have been passed by the Legislature imposing increased duties on all county clerks for which the county receives no revenue. A number of these acts were mentioned. The Geran Election Law alone, it was said, increases the duties of the clerk, but makes no provision to compensate him as it would if the fee system was still operative.

REPLIES TO SPEAKER BEEKMAN

letter and my object in so doing was to show the citizens of the borough who best represented them last winter at Trenton and in order to do this it became necessary to line up Speaker Beekman's conduct on this particular bill and then place it in contrast to the work done by Senator Smalley. Speaker Beekman says that Senator Smalley dodged this bill and brought it to him. The letter states the reason why Senator Smalley brought the bill to Speaker Beekman, because the Senate had passed a resolution not to receive any more bills. Now there was one thing that Speaker Beekman did not explain and that was why he did not follow the customary legislative usage and have the bill introduced by the leader of the majority, Mr. Brannigan, and have printed on the bill, 'Introduced for the Speaker by the leader of the majority, Mr. Brannigan by request.' By so doing it would have given some prestige to the bill. But instead, he gave the bill to a Mr. Rowe, an assemblyman from Essex county, and when the bill was introduced, it simply had printed on the title page of the bill, 'Introduced by Mr. Rowe by request.' Why was this done, was it because Speaker Beekman was indifferent about it because it was a bill in the interest of North Plainfield? Had it been a bill relating to the borough of Somerville, would he have been as indifferent? It is this spirit of indifference to anything that pertains to the welfare of North Plainfield that has created the feeling of unrest and antipathy that now exists.

"Now there is another thing that Speaker Beekman did not explain, and that was that after he had promised me he would have this bill passed in the morning and then again in the afternoon, and no effort being made to have it passed, that when I went to him again at 6 p. m. to urge him to bring up the bill when the met for the evening session and have it passed, he should then spring upon me the information that the bill had not been passed on its second reading and after it had passed its second reading it could not then be taken up until after twenty-four hours had passed, which, if such had been the case, the bill never would have passed at the session of the Legislature of 1914 and consequently we would have had to wait a whole year before this bill could be introduced again. If this information was true, why did Speaker Beekman not disclose this information when I first went to him on the morning of April 8, and why did Speaker Beekman, when Mr. Rowe, who introduced the bill, and myself looked up the legislative record of this bill and found this information false and then went to Speaker Beekman and told him the true condition of this bill he should then say he could not understand how this could be and especially when the bill was on his desk in the assembly chamber and within his reach at any time.

"The Speaker said that the writer of the letter misrepresented the facts and truth. Every fact mentioned in the letter is absolutely true in each and every particular and if it is necessary, affidavits can be secured from all those whose names are mentioned in the letter and co-operated with me in getting this bill passed. The Speaker tells what is not true when he says the Mayor brought the bill to him to be introduced. The bill was brought to Trenton by a messenger from the office of Lindabury, Depue and Faulks and I was not in Trenton until April 8, 1914.

"I am not surprised that Speaker Beekman feels hurt. To tell the truth always hurts. It is a condition he created by his indifference and now that the future welfare of the borough is at stake, we want to line up his conduct in comparison to Senator Smalley and then let the citizens on election day determine who is the best representative."

STORE OPEN ALL DAY TOMORROW, ELECTION DAY.

Mr. Man, Do You Know

That We Have a Large "MEN'S FURNISHING DEPARTMENT"

completely stocked with about everything a man wears, with the exception of clothing and hats? The department is a big store in itself, situated just a step off the street to the left as you enter the store. We think we hear you ask "why go to a Department Store to buy Men's Furnishings?" Our answer is there's a heap of difference between our prices and those prevailing at exclusive shops. It's true you can buy socks for a quarter, neckwear for fifty cents and shirts for a dollar at any other place. But it's the quality that you buy that counts. Buying as we do in very large quantities for our three stores from the best mills and factories in the country, enables us to buy at much lower prices than a small shop that buys from jobbers and has to pay the middleman's profit. We are in a position to offer you better goods for the money than you can obtain elsewhere. As an illustration we ask you to note that the majority of women who buy furnishings for their men folks come here for them and the reason they do so is, that they shop around and know where to obtain the most for their money.

Mr. Man, the very next time you want some furnishings try it for yourself, we'll wager you'll be a steady patron thereafter and don't loose sight of the fact, that the furnishings we sell are right up-to-the-minute in style.

The refreshments consisted of pumpkin pie, pretzels, apples and cider, and between bites there were many humorous speeches. W. H. Hermann, teacher of these Bible classes, and Judge William G. De-Meza, president of the men's class, were present and spoke. Miss A. Corsette Bratton was general chairman and was assisted by a large list of committees.

HE STANDS ON HIS RECORD

For STATE SENATE

PERCY H. STEWART

Deeds Not Idle Promises Count With the Voter

Two years ago the people of Plainfield called to the office of Mayor a man who professional politicians predicted would be a failure in the place to which he had been called because he lacked experience in governmental affairs and politics. The prediction that he would not make good failed, and it can be said truthfully that his success is entirely due to the fact that he did not play politics to the detriment of the people. This man is PERCY H. STEWART, candidate on the Democratic ticket for State Senator. When the mayoralty election was held he was opposed by two candidates, a Republican and a Progressive. When the votes were counted Mr. Stewart had a majority of more than 500 and enjoyed the distinction of being the first Democrat chosen to fill the office in more than twenty years. He had to get the votes of independent citizens to score such a victory. He realized that men of all political faiths had cast their ballots for him, and he set out upon his career as chief executive with the avowed purpose of being the mayor of all the people and has steadfastly adhered to that policy.

There has never been a time during the last two years that the humblest citizen has not been welcomed to his office, and whatever public service was asked by that citizen it was accorded with pleasure.

When Mr. Stewart took office he found that the preceding administration had been at variance with the Council. Believing in team work, he effected a working agreement with the Council. As this body confirms most of the appointments made by the Mayor, he made it a point to discuss all appointments before making them. When William M. Stillman resigned as corporation counsel, Mayor Stewart felt that he would like to give this office to a member of his own party. He submitted the name of a local attorney to the members of the Council, and when he was told that his choice was not satisfactory, he named Charles A. Reed, and the city procured the services of one of the foremost lawyers in the state. Mayor Stewart has worked for better street lighting; better fire protection and better police protection. He has brought the fire department up to a full paid basis, the call man system having been abolished, and the department equipped with modern apparatus. There are more men employed in the police department than there were when he took office.

During the two years previous to his election the streets were absolutely neglected which resulted in excessive expenditures in putting them back in proper condition during his term.

Justice for Union County Industries and Labor

He has taken an active interest in the matter of taxation. The present Board of Assessors is working without salary and allowing the money that would otherwise have been paid them, to be used for the establishment of an indexing system and revised tax maps, which will secure more equitable assessments in the future.

The one thing that stands out prominently in Mayor Stewart's administration, is the consistency with which he has tried to serve all of the people.

No Mayor has granted more opportunities to the citizens to express themselves upon public matters than he has. When it was proposed to proceed with the work of building the new postoffice with an appropriation of $70,000 and the matter was submitted to him by Congressman Tuttle, coupled with the advice that an enlarged appropriation might be secured and made available later, he again called the people into conference and the sentiment of the meeting was that no building should be erected until an increased appropriation was secured. His interest in this matter will result in Plainfield having a much finer post office building than it would otherwise have had.

He recognized the just demands of journeymen and master plumbers that one of their craft be appointed a member of the Board of Health, that they might supervise the examination of those who apply for plumbers' license.

Mayor Stewart was the unanimous choice of his party at the recent primary for the senatorial nomination. He has waged a dignified campaign for election. He has gained as mayor, an experience that will prove valuable to him in the event of his election.

DENY STORY ABOUT ARMY OFFICERS AND MEXICO

Washington, Nov. 2—Published reports that army officers were having their leave curtailed, and were quietly being sent to Vera Cruz in expectation of imminent trouble there were denied flatly and positively today by both the Secretary of War and General Wotherspoon, chief of staff of the army. The war department was without news of further developments in Mexico, either from Vera Cruz or along the border. No fighting has been reported to the department.

WAR NEWS

its news that the French had been thrown back across the Aisne at a point near Soissons and that the operations had been extended to the west front of the Verdun, is regarded as the most favorable issued for some time past. Letters from the front reaching Berlin describe the fighting between Nieuport and Ypres as probably the fiercest of the whole war. The Germans forced their way southward by repeated night attacks. The roll of death was great on both sides.

"The fighting in Poland has not yet recommenced, but in Galicia, according to special despatches, events would appear to be approaching a decisive moment. A despatch received here from Cracow says the Russians have been thrown back across the River San and ejected from Lezaisk whence the Austrians pursued them for a distance of four miles. An Austrian official report declares merely that the Austrian forces in central Galicia have retained all the captured positions to the north and east of Turka, near Stary Sambor, to the east of Przemysl and on the lower San River. They repulsed an attack near Disco, the Russians losing many prisoners. A Russian column, composed of infantry, cavalry and artillery, have been defeated to the north of Kuthy on the frontier of Bukowina and Galicia.

"The exploits of the Turkish fleet which bombarded Odessa and Sebastopol and destroyed two Russian warships, nineteen transports and several onl tanks excite unbounded enthusiasm here."

Amsterdam, Nov. 2—A telegram received here from Berlin announces that as a result of protracted negotiations the war indemnity to the Germans for the city of Brussels has been fixed at 15,000,000 francs, payable 2,500,000 francs weekly.

According to the Telegraaff, Jonkheer Bertling, Dutch minister of finance, is preparing to float a $15,000,000 loan.

New York, Nov. 2.—A cable received here this afternoon, says that the steamship VanDyck has been captured by the German warship Karlsruhe. It is said that the Germans took the coal off the steamer and also a large quantity of meat. The VanDyck had on board 1,000 bags of coffee consigned to New York interests. The crew and mails are said to be at Para.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The American oil steamer Platuria has been released. The steamer was held up by British authorities on her way from New York to Copenhagen, because it was feared that her cargo of fuel was intended for ultimate use by the Germans. She was held at a Scotch port.

The receipt of a message from Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, at the State Department today, showed that communication with the Turkish capital had been re-established. The text of the message was withheld.

Rear Admiral Fiske conferred with Acting Secretary of State Lansing today. It was hinted that one or both of the United States cruisers at Beirut, the Tennessee and the North Carolina, would be rushed to the vicinity of Smyrna. Officials refused to discuss the matter. The Department of State has been notified officially that the port of Smyrna has been closed.

JIMMY ALVERSON'S WORK CAUSES DOWNFALL OF HOLY CROSS ELEVEN

All-American Tackle Exhibits Wonderful Prowess Both on Offense and Defense—Holy Cross Shows Signs of Bracing in the Second and Third Quarters But Finds the Going Too Stiff and Finally Breaks—Some Excellent Performances Noted in the Playing of Both Teams.

Jimmy Alverson, placed at left tackle by Water Camp in his All-American football eleven of 1912, was the central figure in the downfall of Holy Cross on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, when the Franklin A. A., of Newark, took home a 22 to 6 verdict. Saturday's meeting was a repetition of the previous appearance of the Franklins here, only there was a little bit of Alversonism injected into the latter clash. It was the All-American players' big toe that sent the long spiral kicks into the Plainfielders' territory and accounted for yard after yard; it was Alverson who carried the ball some 125 yards on the trickiest kind of fake plays; and it was Alverson who, in the last three seconds of play, lived up to his collegiate reputation and sent the oval spinning squarely between the uprights for an additional three points after the contest had been packed away on ice. In fact that real essence of victory concentrated itself about this notorious six feet two of human flesh and he fulfilled the greatest expectations of the sideline enthusiasts. Alverson took a respite from his duties as Newark's playground supervisor Saturday afternoon, and as a result the verdict traveled back to New Jersey's metropolis. Without the burly Rutgers' graduate the Franklins would have returned home as defeated freight, but he was right on deck and hence the wallloping to the Queen Cityites.

Starting off with a big rush the Newarkers had tallied two touchdowns almost before the Plainfielders got their bearings. On a fake kick three minutes after the locals had kicked off Alverson carried the ball to within striking distance of the goal and then took it over. Several minutes afterwards another tally was recorded on straight line bucking. After this period of loose playing the home eleven took a decided brace and for the next two quarters played the Franklins to a standstill. The locals had a shade better of the argument and for some time kept the invaders on the defensive. Yard after yard the Plainfielders worked the oval to within striking distance of the goal but in each instance the Franklins took a brace and held like a stone wall while the opposition endeavored to put over the final punch. In the pinches, however, the visitor's line was unrelenting and the locals were forced to punt out of their own territory. On the exchange of kicks the visitors gained considerable ground for Alverson's toe proved a big asset to them along this line.

Holy Cross, on the strength of offensive work, managed to put the ball over the line in the third period, but the Franklins soon retaliated with a touchdown and the subsequent field goal. During the period that the red and blue held the upper hand it looked as though the inevitable would happen and the Franklins be sent home with the sting of defeat, but each time the final wallop was not forthcoming and the momentary gloating of the Plainfielders' cohorts was soon transformed into gloom.

Although vanquished the locals performed creditaoly. They were plainly outplayed, for when the Franklins really needed yardage they chalked it up with apparent ease. But the visitors seldom needed the ground and hence the evenness of the battle. The bewildering shifts and serious plays that have been a conspicuous factor of the Plainfielders' previous performances were invaluable against the stone wall defense of the visitors. Each time a trick was launched the effectiveness of it was promptly squelched. Jerry Manning, Billy Coyle and Jack Wilson made some good gains during the issue. Manning proved a big thorn in the side of the Franklins. He made gain after gain, all of the sensational variety. When Manning was given the ball it generally meant a first down for the locals and the first downs credited to Holy Cross were numerous. Wilson was also a brilliant performer on the offense, covering considerable territory on clean-cut line bucking.

On the defense Smith and Webster were the brilliantines. "Turk" registered tackle after tackle and brought up the visitors' attack with a vim that was little short of superhuman. All of the Plainfield contingent performed well in their respective departments and lauding those whose playing was most conspicuous only serves to detract from the credit of other hard workers. Struble was a power on the defense for the visitors, while Kiefer, at quarterback, proved himself an able general as well as a wonderful ground gainer.

P. H. S. SWAMPED BY EAST ORANGE

Plainfielders No Match for Fast New Jersey Leaguers.

Playing in the worst form displayed by the team so far this season, the Plainfield High School football team went down to defeat at the hands of the East Orange High School, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 42 to 7. Fumbles by the backfield were responsible for the big score rolled up by the East Orange warriors.

All the fight displayed by the locals in the game against Rahway seemed to be gone, altnought at times a flash of spirit would appear and then the ball would be rushed down the field. The home team played splendid football and showed the effects of strict training and thorough coaching, by the splendid interference given to the runner with the ball.

Plainfield received the kick-off and carried the ball to their own twenty-five-yard line before being downed. The next play was an attempted double pass from Rosenson to Peacock, on an end run. As Rosenson attempted to pass to Peacock he was thrown hard by a man who broke through the line and the ball flew into the air. An East Orange player picked up the ball and ran 15 yards before he was pulled down. It was an easy matter for the home team to carry the ball over on two plunges.

Plainfield again received the kick-off and again fumbled on the first play. Once more the ball was picked up by an East Orange player and again carried over the line for a touchdown. Not satisfied with making two fumbles in the first few minutes of play, the local backfield repeated their performance and again an East Orange man caught the ball and was downed on Plainfield's 15-yard line. The ball was carried over the line on two plays, but the touchdown was not allowed. They were penalized fifteen yards. While the ball was being carried back, Franke, playing left end for East Orange, slipped out toward the side lines and, on the first play, which was run off without signals, the ball was thrown to him and he scored a touchdown. Plainfield received the kick-off and this time ran the ball back to midfield before Rosenson was forced to kick, then time was called for the first period. Score: East Orange 21, Plainfield 0.

With the beginning of the second period the local boys took a splendid brace and showed all of their old fighting spirit. During the entire quarter they played the home team to a standstill. The period began with the ball on East Orange's thirty-yard line. After failing to gain in the first two plays a forward pass was attempted, but Semer intercepted it and was downed on the thirty-yard line. Plainfield failed to gain and Peacock attempted a drop kick, but the ball fell short by several feet. The ball swayed back and forth during the rest of the period and as the whistle blew for the first half it lay in Plainfield's possession on their own forty-yard line.

Mutnick replaced Daniels at fullback at the beginning of the second half. On the first play he fumbled the ball and an East Orange player fell on it. After several line plunges, Abbott carried it over. The home team scored again in this period when Bloss made a pretty run of twenty yards for a touchdown. At the close of the third period W. Peacock twisted his ankle and H. Peacock took his place with the ball on East Orange's twenty-yard line.

Plainfield's lone tally came at the beginning of the fourth quarter on a pretty forward pass, H. Peacock to Smith, who ran ten yards for a touchdown. Rosenson kicked the goal. The home team scored once more just before the whistle blew for the close of the game.

The Democratic candidate for Congress compliments himself for staying on the job.

While on the job, he assisted in putting OUT OF A JOB, thousands of mechanics and laborers in this district by voting to place sewing machines and certain machinery on the Free List.

THE LOSS OF THE JOB has meant an empty dinner pail; the spending of the fruits of economy and thrift under Republican prosperity and an appeal to public charity for employment in order to provide the necessities of life to the unemployed and those dependant upon them.

The Republican Party stands for Protection. Protection means "Made in America." Made in America means steady employment; steady employment benefits business in every department of commercial and industrial life.

POLITICAL LETTERS

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

The local political campaign is making its contribution of unconscious humor to cheer us in the gloom produced by the war. I had occasion the other day to refer to the bribery effort of the Progressive candidates for county offices. Now my attention has been arrested by what I suppose may be called the first plank in the platform of Mr. Martin, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, viz.: that each ward of the city should have representation on the Boards of Education, Health and Library. Why? One would think that the only plan worthy of consideration is to select the best men who can be induced to serve, without regard to the ward of residence. Possibly this is a rather thoughtless application of the shibboleth of home rule which is so popular now-a-days. But it seems to me a little thought will show how lacking in reason is such a demand. What interests can one ward have in the action of these Boards that differ from the interests of the other wards? The members of these Boards cannot act for any special locality—their action is for the whole city. Possibly the plank is meant as an appeal to petty local pride—if so it is a most unworthy appeal. Why should the city be divided into four wards? What purpose does it serve? It is not so large but that a resident of one section can easily make himself familiar with the needs of every other section—and "needs" is not always synonymous in the "wants." In the case under consideration there can be no needs peculiar to any one ward, and hence to me the plank is meaningless. It is a great pity that candidates for the office of Mayor should be presented by parties whose politics are national, for it certainly will not strengthen President Wilson's hands in case Mr. Martin is elected, nor weaken them if Mr. Calkins should be successful. This would be one great gain if we should adopt the Commission Form of Government (so-called). As conditions are, the only consideration which should prevail with the voter is which candidate he considers best fitted by education, training and experience to satisfactorily serve the interests of the residents of Plainfield. The Mayor of this city may be a great power for good if he will take the position of a leader. Just as in the hands of men of marked ability the Presidential office has developed unsuspected powers in the nation, so in a smaller way may an energetic, intelligent Mayor make the office play an important role in the betterment of Plainfield. What we have to decide from the utterances and past work of Mr. Martin and Mr. Calkins is, which of them seems to possess the better qualifications for a "leader" Mayor.

EDWARD C. PEARSON.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

I sincerely hope that a majority of the voters of Union and Morris counties fully appreciate the importance of re-electing the Honorable William E. Tuttle, the Democratic nominee for the office of Congressman for the district comprising these two counties. President Wilson has met serious conditions with great wisdom and forethought, and failure to express confidence in him by not returning a Democratic Congress would reflect seriously upon the good sense of the American people.

No one knows what the future may bring forth. President Wilson's position as it is, is anything but an enviable one, and in view of the difficulties he must face it would be little short of a crime to add to his already too heavy burdens. We, in this district, are most fortunate in having the privilege of supporting a man of the calibre of Mr. Tuttle for Congress who has been so faithful to his trust. His bitterest enemies cannot say that he has neglected his duties and we all know how steadfastly he has supported President Wilson, who I know would take especial comfort in his re-election because Mr. Wilson's own advent into political life was in Union county and he has given many evidences of his very high personal regard for Mr. Tuttle.

TEN EYCK BEARDSLEY.

Fanwood, October 30, 1914.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

I think it will be conceded that one of the questions that loom largest and are of the most vital importance to the people at this time is the saloon question.

I think it will be conceded that the political right to settle this question by a direct vote of the voters is a right which cannot be denied to an American citizen without repudiating one of the cardinal principles of our government.

I think it will be conceded that a vote upon this question would be a just and equal exercise of political power, fair alike to the friends and opponents of the liquor traffic.

I think it will be conceded that the exercise of this right is dependent upon the passage of a local option law for which the Legislature has been frequently petitioned.

I think it will be conceded that the fact that such a law has been denied to the people of New Jersey is a reflection, either upon our legislators or our citizenship.

I think it will be conceded that the surest way to keep this law out of the statute book is to let the friends of the grog shops get in the Legislature, and that the surest way to write this law into the statute book is to let the enemies of the grog shops get into the Legislature.

I think it will be conceded that if a candidate is unwilling to trust his fellow citizens to vote on the license question, or any other question, it is his duty to stay at home and tend the cows and let some one go to the Legislature who has more faith in free government and more confidence in the virtue and intelligence of the people.

I suggest therefore that every candidate for the Legislature be put under cross examination by the voters, so as to search his conscience and determine whether he will, if elected, stand for or against the principle of majority rule involved in a local option law.

Finland has given the vote to its women, and the Czar of Russia has abolished the liquor traffic in his empire and put a hundred and seventy million people in the total abstinence list.

It is apparent that woman suffrage and prohibition are almost in sight just around the curve of the future and why should not Jerseymen have a full share of the glory of these great victories.

LOCAL MAN SHARES IN PECULIAR WILL

Richard T. Colburn, formerly a war correspondent for the New York World and uncle of W. Harry Colburn, of 1407 South End avenue, this city, left an estate of $306,954.73, when he passed away in New York city on December 9, 1913, according to an appraisal made by one of the Transfer Tax State Appraisers, a report of which was filed in the Surrogate's Court, New York.

The testator was eighty years old at the time of his death and for some reason dreaded death at the hands of one of his relatives, which included his widow and nephew in this city. This is indicated in his will, which states that no beneficiary of his shall share in the will if they had any hand in bringing about his death. The Plainfield nephew is bequeathed $600. One of the terms of the will was that he be laid to rest in Hillside cemetery and this was carried out.

WANT AD. BRINGS $5,000 JOB.

Washington, Nov. 2—George B. Thompson, of Washington, recently answered a want ad. in a newspaper, and as a result, he is now third deputy commissioner of charities for New York city, at a salary of $5,000 per year. It appears that Mayor Mitchell wanted a good man for the job, so he advertised in the newspapers, as follows: "Wanted: Business manager, thirty-five to forty-five years of age; able to superintend large force of employes, direct extensive construction work, organize and direct purchasing and distribution of enormous quantities of supplies; only men of marked executive ability and good experience need apply; salary $5,000 a year; highest references required. Over 300 answered the advertisement, and none of them knew it was the largest city in the country that wanted a man. Thompson was surprised to learn that he had won the position, and still further surprised when he found who he was working for.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 2—That pain is an important factor in diagnosing illness, inasmuch as the character of the pain may be of great assistance in determining the nature of the disease, is the statement of Dr. John M. SANTA'S SHIP IS FITTING OUT

Will Take Message of Good Will to Europe.

COLLIER JASON THE BEARER.

Laden With Christmas Gifts From Children of America and Others to Orphans Made by War, She Will Visit England and France and Other Countries.

Not a day passes without news of more killings in the frightful strife in which Europe is engaged, and some men have calculated that by next Christmas 1,000,000 children will be fatherless because of the war.

It is to bring at least a little Christmas joy to these orphans that America's Santa Claus ship will sail from New York on Nov. 15 with a cargo of gifts from the children of America and other well meaning persons to the children of the war stricken countries of Europe.

The collier Jason has been designated by Secretary Daniels to carry the Christmas presents. The Jason is 536 feet long and 65 feet wide. Her hold is 36 feet 3 inches deep. She can carry 10,500 tops. She is made of steel throughout. Her cost was $951,000. The commanding officer of the ship is Henry T. Merriwether, who ranks as a master in the naval auxiliary service.

Jason Is Uncle Sam's Contribution.

With the assignment of the Jason everything has been done that can be done by the government to make the children's Christmas movement a success.

The navy department has been working on the itinerary of the Jason. It is expected that the first stop will be made in England. From there the collier will cross the channel and probably go to Havre, since that is the nearest port to Paris, provided that port is still an open port by the time the Jason reaches the other side.

All the foreign countries have assured a safe convoy to the Santa Claus ship. France is going to give her a reception, and so is England, and, as for the other countries that will be visited, everything points to a grand welcome.

Interest in the Christmas ship throughout the country has been stimulated for several weeks by influential newspapers in various large cities, which have been urging their readers to contribute gifts for the children of Europe.

Wilson Greatly Interested.

John Callan O'Laughlin, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald, wrote:

"Think of it, children of America!

"President Wilson, your president, is very much interested in the plan to send Christmas gifts to the fatherless little ones of war ridden Europe.

"The ambassadors of the countries at war, the men who are on duty at the capital of the nation looking after the interests of their respective nations, say that your gifts will be received and bring joy and comfort and great thankfulness to those boys and girls whose fathers are dead and for whom there can be no Santa Claus unless you take his place.

"Isn't it marvelous that you can so stir the world; that you can get the United States, which is neutral, to join with Great Britain, France and Russia and Germany and Austria and little Belgium, all of which are belligerents (that is a mouthful), in sending a ray of light through the gloom that covers Europe?

"What does all that mean?

"It means first of all that through the work of your brains and your hands you are going to make a little girl or a little boy smile through his tears on Christ's birthday.

"Isn't that worth working for?

"Then it means that war will pass by the ship that carries your gift to the poor, fatherless child; the ship with the stars and stripes, your country's flag, and the streamer of white with the star of hope, Christ's flag, and the single word 'Inasmuch.'"

Chance to Make Friends For Us.

The suggestion has been made that the women who are working for the sufferers and soldiers in Europe attach to each gift they send a small tape bag bearing the words "A gift from America."

Every one making a garment for those in need is actuated by a kind thought, the sponsors of this idea say, and conversely every recipient must have a feeling of gratitude toward the unknown donor. The plan, they say, is a splendid opportunity to make friends for America.

"We Hunger," Say the Belgians.

A woman of Copenhagen, Denmark, received recently from Belgium a postcard, the writer of which, a Belgian, advised her to remove the stamp, as it was rare. Under the stamp were found three words, "Nous avons faim" ("We are hungry").

War Orders For Packers.

For the first time in sixteen years the meat packers at the Chicago stock yards are working day and night in the canned meat and hide departments to fill orders due to the European war. In the canning department 3,000 extra men have been put to work within a week.

Eating.

The best diet for summer or winter is that which is most natural. The moment you use an unnatural diet you set up unnatural conditions. Meat is heating in the sense that it is irritating, not in the sense that it is warming. Meat tends to make people more ill-tempered—that is, with nerves less under control—whereas a fruit diet tends to equability of temper. Feed a man wisely and he tends to become more self-controlled.

The best summer diet is largely fresh fruit and salads. Other things to avoid in summer are beans, peas and lentils and alcohol. Things to take are fruits, salads, salad dressings, fresh garden vegetables, butter, eggs, cheese, milk, cream, honey. Onions are good in summer or winter. They are the food on which the Pyramids were built. They are one of the most valuable foods the world has ever had.

Rice is an excellent summer food, and so is macaroni. The English housewife does not use sufficiently the various kinds of macaroni. Again and again in French and Italian households I have asked for soup, and within ten minutes I have got a delightful milk soup made with vermicelli or macaroni, whereas in England the soup is usually the heavy stock.—Herald of the Golden Age.

Eat Enough, Then Quit.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Overeating, especially of meats, excessive use of alcohol and coffee causes many cancers, and the only hope for their extinction lies in absolute subsistence on vegetables with the exclusion of coffee and alcohol.

This, in substance, was the statement made yesterday by Dr. L. Duncan Bulkley, of New York, in an address before the American Medical Association. He pointed out that cancer virtually was unknown among the barbaric races who lived directly on products of the soil.

Kansas passed a prohibition law in 1881.

Secretary of State of West Virginia Says Law is Effective.

"Prohibition has proven a decided success in West Virginia. I defy any one to show the contrary," said Stuart F. Reed, Secretary of State of West Virginia, in addressing a large audience in Toledo, Ohio.

"The manufacturers and mine owners, who opposed prohibition so bitterly during the campaign, are now enthusiastically in praise of it," continued Mr. Reed. "The leaders of organized labor and many of the rank and file who were likewise strongly against prohibition, now declare that it has proved a boon to the working man.

"The State Labor Commissioner, after a canvass of all industries, says that labor and capital both agree that the efficiency of the workingmen has increased at least twenty-five per cent."

When the liquor question came up for discussion at the National Congress on Industrial Safety in Chicago, October 14, it is reported that not a single member came to the defense of alcohol. The discussion started when L. R. Palmer, chief inspector of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, said that "sixty per cent. of industrial accidents are charged to liquor."

"Milk has taken the place with our men that liquor used to hold," asserted E. K. Prichett, of the Macey Company, at Grand Rapids, Mich., "and this is how it happened. After forbidding the men to use alcohol beverages, we arranged to have milk wagons call at the factories at 10 o'clock each morning. We then permitted them to halt n their work and go out and buy bottles of fresh milk. We find this arrangement practically has solved our drinking problem."

Later the organization, represented by 700 delegates, unanimously and enthusiastically adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, It is recognized that drinking of alcoholic stimulants is productive of a heavy per cent. of the accidents and diseases, affecting the safety and efficiency of workngmen; be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this organization to go on record in favor of eliminating the use of intoxicants in the industries of the nation."

The members of the National Safety Council employ more than a million men.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

It is not often that one pattern can be made to serve two entirely different ends, but here is a coat that can be made with a tunic to wear over a plain skirt or without the tunic to wear over a fancy skirt, and the difference is so complete that it scarcely would be recognized as fundamentally the same.

The short double breasted coat is much liked for the tunic skirts and for the draped skirts that still keep their place, and the coat with the open tunic is one of the newest of the sort.

The model, while it includes all the latest features, is eminently a simple one, for the seams to the shoulders mean an easy fit.

The tunic when used is joined to the lower edge, and the model will be found an excellent one for all the fashionable serges, for the broadcloth that is so much liked, as well as for gabardine, wool velours and the like.

For the medium size the coat with tunic will require six yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one-eighth yard of velvet for the collar; the coat without tunic three and one-half yards twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8438, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the English Sparrow Invaded America.

She Drove Many of the Nice Song Birds Away.

"ALL the lovely song birds have gone, and there are only these horrid little brown birds," complained Evelyn as the children came to daddy for the evening story.

"Oh, what's the difference?" scoffed Jack. "One bird is just the same as the others."

"Oh, no, they aren't, Jack, which you know very well!" said daddy. "Don't you think that an ostrich would look funny with a pelican's head? Evelyn is quite right. When you take time to think of something besides your games, which I will admit little boys are very apt to do, you will appreciate just what Evelyn means. And that reminds me, did you children ever hear of the bird invasion of America?"

"No, daddy!" cried Evelyn. "Tell us about it!"

"Well," said daddy, "it was these same little brown birds you have just mentioned, Evelyn, that invaded America. They are English sparrows, and what looked like a harmless visit turned out to be a regular warlike invasion.

"You see, it was years and years ago. The farmers of this country suffered from certain kinds of bugs that devoured their grain, and these sparrows in England had the reputation of being very deadly to these particular bugs, for they liked them very much for their dinners. So the farmers sent for just a few of the fat brown sparrows.

"And it went very well for a time, but then the grandsons of the men who had sent for the sparrows had reason to regret their coming. The air of the United States seemed to agree with these little fellows, and they got so there were regular armies of them, and they ate not only the bugs they were brought to eat, but they also ate some things the farmers wanted them to leave alone. They wouldn't let these things grow, they ate them so fast, and, too, they were warlike little birds and drove many of the nice song birds away. So after a time the farmers wished they had left them over with the king of England, where they belonged."

"There are certainly a lot of them around in fall and winter, daddy," said Evelyn thoughtfully.

"Yes," replied daddy, "and I must confess I always rather liked them in spite of the fact they are considered a sort of tramp bird and not as nice as the others. Maybe that is why I am partial to them because everybody abuses them, and then, too, it is rather fun to feed them crumbs in winter and watch them fight and scramble for them."

"We'll have to start a bird club, daddy," said Evelyn.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Open up your bins of grain,
Offer bread and succor pain,
Chance like this won't come again!
My fair country.

Trade is swinging round this way, round this way, round this way.
Trade is swinging round this way, my fair country.
Now the imports almost cease,
While the exports fast increase,
Others war and we're at peace,
My fair country!

Land of pilgrims, lend a hand, lend a hand, lend a hand!
Land of pilgrims, lend a hand my fair country.
Soldiers die and widows weep,
You a solemn trust must keep
What ye sow that must ye reap,
My fair country!

"SILENT MAN" WILL HEAD CHICAGO'S RESERVE BANK.

McDougal, Chosen For the $30,000 Place, Investigated John R. Walsh.

James B. McDougal, the "silent man" of Chicago's financial district, has been elected to the governorship of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

When the bank is eventually opened it will have only 979 depositors. They will include national banks in federal reserve district No. 7 and the few state banks that have signified their intention of entering the new monetary system. The capital of the new bank will be approximately $12,700,000.

The man who was selected as governor of the new bank by the board of directors of the reserve bank has been little known outside of banking circles. It is expected that the position will carry with it a salary of $30,000 a year, although this has not been definitely decided upon.

As governor of the bank Mr. McDougal will have much to do with passing upon commercial paper offered to the federal bank for rediscount by banks in time of financial stress and will act as a safety valve of the business affairs of the district.

Since 1906 Mr. McDougal has been bank examiner for the Clearing House association. For five years prior to that time he was a national bank examiner and was one in charge of the investigation into the affairs of John R. Walsh.

Following the Walsh failure and the installation of the present clearing house system of bank examinations he was selected as the man who could best carry out the plan. So successful was he that the New York banks decided to install the same system and determined upon him as the man who could do the work. He was offered a large salary, but the Chicago banks refused to let him go and to retain him increased his salary to $17,000 a year.

$5,000,000 SENT BY MAIL.

Government Adopts Parcel Post Method of Shipping Gold.

Five million dollars in gold was sent by parcel post to the United States subtreasury in Boston from the mint in Philadelphia. This was the first shipment of money by the government by way of the parcel post system. The bags of gold were received at the South station by Superintendent Johnson of the United States railway mail service and a crew of four clerks. It took them several hours to unload the gold on to a regulation postal screen wagon, which carted it across the city to the Boston federal building.

It has been the custom of the government to ship its money by express, but this experiment of sending it by parcel post has proved successful, and it is not improbable that the treasury department will use the mails from now on for this purpose.

POINTS FROM PRESIDENT'S PITTSBURGH SPEECH.

In his address to the Young Men's Christian association of Pittsburgh President Wilson said:

Young men are embarrassed by having inherited their fathers' opinions.

I wonder if we attach sufficient importance to Christianity as a mere instrumentality in the life of mankind.

Character is a byproduct, and any man who devotes himself to its cultivation in his own case will become a selfish prig.

Christ came into the world to save others, not to save himself.

An association of Christian young men is an association meant to put its shoulders under the world and lift.

Young men are strong. Christian men are the strongest kind of young men.

I have a hate for a particular sort of person, and that is the moral coward.

A man who is virtuous and a coward has no marketable virtue about him.

The life of society, the life of the world, has constantly to be fed from the bottom.

If you want to make a place wholesome the best instrument you can use is the sun.

You cannot stand still. You must push forward the things that are right.

BARTLETT TELLS OF ARCTIC WALK

Tramped Over Ice to Save His Comrades.

CRAWLED PART OF WAY.

"All In Day's Work," Says Explorer and Navigator Returned From Far North With Eight of Party After Losing Eleven Others—He Made Perilous Trip With Only One Eskimo.

After a bitter experience in the northern wastes, nine survivors of the Canadian arctic expedition, which left Esquimalt in June, 1913, arrived at Victoria, B. C. They were brought from Nome, Alaska, on the United States revenue cutter Bear. The party was headed by Captain Robert A. Bartlett, the famous explorer.

Eight of the exploration party were lost on the journey from the point where their ship Karluk was crushed by the ice to Wrangel island, and three died in camp at the island, one from an accident.

"All In the Day's Work."

Captain Bartlett told the story of the Karluk's last voyage in bare facts. Relating a few of the obstacles he had to overcome on his tramp across the ice from Wrangel island to Emma Harbor, Siberia, he dismissed most questions as to his perils with a nonchalant "Well, it's all in the day's work."

Realizing that help must be summoned from somewhere or the entire party on Wrangel island would succumb through starvation, Captain Bartlett decided to set out on a walk which would bring him to the outside world. He knew the journey meant terrible hardships and possibly death.

"On March 18," he said, "I left the camp with an Eskimo boy, Kattovick, seven dogs and a sledge made by Mr. Hadley, the exact copy of a sledge used by Peary in his trips. We had supplies for ourselves and dogs for thirty-eight days. I intended to get to East Cape, Siberia. We had difficulty in crossing the strait which separates Wrangell island from the mainland, the air line distance being 100 miles.

"I thought when I left the island that I would make it in seven days, but strong easterly and westerly gales and the moving ice retarded our progress. As we neared the Siberian coast we had considerable difficulty with the rafted ice and deep, soft snow.

"On one occasion I was seventeen days making a distance of ninety miles. In some places the young ice was barely strong enough to support our sledge, and the ice would not support us in walking, so we had to cross it by lying flat on our stomachs and crawling across. Owing to the hardship of the journey several of my dogs gave out completely, and my native boy showed signs of losing his nerve.

"Early one morning I sighted land and hoped to reach it that evening. On seeing the land Kattovick became very active. More leads were encountered during the day, and I had to spend another night on the ice. The next day northerly winds set in and raftered the ice up on the Siberian shore. By working hard all day we managed to reach North Cape, Siberia.

"I saw no signs of habitation, so we camped for the night. The next morning we started along the Siberian coast for East Cape. One lone igloo was sighted, and we went in. In the ice hut I found a Siberian native, his wife and one child.

Saw Their First White Man.

"I came across the first white man at Koluchin bay. He made both of us at home, and we got considerable bread and tea. Being in need of a couple of good dogs I traded my binoculars to a native for two huskies. At Cape Serdze, Siberia, I met a trader who, after taking us in and feeding us, assisted us in getting to East Cape.

"Both Kattovick and myself were beginning to feel the effects of our hardships. My legs were swelling, and at times I experienced difficulty in walking. After more hardships I reached East Cape and there met an English trader. It was here that I met Baron Kliest, the Russian district commissioner for that part of Siberia.

"The baron offered to take me to Emma Harbor, Siberia, where his headquarters were located.

"The whaler Herman reached Emma Harbor during the latter part of May, and I immediately made arrangements to have the whaler take me to Nome, Alaska. When we arrived off Nome the roadstead was blocked with ice, so we headed for St. Michael.

Eyes and Legs In Bad Shape.

"Arriving there, I was still suffering from swollen legs and feet, and my eyes also were giving me trouble. After notifying the Canadian government by telegraph I received medical attention. In a week's time I had nearly recovered from my illness.

"While I was recuperating at St. Michael the cutter Bear arrived on June 5. She reached Nome Aug. 30. Four days later we started out on our second attempt to rescue the men at Wrangel island.

"On Sept. 8 we met the schooner King and Wing, and she informed us that she had the eight survivors from Wrangel island on board. The men were transferred to the Bear in order to receive medical attention. We then returned to Nome."

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

BEST STORIES OF THE BIG WAR; INCIDENTS OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Dramatic Scenes Along the Firing Line—Conspicuous Acts of Heroism.

Side Lights In the News That Touch Many Sides of the Human Emotions.

MANY a paragraph in the news from the European war zone is a story in itself. Some of the best of these side lights in the armed conflict of nations are given herewith. They include stirring deeds of heroism on the battlefield and unusual incidents.

A letter to the king of the Belgians written by General Leman, the heroic Belgian commander of the Liege forts, just after he was taken prisoner has been made public. Referring to the destruction of Fort Loncin, General Leman wrote:

"That I did not lose my life in that catastrophe is due to my escort, who drew me from a stronghold while I was being suffocated by gas from exploded powder. I was conveyed to a trench, where I fell. A German captain gave me a drink, and I was made a prisoner and taken to Liege. I would willingly have given my life, but death was not granted to me."

"Noise Was Infernal."

Quoting from a letter received from a French officer, a Bordeaux correspondent tells how a French cavalry division held in check two German corps for twenty-four hours:

"When the Germans were advancing from the north we were ordered to hold a certain village at all costs with a few quick firing guns and cavalry. It was a heroic enterprise, but we succeeded.

"The German attack began in the morning. A terrific bombardment was maintained all day. Shells destroyed every building, and the noise was infernal. We had to scream and shout all orders. The church tower was struck by a shell at the stroke of midnight and collapsed.

"Early in the morning we retreated under a hail of shells after mowing down masses of German infantry. We gave our army in the rear a whole day's rest, and our exploit is mentioned in many orders as a historic rear guard defensive action."

Decorated on Battlefield.

The bravery of a wounded young French officer, Albert Palaphy, on the field of battle won for him the Legion of Honor. As a corporal of the Tenth dragoons at the beginning of the war Palaphy took part in a recent fight with the Germans. In the thick of the battle, finding his colonel wounded and helpless, he rushed to his aid, hoisted him upon his shoulders and under a rain of machine gun bullets carried him safely to the French lines. The same day Palaphy was promoted to be a sergeant.

Soon afterward, although wounded, he distinguished himself in another affair, leading a charge of his squad against the Baden guard, whose standard he himself captured. Wounded by a ball which had pierced through the lower part of his stomach and covered with lance thrusts, he was removed from the battlefield during the night and learned that he had been promoted to be a sublieutenant and nominated to be chevalier in the Legion of Honor.

This incident of decorating a soldier on the battlefield recalls Napoleonic times.

A Boy Scout Wonder.

The hero of Belgium is a boy scout, Leysen, decorated by King Albert for his valor and devotion to his country.

This young man, who was born at Liege, is described by Le Figaro as of almost uncanny sharpness, with senses and perceptions as keen as a savage. He was able to find his way through the woods and pass the sentinels of the enemy with unerring accuracy.

Leysen made his way through the German lines from Antwerp for the tenth time, carrying dispatches to secret representatives of the Belgian government in Brussels. He has discovered eleven German spies in Belgium and performed a variety of other services and all without impairing his boyish simplicity.

Thrice Shot, Dug Refuge.

A remarkable story of a soldier caught in a trap amid a rain of bullets, who dug his way to safety with his bayonet, was told in a hospital at Petrograd.

"A body of Russian troops was lured into the open through the flying of a white flag," the soldier said, "when the bullets began to rain upon us. There was no cover in sight, and I began to dig a hole with my bayonet. Either it would be my grave or my protection from the rifle fire. One bullet hit me, but I continued to dig. A second bullet hit me.

"The hole was half finished when a third bullet struck me in the leg. Finally I finished the hole and tumbled into it just as a fourth shot hit my other leg. I became unconscious and remember nothing more until I woke up here."

A German Officer's Diary.

A Rouen correspondent has obtained possession of the diary of a German officer, who surrendered to a party of stragglers, and quotes the following from it:

"Aug. 5.—Our losses today before Liege have been frightful. Never mind: it is all allowed for. Besides, the fallen are only Polish beginners, the spilling of whose blood will spread the war lust at home—a necessary factor.

"Aug. 11.—And now for the English. Tonight William the Greater has given us beautiful advice: 'You think each day of your emperor. Do not forget God.' His majesty should remember that thinking of him we think of God, for is he not the Almighty's representative in this glorious fight for the right?

"Aug. 12. This is clearly to be an artillery war. As we foresaw, the infantry counts for nothing.

"Aug. 14. Every night now a chapter of the war of 1870 is read to us. What a great notion! But is it necessary?"

"Aug. 15.—We are on the frontier. Why do we wait? Has Russia really dared to invade us?

"Showers of Falling Stars."

Speaking of the fighting on the Marne, a French sergeant said: "I began to count the dead, but soon found that impossible. I suddenly heard a great shout and saw a sight that made my heart stand still.

"Our cavalry were charging down on the enemy's cavalry in the bright sunshine. Their lances and sabers looked like showers of falling stars. There was an avalanche of men and horses and cold steel.

"Huge gaps were torn in the enemy's ranks. German horsemen seemed to vanish into the earth. There can, I believe, be no doubt that the tide then turned in our favor."

Swarmed Like Ants.

"The more we killed the more they seemed to become," said an officer who described some of the earlier phases of the battle. "They swarmed like ants, coming on in masses, though rarely seeking close contact, for they learned to respect our rifles and bayonets. On this point there is unprejudiced testimony.

"A noncommissioned officer of the hussars asked me to translate a letter he found on a German officer who was killed while defending his battery. In the letter are these sentences:

"'German infantry and cavalry will not attack the English infantry and cavalry at close quarters. Their fire is murderous. The only way to attack them is with artillery.'"

Caress Seized Horses.

That sorrowful as are the partings between husbands and wives and parents and children in the countries involved in the great war, the separation of peasants from the dumb brutes that have served them long and faithfully and which are commandeered for the armies is almost as touching to watch, is the declaration of a Washington woman who has recently returned to her home. She was in Germany en route to Munich when war was declared, and all through her journeyings in the kaiser's dominions she witnessed what were evidently real bereavements of this kind.

"I saw stolid appearing peasants," she said, "leading to the depots the sleek farm horses which had been the means of making their little farms prosper and which, in many cases, were the pets of the family. After turning them over to the officers in charge they would still cling to them, rubbing and patting their noses and, in some cases, they would sneak back again later in the day for one more caress and to leave a few lumps of sugar or an especially succulent carrot."

Order of the White Feather.

How the women of England are urging the men to fight for the union jack is indicated in expedients adopted in several towns recently to shame ablebodied men who have so far not answered the call. At Deal a group of pretty girls distributed white feathers to a crowd of young men, who accepted them jokingly as "favors" and wore them in their buttonholes.

They were greatly discomfited a little later when the town crier announced throughout the city that the men had been "decorated with the order of the White Feather for shirking their duty and failing to respond to the call for defenders of the union jack."

Ferocious Bayonet Attacks

The wounded Germans in Paris declare the British have resorted almost exclusively to the steel in the recent fighting. The majority of the Germans admit they have been unable to withstand the ferocity of these attacks. Especially terrifying are reported to be the Irish and Scotch regiments. The rivalry between these two nationalities is acute, and every time that a Scotch column distinguishes itself the Irish can be depended on to attempt to eclipse it at the next opportunity.

Scattered His Kisses.

"A magnificent Gordon highlander recently attracted attention at the Gare du Nord," telegraphs a correspondent from Paris. "He was in fine humor, although he had been wounded in the side in the fighting on the Marne. He had a sword in his hand which, he explained, he had captured from a uhlan directly after the German had struck him with it, and he had shot his assailant dead.

"Some women of the French Red Cross on their way to the front caught sight of the Scotchman and hurried up to see if he was badly hurt. An animated conversation followed. The highlander, anxious to express his gratitude to the French Florence Nightingales, hesitated a moment, then he kissed all of them on the cheeks. The crowd cheered delightedly, and the nurses were not in the least abashed."

Children Wanted to Fight.

A Bourges correspondent says: "Among the spectators acclaiming the French artillery passing through here were four lads, the eldest about thirteen. Several marches later the boys were found in a circle of the troops partaking of the mess.

"They swore to follow until they came in contact with the enemy and to lay down their lives for their country. A collection was immediately raised among the soldiers. The boys were terribly depressed at being compelled to return home afoot, charged with vagabondage under the military law. The magistrate, with tears in his eyes, acquitted them."

Woman Fought In Battle.

Among the wounded arriving at Noisy-le-Sec, France, a town in the department of the Seine and near the Ourcq canal, was a young laundress in a soldier's uniform. She had followed a company of zouaves and had fought alongside of them in the trenches. Her identity was not discovered till she was wounded. Before sending her to the rear the commanding officer complimented her on her bravery.

When fighting was general about Brussels, women of the Belgian capital motored out to watch battles in the cool of the afternoon as unconcernedly as though going to the races.

Child Played Amid Dead.

Here is part of the description of scenes on the battlefields on the banks of the Marne as told to a Paris correspondent by an eyewitness:

"In the blazing sunshine I saw a little boy, son of a Turko—the Turkos often bring their wives and children on or near the battlefield. He had a rifle of some wounded soldier which he was hugging in his little arms as if it were a toy. He was perfectly happy surrounded by evidences of death, destruction, suffering and blood. His father was lying wounded in a village close by. The child had strayed away."

Oddities In the News.

The scene is a village on the outskirts of Muelhausen. A lieutenant of German scouts dashes up to the door of the only inn in the village, posts men at the doorway and, entering, seats himself at a deal table.

He draws his saber and places it on the table at his side and orders food.

The village waiter is equal to the occasion. He goes to an outhouse and fetches a hay fork and places it at the other side of the visitor.

"Stop! What does this mean?" roars the lieutenant furiously.

"Why," said the waiter innocently, pointing to the saber, "I thought that was your knife, so I brought you a fork to match."

Prisoners Roped In Bog.

A Petrograd correspondent telegraphs the following: "An engagement at Krinitz, between Lublin and Kholm, where the Austrians lost about 6,000 prisoners and several guns, was decided by a bayonet charge. The Austrians got entangled in a bog, from which, after their surrender, they had to be extricated with the assistance of ropes."

Every French and English name has disappeared in Berlin, according to cables, the Westminster hotel becoming the Station hotel and the Piccadilly cafe the Vaterland. Clocks in jewelers' windows, formerly registering the hour in each capital of the world, now have paper pasted over the names of London, Paris, St. Petersburg and Brussels.

Fighting In a Fish Pond.

Among dramatic incidents in the recent fighting may be mentioned the grim work at the ancient fish ponds near Ermenonville, France. These ponds are shut in by high trees. Driving the enemy through the woods, a Scotch regiment hustled its foes right into the fish ponds, the Scotchmen jumping in after the Germans up to the middle to finish them in the water.

Slain as He Prods Shirkers.

A young reserve officer who has returned to Paris, relating how he captured the sword of a Bavarian colonel, said:

"When charging the Bavarians I noticed that their colonel was striking his own men with his sword to prevent them from running away. He was so occupied in this that he forgot the approach of the French and was shot dead."

Dogs Fight For Masters.

The Belgian newspaper Patriote tells this story:

A battery of Belgian mitrailleuses was surrounded when their ammunition was exhausted, but the men determined to make a rush with clubbed rifles, using their bayonets as daggers. As everybody familiar with Belgium knows, dogs are everywhere used for light draft, and mitrailleuse batteries are mostly drawn by fine animals. Seeing their masters roughly treated in a hand to hand fight the dogs joined in so effectually as to enable the gunners to break through.

A soldier carried one of these heroic beasts in his arms, for it had a bullet through its paw, but it did not whine and kept licking the man's hand with its great hot tongue.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

Watchung.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society gave a Hallowe'en party in the Improvement Hall, Saturday evening. The program included instrumental music, solos by Miss Elsie Schmidt and George Winans, readings by Mrs. Charles G. Spier, the Misses Helen Schmidt, Nora Koons, Theresa Schmidt, stories and recitations by John Herrmann and George Winans, the ghosts duet by the Misses Elsie and Dais Schmidt, pantomime, etc., new and old-fashioned ghosts, by the Misses Elsie Fell and Helen Schmidt, games, all pertaining to Hallowe'en, occupied the remainder of the evening. Refreshments were served in a ghost and witch setting. Over one hundred Watchungites were present.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton entertained a house party over the Hallowe'en week-end at their home, Sunbright Farms, on Valley road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connor, of New York city, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Texier.

Raymond Kingston, a former resident of Watchung, but now of New York, was a guest of friends here on Sunday.

Benjamin Armstrong, who is spending the winter in New York city, spent the week-end at his home on Hillcrest road.

Miss Elsie F. Schmidt has been visiting friends in Millington.

The Pleasant Word Workers will give a musical social in the chapel Wednesday evening. For admission each one is requested to bring one or more pictures suitable for hospital scrap books.

Elmer Walker, of Princeton, conducted the services at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church yesterday.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT COMING.

Henry Miller will present Chauncey Olcott in a new play by Rachel Brothers this season, the alluring title of this new comedy being "The Heart of Paddy Whack." The favorite Irish star will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow night, for an engagement. It is said that not in many seasons has Mr. Olcott had a play so filled with heart interest and comedy as this new vehicle by the author whose "The Three of Us," "A Man's World" and "Young Wisdom" have placed her at the forefront of modern stage writers. It is claimed to have all the humor and appeal of one of Charles Lever's romances and to be technically and artistically a comedy which Henry Miller has developed into a delightful entertainment. Mr. Olcott's songs this year will include several new numbers and one or two old Irish ballads such as he sings so effectively.

Mr. Voter:--These two candidates stand for just what you must have, to live comfortably and prosper

FOR STATE SENATOR

WILLIAM W. SMALLEY

1. A Tariff that will protect American products so that American workmen will keep busy.
2. Less Taxation by applying business methods to governmetal problems decreasing salaries and offices in order to keep expenses below income.
3. Economy in Government which will not make a war tax necessary in time of peace.
4. A State Policy which will reduce the burden of taxation rather than make life more arduous and less remunerative.
5. A Government that will look after the interests of the people who work for a living before those who work at the polls.
6. A system of economy which will not make it necessary to tax the living and the dead in order to meet public demands and pay party debts.

DEMOCRATIC MISMANAGEMENT

At Washington has left thousands without employment; and DEMOCRATIC MISMANAGEMENT at Trenton has left the State Treasury empty.

THE WORST IS YET TO COME!

UNLESS THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE COUNTRY AND STATE IS PLACED IN THE SAFE HANDS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY AGAIN.

Mr. Voter: If you knew your business or that of your employer had run behind half a million a year, you would want a change of management. That is just what you should vote for on Tuesday.

Ordered and paid for by Somerset County Republican Committee.

CAPSTICK, PIERCE AND REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET SWEEP THE FIELD; LEGISLATURE ALSO TAKEN BY THEM

Democratic Losses Shown in Nation, State, County and City--Progressive Vote Smallest Since Party Was Organized--Democrats Unexpectedly Heavy Losers in Congressional Fights, Having Less Than Score Majority in House of Representatives.

Republicans were generally successful in the nation, state, county and city at yesterday's election. There was little or no evidence of any intention on the part of the electorate to sustain President Wilson throughout the country, and Union county people contributed to the anti-Democratic landslide in large numbers.

In the Fifth Congressional District, William E. Tuttle is defeated for re-election by John H. Capstick, Republican, and of the twelve Congressmen from the State, the Republicans have elected 8, and the Democrats 4.

Every Republican candidate for county and State offices in Union county was elected yesterday. Mayor Stewart, of Plainfield, was the high man on the Democratic ticket, his majority of 81 in Plainfield contributing to his great vote. The three Assembly candidates of the party received a big vote, and the sheriff, county clerk and register of deeds and mortgages are all selected by the G. O. P.

The State Senate becomes Republican by a majority of one, and the House of Assembly is again taken from the Democrats, and the Republican majority there will be 18.

New York State went Republican by probably 125,000 electing Charles S. Whitman, Governor, and James Wadsworth United States Senator. The New York Legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican.

Returns from all over the country indicate that the Democrats have suffered unexpectedly heavy losses in the House of Representatives. Their margin of 147 votes has been cut down to about a dozen. In the Senate the Democrats are said to have made gains.

The Progressive vote has fallen off greatly. The indications are that the vote of the party was so light in Union county that no ballot box will be provided for them at next year's primary.

In New England the Democratic representation in Congress was almost annihilated. Connecticut now represented by five Democrats, returned five Republicans. Rhode Island and New Hampshire, too, went solidly Republican. In Rhode Island the Republicans gained two out of the three districts, in New Hampshire two out of two. They retained both Vermont seats. In Massachusetts, which now has eight Republican Representatives and eight Democratic, the Republicans made gains. Vermont, Connecticut and New Hampshire retain their Republican Senators.

Gov. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, is probably re-elected by 15,000 plurality, due to the heavy Progressive slump. The Legislature, like all others in New England, is Republican.

The Democrats were swamped in Pennsylvania by 200,000 votes, representing the plurality rolled up by Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for Governor. Boise Penrose goes back to the Senate, 150,000 votes to the good, despite Theodore Roosevelt's personal campaign against him. The Republicans gained fourteen Congressmen in Pennsylvania, the Progressive delegation being wiped out.

Roger Sullivan, Democrat, was probably beaten for the Senate in Illinois by Lawrence G. Sherman, Republican, encumbent, by 15,000, though Sullivan carried Cook county by 75,000. Uncle Joe Cannon won back his old seat in the House by a comfortable plurality.

The returns indicate only one victory for woman suffrage out of eight contests. "Votes for Women" triumphed in Montana. It was badly beaten in Ohio and lost out in South Dakota and probably in Nebraska and Missouri likewise. Montana contains 18,140 women of voting age. The other four States hold 2.

The Prohibitionists made gains. Oregon went dry and probably Colorado. California, the great wine producing State, voted wet. Prohibition was badly beaten in Ohio, Cincinnati going wet by a 12 to 1 vote.

Texas voters rejected the initiative and referendum.

the Fifth district, carried Union county by 1,165, and received a majority of about 350 in his home county of Morris. That gives him a majority in the district estimated at over 1,500, over William E. Tuttle, Jr., his Democratic opponent.

The Republican county ticket was successful to a man. All of the candidates for the Legislature received a substantial plurality, and the county clerk, sheriff, register of deeds and mortgages and coroner were successful with little or no cutting of the ticket in any locality. The successful candidates were:

Senator, Carlton B. Pierce; assemblymen, William N. Runyon, Arthur N. Pierson, Charles L. Morgan; county clerk, James C. Calvert; sheriff, George C. Otto; register, Frank H. Smith; coroner, Henry P. Dengler.

The vote for civil service for county employes resulted in a majority of about 3,000 in favor of the change in selecting the workers.

MIDDLESEX IS SWEPT BY DEMOCRATIC TICKET

In Middlesex county, Congressman T. J. Sculy was given a substantial majority for re-election. He also carried Monmouth county, but lost in Ocean. His total plurality in the district will reach 3,000. Democratic candidate were elected to the House of Assembly, and B. M. Gannon, Democrat, was re-elected county clerk by a plurality of 2,755, his vote being 104 more than the combined vote of John H. Conger, the Republican opponent, and an independent Democratic candidate. Edward F. Houghton, at present deputy sheriff, was elected sheriff on the Democratic ticket by a plurality of 925.

"WILL TRY TO SERVE CITY WELL"-CALKINS

Mayor-elect Thanks All Who Actively Worked for His Election.

Mayor-elect Leighton Calkins, who won out yesterday by the substantial majority of 900 over Theodore Martin, his Democratic opponent, received hundreds of congratulations today upon the successful campaign which he conducted. He will succeed Percy H. Stewart, who was defeated yesterday for State Senator on the Democratic ticket, and will therefore retire to private life on January 1 next. Mr. Calkins when seen today by a reporter for the Daily Press made the following statement:

"My friends who were actively working for my election expected me to win; but the most optimistic hardly expected so overwhelming a majority, in view of the hard campaign which was made against me. I thank the City Committee and all the members of the Ward Clubs for their loyal support and especially for conducting the campaign throughout in an impersonal and dignified manner. I shall try to serve the city well."

SEA BATTLE IMMINENT

German and English Fleets Reported Manoeuvering in North Sea for Conflict.

ALLIES CLAIM GAINS

General Situation on Land Reported Satisfactory—English Lost Important Naval Battle in the Pacific.

London, Nov. 4—That a great naval battle may be under way at the present time in the North Sea between the English and German fleets is the belief in this city. The German fleet has gathered in the Baltic Sea, off the Aland Islands, opposite the Gulf of Finland, and are proceeding north. Great Britain is looking for its fleet to defeat the Germans.

Washington, Nov. 4—A despatch received by the State Department today confirms the fact that a battle took place yesterday off the coast of Chile between English and German fleets, and the latter were victorious.

Great Britain's loss in naval battle off the Chile coast is today believed to be two ships and 1,500 men. The battle, in which five German warships sunk one British cruiser and put another out of commission only lasted thirty minutes. The German ships were practically uninjured.

The cruiser Monmouth, with her entire crew of 655 men, sunk, while the Good Hope, another cruiser, was last seen afire at night. It is believed she also sank.

The cruiser Glasgow and the auxiliary cruiser Otranto reached port after the engagement. Both are declared to have been badly battered. The German embassy in Washington heard the cruiser Bristol also took part.

The Good Hope, the flagship of Rear-Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, carried 900 men.

The German cruisers engaged were the Gneisenau, Scharnhorst, Nurnberg, Leipsic and Dresden. The Gneisenau, Scharnhorst and Nurnberg were reported to have arrived at Valparaiso undamaged and with few casualities. The whereabouts of the Leipsic and Dresden was not stated.

This defeat of the British follows the recent destruction in the North Sea of seven British warships, three of them armored cruisers of 10,000 tons.

Aside from the material loss of the British vessels, it leaves the Germans virtually masters of the Pacific, where already they have created havoc among British merchantmen.

London, Nov. 4—The British submarine D-5 was sunk in the North Sea by a mine thrown out by a German cruiser retreating before British cruisers. Two officers and two men of the submarine were saved.

An admiralty report says a German squadron fired on the British gunboat Halcyon, which was patrolling wounding one man.

Paris, Nov. 4—According to the official announcement from the war office this afternoon, the Germans in their retreat from the Yser have abandoned a number of guns. The allies have retaken Lom Baertzyde.

The statement follows:

"On our left wing in the north, the situation has not changed since yesterday. The enemy has withdrawn to the right bank of the Yser. We have retaken Lombaertzyde. The Germans no longer hold any point on the left bank of Yser, except the end of a bridge half way between Dixmude and Nieuport. They have abandoned, besides some prisoners and some wounded, a quantity of material, of which some pieces of artillery that had sunk in the mud. Between Dixmude and the Lys, the conflict had continued with alternative advance and recoil, but in general the allied forces have appreciably advanced. Between the Lys and the region of Arras there have been artillery engagements and skirmishes.

"Between the region of Arras and the Oise we have advanced to the east of Quesnov en San Terre, as far as the heights of Parvillois. At the center the attacks which the Germans have developed on the right bank of the Aisne and in which we have made them lose the first slopes to the north of Vailly and of Craonne, did not continue yesterday. A counter attack by our forces has gained for us a position that had been lost.

"Violent cannonades and sharp attacks by the Germans have been repulsed on the heights along the highway of Des Dames and around Rheims. There is no important development between Rheims and the Meuse, or in the Woevre region. On

MISS RICHARDS TO RESUME LECTURES

Will Give First of "Current Event" Talks at Hartridge Auditorium Tomorrow.

Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, the well known and brilliant speaker on Current Events, will come to the Hartridge Auditorium, tomorrow afternoon, to give the first in her series of twelve talks to be delivered during the winter of 1914 and 1915. As usual, Miss Richards will pursue the course of national and international affairs in general, but she will, in addition, be able to say much on the war in Europe, for she was in Germany at the outbreak.

Following a speedy departure to Lucerne, where she was forced to remain for four weeks, she crossed Switzerland and France in six days and was able to sail for America via England in comparative comfort. This is, of course, the experience of hundreds of Americans travelling in Europe this summer, but one may be sure that Miss Richards saw everything of importance that was to be seen and heard every piece of news that was abroad, for she is all eyes and ears on her travels, gleaning knowledge and information and anecdotes of interest to be retold to her admiring audiences of the winter.

It is a pleasure to welcome Miss Richards to Plainfield for another season, and to have the assurance that she brings keen, clear and intelligent criticism of current subjects to her listeners. The development of all public questions, both domestic and foreign, will be followed during the course.

The doors at Hartridge Auditorium will be open at 2:30 and both season and single admission tickets will be on sale. The lecture begins at 3:30 sharp.

vote, had little difficulty in defeating Theodore Martin, the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Calkins carried sixteen out of the eighteen voting districts, and was only beaten in the other two by three votes in each. These were the First and Fifth of the Fourth ward, normally Democratic by a substantial majority. In the Second district of the Second ward, 199 were registered, and 196 voted. Of the latter eight failed to vote on mayor. Mr. Calkins received 158 votes and Mr. Martin 30. Although the Martin adherents had expected a majority for him, it was evident before the returns were in from the first half dozen districts, that Mr. Calkins was to have an easy time.

DISLOCATES SHOULDER ON HER WAY TO CHURCH

Miss Ernestine Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Richter, of Prospect avenue, Dunellen, while walking along Richmond street, this city, Saturday night, on her way to the Swedish Lutheran church, where she is the organist, caught her heel in the curbing as she was crossing East Sixth street, and was thrown, with the result that her right shoulder was dislocated.

An autoist who happened along, hastened to aid Miss Richter, and he took her to the office of Dr. E. W. Hedges, where the shoulder was put back in place. Two hours later Miss Richter was able to return home by trolley with her father, who had in the meantime visited the hospital. Aside from the pain caused by the strained shoulder ligaments, Miss Richter appears to be little the worse for her experience.

"TITANIC DISASTER."
The great electrical automatic presentation of the "Titanic Disaster," to be shonw at Proctor's Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, is said to be most realistic and attractive. A great model of the ill-fated ship is seen leaving the dock at Liverpool, calling at Queenstown and sailing proudly the empress of the sea. Fine weather and the great passenger list and all were enjoying the grand triumph of marine architecture. Then the warning, the shock and the sinking of the great ship is seen as though an actual occurrence. Pro. Morly, the great London electrician, has devoted a year to the preparation of the wonderful spectacle and will in person supervise this exhibition.

In the Congressional contest of the Fourth district, Elijah Hutchinson received a majority of 176, which was expected from the outset of the campaign. Azariah Beekman, candidate for State Senator, met with an overwhelming defeat at the hands of W. W. Smalley, present incumbent, who came out ahead in the borough with a majority of 222. Ogden Hammond, candidate for General Assembly, was also given a substantial majority in the borough, receiving 171 more votes than his nearest opponent, Mr. Bodin, candidate for the Democratic party. Julius Stahl, Republican, was re-elected to the Council.

The summaries are as noted in a table elsewhere.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Dunellen avenue, was tendered a Hallowe'en surprise party on Saturday night by thirty or more of her friends. The party was arranged by Mrs. Fred Vail, Mrs. Charles Vail and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Miss Florence. According to the arrangements Mrs. Smith had been invited over to a neighbor's to pass a social evening. As soon as her mother had left Miss Florence commenced decorating the home in the usual Hallowe'en manner. When all of the guests had arrived word was sent over to the particular neighbor's that some one wanted to see Mrs. Smith at her home. The surprise was such a complete one to Mrs. Smith on her arrival that she couldn't say a word for a second or two. The evening was very pleasantly passed, dancing, music and games being the entertaining features. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Leonard G. Huff, of North avenue, has accepted a position at the local station of the New Jersey Central.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barto, of Front street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Woods, of Jamaica, L. I., yesterday.

Dr. H. B. Arnold was a business visitor at Vineland, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Zink, of North avenue, are entertaining Henry Alberti and two son, Henry and Jacob, of Hudson, N. Y., for a couple of days.

AWARDED CONTRACT.

Contractor Raymond Whitford has been awarded the contract by the management of the local theatre of leveling the floor of the theatre. The revenue realized by running a motion picture show every night has not been satisfactory to Manager Eckerson for some time past and he has at last decided to run his picture shows only twice a week, Wednesdays and Saturdays, hiring the theatre out the rest of the week, if possible, for dancing, entertainments, etc. The place has already been hired on Monday nights by Daniel McCormick and "Doc" Doyle, of Plainfield, who will conduct dancing classes. Much favorable comment has been elicited by the decision of Manager Eckerson, as the need for a spacious auditorium in the borough has been realized for some time past. It had been hoped while the new Michael A. Gallagher building was in process of erection at the corner of North and Washington avenues that Mr. Gallagher would decide to make an auditorium out of the upper floor and considerable disappointment was manifested when he finally decided not to do so upon the ground that the revenue derived from such an undertaking would be too uncertain.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Jeffrey, of Jefferson avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith Jeffrey, to Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Dunellen avenue. The ceremony took place on Wednesday evening, October 14, in the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church at Elizabeth, the pastor, Dr. Ryman tieing the nuptial knot. Witnesses were Miss Florence Smith, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Ryman. After the ceremony the couple left for Washington, where they spent a week. They are making their home temporarily with the groom's parents. The bride has received many valuable and useful presents, among which were a chest with thirty pieces of silver, cut glass and linen.

John Daniels, of First street, spent Monday and yesterday with his parents at Flemington.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Arnold spent Sunday at Morristown as the guests of Dr. Arnold's sister, Mrs. Vernon D. Rood.

MANY ARRESTS AT 'PLAINS.

Marshal Ashton is a busy man in Scotch Plains these days and is also keeping both Recorder Jahn and Justice of the Peace Clark busy. He has made seven arrests since Saturday, three of them being on a warrant issued by Justice Clark. Matty Bogart, who lives on the Valley road, was arrested Saturday night charged with disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. Matty is well known for giving the "cops" trouble. When arraigned before Justice Clark the next morning he was fined $5, which he paid.

Marshal Ashton arrested three boys, William Harris, Albert Vaughn and Lester Jones, ranging from eleven to fifteen years, who reside in the "Big Woods," on Monday, on warrants sworn to by the owner of a dance hall in that section who charged them with setting fire to the building. Justice Clark let them go with a reprimand with the understanding that their parents repair the loss which was slight.

John Hudson, a resident of Valley road, was arrested Saturday night and arraigned before Recorder Jahn, on Monday, charged with being drunk and creating a disturbance. After pleading guilty and promising to "take it easy" he was let go with a suspended sentence.

The Newark man escaped with the mudguard of his auto broken while the whole front of the Westfield car was wrecked. The auto was taken to Seifel & Frazee for repairs. SUFFRAGISTS WAGE LIVELY CAMPAIGN

"Button-hole" Voters on Election Day with Encouraging Results.

Election Day held a surprise for the voters of Plainfield and North Plainfield. One hundred feet from the polling station stood yellow badged suffragists, ready with one short question. "Will you give us your opinion in regard to woman suffrage?" It was only an opinion they asked for and the women need not have staid so far from the polls. They were not soliciting votes at yesterday's election. They were merely asking the voters to consider an important question which will come to the vote of the people in ten months' time. And the voters did consider the question, with the greatest courtesy. A considerable number actually signed slips, checking their position as favorable, neutral or opposed, as the case might be. The voters showed a courtesy and consideration that made the unaccustomed task easy for the women.

It is true that one young man smilingly held up his arm to ward off further questions. "I've been asked a thousand times," said he. His interlocutor desisted, but with a secret pride that there were so many suffragists abroad. The working men showed real interest and wanted to know more about the subject. In the borough suffrage leaflets gave out before the morning was over and a fresh supply had to be secured. One woman addressed an elderly gentleman, who proudly told her that his grandmother had voted in Elizabeth 100 years ago.

A true account must record that some gentlemen ran around the block or quickly crossed the street to avoid a "Suffrage sentinel." It was the custom to speak to the voters after they had voted. In one case this proved fatal, as the voter climbed out a back window of the polling station and made his escape. On the whole however, the voters seemed to approve the earnest effort of the suffragists and to admire their pluck. One man said they should have done it years ago.

Certainly the polls proved to be entirely decent orderly places where women will be proud to go as fellow citizens in the years to come. In the evening a "Suffrage Experience Party" was held at The Ritz and was considered very satisfactory that so many of the voters of Plainfield and North Plainfield had been directly reached. Every polling place in the city and borough had had its suffrage worker. One woman thanked Mrs. Greeley for asking her to do this work as it had been a very rich experience, increasing her belief in man's chivalry, and her hope in democracy.

our right wing (Lorraine) there is nothing new.

"Russia, in East Prussia, the Germans have taken up defensive positions. The Russians are advancing at certain points on the front with success. In Poland, the Russian troops have occupied without serious resistance, Szeedak, Lask and Rozprza to the west of Kielcee. The Germans are retiring on Wloszcowa and Andreyef. The Austrians rolled back to the southeast of Kielce, no longer hold position north of Sandomierz. On the River San unimportant engagements favorable to the Russians have been fought. At Razwadow and Nisko, the Russians continue to cross the river. The general headquarters of the Germans have been transported to Zestochowa, near the frontier."

Berlin, Nov. 4 (by wireless).—The first encounters on the Turkish frontier in which Turkish soldiers met Russian forces from the Caucasus, resulted unsuccessfully for the Russians. Nineteen Russians transports, sunk by the Turks, had on board 1,700 mines destined for the blockading of Turkish waters. This fact shows the hostile intentions of Russia.

The note of Sir Edward Grey denouncing Turkey, handed to the Italian Government by the British ambassador, has created an impression unfavorable to England, at is shows England's fear of Turkey.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT BY ITALIAN MISSION

Concert and Lecture Largely Attended at Y. M. C. A. Monday Night.

The Italian Mission held a very successful entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, Monday night, which was very largely attended. The entertainment consisted of two parts, the first being a musical program and the last an illustrated lecture.

The first part of the program consisted of selections by the Hoboken Italian Band, vocal solos and readings.

The program follows: Instrumental march, "Enthusiame," by Lambaise, Hoboken Italian Band; baritone solo, "The Sword Song," by Clough, sung by C. C. Barry, of New York; instrumental overture, "Festa di Campagna," by Lambaise, the band; tenor solo, 'Se," by A. Mancini, sung by L. Rinoldi, of Newark; piano solo, "Selected," played by E. Ongaro; soiprano solo, "Angel's Voices Ever Near,' sung by Miss Rosina Durante, of Bloomfield; instrumental, "Miserere from Trovotore," by Verdi, the band; reading, 'The Refractory Cow,' by C. C. Barry; soprano solo, "Eternamete," sung by Miss Durante; baritone solo, "My Little Woman,' by Osborne, sung by Mr. Barry; instrumental, "American Patrol,' played by band.

Rev. P. Griglio, professor in the Bible Training School of New York, gave a very interesting lecture on "Celebrated Buildings in Italy" and many highly colored slides were shown which made the talk more interesting. Rev. Mangione is pastor of the mission and the present membership numbers about three hundred.

Present Excise Conditions Assured With Possibly Another Wholesale License.

The members of the 1915 Common Council will be A. D. Edgar, who succeeds himself; George S. Clay, C. C. Graves, Theodore Martin, C. P. Hamilton, who succeeds Cornelius VanHerwerden; Robert H. Cox, who succeeds Leighton Calkins, who was elected Mayor; John H. Cose, Thomas F. Hylan, Juan A. Babcock and FRrancis J. Blatz, who succeeds himself.

The complexion of the Council insures a continuance of the present excise conditions, with the possible exception that another wholesale license may be granted next year.

DUNELLEN VOTERS SPLIT THEIR TICKETS

R. S. Craig and H. D. Williams, Republicans, Elected to Boro Council.

The result of the election at Dunellen shows that the voters did not adhere strictly to party lines, but split their tickets to a great extent. Robert S. Craig and Harry D. Williams, Republicans, were elected to the Council, to succeed two Democrats. For the office of county clerk, Bernard Gannon, Democrat, received 217 votes against 169 for Conger, Republican.

For the Assembly, Haight and Applegate, Republicans, and Anderson, Democrat, received their full party vote. Houghton, Democrat, was Dunellen's choice for sheriff. There was unusual interest in the election, it being equally divided between the local and county contests. The vote was as follows:

ARRAYS MOSLEMS AGAINST ALLIES

Turks' Entry Into War Aimed at British Rule In India.

ENGLISH EYES ON EGYPT.

Nominally Part of Turkish Empire, but Really Subject to London's Rule, It May Support Sultan's Stand. Captain of Crack Ottoman Cruiser Trained In America.

With the opening of hostilities by Turkey against Russia the number of warring nations is increased to ten. The other nine, in the order of their beginning hostilities, are Austria, Servia, Germany, Russia, France, Montenegro, Belgium, Great Britain and Japan.

Ever since fighting began the kaiser on the one hand and the allies on the other have been bidding for Turkish support, and the former, by virtue of his careful attention during a period of many years to Turkish susceptibilities, has triumphed over the Turkish fear of Russia and the British fleet and whatever gratitude the porte may feel for England's support in time past.

The world at large first realized that the Turkish empire might play an important part in the great struggle when on Aug. 11 the Breslau and the Goeben, the two German cruisers caught in the Mediterranean at the outbreak of hostilities, managed to elude the fleets of the allies and take refuge in the Dardanelles.

According to international law, they were safe so long as they remained in a neutral port, but they must either come out after twenty-four hours or consent to be interned for the period of the war. Turkey [illegible] perior to custom and permitted them to stay on, giving out that she had purchased them for her own navy in place of the two battleships building in England on her order which had been taken over for the British navy.

Breslau and Goeben Now Turkish.

The two cruisers since then have appeared as Turkish vessels. It has also been said that Germany has been trying to forward to them by land considerable numbers of sailors. It has been rumored that under the Turkish flag they have still retained their German crews.

Meanwhile the porte has denounced the capitulations—that is, the concessions to Christian powers which permit their nationals to be subject only to their own consular law courts, allow them to maintain their own post offices, and so on. It has been an unpleasant thing for the powers affected, including this country, to face this, but in the present chaos it has been impossible for any one nation to do more than protest.

By getting Turkey to join him in the fight on the allies the kaiser has been aiming another blow at England, since the Turkish sultan is the nominal head of all the Mohammedans on earth. Great Britain is the greatest Mohammedan power in the world. In Egypt and India she has under her rule an enormous number of followers of the prophet. France also, through her great African possessions, has to consider the Mohammedan problem.

May Cause Trouble In Egypt.

Egypt is still nominally part of the Turkish empire, although to all intents and purposes it has been incorporated in the British empire, and there is a possibility that the cry of the sultan for help might cause disturbances. In India, too, the preaching of a holy war by the Mohammedans might give rise to a great deal of trouble. But, on the other hand, England can point to the excellent effect on her position in Egypt of the reforms of Lord Kitchener; to the fact that the Aga Kahn, the religious head of Indian Mohammedanism, has declared himself in her favor, and, above all, to the fact that at this moment there are Mohammedan Indian soldiers fighting for her in Europe.

To Americans the inclusion of Turkey in the war has significance through the presence in the Levant of the United States cruiser North Carolina. An outbreak of the Moslems against the Christians, the Jews or the Armenians is likely at some point or another, and American missionaries may be in danger.

The Hamidieh, most active of Turkish ships, is an armored cruiser of 3,800 tons, built in England and completed in 1903. She carries two six-inch, eight 4.7-inch and four smaller guns and three torpedo tubes and has a complement of 302 men. Her speed is twenty-two knots.

In the Balkan war the Hamidieh made a brilliant record, similar to the exploits of the German cruisers Emden and Karlsruhe in the present conflict. Her commander, Captain Reouf, had studied American naval methods during a stay of some years in this country and had with him on his ship two American officers.

Costs Italy $1,000,000 a Day.

Italy has spent at the rate of $1,000,000 a day since the war began to place her army in a state of preparedness. A government announcement shows that in addition to the ordinary appropriations the cabinet had arranged up to Oct. 9 for the use by the military administration of 341,000,000 lire ($68,500,000).

THE ELECTION.

To say that the people of Union county wanted a change in the political administration is entirely superflous. The result for all offices at yesterday's election speaks so decisively for itself that comment is unnecessary. Probably the most disappointing feature of the election was the small Progressive vote in all sections of the county, state and nation. The party has apparently served its purpose, and judging from some of the old time Republican war horses who were returned to Congress, the people have decided that the old style politicians are good enough for them.

Mr. Capstick, Congressman-elect from the Fifth district, has been selected on a progressive platform, which promises legislation such as the working man desires to see. This is proven by the fact that in the districts where the laboring vote is found, he received a very flattering vote, showing a reversal over the vote cast in the same districts in the two preceding elections.

While Mayor Stewart was given a very flattering vote in this city, as was predicted in these columns, he was unable to overcome the personal strength of Mr. Pierce for Senator, and the latters record was such that outside of Plainfield he ran very well. The Republican Assembly ticket, led by William N. Runyon, of this city, polled a smashing big vote, Mr. Runyon's majority in Plainfield being over 1700.

One of the most gratifying features of the election was the reelection of Frank H. Smith as county Register of Deeds and Mortgages. Mr. Smith was attacked by all his opponents as being inattentive to duty, and as a politician in public office. That the people resent such work was shown, for in spite of almost superhuman efforts to defeat him, Mr. Smith was selected by a substantial plurality.

In Plainfield the election of Mr. Calkins almost approached the walkover stage. Mr. Martin was misled into believing that he had a splendid opportunity to be made Mayor, when the only proper thing would have been to have forgotten party politics and named Mr. Calkins as the candidate of all three parties.

On the whole the result has been satisfactory. There were a few spots where a different result might have been desired, but the general situation will be pleasing to the large majority of voters, regardless of party.

One of the most gratifying features of the entire election was the substantial vote given Senator W. W. Smalley in Somerset county, by which he was re-elected. He should never have been opposed by a Progressive candidate. If Mr. Smalley is not a progressive there is not a Progressive in the State.

Don't forget, in the election excitement, that there are hundreds of thousands of suffering women and children in Belgium who are near starvation. There is no place a few cents or hundreds of dollars can be placed more advantageously than to aid this worthy cause.

As was expected there were a whole lot of surprises. One of these for the Republicans was the vote Mayor Stewart got for Senator. His friends expected it, but a whole lot of leaders in the other party did not.

So far as the local vote was concerned, the "Do It for Plainfield" spirit was certainly in evidence in the balloting for three of the four local candidates.

And even if he is alleged to be a boss, Frank H. Smith, proved to be a pretty astute campaigner. He is the right man in the right place.

It was the heaviest vote that the city has seen, in proportion to registration, in many years. Who says the voters were apathetic.

The fine Italian hand of former Mayor Newton B. Smalley is noticed in the election returns for councilmen in North Plainfield.

And incidentally, it might be repeated that the Board of Education is in for a lively time during the next two years.

Whitman surprised them all in New York. Even Charley Murphy had to concede his election at nine o'clock.

John Neagle, our reliable weather prophet, rises to remark that it was "Calkin(s)" good weather yesterday.

We can now settle down to a careful persual of the war news and to normal business conditions.

Congratulations Mr. Calvert. It was certainly a case of the best man winning in your case.

CALKINS BY 900 MAJORITY

substantial vote in the city, but ran several hundred behind the majority of those on his ticket, his plurality being 645, while that of the other Republican candidates, aside from Mr. Pierce, ranged from 900 for Mayor-elect Calkins, to 1719 for former City Judge William N. Runyon, seeking election to Assembly.

Civil service for county employes carried in the city by a majority of 1043.

Aside from Mayor Stewart, who ran very strongly throughout the entire city for State Senator, the Republican candidates were pretty generally successful in all the wards in the city. Frank H. Smith, candidate for register, was given a complimentary vote in his home city, and this helped him greatly in his effort to be reelected. The three Republican candidates for Assembly, William N. Runyon, Arthur N. Pierson and Charles L. Morgan all received a big vote, Mr. Runyon running especially well in his home city. County Clerk James C. Calvert carried the city by a big majority over Assemblyman William A. Leonard, for re-election as clerk. George C. Otto got a splendid vote for sheriff, and Dengler received the big vote for coroner.

F. J. Blatz
Councilman, Fourth Ward.

There were only two contests for councilman in the city, in the Second and Fourth wards. A. D. Edgar, Republican, was re-elected in the First ward, and Robert H. Cox, Republican, was chosen in the Third ward, without opposition. In the Second ward C. P. Hamilton defeated Seymour Perkins, although the latter polled a big vote for a ward normally Republican; and in the Fourth ward, Francis J. Blatz was re-elected over David L. Coleman, the Democratic candidate.

The Progressive vote in the entire city was very light. All the figures will be found in a table appearing in another column.

Not in many years has there been such a heavy vote cast in this city, as nearly the entire registration was represented in the ballot boxes, when the polls closed last night. The voters turned out early, and there was not the slightest evidence of the expected lack of interest, which had made itself so manifest during the campaign. In some districts only two or three men failed to cast their ballots.

The first returns made public were from New York and other States, as the polls close at 5 o'clock in many places outside of New Jersey. Neither of the local newspapers had made any plans to bulletin the returns, but a crowd of several hundred people gathered in front of the offices.

ROBERT H. COX

The first local returns were announced when one hundred votes had been counted in the first district of the First ward. They showed that Mayor Stewart was running well ahead of Mr. Pierce for Senator, and that Calkins lead for Mayor over Martin. The latter's adherents had expected a different result in this district. Capstick ran well ahead of Tuttle for Congress.

Mr. Man, Do You Know

That We Have a Large "MEN'S FURNISHING DEPARTMENT"

completely stocked with about everything a man wears, with the exception of clothing and hats? The department is a big store in itself, situated just a step off the street to the left as you enter the store. We think we hear you ask "why go to a Department Store to buy Men's Furnishings?" Our answer is there's a heap of difference between our prices and those prevailing at exclusive shops. It's true you can buy socks for a quarter, neckwear for fifty cents and shirts for a dollar at any other place. But it's the quality that you buy that counts. Buying as we do in very large quantities for our three stores from the best mills and factories in the country, enables us to buy at much lower prices than a small shop that buys from jobbers and has to pay the middleman's profit. We are in a position to offer you better goods for the money than you can obtain elsewhere. As an illustration we ask you to note that the majority of women who buy furnishings for their men folks come here for them and the reason they do so is, that they shop around and know where to obtain the most for their money.

Mr. Man, the very next time you want some furnishings try it for yourself, we'll wager you'll be a steady patron thereafter and don't loose sight of the fact, that the furnishings we sell are right up-to-the-minute in style.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Thirty Leagues Under the Sea," the wonderful submarine motion picture that will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theatre, Friday and Saturday, afternoon and evening, is a realization of Jules Verne's fantastic dream, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," which has thrilled every reader since it was written, with its alluring pictures of the beauties that lie buried in ocean depths. And now fiction that seemed impossible has become a reality even more marvelous and beautiful than described by the famous novelist. In New York, where this first and only submarine film has been playing to crowded houses daily for the past two months, the regular patrons of the "movies" as well as scientists, students and teachers join in extravagant praise of the marvelous deep sea pictures, the first and only submarine adventures ever flashed on a screen.

"Cabiria," the colossal photo spectacle which is to make its premiere at the Plainfield Theatre, on November 9, 10, shows what is probably the best chosen and most rehearsed company of actors and actresses ever presented in a film. The character of Hannibal is impersonated by a great Italian star who has been with the company in Turin for several years. Sophonisba, the Carthaginian princess, gives the performer Itala Manatui, an opportunity of reaching the highest level of histrionic tragedy ever manifested in a film. Maciste, the slave, is a natural actor magnificently trained and his physical prowess is the theme of admiration of all those who have seen the picture. There is not a part in this picture, even down to that of the humblest soldier, that is not filled by thoroughly drilled and trained artists. As a manifestation of motion picture acting the film alone deserves study by all interested in stage work, be it of the talking kind or the movie kind. The company rehearsed the picture off and on for a period of a year.

MARTIN SATISFIED WTIH THE RESULT

Democratic Mayoralty Candidate Says That He Has No Regrets.

Councilman Theodore Martin, the defeated Democratic candidate for Mayor, in a statement, today, said that he wished to thank everyone who worked and voted for his election, appreciating everything that had been done in behalf of his candidacy. Mr. Martin said that while he had made a hard fight and felt confident of winning, he has no regrets over the result, feeling that he did the best that he could.

While Mr. Martin says that he felt sure of being elected, he breathed a sigh of relief today, and expressed the opinion that instead of feeling badly, he was well satisfied with the result and had no apologies to make. He had no comment to make regarding the general result in the city and county, other than to say that the vote showed the people wanted a change.

MAYOR STEWART SAYS DEFEAT WAS INEVITABLE

In an interview with a Daily Press reporter this afternoon Mayor Percy H. Stewart, defeated candidate for the State Senatorship, said:

"I want to thank my constituents for all they have done for me and the compliment I have been paid in being allowed to carry my home city. I have no fault to find with the result of the election this year and am perfectly satisfied with the selections of the voters. The pre-election contests were remarkably clean-cut in the race for the Senatorship. Personalities failed to enter into the campaign issues and there were no unkind words of a personal nature spoken by either my opponent or myself.

"It is evident that the Progressives and Regulars have joined hands and as my opponent was supported by this combined faction my defeat was inevitable. It was hardly to be expected that I should be elected during such a great Republican landslide as was recorded."

"BELGIUM BEFORE THE WAR," IN PICTURES

Emerson E. Parvin, of Watchung avenue, delivered an interesting lecture in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, last night, on "Belgium Before the War." There were a large number of the Sunday-school members and their friends present and the talk was illustrated with numerous stereopticon views of that country which were taken by Mr. Parvin himself.

Mr. Parvin has been in Belgium on several occasions and is well acquainted with conditions and economic problems of that country. He showed some interesting slides of famous buildings that have since been destroyed during the war. Mr. Parvin has delivered this talk before under the title of "The Little Kingdom of the Rich." He is secretary of the International Mercantile Company.

TOLD OF HEROES ON FIRING LINES OF EUROPEAN BATTLEFIELDS

Stories of Valor Mingled With Official Accounts of Advance and Retreat.

How Soldiers Win Mention In the Dispatches of Their Commanders.

ONE of the greatest honors which can be accorded to a French soldier is to be cited in the order of the day. I give the following typical excerpt, from a newly published list, says a war correspondent of the Chicago News. Each paragraph covers a thrilling feat of bravery, which, properly told, would quicken the reader's heart. Yet here they are as laconic as telegrams:

"Fragnaud, a re-enlisted sergeant of the Sixth infantry, all the officers of the company being killed, took command himself and fell mortally wounded while leading his men into the firing at the edge of a wood.

"Lapouble, second lieutenant in the Fifty-seventh infantry, already twice wounded, continued to lead the combat at the head of his section with an ardor above praise until the moment when he was struck dead.

"Felici, captain, and Han, lieutenant in the Twelfth infantry, during eight days, with tireless tenacity, resisted heroically a heavy artillery bombardment and infantry attacks fifty yards distant. When they quitted the farm which they had occupied they left behind only crumbling walls, which threatened to bury them.

France Has Twelve Year Soldier.

A writer in the Petit Parisien says that he was challenged by two sentinels at the entrance to a village, one of whom he was surprised to see was a mere child, though on horseback with a rifle and wearing the regulation uniform of a cuirassier. When questioned the boy told the following story, which seems to justify his claim to be called the youngest soldier in France:

"I am twelve years old. My name is Paul Waterlin. I used to live at Creil, where I was a boy scout. Not wishing to live alone after my father, who is a noncommissioned officer in the Thirty-second artillery, went to the front—my mother has been dead a long time—I hid in a troop train, which took me to Namur. There I picked up a wounded man's rifle and fought in the trenches. Afterward Colonel de B. of the cuirassiers sent for me. He said I had done well and might stay with his regiment. He let me keep my rifle and ordered that a uniform and a horse be given me. Since then I have been through the battles of Denain, Meaux and the Marne, and I am going north again soon."

When asked how he liked a soldier's life the boy said it was much better than living in houses, which many people who wished to adopt him tried to persuade him to do.

"At the end of our conversation," says the writer, "he lit the cigarette I proffered, blew a big cloud of smoke into the air and cantered off, sitting his horse with true soldierly smartness."

Among the German Wounded.

"I have been traveling on a train to Berlin with the wounded," cables a correspondent from Germany. "The slightly wounded are in first and second class carriages, while baggage, or, as they are called here, goods cars, are fitted with bunks for the badly hurt.

"One youth has been struck at an angle through the left eye. Of course he was lucky that the bullet had not come straight at him. Yet it is hard to lose an eye when you are young and an athlete, for this soldier was one of the German Olympic games team, which until the war began were training under the American athletic instructors who had been brought over here.

"Below him lies a most remarkable case—a man, living, conscious and even cheerful after a bullet had passed through his head from front to back. The surgeon says the bullet must have taken a course between the large and small brains, for the wounded man had still control over his nervous system.

"We go to another bunk.

"'This man has a bullet lodged in the pericardium, the sack which incloses the heart. We have made an X ray picture of it.' The man nods with a smile as we pass. A nurse brings him a bowl of soup, which he thoroughly enjoys.

"'Will he live?' I ask.

"'Yes, we think so.'

"These men, many of them shattered physically for the rest of their lives, are all young. They are the cream of the army, boys between eighteen and twenty-four years old, I judge."

Tries to Enlist at Seventy-three.

Recruiting officers attached to a cavalry division in England were nearly bowled over with surprise when a gray bearded man applied for a place in the cavalry. He was Henry Chaplin and admitted that his age was seventy-three years. "Old as I am, I can still do a fairly hard day in the saddle," he said. "So I have applied for a place where on horseback I can strike a blow for my country."

He "Bucked" the German Line.

George Andre, the noted French all around athlete, outdistanced his comrades in a bayonet charge near Arras, wrenched a standard from the German bearer, footballed his way through an amazed group of German infantry and, although wounded in the foot, regained the French lines.

"Please Fire," Says Duelist.

A French battalion occupied Mezieres in order to guard the bridges over the Meuse. One detachment had hardly arrived at the railroad bridge when its officer, Lieutenant de Lupel, was informed that a German patrol was hidden in the station. The French at once attacked and drove the Germans here and there among the heaps of coal and the buildings. The French officer followed the German officer into the roundhouse, revolver in hand, and caught sight of him crouching behind a tender. The two men looked at each other. Mutual respect and a tacit understanding sprang up. With fifteen paces between them each took up a dueling position. "Kindly fire!" cried the Frenchman, just as his ancestors had cried at Fontenoy under similar circumstances. The German fired and missed. Then the Frenchman slowly raised his arm and fired, killing his opponent.

He returned to his men, aided them to overcome the Germans' last stand and walked away coolly at the head of his battalion.

Lieutenant Wins the Iron Cross.

German papers speak of an encounter between outposts of French dragoons and German hussars, in the course of which a well known daring rider, Lieutenant von Falkenhausen, found himself face to face with an even more famous horseman, his former rival in the field of sport, M. de Fournas. Lieutenant von Falkenhausen overcame his opponent after a brief struggle and made him a prisoner—an achievement which earned for him the iron cross.

Machine Gun Duel In the Air.

From a height of 8,000 feet a French mechanic in an aeroplane piloted by Louis Paulhan, the first aviator to fly from London to Manchester, struck down a German machine after a thrilling machine gun duel. The mechanic writes:

"We were flying over the German lines toward Amiens beyond the range of the enemy's aeroplane guns when a Taube emerged below us from behind a cloud. Paulhan turned the nose of our machine downward. We came on his level. The German began to fire without effect.

"We swung within 600 feet of the Taube, which thereupon took a wide sweep in volpique and offered a splendid target.

"My first broadside inflicted a mortal damage, the Taube falling from 8,000 feet like a stone. Our petrol tank, however, was punctured by a bullet, and we succeeded in planing behind our own batteries only by a miracle."

Bavarian's Picture of Battlefield.

The Wuerzburg General Anzieger publishes the following description of a battle in France as given by a Bavarian lieutenant on the firing line:

"Suddenly we were rushing forward. The enemy hurled shells at us from the hills. After heavy losses we reached another small forest at the bottom of the hill occupied by the enemy. His artillery now kept up continuous firing at the forest.

"A shell explodes in a pit not more than three feet from my position. Screams like the yells of wounded animals reach my ear.

"The soldier to my left is hit in the head by a bullet. He tries to raise his hand, but his strength has left him. To the right a soldier has been hit in his arm by a bullet. It laid open the arteries. With a cord I tie his arm to prevent his bleeding to death."

OUR COASTS WELL GUARDED.

Could Repel Any Attack, Says Head of Fortification Committee.

"The United States is so well fortified, with the exception of two points, where work now is in progress, that an attack from the sea probably will never be made on any of these fortifications," said Representative Swagar Sherley in an authorized statement in Louisville, Ky. Mr. Sherley is chairman of the house committee on fortifications.

"The theory upon which the fortifications have been constructed," said Mr. Sherley, who led up to the subject with a discussion of the seventeen inch guns used by the Germans in Belgium, the existence of which, he said, he doubted, "is to protect important harbors from a direct attack by a hostile fleet. This has been done, except at San Pedro, Cal., where emplacements for guns are being built, and at the mouth of the Chesapeake, where land has been acquired, and estimates shortly will be submitted for placing sixteen inch guns, along with other armament, that should protect that entrance.

"Our guns are of the most modern pattern," he continued, "and are capable of destroying the most modern super-Dreadnought. Whether it may be thought advisable in the future to prepare certain minor defenses in the rear of our coast fortifications is a matter about which there is some difference of opinion."

LARGE FIELD OUT FOR HOLIDAY RUN

Watchung Hunt Follows the Hounds In a Lively Fourteen-Mile Chase.

The holiday run of the Watchung Hunt Club, yesterday, brought out the largest field of the season. The hounds were met at Dog Tavern at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, and they led the field a stiff pace to Fanwood, where the first check was made. The hounds were taken up here and cast in on the Henry farm for the second line crossing the Scudder, Gallagher and Nelson estates, a second check being made at Goodman's Crossing on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

In this line there was a great deal of jumping and from the roadside one could see at least twenty-five jumps over fences and post-rail fences, which were successfully negotiated. While crossing the Nelson farm, Miss Mary F. Baker lost her mount at a stiff rail fence. She was not badly injured and pluckily remounted and continued. The chase continued to Westfield and circling back ended at the water tower at Netherwood, a distance of fourteen miles.

Those who finished were: R. C. Finch, M. F. H., H. A. Bourne, H. Stuart Hollis, Miss Mary F. Baker, Mrs. Gertrude Mattlach, Harry L. Finch, Col. C. E. S. Bellows, R. H. Towner, J. J. O'Donohue, Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield; A. C. Fox, S. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

Jones was third with 5 points.

The Holiday Cup was won by J. V. Beekman with a net score of 80, while the Oakmount Cup was won by J. A. Wilson with 26½ points. C. J. Hand finished second with 20 points.

These scores were returned for the Holiday, Oakmount and President's Cups:

MONARCHS BEAT OAK LEAFS.

The Monarchs, of Dunellen, had an easy time defeating the Oak Leaf team, of Bound Brook, yesterday morning, on Maurer Oval, Dunellen. The final score was 27 to 6, and after the beginning of the second half there was no doubt as to the winner. Neither team scored in the first and each registered 6 in the second. Fourteen in the fourth and seven in the last period made the total score. Barto was the star of the game.

ORIOLES WON.

The Orioles, the only colored football team in this city, opened its season with a victory, yesterday afternoon, on Parker Field, when it downed a strong New Brunswick aggregation by the score of 20 to 0. The playing of Maiden at quarterback, and Kline at righ halfback, were features.

Crack Bradhurst Eleven Scored 20 Points In Game Yesterday.

The Holy Cross football team suffered defeat again yesterday afternoon, on Cricket Field, when the strong Bradhurst Field Club team, champions of New York, took the game by a score of 20 to 0. The borough team was outweighed and could not stop the fierce plunges of their opponents.

The visitors scored their first touchdown within three minutes after play had started in the first quarter and also scored once in the third and fourth periods. During the latter part of the last period a Bradhurst man was hurt and because of the darkness the game was stopped.

RAHWAY WALLOPED E. ORANGE.

Surprising all followers of scholastic football, the Rahway High School eleven gave the East Orange High School team a severe drubbing at Ashland Field, East Orange, yesterday afternoon and went home to Rahway shouting over a 29 to 0 victory. East Orange was not in it at all, and the Red and Blue defense completely crumpled under the slashing attack of the Rahway backfield. Rahway has a set of backs second to none in high school circles and one that would do credit to many college teams. The line which was supposed to be very weak stood up well yesterday and held off the rushes of the East Orange team

FRANKLINS WON.

The Franklin A. A. went to Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, and defeated the Columbia A. A. in a game of football by a score of 7 to 0. The Franklins, however, did not display their usual form, as several of their players were crippled by injuries sustained in the Holy Cross game at Plainfield last Saturday, which the Franklins captured by a score of 22 to 6.

LOCALS ON RESERVE LIST.

According to the final reserve list of the National Association of Minor Leagues, received by Billy Pfau yesterday, the names of Frank Hand, the Scotch Plains "big leaguer," and Cliff Randolph, of this city, appear on the 1915 reserve list of the Perth Amboy club.

LEAGUE MATCH POSTPONED.

The bowling match in the Elks league between the Rahway and New Brunswick teams, scheduled to be rolled at New Brunswick, Monday night, was indefinitely postponed.

The Borough Reserves, a basketball team consisting of North Plainfield High School players, and the Alumni team played the first game of the season on Saengerbund Hall court, Monday night, and the Reserves showed some regular borough playing, taking the game by the score of 26 to 15. The game was rough and well played, but forty minutes of play was too much for the graduates. Roy Love was the star and collected five baskets, while Townley dropped four field goals and two fouls. TWO SCOUT PARTIES OUT ELECTION DAY

Troops 5 and 11 Spend Holiday in the Field Doing Practical Work.

Eighteen members of Troop 5, Boy Scouts of America, spent yesterday morning in the field and the scouts took part in scout games and practical work. The party was in charge of Scoutmaster A. V. Searing, Jr., and was also accompanied by Scout Commissioner Allan E. Eadis and Scout Councilman J. W. Augiltree. The scouts hiked to the Dealaman estate on West End avenue. Three of the scouts took the outdoor tests for first class honors.

Mr. Beals and Mr. Augiltree gave the scouts many hints about their work. Two rope bridges were made and were used to prove their usefulness. Several of the scouts turned one of these bridges into a wireless aerial and received communications that were passing between the Brooklyn Navy Yard and Philadelphia. The scouts were forced to eat of their own cooking at noon and Eagle Scout Charles F. Rice lighted the fire without the aid of matches.

About twenty-five members of troop 11, of this city, under the direction of their scoutmaster and assistant, spent an instructive day in the mountains near Stirling. They started from here about 6 o'clock and arrived at their destination at 7:30, when they immediately had breakfast. The day was spent in playing games and practical scout work. The party returned about 6 o'clock.

LAY MANY HOURS ON BATTLEFIELD

Wounded French Soldier Waited Long For Help.

BROUGHT IN BY GERMANS.

He Expected Swift Dispatch When Enemies Came, but Instead Their Ambulance Corps Carried Him Off. Day and a Half In Mud and Rain With Wound In Stomach.

These extracts from a letter sent by a wounded and captured unnamed French soldier to his father in Paris are published by the Figaro:

"Wounded in the stomach about 6 o'clock in the morning, I am left in the rain and in mud so deep that I am obliged to lean on my elbows to keep my head out of it.

"I remain helpless from 6 in the morning until 4 the next afternoon, and the rain does not stop.

"Toward 2 o'clock there is a lull in the firing. I await the stretcher bearers; but, like Sister Anne, they do not come. The hours seem atrociously long, although I no longer pay any attention to the rain, which continues. Finally toward 4 o'clock in the afternoon I see coming in place of the looked for stretcher bearers the Germans.

Kindness From the Enemy.

"This time it is for good," I say to myself. "I am done for. A blow from a rifle butt or a thrust of the bayonet and they would finish me. A last thought of my family and I try to take my own rifle and end it. It is useless. The gun is a lump of sticky clay.

"A German asks me in French, 'How are you?'

"I showed him the place where I am wounded.

"'Reassure yourself,' he says. 'That will perhaps amount to nothing. In any case you will get well.'

"I learn that they are from Lorraine, which is lucky. They are clad in gray, which makes them almost invisible in war. I speak of this to them. They answer:

"'Indeed, with your red trousers we can see you a long distance. You make superb targets.'

"The Germans went on their way, promising to return to look for me.

Thirty-four Hours Without Care.

"The hours pass; night arrives. It still rains. Day breaks. No one; neither stretcher bearer nor my Lorraines of the day before. It is not until 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the second day that the Germans come back. I have passed thirty-four hours in reflection in the rain, with a wound which caused me much suffering.

"The Germans put me on a canvas with two pieces of wood on either end. They carry me to a hamlet, about a kilometer and a half distant, and stretch me out there in the open air, still in the rain, but on firmer ground. Then they go back to search for others. They bring thus 700 or 800 wounded, of whom 400 are French.

"I am soaked. I am famished, I munch with joy a bit of army biscuit, which I find delicious. Upon my urgent entreaty a German consents to give me a glass of wine from his flask, which he has just filled. I thank him. That warms me. The German is going away, when he changes his mind and demands payment for his glass of wine. I give him a ten sou piece, the only money I have left. He takes himself off content.

Germans Blame French Rulers.

"Some German officers come to talk to us. One of them says to me:

"'It is your government's fault that you are here.'

"They all speak French. I note the remarks of this officer because it appears to me to indicate a curious mentality.

"The third day of this calvary they put us in a barn on the hay. We have as yet received no care. I beg the Germans to take off my clothes. I have been able to snare a blanket which happens to be there. I don't know to whom it belongs, but necessity stifles scruples. They are quite willing to do what I have asked. My coat, my water soaked trousers, which were little less than packages of mud, are removed. My falling shoes, my underdrawers and socks follow the same route.

Dresses His Own Wound.

"My feet and my wound make me suffer. I take out my little pocket scissors. I cut my shirt and flannel belt free of my wound which I have not seen. It is distressingly long, but nothing astonishes me any longer after what I have seen. I make as good as it is bad, a dressing out of the first aid things in my pouch. Then I roll myself up in my blanket. I have no longer anything military, except my cap and I am almost naked. Fortunately my jersey keeps me warm. This operation completed, I feel a great relief.

"They sort the German wounded from the French. Some hours after they bring in the sanitary service of the Two Hundred and Third, which has been taken prisoner. The French doctors get to work with first dressings. They make one for me with tincture of iodine. But at the moment they are going to put on the bandage the Germans take away the French doctors and the wounded Germans. We, in our turn, are transferred to Lhecourt."

LOGAN'S RETURN CHEERS OLD ELI ROOTERS; HIS KICKING HELPS MUCH

Quarterback Logan.

The return of Logan to his place at quarterback has done much to enliven the Old Eli eleven. Logan was out of the game for some while with injuries that at first were thought to be so serious as to keep him from active play for the greatest part of the season. His speedy recovery has given impetus to the belief around New Haven that the Blue is to have a triumphant season. Logan is not only a capable and heady field general, but he is invaluable with his toe. His place kicking has been a source of strength to the team. In the above picture he is shown looking in good earnest.

RAYMOND BESTS HAUSSLING FOR MAYOR OF NEWARK

Thomas L. Raymond, fusion candidate for Mayor of Newark, defeated Jacob Haussling, the present Democratic incumbent, after one of the hottest campaigns held in Essex county, Raymond's plurality being 1,364. This means the end of the Nugent political machine in Essex county, and concludes a fight which has been carried on for years to wrest the city from the control of what has been repeatedly termed a corrupt ring of politicians.

Essex county elected three Republican Congressmen, and the entire county ticket of that party was successful.

Evil Communications
Newspaper Responsibility
By PIERRE N. BERINGER

Dr. Frederick Lynch, when speaking to the Men's Club, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, of Plainfield, touched upon the evil of speaking ill of people corrupting cordial relations. He stated, among other things, that for forty years the school text books of France and Germany had spread the false knowledge as to both nations, and their people, which had brought about the present titantic struggle.

In passing, Doctor Lynch spoke of the false ideas that have been promulgated and encouraged in regard to the Japanese. He said that this might easily, if fanned into a flame of popular prejudice and resentment, result in a war. Just at present certain organizations, believing that it is best for California to exclude all Asiatics, are busily sowing the seeds of prejudice. Exclusion leagues are sending out literature to the press and many statements are made without being controverted. On the other hand, the Japanese people have strained every nerve to retain our good will and fellowship. Recently, a book has been quite widely distributed which contains the views of such men as Count Okuma, the Premier of Japan, and Viscount Kaneko, who is known as a progressive and splendid citizen of the Land of the Rising Sun, and a hundred others. These men represent the diplomatists; the political, financial, commercial and industrial world of Japan. They are all of them dignified in their utterances and they call attention to the fact that, logically, Japan, being our largest Oriental customer, and the United States, being the largest of all customers of Japan, there is nothing even from a selfish standpoint to be gained by a war with that country.

The Jingo spirit in both countries is sometimes rampant and it is to be said to the credit of Japan that her eminent men are in no wise tinctured by it. It is just as well to recall that the Entente between England, France, and Russia and what might be termed the by-product, or the collateral, understanding between England, France and Japan is something very solemn and binding and means more than a "mere scrap of paper," so that when we shall have exhausted administrative Fabianism and come down to "brass tacks" we shall have to envisage the fact that Japan, not any more than any other nation, is capable of understanding the absolute lack of responsibility to the federation of States enjoyed by California or any other State desiring to enact local regulations at variance with treaty rights. It is almost a united voice pleading from Japan that we, as a nation, place no indignities upon her, and that we preserve our own dignity by a clear adherence to scrupulous honesty in defining the rights of humanity, that we allow no single State to voice a cry of industrial necessity to enable it to raise the color line; to do a signal injustice to a people who desire to maintain the best of relations with us.

Japan, it seems, from a careful reading of the book in question, has no desire and, indeed, since the gentleman's agreement was arrived at years ago, has proven that she can and will keep her industrial population at home. Her field of expansion lies in Korea, in Manchuria and in the East generally. What Japan wants is decent and fair treatment and she does not believe the nation that fought four bloody years of war to settle one phase of the States' rights question, will be so inconsistent as to say that the color question was not really settled but that it must be adjusted to suit the individual fears, necessities and conveniences of agitators and politicians in every State in the Union and for every color of the human race.

And, by the way, as long as we are on the subject of misinformation, it would be wise in these critical and hysterical days if information peddled about were baked on actual knowledge of the Japanese people. For instance—the story that Japanese labor is cheap in California and competitive with American. The Japanese and Chinese made possible the reclaiming of the great Deltas of the San Joaquin and the Sacremento Rivers. The American and imported foreign labor, not Asiatic, refused to work in the mosquito-laden swamps, now in the garden spots of California and the Japanese laborer today in that locality receives higher wage than his American competitor.

This is true of Japanese labor in the cities of California and generally on the Pacific coast. Japanese cooks receive the highest pay in that line and house servants work for the same or a higher wage than that received by the Americans or foreigners engaged in like callings; numerous enquiries, official and otherwise, have been made in that direction and this is established as fact.

Japan as a nation has achieved a great deal and she occupies a position, through her thrift, her civilization, her manufacturing advancement, her trade achievements, her great schools, second to almost no nation on earth. It is only natural that such a nation should feel somewhat sensitive when its citizens are referred to in the slangy and convenient and somewhat insulting diminutive of "Japs." One can easily imagine just how such a trivial thing as the English speaking world referring to citizens of the United States as "Yanks" ad nauseum which might eventually arouse a certain amount of resentment.

It might offend, too, that if the Japan press were to state to the people of Japan, in season and out, that no bank in this country would think of hiring a citizen of the United States as a trusted officer handling treasure, but that all of our cashiers were English and selected because of superior probity. Yet right here is a hoary-headed lie continually circulated by the exclusion propagandists until the very name of Japanese is tainted with suspicion of slyness and unfair dealing, if not downright dishonesty. It has been said that all bank employes in Japan were Chinese. That Japanese bankers could not trust men of their own nationality and it is only necessary to ask anyone who has travelled in Japan to demonstrate satisfactorily to the inquirer the absolute stupidity and malignity of such a story.

There is a Japanese proverb which is instilled into the mind of the youth at school and it would be well if youth and adult in this country memorized this immortal couplet:

"The bird of an idle word
Hath flown from thee,
Not ten thousand horses fast could o'er take it as it passed."

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD---CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleasing soothing relief comes immediately.

UNABLE TO AGREE WITH OWNERS

City Council Appoints Commissioners to Make Assessments for Street Opening.

TO MEET NOVEMBER 30

Board of Trade Wants Official Tax List and Less Water on Brick Pavement — Citizens' Committee Urges Haste In Public Work.

Being unable to agree with the affected property-owners, Councilman Francis J. Blatz, at the November meeting of the Common Council, Monday night, offered a resolution appointing W. H. Abbott, E. H. Bird and Charles H. Parker commissioners to assess benefits and damages for the extension of East Fourth street, between Washington and Richmond streets. The commissioners will meet the property-owners Monday night, November 30, at 8 o'clock, to treat with them on the subject.

The Board of Trade, in a communication, requested the Council to take steps to have an official list of taxpayers printed, showing the amount of tax each one pays, and it also requested that some other method of keeping the dust down on the brick pavement be employed beside sprinkling it so much. It was complained that this condition is responsible for many automobile accidents.

The Citizens' Committee appointed in the interest of Plainfield's unemployed, through Leslie R. Fort, communicated with the Council requesting that any public work in prospect be started as soon as possible so that idle men may find employment. All of these communications were referred to the proper committees, as was also a petition for three lights on Sheridan avenue and another for a two-way hydrant on Berckman street and South avenue, near the Rushmore Dynamo Works.

The Public Service Corporation informed the Council of the installation of an additional light, making 1,095 in all. The contract between the city and Burke & Bonham for street work was filed. A petition was received requesting that Kensington avenue be macadamized and another one that Everett place be repaired, were referred to the street committee.

Postmaster A. E. Hoagland communicated with the Council relative to the sidewalk on East Second street, between Watchung avenue and Church street, along the government property, calling attention to the triangular shape of the walk. This will be straightened when the street is widened as proposed.

City Judge W. G. DeMeza's quarterly report showed receipts from fines amounting to $195.50. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported the granting of seven sewer permits during the month and Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of nineteen building permits during the same time.

In accordance with resolutions by Councilman Leighton Calkins, the city treasurer was authorized to borrow $20,000 for the fire fund in anticipation of taxes, and $15,000 for the sewer extension work, while $1,000 was ordered transferred from the general to the poor fund.

A communication from the joint Sewer Commission was referred back to City Clerk J. T. MacMurray for disposition. Mr. Blatz reported back the petition in reference to improving Kensington avenue, requesting the city clerk to inform Albert Redfern that no assessments had been made for such work. Mr. Blatz moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet Monday evening, November 9, at 8 o'clock.

SECOND $100 TOWARD $1,000 FOR BELGIAN RELIEF FUND

Another interested citizen has offered to give $100 toward the Belgian Relief Fund being raised in this city, provided ten men agree to give that amount. This makes $200 pledged, and it is sincerely hoped that other public spirited citizens will come forward in order to get the desired sum.

A few days ago one of the women having charge of the local relief fund, which already amounts to over $1,300, was offered $100 toward the fund, provided nine other men would give the same amount. Announcement was made of this offer in the columns of the Daily Press on Saturday night, and late on Monday another citizen said that he would be glad to be included in the list of ten men. There has never been a more worthy appeal made in this city, even when local affairs are concerned. Hundreds of thousands of women and children are suffering, and the despatches from London daily tell of the necessity of acting quickly, if they are to be saved from starvation.

Subscriptions for the cause may be sent to the Daily Press office, and will be promptly acknowledged in these columns.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

How Much Do Women Want the Vote?

On the answer to this question depends the success or failure of the present campaign for woman suffrage in New Jersey. There are some 30,000 enrolled Suffragists in the State, and in places where systematic canvasses have been made never less than sixty-six per cent. of the women have been found to be in favor of suffrage. If the Suffragists are really in earnest and each Suffragist does her part there is no question but that New Jersey women will be qualified voters by this time next year; but it will have to be a matter of a long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together! A few women cannot do all the work, nor raise all the money, although money is not as necessary to success as workers.

With the insertion of planks favoring the submission of the question at a special election next fall in the platform of every political party, there is no question but last year's suffrage resolution will be ratified by the coming Legislature, and the date for the election will be fixed for sometime in September. Four other constitutional amendments will be voted on at the same time.

There has never hitherto been the need for steady continuous individual work which now exists, so that it is impossible for the leaders to tell how well the women in the suffrage ranks will respond to the appeal which is to be made to them this fall, and everything hangs upon the whole hearted willingness of each woman to do her share of the work.

If you believe in Votes for Women—Do Something.

If you don't find your kind of work in the list below, keep thinking, and asking and hunting till you do, then do it.

Join some suffrage organization. If there isn't any where you live, form one. Send to State headquarters, 309 Park avenue, Plainfield, for directions.

Subscribe to a suffrage paper. The "Woman's Journal," 585 Bolyeston street, Boston, $1 a year covers the whole suffrage field weekly.

Buy, read and give away suffrage literature—to friends, to clubs, at meetings, in letters.

Use suffrage postal cards. Use "Votes for Women" rubber stamps on letters, checks, parcels, etc.

Offer to do some clerical work at the Plainfield headquarters.

See that the Public Library has good suffrage literature.

Ask your minister to preach on suffrage.

Speak if you can; if you can't get up a meeting and find a speaker; if you can't find one, ask help from headquarters.

Have a suffrage speaker at your club.

Never let a public meeting go by without distributing suffrage literature.

Organize! Advertise! Give Something! Time, service, money, yourself. Everything counts.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the State association is to be held in Camden tomorrow and Friday. The Mayor has given the Council chamber in the City Hall for the business sessions of the convention. A big suffrage rally will be held on Friday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, which seats fifteen hundred people, and this will be preceded by a suffrage dinner at The Garden, tickets seventy-five cents. Speakers at the rally will be, Mayor Ellis, of Camden; Ralph W. Wescott, son of the Attorney General of the State; a prominent South Jersey Republican; Miss Fola LaFoliette. Among the speakers at the dinner will be Champlain L. Riley, president of the New Jersey Men's League for Woman Suffrage, and other suffrage leaders.

At the afternoon sessions there will be many well-known speakers, who will talk on different ways of working. Among them will be Mrs. Helen Hoy Greeley, of New York; Miss Maud Basset Gorham, professor at Swarthmore College, and Vice-President Garrison, of Llewellyn Park, chairman of the suffrage legislative committee of New Jersey.

There will be a number of special exhibits designed to be of assistance to suffrage workers. One will be a large map of the State, on which little flags will show where each suffrage organization, and there are some one hundred and thirty of them, is located. There will be a responsibility chart showing just how much work will be necessary by each county in order to carry the State. Miss Esther G. Ogden, of Elizabeth, and Mrs. Cyrus W. Field, of New York, will be in charge of an exhibit from the National Suffrage Publishing Company, showing specimens of all literature published, as well as banners, buttons and various novelties. The press committee will have an exhibit of suffrage editions of various Jersey papers, and favorable editorials from the leading State papers, as well as a large number of original cartoons which have been donated by the artists, and which appeared in different State papers. There will also be a melting pot to which every visitor is asked to bring contributions of old gold or silver—thimbles, spectacle frames, jewelry, etc.

This promises to be the largest women's convention ever held in New Jersey. Come and help to make it a success whether you come as a delegate from a suffrage organization or not. Everybody welcome at all sessions.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

As shown here, this frock is made of embroidered muslin, with valenciennes lace as trimming. If something very dainty for dancing or occasions of the sort is wanted net could be used with ruffles of some simple lace or of the material picot edged.

For the plain frock without ruffles any simple, childlike material is appropriate. The tucks in the body portion provide just becoming fullness. The skirt is perfectly straight gathered at the upper edge.

GIRL'S KIMONO DRESS.

For the medium size the dress will require two and three-quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with six yards of insertion and eight and one-half yards of edging.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from four to eight years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, $360, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS OF SERVING LAMB.

LAMB is one of the meats which are at present fairly reasonable in price. If it is served daintily and in a variety of ways the housewife need not fear to have it on the table often.

Some suggestions for cooking lamb are as follows:

With Inexpensive Cuts.

Lamb and Rice en Casserole.—This may be made with stew meat. Line a mold, slightly greased, with cooked rice. Fill the center with chopped lamb (two and one-half pounds lamb pieces) highly seasoned with salt, pepper, cayenne, onion juice and lemon juice; then add one-fourth cupful cracker crumbs, one egg slightly beaten and enough hot water to moisten. Cover meat with rice and cover rice with buttered paper. Steam forty-five minutes. Turn out on to hot platter and surround with a tomato sauce.

Lamb Stew With Beans.—Take one and one-half pounds each of breast and shoulder of lamb. Boil in sufficient water to cover, skim and season with salt and pepper. When almost tender add one quart of crisp, fresh green beans, left whole. Remove cover of stew kettle as soon as beans are added and cook until tender; then thicken with one tablespoonful of flour. Three minutes before serving add two or three tablespoonfuls of minced parsley and one small sliced clove of garlic. Do not omit garlic, as it is this flavor that makes this stew individual.

Two Popular Dishes.

Lamb in Aspic.—Prepare an aspic jelly. Pour a portion of it in the bottom of a plain mold and decorate the bottom and sides with slices of hard boiled egg, sprigs of parsley or watercress and slices of olives; then fill the mold with the aspic and put on ice until firm. Turn out on a chilled dish and surround with lemon cups filled with new peas moistened with a tart French dressing.

Lamb Chops a la [illegible]. Take loin chops. Trim off [illegible] together about two [illegible] chop in [illegible] and [illegible] scrape carefully and dust with salt and pepper. Make a batter of one cupful of flour, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, two eggs beaten lightly, two tablespoonfuls of butter and half pint of milk. Dip each piece of chop into the batter and drop into hot fat, using a frying basket. To cook meat properly in this way keep the fat at the frying point. To do this you must not put in more than two or three chops at a time.

If well done the meat will be as tender as chicken.

Lard is the best for frying these, as it allows more time for the meat to cook sufficiently well done without browning it too much outside

Anna Thompson.

There He Sat All Alone In the Night Playing Beautiful Chords on the Harpsichord.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Little Boy Who Played In the Night.

"WISH I knew what I was going to do when I grow up to be a man," said Jack as the children came for the evening story.

Daddy smiled a little. "A great many little boys have wished that same thing, Jack," he said, "and it's a funny thing, but some of them never seem to really find out, and they stumble around all through life, even after they're grown up, much like Jack here stubbing his toe and falling down and scrambling up and stubbing his toe and falling down again.

"Yet there are other little boys—and girls, too, though we're considering boys just now—who seem to know right from the beginning just what they are going to do, and they go right ahead at this thing, whatever it is, and keep at it as long as they live, and they usually have quite wonderful careers. There are not many of these people, and the story of their lives and work is always interesting.

"I must tell you children about one of these little boys. He lived away over in Europe a long time ago. At first he was like other babies except for one thing. He was passionately fond of any kind of music, and he would even cry when he couldn't hear it any more.

"In those days they called an instrument that was something like our pianos of today a harpsichord, and the parents of this little boy had one. One night about 2 o'clock in the morning the little boy's parents were awakened by the most beautiful chords upon the harpsichord. They were almost afraid to go down. The sound at that hour made them superstitious. They were afraid it was a ghost playing.

"But by and by they got their courage up and went down after lighting candles, and guess who they found there playing the beautiful music? Why, it was their little boy, and he wasn't much more than five years old, and there he sat all alone in the night playing beautiful chords on the harpsichord.

"Well, nothing was too good for him after that, for they knew he was a genius, and they got teachers for him, and long before he died he was known as one of the greatest composers and musicians the world has ever seen, for that little boy was Mozart."

"Wish I was a genius, daddy," said Jack, with a deep sigh.

"Oh, you mustn't worry, Jack," said daddy. "Just be a good boy and keep trying, and maybe some day you will do something better than other people have done it. And that's what we call genius. It's just trying and learning the thing you best like in the best way."

Parents of Dr. P. B. Cregar, of This City, Celebrated Anniversary Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cregar, of Annandale, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Annandale, Monday, November 2. They are the parents of Dr. P. B. Cregar, of this city, and have always lived in Hunterdon county. There were over one hundred guests present at the celebration Monday night and the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Cregar and their grandchild.

Guests were present from Plainfield, New York city, Medina, N. Y., Philadelphia, Easton, Scranton and Martin, and friends from surrounding towns. The home was very attractively decorated throughout and the color scheme was white and gold. A collation was served at 12:30 o'clock. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. One of the interesting features of the night was the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Cregar wore the same clothes in which they were married fifty years ago.

W. G. PECKHAM WEDS MARION WHEELOCK

Marriage of Well Known Couple Is Hastened By the War.

Friends in Westfield of W. G. Peckham, whose engagement to Miss Marion Wheelock was announced some months ago, have received a letter from Venice, stating that the marriage had taken place very quietly because of the war. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. D. Brown, of the Protestant church. Miss K. P. Wheelock was with her sister, otherwise only Mrs. Young and a few friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Peckham are at present in Italy and are expected home about November 6.

The bride has made several trips to Europe and has studied music there and to some extent with Arthur Foote, the Harvard composer. Mr. Peckham has spent the summer in writing up European Art Exposition for "The Studio" and in observing the war in France. He is expected to report his war experiences to the newspapers on his return.

Miss Wheelock's father is Francis H. Wheelock, formerly a merchant of Boston, and well known in Cambridge to men who lived in the Wheelock Dormitory at Harvard College, which he managed for his family, one of his ancestors was Ebenezer Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth College.

GUSTAF ANDERSON WEDS IN NEW YORK

Takes Miss Ida Maria Anderson For His Bride at Church Ceremony.

Miss Ida Maria Anderson and Gustaf Adolph Anderson, of this city, were married on Sunday at the Bethesda church, 148 East 50th street, New York, Rev. M. J. Egger, pastor of the church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Gotfried Sjoblom, of this city. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Larsen and Miss Elsie Person, of New York, as bridesmaids. The ushers were Axel Blank and Carl Carlson, of New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Young were the host and hostess. The wedding march was played by Prof. T. E. Erikson. The bride was gowned in white and carried a shower bolquet.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church, during which there was a program of music. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion with autumnal flowers. The couple left on a short honeymoon and they are now residing at 413 East Sixth street, this city. The bridegroom is employed as chef for Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, of East Seventh street, and both he and his bride have a large acquaintance and are popular.

Among those from Plainfield who attended the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlston, Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brandt, Oscar Wesson, Oscar Christiansen, the Misses Beda Olson, Anna Olson, Ether and Yeuda Johnson.

HEBREW LADIES' BENEVOLENT SOCIETY GIVE A DANCE

The Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society held a very successful dance in Abrams' Auditorium, Monday night, which was largely attended. The guests were received by Mrs. Victorson, president of the society, and Mrs. H. Abrams, vice president. Booths containing saleable articles were to be found. Everything was donated by the women.

This society is doing a fine work among the poor Jewish people of this city. The committee in charge of the dance was in charge of Mrs. Jacob Abrams, and she was ably assisted by Mrs. S. Rosenbaum, Mrs. H. Perlman, Mrs. J. Skalarew, Mrs. Rabinawitz, Mrs. Feidler and Mrs. Adelberg.

BOARD OF EDUCATION ADOPTED NEW RULES

The North Plainfield Board of Education held a special meeting, Monday night, for the purpose of adopting a new set of rules which have been completed by the rules committee. The entire new set were read and accepted and ordered printed.

The old regulations were not complete as they did not cover all the points necessary on special occasions. The newly adopted rules cover points such as the payment of teachers during illness and other instances that might arise.

FRACTURES HIP IN FALL FROM PORCH

Tenadore Van Cleef, of West End Avenue, Meets With Bad Accident.

Within less than two hours after he had returned from the burial of his daughter, Miss Abbie VanCleef, at East Millstone, on Monday, Tenadore VanCleef, of 19 West End avenue, fell while walking down the rear outside steps at his home and fractured his hip. He called to members of the family who carried him into the house. Dr. Marcus Clawson was summoned and after a preliminary examination had Mr. VanCleef removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where an X-Ray was taken to determine the nature of the break, and later the injured member was placed in a cast.

Mr. VanCleef has, since the accident, been resting quite easy. Owing to his advanced age, being seventy-eight years old, it will naturally take the broken bones a longer time to knit. At the time of the accident he was on his way to his chicken-coop to gather some eggs and, although it was bright moonlight, he missed his step, stumbled and fell, landing at least three feet away from the stoop. He did not realize the seriousness of the accident until he attempted to regain his feet. He then discovered the fracture.

MRS. J. E. BAILEY IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Women's League of St. Joseph's Church Hold Annual Entertainment.

Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Woman's League, of St. Joseph's church, on Monday night, after which there was a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music. These officers were chosen for the year: President, Mrs. James E. Bailey; vice president, Miss Mae M. Burke; treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Kenney; secretary, Miss Justina Smith.

After the business session there was a social time. The Darktown Trio, Messrs. Vincent LaPorte, Robert Hebert and Daniel Denny, rendered the following program:

Smother Me With Kisses, Vincent LaPorte; In the Garden of Love, Robert Hebert; Down In Chattanooga, Daniel Denny; Celebration Day in Tennessee, Messrs. LaPorte, Hebert and Denny. The singers were well received and given hearty applause, they being the "hit" of the evening. Miss Elsie Moulton presided at the piano and her work added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. Mrs. William Deike gave several selections on the Victrola, which were well received. Miss Ella Mullen gave a humorous reading, entitled "Glue," which created much merriment. Dancing and refreshments brought the evening's program to a close.

FIRST COMPLETE G. O. P. VICTORY IN FIFTY YEARS

Hutchinson, candidate for Congress, receive a majority of 39 over Walsh, D.; Smalley, R., candidate for State Senator, a majority of 31 over Beekman, D.; Hammond, R., candidate for the General Assembly, received a majority of 15 over Bodin, D.; Smith, R., candidate for township clerk, received a majority of 77.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR MRS. JOSEPHINE DENTZ

A delightful surprise party was tended Mrs. Josephine Dentz, at her home, on Duer street, last evening, when about thirty of her friends dropped in to wish her many returns of the day. The evening was spent in playing games, and several solos were rendered by the guests. Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed by all to the strains of a Victrola. Mrs. Dentz received many pretty gifts. The home was decorated for the occasion, the dining room color scheme being red and the parlor pink, and hall in green. At a late hour the birthday cake was cut and refreshments were served.

New York's Best Maker of Fine Gowns is Retiring from Business

His Beautiful Dresses & Wraps are Here at Half Price

Were Paris, at its best, to send over the treasures of every salon on the Rue de la Paix, the collection would be hardly more interesting to the very particular women of New York than these gowns and wraps now offered at half their usual prices.

There are copies and adaptations of models by Callot, Cheruit, Robert, Drecoll, Jenny and Bulloz—in original materials and colors.

Gowns at $25 to $125

Our Standard $50 to $250 Grades

Wraps at $30 to $110

Our Standard $60 to $220 Grades

The firm which is retiring has stood at the head of the manufacturing of beautiful dresses for more than thirty years.

Within the last five years it imported more model gowns than any other house in the city.

This firm's creations are made Paris fashion.

All the sewing is done by hand except the seams.

Every garment is draped over and tried on a living model.

After each dress is finished it is again tried on and examined by one of the head experts of the firm—each line and every part of the trimming and making must be perfect.

56 Wraps 84 Gowns

There is no duplicate of any one.

Each one perfectly fresh and exquisite.

A real fashion fete.

JARED FLAGG FOUND GUILTY OF CHARGES

Arrested With Late Rev. James T. Shock, of This City, in Sept., 1911.

Jared Flagg, one of the eight men arrested with the late Rev. James T. Shock, a retired Reformed church minister, in this city, September 23, 1911, charged with using the mails to defraud, was indicted on six of the seven counts against him by the Federal District Court, last night, in New York city. At the time of the arrest the defendants elected to be tried separately, but Rev. Shock died before his case came to trial.

Flagg was crushed by the jury's verdict, for throughout the trial, in which he had appeared as his own attorney, he had been confident that the prosecution would not be able to prove its charges against him. Argument on a motion for a new trial will be started tomorrow before Judge Rudkin. Until then Flagg is at liberty on $25,000 bail. He is liable to a jail sentence of two years and a fine of $10,000, or both.

The use of mails aneged was in attracting investors to a certain "method" of "taking money out of Wall Street." It is said that annual returns of 2 per cent. were promised. A variety of ways were resorted to of appealing to actual and prospective customers. Chief among these were the Saturday afternoon entertainments at the Cafe des Beaux Arts.

LIFE-LONG JERSEYITE

Was Vice-President of Plainfield-Union Water Company and Director of the Old Plainfield Gas and Water Company.

Former United States Senator John Kean, died last night at his home, Ursino, in Union, after an illness that had extended over a period of several years. In the same house John Jay married one of Governor Livingston's daughters.

SMITH AND CALVERT THANK THE VOTERS

Appreciate Endorsement of Their Candidacies at Tuesday's Election.

Both County Register Frank H. Smith, of this city, and County Clerk James C. Calvert, of Elizabeth, appreciate the endorsement of their candidacies as expressed in their re-election to office on Tuesday. Mr. Smith in an interview said:

It is a source of great gratification to have my record as a public official endorsed by such a flattering vote, and I can only hope to continue to serve the county in a manner which will deserve the same regard which my vote of Tuesday indicates."

HE WROTE LOVE LETTERS TO HER

Now She Wants $25,000 as a Heart Balm in Breach of Promise Suit.

HE DENIES THE BREAK

Broker Alleged to Have Used Endearing Terms to Plainfield Girl —She Introduces Letters to Prove Lost Love.

Startling bits of testimony were revealed in the Supreme Court, in New York, yesterday, in the breach of promise suit brought by Miss Margherita de Donato, of this city, against Carlo Parelli, a real estate broker. The attorney for Miss de Donato read love letters alleged to have been sent by Parelli to the Plainfield girl as evidence that the defendant owed her $25,000 for the aforementioned breach. He denies breaking the promise to wed.

Placed on the witness stand Miss de Donato said she expected to wed Parelli in April, 1913, but that the ceremony never materialized. To Judge Philbin she stated that she had received a solitarie diamond ring and a bundle of affectionate assurances before that date and she had expended $500 on her trousseau. A few of the endearing missiles said to have been written by Parelli as an ardent wooer were introduced to the court as evidence and it is alleged that he claimed he had been in error just before the intended wedding day arrived.

One of the letters said: "You said in your last letter that you would not like to be embraced by me until you became mine. But you are mine now and I shall call you Maggie, which is an American name." He at times signed himself as "Your always affectionate spouse" in the letters and many indicated that he was "head over heels" in love with the Plainfield Miss.

Writing January 2, 1913, to "My Dearest Rita," one letter said: "You are my only thought. I want one of your pictures, for I desire to look upon your magnificent features. Why do you doubt me? I am a man far past the age of doing a foolish act."

A solicitious care is shown in the following written to her in Plainfield: "Don't drink too much coffee. I could swear I saw you take coffee the other day. Don't thank me for the gift. The look you gave me was sufficient. I love you as I never loved before. Your love has lifted me from the very earth. I salute you dearly."

Again the wooer in answer to her letter of misgivings writes: "I humbly submit myself to your way. It will not be a century until we are united. A day can't be a holiday without you."

Action in the case will be continued this afternoon.

ESCAPES AFTER SHOOTING TWO

Rich Man Central Figure in Double Tragedy in New Brunswick Yesterday.

ONE DEAD, ONE DYING

Fled in Direction of Bound Brook—Former Insane Patient Perpetrator of Act—Woman Shot Four Times, Man Once.

Mrs. Mary Rheil, forty years old, of Deans, about five miles from New Brunswick, was shot and instantly killed yesterday afternoon, and her husband, Henry Rheil, forty-two years old, was perhaps fatally wounded in the stomach by Richard von Krebs, fifty years old, who has been an inmate of the State Insane Asylum at Trenton. Rheil is now in St. Peter's Hospital and will probably not recover.

Rheil with his wife and two children liven on the farm owned by Mrs. von Krebs, Von Krebs had been in the courts several times claiming that he owned the farm, but the wife always came out best. It is supposed that Krebs went to the farm from New YorYk, yesterday, with the idea of driving off Rheil, and when he came upon him in the garden became so infuriated that he shot him.

Krebs, four years ago, escaped from the Trenton State Hospital and went to New York. He came back to New Jersey some time after that and began divorce proceedings against his wife, claiming that she was in a conspiracy to send him to an insane asylum. Mrs. Krebs moved

NOVEL FEATURES IN HIGH SCHOOL SHOW

Ninth Annual Minstrel Promises to Surpass All Others Next Saturday.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual minstrel show of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association, which will be given in the new auditorium of the West Ninth street institution Saturday night. This is the first public function to be presented in the spacious auditorium by the student body and if the present rate at which the tickets are being disposed of is to be taken as a criterion, the large hall will probably be packed to its capacity. The show this year is by far the best ever presented by the boys of that school, a number of additional features making it one of the first class variety.

The show itself will not be confined exclusively to minstrelsy, but several humorous sketches and other novel features have been arranged. Immediately following the show a reception will be accorded the cast and its friends in the school gymnasium, a luncheon being served by The Ritz. The chorus of this year's show surpass by far in number that of previous years and the musical program is an excellent one.

One of the brilliant features of the production wil be a topical song portraying in song and verse various incidents typical of the student life in the local institution of learning. The entertainment is the very essence of humor and promises to keep the audience in a constant uproar from curtain rise to curtain fall. The characters are confined to High School talent and several veterans will be seen again this year. Daniel F. McNamee is managing the production and Sewall Ulrich is the coach.

Three of last year's end men, Gerald Linke, Cortlandt Fleming and Daniel McNamee, are again in the show and a large number of those in the 1913 chorus are helping to make the event the monster success anticipated. The other end men are Donald Hylan, Monroe O'Donnell and Milton Randolph. Sewall Ulrich will act as interlocutor.

THREE-PIECE ORCHESTRA.

For the benefit of its patrons, the Dunbar Social and Educational Club is planning to enlarge the orchestra for the Friday night dances in the Washington School from one to three pieces. To cover the expense of the music the admission will be raised from five to ten cents. The dance will be held tomorrow night.

ANOTHER FIREMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Carroll, of Brook avenue, the borough, are the parents of a little daughter, born Monday. Mr. Carroll is one of Plainfield's fire laddies stationed in the West Second street house.

"I BE A SHERIFF" SHOUTS KIDNAPPER

Albert Rhodier's Return to Queen City Signal for a Little Scare.

Calmly seated in a chair at police headquarters shortly after 8 o'clock last night, Patrolman Thomas O'Gorman was aroused to sudden activity by the shouts of a woman outside of the station house door. The lusty lunged suffragette was heralding news of a kidnapping broadcast on the thoroughfare and shouted to the faithful Thomas to "get on the job." She told of a man having passed the place several minutes before dragging a boy bound hand and foot down West Fourth street in the direction of the "boulevard." Sizing the situation up instantly as a kidnapping episode, pure and simple, becase of the fact that the captive was making futile struggles to gain his liberty, the woman hastily donned some clothing and proceeded to police headquarters.

O'Gorman placed immediate credence in the woman's sincere recital of the awful tale and sent Patrolman Martin Welsh post-haste in the direction of the "boulevard." Two blocks from headquarters Welsh came upon a man and boy struggling on the sidewalk. The boy had his hands bound tightly to his chest with stout chains and the man was attempting to lead him toward Liberty street on the end of a half-inch brass chain.

AIDING FUND FOR DESTITUTE FAMILIES

McAll Auxiliary Gets Interesting Information From War Countries.

The Plainfield Branch of the McAll Auxiliary held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, and a discussion was held concerning the work that is being done by this organization in France at the present time. The American McAll Auxiliary has started a fund for the aid of the women and children that are left destitute in that country because of the war and the foreign branches are doing a good work along this line.

An interesting feature of the meeting were several letters that were read from some of the leaders in cities in Europe telling of the conditions. One was read from Monsieur Guex, leader of the Paris McAll Auxiliary, telling of the work at the various stations in France and it also said that the station at Lille, which has been in the thick of the fighting, has been closed completely. Some of the leaders have gone to the front and Guex's son is also in the army.

Some of the stations have been turned into hospitals and others into work-shops where the women are given employment. The greatest work is that of taking care of the families that have been left alone by the call to arms.

SECOND NIGHT CLUB DANCE ON NOVEMBER 16

The Second Night Club has decided upon Monday night, November 16, as the date for its second reception and dance to be held in Columbus Auditorium. Van Epps brothers have been engaged to furnish the music and the many pleasant features which contributed to make the initial dance such a great success will undoubtedly be surpassed in the coming event. The committee, of which M. T. Moynihan is chairman, will hold a meeting tonight at which further plans and details will be discussed.

Chairman Moynihan is being assisted by the following committee members: H. J. Forristel, J. P. Lynch, J. M. Cullen, W. V. Sullivan, C. Regan, J. Murray, J. McCarthy, V. Meany, A. Bailey E. A. Harding L. R. Harding, J. Caulfield, H. Pasch, D. McAffee, J. Greene, F. Briscoe T. Connelly, G. Keating, F. Donnelly, T. F. Harding, J. Traynor, J. Coffey, R. J. O'Neill, Frank Burke, T. J. ALLIED FORCES ADVANCE SLOWLY Officially Stated That War Exists Between Great Britain and Turkey.

KING SIGNS DOCUMENT

Russian Soldiers Have Crossed Turkish Frontier—Southern German Column Retreating is Overtaken and Crushed.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The French War Office gave out the following statement this afternoon: "On our left wing the Allied forces have progressed slightly to the east of Nieuport on the right bank of the Yser. From Dixmude to the River Lys the German attacks were renewed yesterday, at a number of points with lessened energy, especially in the infantry operations. The Franco-British lines have withdrawn at no point and our troops taking the offensive have made notable progress in several directions between the region of La Bassee and the River Somme. The day was marked particularly by an artillery battle in the region of Noye. We have maintained our occupation of Quesnoy En Santerre and have advanced appreciably toward Andechy. At the centre between the Oise and Moselle Rivers, a recradescence of activity on the part of the Germans is reported manifested, particularly by artillery fire. Some attacks by the enemy at different points on our front have been completely repulsed, sometimes after a conflict which lasted a whole day. On our right wing there is nothing to report."

London, Oct. 5.—Official announcement was made here today that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Turkey. A privy council was held in Buckingham Palace to discuss this question this morning. At its conclusion King George signed the documents proclaiming the state of war.

The following official communication has been received from the Russian General Staff: "The Caucasia, one of our columns suddenly attacked the enemy near Ardost, fifteen miles south of Kars, near the boundary of Turkish Armenia. The Turks fled, abandoning their wounded. Having dislodged the Turks from the village of Id, about sixty miles west of Ardost over the line in Turkish Armenia, we took a great quantity of food. After a violent combat our troops seized Khorasan in Turkish Armenia. One hundred Cossacks attacked the trenches of the enemy and sabred the Turkish infantry."

No confirmation is received here from any source of the report published in the Vossische Zeitung from Sofia, saying that Turkish warships sank the Russian battleship Sinop.

A despatch from Petrograd says that the Russian soldiers in the Caucasus have crossed the Turkish frontier and occupied a number of villages, from which the Turks retreated.

A despatch from Petrograd says that the southern German column, retreating from Poland, has been overtaken below Kielce by the Russians and completely crushed. According to the official Russian messenger the Russians have captured 200 officers, 15,000 men and more than 100 guns. The Germans in East Prussia are also retreating.

A despatch from Sofia to the Times says that the Bulgarian Government has received formal assurance that the Greek Government is determined to maintain neutrality and has refrained from ordering a mobilization. The Servian minister here announces that Servia will offer Bulgaria her moral support should Turkey attack Bulgaria. No friendly advance has been received from Roumania.

A despatch from Constantinople says that Djavid Bey, Turkish minister of finance, has resigned. His place in the cabinet is being filled temporarily by Talaat Bey, minister of the interior. Djavid Bey's resignation was fully expected as he has always expressed disapproval of war. Passenger traffic on the railway between Smyrna and Constantinople has been suspended owing to military movements.

A despatch from Cape Town says that the rebellion of General Beyers in the Western Transvaal and the mutiny of Lieut. Col. Maritz in northwest Cape Town now appear to be completely crushed.

Rome, Nov. 5.—A despatch from Malta states that fifty-five German residents in Egypt have been taken to Malta by the British, including the owner of the St. James Bar in Cairo, who claimed to be a Frenchman.

The Government has prohibited from January 1, importation of pigs or pork products from America, Turkey, Roumania, Cyprus and Egypt, because of the pig plague.

Tokio, Nov. 5.—It is officially announced that the bombardment of Tsing Tau continues vigorously. The EATING CONTEST.

The eating contests in the local theatre on Tuesday evening kept the audience in one continuous uproar, and as one spectator said, a person who couldn't laugh then couldn't surely laugh at all. The pie-eating contest was won by Goodwin Lawrence, who made away with a huge juicy blackberry pie in record time. From the word go Goodwin dug his face down in the pie and never withdrew it until the last particle of the pastry had disappeared and when he faced the audience after his conquest with his face liberally decorated with the juice of the pie, that was no more, he was greeted with round after round of acclamation. William Greenhalgh won the cracker-eating contest. William made away with a box of Uneeda biscuits before the other contestants, Peter Ritter, Goodwin Lawrence and Edward Ritter. Goodwin Lawrence, who had previously consumed the pie, was obliged to display the white feather after eating three of the Uneedas with the greatest of difficulty. Master Vroom won the milk drinking contest. The milk was placed in bottles to which were attached rubber nipples. Vroom, who is only a lad, defeated the giant Ritters, the other contestants, with ease. The reason given for his easy victory is a most logical one, vis., he was the last out of the cradle.

VAN DER KOORS COMEDY PLAYERS AT PROCTOR'S

The bill at Proctor's for the last half of the week consists of the following acts: "Morey's spectacular reproduction of the Titanic disaster," the greatest mechanical novelty of the age; Louse Eschell and Co., in a comedy sketch; Harry Victor, comedian; He, She and the Piano, a singing, dancing and talking act and the Van der Koors," magicians and comedians. They bring their own stage settings, which are decidedly out of the ordinary, the various props used in the act being employed in a setting that furnishes an excellent background for the thoroughly original conception that follows.

Most of the feats of magic and the various illusions fit into the general plot of the act and follow each other in rapid succession. The famous mind-reading duck, Felix, is impersonated by one of the team, who gives one of the funniest burlesques imaginable on mind-reading and the customary stunts of trained animals.

I. C. S. FRATERNITY.

The I. C. S. Fraternity will hold a meeting at its clubrooms, 113 East Front street, tonight. All the members are urged to attend. At the last meeting more than forty members were present.

The DAILY PRESS

"TUBERCULOSIS DAY" ON NOVEMBER 29

Methods of Prevention Will Be Presented Simultaneous at That Time.

Plainfield, with its tuberculosis clinic, its open-air school, its aggressive Anti-Tuberculosis League, and Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, is in line with progressive communities engaged in fighting the white plague. A recent enumeration showed that there were in the United States more than 1,200 anti-tuberculosis associations and committees, about 550 special tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria, 500 special tuberculosis dispensaries, and more than 200 open-air schools. In 1904 there were 24 associations, 115 tuberculosis associations and sanatoria, 19 special dispensaries and no open-air schools. Here is a contrast that shows what aggressive work can do in the period of years indicated by the comparison.

In the decade 1901-1910 the tuberculosis death rate decreased 18.7 per cent. Yet today 1,000,000 people in the United States are afflicted with the disease. Today 100,000 hospital beds are needed for indigent consumptives who are in the advanced stages of the disease, and sanatoria for 100,000 people who are in the early or curable stages. The medical control of tuberculosis is well established. First, a period of complete rest with nourishing diet, then a graduated activity under physician's oversight. The disease is curable, preventable, but communicable, and is one of the great afflictions upon mankind that come under the head of the modern slogan, "Public Health is Purchasable."

The purchasable thing is the education of the public concerning the necessity of proper personal hygiene in the prevention of tuberculosis. Plainfield's little clinic at 109 Madison avenue, is doing a splendid part in the work of diagnosing and treating, and the open-air school in fortifying aenemic children against the disease.

The essentials in the cure of tuberculosis cannot be printed too often. They are fresh air, light, cleanliness, rest and wholesome food. The disease may be treated at home if the patient can have plenty of fresh air, and a simple diet. Advertised cures and patent medicines should be avoided. They do not cure and are always dangerous. The Madison avenue clinic will advise any one, rich or poor, who applies there for advice regarding tuberculosis.

Curative methods, as outlined, appear simple enough, and there seem to be great advantage as compared with the physical troubles that require expensive operations or the use of rare and costly medicines. Yet the constant reiteration of these same methods is necessary to the education of the afflicted and to warn the careless against the spread of the disease.

The fight on tuberculosis is under the general direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, at 105 East Twenty-second street, New York city. One educational device is the distribution of "Don't Cards," printed in nineteen languages. Local associations and individuals have been invited to buy these cards in quantities for distribution to localities where the language of the cards will be of greatest educational value.

"Tuberculosis Day," which was inaugurated in 1910, and which is an annual attempt to secure a simultaneous presentation of the methods for the prevention of tuberculosis, will be celebrated this year on November 28, in Jewish churches, and on Sunday, November 29, in Christian churches. The term, "Tuberculosis Day," embraces in reality more than one day and clergymen and others who cannot deal with the subject in sermons or addresses on the dates specified are urged to do so at any time in the week preceding or following those dates.

MANY CITIES INTERESTED IN RELIEVING WORKMEN

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—Relief for workingmen out of employment in this city is planned by the city government. Mayor Nye recently called a conference of the leading citizens in his office, and the plan was discussed.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 5.—Dr. James Eade How, the famous "millionaire hobo," headed a committee of Chicago's unemployed to visit Mayor Harrison. The committee is urging the city to give the idle citizens work for the winter.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Mayor Curley has called another conference in his office, and his plans for the employment of extra laborers to relieve the situation this winter, in Boston, will be discussed.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—Mayor Blankenburg and the City Council are agreed on the relief measures for the unemployed, and loan funds and sums left over from departmental appropriations will be transferred to one general item to be applied in hiring men out of work. Roughly, the mayor estimates the city may find work for 5,000 unemployed men. Councilor Connolly is very optimistic, and believes that one million dollars will be available for the fund.

New York, Nov. 5.—Appeals for the relief of New York's unemployed are being received by Mayor Mitchel. Mayor Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, and others interested in the relief work, are expected to gather with Mayor Mitchell to determine what action can be taken.

EX-SENATOR KEAN DEAD

He was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1877.

The young lawyer took a deep interest in Republican politics. In 1882 he became a Republican candidate for Congress in what had always been considered a Democratic district and he won his first fight, defeating the Democratic aspirant, Miles Ross, a veteran campaigner. Mr. Kean was only twenty-eight years old at the time and he was among the youngest men who ever sat in Congress.

In 1884 he sought re-election and was opposed by Robert S. Green. It was the year of Grover Cleveland's first election to the Presidency, and Green was elected. Two years later Mr. Kean again entered the Congressional lists and defeated McMahon, the Democratic candidate. He was again buried under a Democratic landslide when he sought re-election two years later.

In 1892 Mr. Kean was chosen Republican candidate for Governor at the State convention, running against Frank A. Magowan, of Mercer; General E. Burd Grubb and Franklin Murphy. His Democratic adversary at the general election was George T. Werts and Werts was elected. Mr. Kean was the unanimous choice of the Republican caucus for United States Senator in January, 1899, and received the full vote of his party, being elected to that office in a joint meeting of the Legislature held soon afterward, his Democratic opponent being the then incumbent, Senator James Smith, Jr. Mr. Kean served in the Senate until March, 1911, when he was succeeded by Senator James E. Martine.

Senator Kean was prominently identified with a number of great business enterprises, among them being several important public utility corporations. He was president of the Elizabethtown Water Company and of the Elizabethtown Gas Light Company. He was president of the National State Bank, of Elizabeth; vice-president of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, treasurer of the Pacific Coast Company and a director of the Securities Company, of New York, as well as director of the Elizabeth Ice Company, the Elizabethport Banking Company, the Perth Amboy Gas Company, the Westfield Gas Company, the Plainfield Gas and Water Company and the First National Bank, of Perth Amboy. He was a stockholder in several other corporations. He held the controlling interest in the Elizabeth Street Railway Company until that corporation was absorbed by the Public Service. He was also instrumental in the construction of a trolley line between Elizabeth and Plainfield. He was vice-president of the Manhattan Trust Company, of New York.

Mr. Kean attributed most of his success to hard work. Before he was elected to the Senate it was his custom to be at the office of the Elizabethtown Water Company every morning at 8 o'clock to dispose of his mail, and then go to the office of the gas company and look after his business affairs there. From the gas office he would go to the National State Bank, where he passed on all notes presented for discounting. Even in more recent years he gave many hours each day to the direction of his business interests.

Persons closely associated with him testify to his remarkable memory. He could look at the figures showing the output of the gas company for a given day and could tell whether the amount was larger or smaller than it was on the same day in the previous year, without consulting the records. He could tell the amount of deposits in the National State Bank for almost any day within a month. He knew most of the employes of the various corporations in which he was interested by their first names, and he had a wonderful memory for faces.

It is said of Mr. Kean that he knew almost every employe in his Elizabeth affiliations. He always had a pleasant word for them and an ear ready to listen to any grievance they may have had. He was a large real estate owner in Elizabeth and its vicinity. He erected several business buildings, one of which bears his name, standing in Broad street in the heart of the business section. He also owned considerable property in Julian place, also a business block. The woodland near his home is a favorite picnic ground for children.

So familiar was Mr. Kean with the corporation laws and their applicability to the enterprises in which he was interested, that his recommendations were accepted by his fellow directors without question.

Before the automobile came into existence Mr. Kean was a great lover of horses. Mr. Kean always drove his own team and he had a stock farm at Upper Longwood in which he took a deep interest. During the last few years he had turned his attention to automobiles and he owned some of the finest touring cars in the country.

Senator Kean never swore. He was connected with St. John's Episcopal church and was a member of its vestry. He was a member of many clubs, among them being the Mattano Club, of Elizabeth; the Essex County Country Club, and the Essex Club, of Newark.

He leaves four sisters and three brothers. They are Miss Susan Livingston Kean, Miss Lucy Halstead Kean, Miss Elizabeth Kean and Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt, wife of the first cousin of former President Roosevelt, Julian H. Kean, Hamilton F. Kean and Alexander Livingston Kean.

PRIZE WALTZ FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF STATE

The second ball of the Jefferson Democratic Club will be held in Sebring's Auditorium, on West Front street, Thanksgiving Eve, November 25. Music will be furnished by Halbfoster's full orchestra. A feature will be a prize waltz for the championship of the state. The winners will receive $10 in gold.

During the evening there will be music by Irish pipers, McDonough and Boyle. The committee in charge has about completed all the arrangements for the affair and it is expected that a number of prominent Democrats from the city and county will attend.

E. C. GARDNER WEDS MISS MAY TOUCHON

Miss Mae Touchon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Touchon, of West Fourth street and Monroe avenue, and Edson C. Gardner, son of Mrs. Helen Gardner, of 312 Grange place, were quietly married last evening, at the parsonage of Temple Baptist church, by Rev. Evarts C. Conover, the pastor.

The couple were attended by the mother and sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Gardner and Miss Gardner, and Miss Jane Touchon, sister of the bride, and Elmer E. Johnson. Mr. Gardner is an electrician employed by the Public Service Corporation. After a short trip the couple will reside at the home of the bridegroom on Orange place.

ESCAPES AFTER SHOOTING

away from the farm at Deans about a year ago and Rheil leased it.

Yesterday Krebs went to the place and found Rheil working in the garden. It is said that, without any warning, Krebs walked up to Rheil and shot him in the abdomen. Mrs. Rheil, who was in the house at the time, heard the shot and rushed out to see what had happened. Krebs then fired four shots at Mrs. Rheil. Three of these struck the woman in the left breast, close to the heart, and the fourth took effect in the abdomen, on the left side, and caused death instantly.

After the shooting Krebs walked off down the road toward New Brunswick, but when he came to Franklin Park struck off into a clump of woods, going in the direction of Bound Brook, where it is supposed that he boarded a train for New York and made his escape.

Rheil, although terribly wounded, managed to crawl to the home of John Dawson, his neighbor. Dr. George Dunn was summoned and after treating the wounded man had him hurried to the hospital in New Brunswick.

Sheriff Appleby and Prosecutor W. E. Florence were notified and they began an immediate investigation. They found the body of the murdered woman still lying in the garden where she had been shot, and the two children of the couple in the care of neighbors. They were also able to get a statement from Rheil as to what preceded the shooting.

Krebs is said to be worth considerable money and is believed to live somewhere in New York city. The New Brunswick authorities have asked the New York police to be on the lookout for him.

YALE CLUB BANQUET.

Miss Emily March will have charge of the meeting at the Grace M. E. church tomorrow night.

"I BE A SHERIFF"

The youth was shouting dire threats at the man in whose custody he appeared to be and hailed Welsh as a good samaritan.

The patrolman dismounted from his bicycle and ordered the man to stop, whereupon the latter pulled aside the lapel of his coat and flashed a nickel-plated shield on him at the same time exclaiming, "I be the deputy sheriff of Hagerstown, Maryland, and I come here to carry out the law." This startling little revelation caused the wise patrolman of the Queen City to "sit up and take notice." He endeavored to "call the bluff" of the rubin from the South, but the latter stuck to his claim to fame and finally condescended to reason with the Plainfield minion of the law. After listening to a long drawn out recital of facts and fancies Welsh was satisfied that the custodian of the struggling mass of young Americanism was a southern sheriff, badge and all, and that his captive was the erstwhile Queen City trouble maker, Albert Rhodier. He also learned that the sheriff was on his way to the Rhodier boy's home at 216 Spooner avenue, where he intended to deposit him on the front porch.

Rhodier has given the police of this city and Union county considerable trouble during the past eighteen months and only recently was discharged from the Union county jail at Elizabeth after serving a term of three months for breaking and entering the Clinton avenue railroad depot. He at once came back to his home in this city and found the "old home town" in the throes of a carnival company. Rhodier apeared when the festivities were in progress and succeeded in landing a job with the circus. The company took him to Philadelphia and while stationed at that place the youngster's desire for wunderlust again overtook him and he stole one of the high-powered motorcycles used in the motordrome. On this vehicle he indulged in a hair-raising ninety-mile an hour spin down one of the Quakertown streets and hit a woman. The blow was a glancing one, however, and the feminine pedestrian was only slightly injured. Rhodier was arested and shipped to Hagerstown, Md., the Philadelphia authorities thinking they were well rid of him. He got mixed up in an escapade down in Hagerstown last week and was again locked up. Learning that he was a Jerseyite the sheriff was given instructions to return him to his parents and hence the entrance of the sheriff and captive into Plainfield last night.

The boy is believed to be mentally deficient and will probably be submitted to the city physician by his parents for an examination.

BUYING AT HOME.

The Plainfield Business Men's Association is continuing its campaign urging home buying. Reams have been written for the local papers, and advertisements have appeared that would cover pages, if put forth at once, about the duty that is owed to Plainfield merchants. But it is not merely a duty; self interest also demands it. If it were a matter of duty alone, it is to be feared that few of us would pay much attention to it. Was it not Phillips Brooks, who said, when asked upon a return from a trip abroad whether he had brought over any new religion on which he had to pay duty: "I am not so foolish as to attempt to introduce into America any religion with duties attached to it."

We are not as bad as that, but we are inclined sometimes to neglect public duty and to devote our thought rather to promoting private interest. That is human nature.

But buying at home is not a duty but just good, plain, ordinary common-sense. It means when you pay out money that that money is pretty likely to be employed at home in new stocks, new buildings and enlarged enterprises. It means that eventually some of that money is likely to get back into your own pocket. The more money that is in circulation among your neighbors, the more likely are they to be able to make a Greater Plainfield, commercially and in every other way.

The mail-order house is not going to buy this city's products, whatever they may be. The idea of commerce is the exchange of commodities, the buying and selling to each other, which makes each man in the community a necessity and furnishes each commodity with a demand. Keep the money at home where it can be a circulating medium bringing home employment and a market and helping the town to grow and to prosper.

A JUST CONVICTION.

There was a time, not so long ago, when a railroad could not get justice in the lower courts. The general attitude of the juries has been to "soak" the corporations and the railroads usually got the worst of damage suits. Getting an indictment for the misuse of commutation tickets was thought to be so impossible that the officials of the roads gave up all hope of ever successfully prosecuting the scalpers. But this has been changed now, and the Lackawanna Railroad, in a case which has been decided in Newark, has not only succeeded in getting an indictment, but also had one scalper fined $25.

It has been the practice in Plainfield for store-keepers near the station to buy commutation tickets at the greatly reduced rate made by the road, and then rent them out to New York travellers at a rate below the established round trip fare, but still at a comfortable little profit for the original purchaser of the ticket. As the Newark News says:

The renting of commutation tickets, which is a practice that the Lackawanna has taken steps to stop on its road, is a novel form of ticket scalping. Such tickets are not transferable, and renting them is a deliberate, cumulative and impertinent offense against this understanding, which is plainly stated on the tickets and which constrains the purchaser by implied contract. True, the railroad sells the sixty trips, and the passengers that use the ticket on a rental basis, no matter how many of them they are, can take no more than sixty trips in all. But the railroad has not sold a sixty-trip book, and there's the distinction. The railroad makes the rate for one user, not for many, and that rate is lawful. Whoever takes advantage of the arrangement violates the law.

The Newark conviction will have a salutary effect on those who have continued this practice. Here in Plainfield a warning sent to one person who used a ticket issued in another's name, has been effective in pretty generally stopping the practice, and it will not be long before the leasing of tickets is entirely a thing of the past. The Central Railroad officials advise us that they intend to prosecute to the limit any future violations which may be brought to their attention.

The flattering vote given William N. Runyon as a candidate for Assembly was gratifying to every one of the 11,361 people who cast their ballots for him, and proved that in normal times the popular Plainfielder is a vote getter of the first magnitude. Mr. Runyon maintained, since his name was first suggested for the nomination by the Republicans, that were he permitted to consult his own wishes he would not have been a candidate, but that he felt that if called upon by the people to serve them, he should take the view that the people wanted him, and personal considerations did not count. He maintained this attitude throughout the primary campaign, and was nominated easily, without so much as spending a day campaigning. Mr. Runyon on two occasions in the past has been induced to lead a forlorn hope, and been defeated at a time when no Republican could win, and the vote given him on Tuesday demonstrates that the people appreciate his abilities.

The man who works for his city does not have to apologize for it.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

WOMAN SUFFRAGE AND THE LIQUOR INTERESTS.

In her letter of October 29, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Sykes thinks it necessary to state that my arguments are not borne out by the facts." As I carefully refrained from all argument and allowed Col. Roosevelt to speak for himself, she misses the point entirely when attacking me. Col. Roosevelt was commissioner of police in New York, assistant secretary of the navy, Governor of New York and President of the United States, and in all those offices he was brought face to face with the liquor traffic, and when he says that it is the "real strength of the opposition to woman suffrage" and "the brewers and distillers have taken the field against woman suffrage because they regard the entry of women into the rights of citizenship as a danger" to their dominance in politics, I am inclined to believe that he knows what he is talking about better than the average citizen like Mrs. Sykes or myself.

If it is true that the suffrage States have not favored State-wide prohibition, it merely shows that like many other States they have preferred local option laws instead, and in this respect are far ahead of New Jersey, where even men have not the right to vote on local option. As a matter of fact, however, as shown by the census of 1910, in the three suffrage States mentioned by Mr. Sykes (Colorado, Idaho and Wyoming), there were 133,629 more men voters than women voters, an excess of men sufficient to prevent the women from carrying prohibition or any other reform, even if all the women favored it, and yet Mrs. Sykes and other anti's illogically continue to find fault with the women of those States for not voting prohibition. Their prejudice against "Votes for women" prevents them from being fair to their sisters of the suffrage States, although the best people in those States admit that the women are always on the right side of all moral questions and invariably stand for the best things. In doing so, they disprove the false predictions and gloomy forebodings of the Eastern antis, and thereby incur the opposition and hostility of the latter.

The action of the women voters in Illinois last spring should help to remove that hostility if the antis are at all sincere in their interest in prohibition. At their first opportunity to cast a ballot, April 7, 1914, in certain counties, under local option mind you, they swung 22 counties into the "dry" column, and thereby closed nearly 1,000 saloons! The press of Illinois gave the women full credit for the result, but I have yet to hear of an anti paper or individual who acknowledged their good work. On the contrary, five days later Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, head of the National Anti organization, with an apparent genius for doing the wrong thing, had the effrontery to send broadcast over the country statements to the effect "that the talk of what women will do as reformers is merely a fable;" "in the majority of cases they (women) do not vote at all" and "the evidence would seem to show that when they do vote they are very liable to vote wrong." That is what the high-priestess of the antis said five days after the prohibition victories in Illinois. Two days prior to the election the same reliable authority declared: "In the face of the above facts (comparing some prohibition States with suffrage States about as Mrs. Sykes compared them) it is about time for suffragists to give up their false claims on the subject of prohibition. These are additional proofs that suffragists, when given the opportunity, have done nothing to aid prohibition, and a great deal to injure it."

Quoting Russia and Germany, Mrs. Sykes says: "Persistent education and agitation—not votes—have accomplished this. This is the condition which falsifies the theory." Perhaps it was studying this condition which made the counties in Michigan where the liquor interests were strongest give such large majority against "Votes for Women." Whilst much of this proposition is far from clear, I gather the meaning to be that some work in favor of temperance has been done by men and governments who are not yet in favor of equal suffrage. There is no question about that, but it does not follow as a corollary that women are opposed to prohibition or that suffrage States are behind the prohibition States in their efforts to control the liquor trade. As to Michigan, there is deep meaning in Roosevelt's remark: "I saw this in Michigan, where every saloon was headquarters for the fight against woman suffrage." Can Mrs. Sykes dispute it?

Yours truly,
ALEX. MILLAR.

Mr. Man, Do You Know

That We Have a Large "MEN'S FURNISHING DEPARTMENT"

completely stocked with about everything a man wears, with the exception of clothing and hats! The department is a big store in itself, situated just a step off the street to the left as you enter the store. We think we hear you ask "why go to a Department Store to buy Men's Furnishings?" Our answer is there's a heap of difference between our prices and those prevailing at exclusive shops. It's true you can buy socks for a quarter, neckwear for fifty cents and shirts for a dollar at any other place. But it's the quality that you buy that counts. Buying as we do in very large quantities for our three stores from the best mills and factories in the country, enables us to buy at much lower prices than a small shop that buys from jobbers and has to pay the middleman's profit. We are in a position to offer you better goods for the money than you can obtain elsewhere. As an illustration we ask you to note that the majority of women who buy furnishings for their men folks come here for them and the reason they do so is, that they shop around and know where to obtain the most for their money.

Mr. Man, the very next time you want some furnishings try it for yourself, we'll wager you'll be a steady patron thereafter and don't loose sight of the fact, that the furnishings we sell are right up-to-the-minute in style.

The course in home economies includes studies in the chemistry of foods, cooking, home nursing, emergencies, hame sanitation, home management, sewing, millinery, laundry work, personal hygiene and general farm knowledge.

The classes of short course students will assemble at 9 o'clock in the morning and take recess at noon. There will be an afternoon session from 1 until 5:30 o'clock. Lectures and quizzes will be held in the mornings and laboratory work in the afternoons. The sessions will end Saturdays at 12 o'clock. Students signing for a course must take up all the studies prescribed. There are no elective courses.

Practically the only expenses are from $5.50 to $8 weekly for board and about $15 for books and laboratory incidentals, making the cost for the course from $125 to $150, though, by strict economy it can be kept as low as $100. No dormitory facilities are offered.

The sessions will be held in the buildings on the State Agriculture College Farm, near a section where students may board. The Short Course building is near the entrance to the college farm. It is there that the students are to assemble on November 16 for registration. A lunch room has been installed in the Short Course building.

Applications for admission should be addressed to Professor Frederick C. Minkler, director of the Short Course in Agriculture, who also will give additional information.

ALREADY MENTIONED FOR SENATE HEAD AND SPEAKER

Who is to be the next president of the New Jersey State Senate, and who is to be Speaker of the House of Assembly are questions that are already pressing for speedy answers.

For the honor of presiding in the upper house, Senators Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic, and William T. Read, of Camden, who have been talked of as possibilities, are likely to have a rival or two.

Read was minority leader in last winter's session. Edge was slated for president in 1913, but was sidetracked because of the capture of the control of the Senate by the Democrats. Edge has also been floor leader.

There are at least five aspirants for the speakership, two of them hailing from Essex. The Essex candidates are Thomas J. Smith, of Newark, and E. Morgan Barradale, of Orange.

In addition to these there are John B. Kates, of Collingswood, Camden county; Carlton Godfrey, of Atlantic county, and Robert Peacock, of Burlington county.

Barradale and Benjamin F. Jones, county counsel of Essex, have law offices together. Smith is in the real estate and insurance bussiness, lives in Newark and is dean of the Essex delegation in the Assembly.

Kates, who is a lawyer, was a candidate for minority leader against Emerson L. Richards last session, but quit then in the interest of harmony.

Godfrey is a lawyer, lives in Atlantic City and is president of the Guarantee Trust Company of that place.

Peacock, who lives in Mt. Holly, is also a lawyer and in 1905 was secretary to Speaker Samuel K. Robbins.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON FACES MURDER TRIAL

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Malcolm Gifford, Jr., the 19-year-old son of a wealthy manufacturer of Hudson, N. Y., will probably be retried here on the charge of killing Frank J. Clute, a chauffeur, on April 1, 1913. The case is expected to be set for this month's term of court. Gifford was tried early in the summer, but the jury disagreed.

Young Gifford, who was released a few weeks ago from the Albany penetentiary on bail, is recovering his health, and his friends state he has been sent to a private school.

Clute was shot to death while driving an unidentified man to Troy from here. The passenger shot Clute in the back of the head, robbed him, threw his body into a ditch and fled. The slayer was known to have worn a gray overcoat and a light fedora hat.

On the same night, April 1, 1913, Gifford, who had been expelled from a private school a month before, but had never gone home, left the house of a friend in Troy, ostensibly to attend a dance. He was garbed in a dress suit, a gray overcoat and a light fedora hat, it is said. But instead of going to the dance immediately, he disappeared. Gifford later appeared at the dance. Witnesses who testified before the grand jury stated that his clothing was soiled. The next day, it was testified, the youth put his overcoat in one friend's suit case, his hat in another, borrowed a cap and left for home.

The police found Gifford at Chatham, Mass., and brought him here to answer the charge. His parents were unaware of his predicament until his arrest. The boy bore a good reputation in Hudson, and a great deal of sympathy is manifested for his parents.

WILL ADVERTISE FOR SEWER BIDS

Dunellen Council Takes Steps to Install Its Collection System.

WILL COVER 14 MILES

Probable Cost of Work Will Be $90,000, Part of Which Will Be Raised Through Bond Issue and Balance by Direct Tax.

The November meeting of the Mayor and Common Council of Dunellen was held in the Council chamber, on Monday evening, with Mayor Latham presiding and all the councilmen present with the exception of Mr. Bolard. By a unanimous resolution it was voted to advertise for bids for the contract of installing the borough's collecting sewerage system. This resolution was passed after Borough Clerk William P. Deering had read a copy of the proposals, contract and specifications of the work, which incidently, according to Councilman Earle M. Jones' watch, took him two hours and twenty-three minutes to do. All bids must be filed on or before December 7. Actual construction work will commence between the first and fifteenth of next April and must be completed by January 1, 1916.

There will be about fourteen miles of sewer pipe laid, together with the two pumping stations, one to be erected at Washington avenue and Sixth street, and the other on Bound Brook road, near Schwartz place, and the cost of engineering service, etc., will probably be about $90,000. $55,000 of the total cost will be raised by the sale of bonds and the balance by a direct assessment against the property benefitted. The property-holders will probably be given three or more years in which to pay the assessment. The advertising for bids for the $55,000 of bonds will be held up for a while in the hope that there will be an improvement in the money market.

A communication was received from Dr. Albert Pittis, of Plainfield, informing the Council that he had had two side tires of his automobile badly punctured, about two weeks ago, by the sharp edge of an iron surveyor's monument which protrudes above the ground at the intersection of Jackson avenue and Second street. Dr. Pittis claims that the borough is responsible for the damage done to his tires and in presenting a bill for $7.55, the cost of having them vulcanized, he advises the borough to have the monument lowered before further damage is done. The Mayor appointed Councilmen Castner, Jones and Shively as a committee of three to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting.

A communication was received from the Board of Trade congratulating the Mayor and Council upon improvements already under way or completed regarding the relaying of flag walks in various parts of the borough and in that connection calling attention to the condition of the flag pavements on the westerly side of Prospect avenue, between the Central Railroad tracks and Centre street. The matter was referred to the sidewalk committee.

The following petitions were received and referred to the proper committees: A petition to have an electric light placed on Culhane place, midway between New Market road and Washington avenue; one to have a fire hydrant placed on the northwesterly corner of Culhane place and Washington avenue, and another one praying that a concrete walk be laid on the northerly side of Grove street, between Prospect avenue and Bound Brook road.

A communication was received from John P. Fenner requesting permission to erect a garage in the rear of his residence on Washington avenue, which is in the fire zone. The communication was referred to the fire and water committee.

Ordinances relative to the establishment of a grade and the acceptance of Culhane place were passed on their second and final readings. Chairman Richard M. Ryan, of the law and ordinance committee, in his verbal report congratulated Chief Marshal Mohan and his lieutenants, who have been acting as deputy collectors in the matter of collecting poll taxes from delinquents for the success that has attended their efforts thus far.

Councilman Ryan recommended that a bill which, for the past year, has been due the Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, on account of a patient which the borough sent there, be paid. Mr. Ryan said that he had obtained the promise of the party to reimburse the borough at the rate of $5.00 a month. The bill was ordered paid.

Among other matters was instructions to the borough's attorney to draw up a petition to be circulated among the property holders interested in the proposed storm sewerage to drain the northwesterly portion of the borough; the ordering paid of current bills; and the confimration of Herman Pfeister's election as a member of Defender Fire Company.

TRADE BUREAU TO OPEN SOON

Commission of Five Men to Be Appointed by President Wilson.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Within the next month or six weeks, the Bureau of Corporations will become the Federal Trade Commission, presided over by a board of five men whose appointments the President will make early in December. Already the bureau is winding up its affairs, with the issuing of the final volume on the lumber industry, dealing with price fixing, a report on farm tools, being the last volume of the report on the Harvester Trust; a report on corporation taxes; and an exhaustive study of trust laws and methods of handling big business in this country and abroad. Although none of the officials wish to be quoted, it is said that some "dynamite" is included in some of these farewell documents.

The Bureau of Corporation is one of the busiest organizations in Washington. Commissioner Joseph E. Davies is the man at the helm, and it is generally believed that he will be the first appointee of the five men the President will select for the new Trade Bureau.

The trade commission was conceived and has been brought to maturity on the idea that the trouble with business is not so much that it is big, incurably bad, or indifferent to the needs of the public from which it draws its support, as that it has been permeated by unfair practices, the abolition of which would mean the cleaning out of business evils.

The new Trade Bureau will be a clearing house of business information of such a character as to enable business, spurred by public opinion, to set itself in order without undue pain.

Many prominent men stood heartily back of the idea from the beginning, and it will come into power with many friends in the business world, in contrast to the opening work of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which took place when the railroads were fighting every sort of regulation.

This sympathy between the commission and business, will of course give rise to suspicion on the part of the professionally suspicious persons, and unless President Wilson plays in extraordinary good luck, his appointments to the commission will undoubtedly meet with strong minority opposition.

ONE-YEAR-OLD BABY SUPPORTS ITS PARENTS

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—It's a clever baby that can support its father and mother, but this is exactly what one-year-old Marie Palmer, of 2119 Toronto street, has been doing since she was six weeks old. Marie's dimples attracted the moving picture men, and her first appearance before the camera was as a cannibal's child. She was paid three dollars a day, the job is still running. She has been rescued by heroes and heroines of the movies from fires, drowning, auto smashes, train wrecks and other perils dear to the heart of the scenario writer. She has been "trapped" in nearly a hundred "burning buildings" without so much as having her clothes singed.

But little Marie has always taken her role with good grace, in fact she displayed little interest in the excitement, being content to smile and coo. The only real danger she ever experienced was the danger of losing her job, for one fine day while a comedian was reciting his story, and little Marie was supposed to be an interested listener, she decided to take a nap and the camera man failed to notice it, which all resulted in a retaking of the film and consequent scowls from the manager. The "littlest actress" is very modest. In fact, she refuses to be interviewed, which is strange conduct in an actress.

TICKET SCALPER FINED $25 BY JUDGE RELLSTAB

The first prosecution in a movement undertaken by the Lackawanna Railroad Company to suppress alleged commutation ticket scalpers has been obtained by the railroad when William Andrieorio, of 16 Market street, Morristown, was fined $25 by Judge Rellstab in the United States District Court in Newark. In imposing the fine, the court made it plain that any other offenders convicted before him on the same charge would receive a jail sentence.

Andrieorio is alleged to have sold to John Bannan, July 30, two trips on a commutation ticket issued in the name of R. P. Morrissy. It was declared that the defendant rented the commutation ticket and sold round-trip tickets from Morristown to New York at a rate of sixty cents apiece. The price charged by the railroad company is $1.35.

Through evidence procured by Bannan, who had been hired by the railroad company, Andrieorio was summoned to court. He pleaded guilty. The defendant was represented by John B. Vreeland and the railroad by W. J. Larrabee.

FIELDER BLAMES WAR FOR DEFEAT

Governor Says That Business Troubles Due to European Conflict Was Cause.

NEWARK DROPS NUGENT

Democratic Machine Badly Trimmed in City and County—Trouble Predicted in Hudson County as Result of Election.

Although the defeat of the Democratic party all along the line in New Jersey was attributed by Republicans generally to dissatisfaction with the national administration, Governor James F. Fieler, who had phophesied a Democratic sweep, said yesterday that the widespread dissatisfaction with existing conditions was due "to the tying up of business incident to the European war," and the party in power "had to stand the consequences."

Revised returns show that the Republicans elected eight out of twelve members of the Congressional delegation, and wrested control of the State Legislature from the Democrats, getting a majority of one in the State Senate and sixteen in the Assembly. This will mean that Governor Fielder wil find himself in somewhat the same situation President Wilson was in as Governor in 1912, when he had a Republican Legislature on his hands.

Chief among the incidents of New Jersey's topsy turvy election was the result of the Mayoralty contest in Newark, where Thomas L. Raymond, Republican, defeated Mayor Jacob Haussling for re-election for his fifth term by a plurality of 1,364.

Politicians of both parties had figured that Mr. Haussling was practically "unbeatable;" therefore his downfall was one of the surprises of the day. His defeat was brought about by a union of forces of Republicans, Progressives and those Democrats who were opposed to Nugent and who worked might and main for his overthrow.

Mr. Nugent has long been the political right bower of ex-United States Senator James Smith, and the Wilsonites, in consequence of Smith's well known dislike for the President, took keen delight in the undoing of Nugent. Among the appointments on January 1 will be a city counsel to succeed Mr. Nugent.

In Hudson county, which prides itself on its big Democratic majorities, much soreness has come out of the shrievalty contest, which was won by Representative Eugene F. Kinkead, Democrat, over Mayor Charles A. Mohn, of West Hoboken, Republican by a plurality of 4,300. Other Democratic candidates running for county offices got pluralities ranging from 12,000 to 20,000, and the Kinkead vote showed the fine work of Democrats with knives up their sleeves.

The blame for the wholesale knifing of Kinkead was placed on followers of ex-Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn Naval Officer of the Port of New York by grace of appointment by President Wilson, and Kinkead's friends declare that the "treachery," as they call it, means that whatever chances Wittpenn had of capturing the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination in 1916 have been blasted.

Wittpenn's lieutenants had a bad day of it. In Hoboken, Paddy Griffin, the Democratic city leader, lost his grip on the Common Council. The Republicans will control it after January 1 for the first time in the history of the city. In Bayonne the naval officer's friend, ex-Mayor Matthew Cronin, was beaten to a standstill by Mayor Bert Daly's fusion candidates.

The successful candidates for Congress in New Jersey are as follows: First district, William J. Browning, R., to succeed himself; Second district, Isaac Bacharach, R., to succeed J. Thompson Baker, D.; Third, Thomas J. Scully, D., to succeed himself; Fourth, Elijah C. Hutchinson, R., to succeed Allan B. Walsh, D.; Fifth, John H. Capstick, R., to succeed William E. Tuttle, Jr., D.; Sixth, Archibald C. Hart, D., to succed himself; Seventh, Dow H. Drukker, R., to succeed himself; Eighth, Edward W. Gray, R., to succeed Eugene F. Kinkead, D.; Ninth, R. Wayne Parker, R.; Tenth, F. R. Lehlbach, R., to succeed Edward W. Townsend, D.; Eleventh, John J. Egan, D., to succeed himself; Twelfth, James A. Hamil, D., to succeed himself.

Representative Hart was successful in the Sixth over Prof. John D. Prince, R., of Columbia University, by over 600, the latter having yesterday been reported elected.

The Republicans elected eleven and the Democrats six sheriffs in the State.

Judge Worrall Mountain, of the East Orange District Court, law partner of Mayor-elect Thomas L. Raymond, of Newark, was elected Mayor of East Orange to succeed Julian A. Gregory. Judge Mountain is a Republican.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

MAC SAYS

Now that the sportsmen have completed their electioneering we will be able to devote a little more printers' ink to the sporting topics of the hour and incidently take up a much neglected cause. Football managers have suffered considerably by a tailing off in attendance figures during the last two games and consequently expect a "come-back" on the part of the followers of the gridiron sport next Saturday afternoon. Both Plainfield High School and Holy Cross have good attractions carded for that date and the drawing card should tempt all local and borough exponents of the pastime.

Although treated to a drubbing at New Brunswick, last night, the Y. M. C. A. basketball team is fairly well satisfied with its showing in the initial tilt and contemplates engaging in a belated winning streak a week from next Saturday night, when the Summit quintet appears here. This is the first opening game in the last five years that has resulted in a defeat for the local boys and the one last night was the very essence of decisiveness. For three years past the association five has established a unique record by winning the first nine starts and relinquishing the first defeat on the tenth. This record was smashed to smithereens last night, however, by the fast traveling Brunswickers.

Those connected with the team are now willing to admit that the St. Peter's struggle was far too strong a one for an opener and that some lighter rival should have been booked for a curtain raiser. The locals played well in the first half but the experience and brawn of the opposition began to tell as the game progressed and in the final period there was nothing to it.

Basketball appears to be undergoing an early season of bumping this year when the reverse of the old guard at Saengerbund Hall and the walloping administered to the Y. M. C. A. are taken into consideration. The North Plainfield High School youngsters trimmed the graduate five in finished style Monday night and left nothing to be desired in the way of victory.

Thus far election week has put a crimp in the Elks' League schedule. The organization will renew activities with a rush tonight, when a trio of engagements are on tap in various parts of the State.

Until that pool tournament was started at the Y. M. C. A. we had no idea of the number of "bugs" that the Queen City harbors. The entry list for the association affair is fast swelling and some thirty-second degree sharks are enrolled on the competition list.

Haven't heard anything further about that Plainfield High School aquatic team someone was advocating around these parts about two months ago. The red and blue athletes must have found the water too cool.

While we're rattling the skeleton it might be well to put a stick of dynamite under those who were spouting for a city championship bowling tournament here a couple of months ago. Haven't heard a whimper from the alley sports regarding the local title series since the European war "busted" out on the horizon.

The latest from the front—The Plainfield cops are organizing a basketball team. Little trouble should be experienced by the minions of the law in guarding their goal and although they are willing to admit that they haven't played the game a whole lot in the past they are also ready to admit that they're going to clean up on all other Queen City and borough aggregations this year.

Inuendoes to the effect that the Holy Cross football eleven is in for one of the worst seasons in its history appear to be pretty firmly founded. To date the red and blue contingent has failed to return a victory and in view of the fact that several formidable opponents are still on the reserve list hopes of breaking this jinx appear to be unusually meager. We might suggest that Manager Doyle hurry up and sign the High School boys for that much-boomed contest. (Not reflecting on the ability of the schoolboys.)

Peacock's injury at East Orange, Saturday afternoon, put a sad crimp in the Plainfield High School camp. Bill has proved himself an able general and has probably gained more ground on straight line bucking than any other man on the team. Without him the aggregation is fairly well shot to pieces and unless he returns there is no use of the management signing up a tilt with Holy Cross.

There will be lots of female basketball around these parts this year as evidenced by the early season activity in the suffragette camps. Both the Plainfield and North Plainfield High School girls have long schedules and some new sextets are due to appear her and in the borough.

Many local nimrods are polishing up their guns to enter the woods on November 10. Bunnies are said to be plentiful and an excellent season of gunning is expected.

Watch the Plainfield Daily Press for the best first-hand tips on hunting grounds and also report your catches to this paper, where they will receive due publicity. In so doing you will render a service to other local game hunters.

One local hunter brought home a 150-pound buck on the back of his automobile, yesterday afternoon. This is some catch and means a whole lot of venison for the lucky gunner.

Dunellen has a football team that is desirous of meeting Holy Cross. And yet the suburbanites were beaten to a frazzle by the Somerville High School aggregation Saturday afternoon. Inasmuch as both Holy Cross and Dunellen are seasoned losers a contest between these factors might not be out of the way after all.

The busiest man in Plainfield with nothing to do—Ammerman, of the Holy Cross football eleven. Thatsaboy, Ammie, it's going to be a long hard winter.

The rumor league is now in full operation. It's a wonder some wiseacre hasn't come forward with a story to the effect that the Saurer baseball team is going to buy Parker Field and promote a representative Plainfield team next year.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. FIVE LOSES INITIAL GAME

St. Peter's Team, of New Brunswick, Took Game by Score of 41 to 16.

Playing its first game of the season against the strong team representing the Knights of St. Peter, of New Brunswick, the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. five was defeated by the score of 41 to 16, last night. This is the fifth straight victory for the New Brunswick aggregation and its playing could not be touched by the local team in its first encounter. Captain Brynarski took over all of his first string men and used them in the game, but in the second half the fast playing began to tell on them and the home boys ran away.

Wishing to watch the first part of the game from the sidelines, Brynarski sent Newkirk in guard with Glover. The home team started the game at a fast pace and the Y. M. C. A. team held its own during the first period better than was expected. For at least eight minutes there was no score and, although the local team was outpassed they managed to be near the basket when the ball was there and stopped their opponents from scoring. Harkins broke the ice after a series of pretty passes and two points were chalked up for the home team at which the crowd, numbering close to three hundred, went wild. Moulton tied the score soon after with a pretty field goal and immediately afterward put his team in the lead by dropping in the first foul of the game. Brynarski relieved Newkirk before the half was over, but the home five scored twice in succession, getting the lead that was never overcome. The half ended with the score 12 to 7.

Burner replaced Glover in the final period and played a good game at guard. St. Peter's scored twice in the first minute of play and then rolled up a large score. Deinzer, the fast St. Peter's center, who had been held scoreless in the first half, shot well in this half and registered six of the two-point variety and one foul. McGovern, a Rutgers "Prep" player, was sent in the game during the second half and scored three difficult shots from long distances. The Plainfield team could not score until the latter part of the period and Brynarski made two of the four field goals in this half. This team will appear in Plainfield against the Y. M. C. A. team Saturday night, December 12. The score:

PLAINFIELD-ELIZABETH ELKS' MATCH POSTPONED

The Plainfield and Elizabeth Elks' bowling match, that was scheduled for tonight at the latter place, has been postponed and will not be played until the week of November 16. This gives to local team a two weeks' rest and it will next take on the Newark "Bills" on the Watchung avenue alleys.

Two games will be played tonight, when New York will oppose Jersey City and Paterson goes to Hoboken. Tomorrow night the Newark team will play in Rutherford.

SULLIVAN WON SIX GAMES LAST NIGHT

Had An Easy Time Annexing All Contests in Knights of Columbus Tourney.

"Bill" Sullivan bowled like a fiend in the Knights of Columbus tourney, last night, and was not satisfied until he had annexed all the games possible and stopped with a perfect score of six victories and no defeats. He pinned high in two games, but the other four scores were not up to the two hundred mark. Five matches were played, some of the players losing all and some breaking even.

Sullivan started off with E. Taylor in the first match and just nosed out ahead with ten points to spare, the scores being 181 to 171. In the second roll he registered a 202 against Taylor's 148. The last of this match was his best score of the night, his 214 going against his opponent's 179. In the fourth match Sullivan took on Moynihan, who could not touch any of his scores. The last three scores, that completed his clean sweep were 179 to 158, 199 to 171 and 172 to 141.

Moynihan and Duffy were the next contestants and after dropping the first when Duffy bowled 211, Moynihan took the last two and the match, but had to work for the deciding game. The score of the second game was 197 to 176, but in the last the running was about even until the last few frames, when Moynihan made a spurt and finished thirteen points ahead. Taylor took his only game of the night from Duffy, while the latter secured an even break of three each. In the extra series, a postponed match between Cannon and Howe, the former did the Sullivan stunt and took all three games easily. He also made high score of the night's play in the first game when he scored 218 and then broke that mark in the next game by hitting the wood for a 223. The scores:

Sullivan	181	202	214
Moynihan	177	197	179

SMALLEY'S BILLIKEN WON TWO SILVER CUPS

The first field trials of the New Jersey State Beagle Club, at Roseland, came to a close yesterday afternoon, with the judging of the championship class. William L. Smalley, of the borough, had two of his prize dogs in the trials and took two large silver loving cups. "Billiken," in the all age class, was second to a Newark animal, but the local dog took another cup, while "Prince Opal," in the derby, also came out a winner.

Mr. Smalley has several prize dogs and one of his champions has just returned from the West where it won the championship in its class. The owner has had many chances to sell his prize winners, but will not part with them. The trials yesterday were largely attended and there were a large number of entries in all classes.

ANOTHER MARATHON.

HOLY CROSS TEAM WILL PLAY P. H. S.

November 28 Tentatively Set as Date for Big Local Contest.

Manager Doyle has issued a call for the Holy Cross team to practice on Marshall Field, at 8 o'clock tonight, and all members should be present. Doyle has a game booked for Saturday, but it is probable that he will put it off as the borough eleven cannot stand the strain and a lighter team will be scheduled.

The team made a very good showing against the Bradhursts, Tuesday, considering that this team is considered to be the champion of New York and outweighed the local players man for man.

The game between Holy Cross and Plainfield High School has been practically settled for Saturday, November 28, and will probably be played on the Cricket Field. Manager Doyle has heard nothing recently concerning the Dexters of Perth Amboy.

TIE FOR FIRST PLACE IN COLLEGE LEAGUE EVENT

Eleven members of the College League, of the Y. M. C. A., took part in the running broad jump event, Tuesday, which resulted in a tie for first place between Henwood and Drake, each making their best jump, 12 feet 7 inches. The third and fourth boys were also tied, their marks being one inch short of the leaders.

The lowest mark was 5 feet 8 inches. The records follow: Henwood, 12 ft. 7 in.; Drake, 12 ft. 7 in.; Willett, 12 ft. 6 in.; Douglas, 12 ft. 6 in.; Kinney, 12 ft. 4 in.; Angerbauer, 11 ft. 6 in.; Lunger, 11 ft. 6 in.; Tomlinson, 10 ft. 7 in.; Bennett, 10 ft. 7 in.; Canfield, 6 ft. 7 in., and Koller 5 ft. 8 in.

The Sioux team, of the Y. M. C. A. Indian League, took first honors in the nine potato race when Kornfield returned the lowest time of fifty seconds. Mackey, of the Iroquois, was one of three who tied for second place, with time of 50 2-5 seconds.

The results follow: Kornfield, Sioux, 50 sec.; Mackey, Iroquois, 50 2-5 sec.; Wilson, Wawayanda, 50 2-5 sec.; Angleman, Omaha, 51 2-5 sec.; Krausse, Wawayanda, 52 sec.; McVoy, Sioux, 52 sec.; Brownlee, Iroquois, 52 sec.; Gates, Omaha, 52 2-5 sec.; Whitford, Omaha, 53 sec.; Lynn, Sioux, 53 sec.; Doane, Omaha, 53 sec.; Windham, Omaha, 53 sec.; Allen, Iroquois, 53 2-5 sec.; Brown, Omaha, 54 sec.; Spicer, Iroquois, 54 sec.; Boile, Wawayanda, 54 1-5 sec.; Henry, Iroquois, 54 1-5 sec.; Alexander, Sioux, 54 2-5 sec.; Goss, Wawayanda, 54 4-5 sec.; Penny, Sioux, 55 sec.; Randolph, Iroquois, 55 sec.; Satterfield, Sioux, 58 sec.; Koller, 58 sec.; Wigleu, Wawayanda, 70 sec.

WITH THE BOXERS

Lowell, Mass., will soon open a boxing club.

Freddie Welsh and Joe Mandot will meet in New Orleans for 20 rounds on November 15.

Mick King is touted as a comer in Milwaukee. He weighs in at 158.

Tom O'Rourke's new fight palace in Brooklyn will soon be a realty.

They say Willie Lewis is to retire. He gave Georges Carpentier a hard go two years ago, and showed well with other tough ones.

Kid Graves, of Brooklyn, is seeking a match with McFarland for the welterweight title, and offers a side bet.

The Johnson-Willard match won't be staged until spring, from present indications. Mexico is bidding high for the bout.

New York and Wisconsin Boxing Commissions may ban boxers who commit fouls. There is no opposition from the promoters who are on the level.

Bob Moha is training for his reentry into the ring. He may meet Jim Smith or Battling Levinsky for a new start.

The White-Welsh bout in Milwaukee on Monday night promises to be a sizzler. Willie Ritchie will ask Welsh for a return bout, as an incident of the occasion.

New York is looking forward to the Leach Cross-Gilbert Gallant bout, slated for November 17. Cross has a great deal at stake and will make a fight for lost laurels.

FOOTBALL STARS POLL "WATCHERS"

Led by Captain Bigelow, Yale 1907, Formerly of Central Avenue.

Lucius T. Bigelow, Jr., formerly of Central avenue, and captain of the Yale football team in the year 1907, was the center of attraction for a throng of youthful admirers Tuesday in lower Fifth avenue when he visited voting places. Bigelow was one of a corps of football stars appointed as "watchers" at the New York city polls and the interest they had centered around them almost overshadowed the voting. With him were Walter Logan and John Kilpatrick, ends on the Yale team in 1910; "Pop" Foster, a Yale tackle in 1908; Arthur Howe, an All-American quarterback, selected from the Yale team of 1910; S. D. Baker, of Princeton ,and "Big Ed" Farley, of Harvard.

The football squad worked with 250 college men, who were registered as members of the Volunteer Watchers' League and were under the direct control of Assistant District Attorney Weller. Some of them remained in automobiles at the Criminal Courts Building ready to respond on an instant's notice to any call for help.

IROQUOIS BOYS STILL LEAD INDIAN LEAGUE

Two basketball games were played in the Indian League at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The Omaha team lost to the Iroquois in a close game, the final score being 6 to 4. At the start the Omaha players scored two baskets but before the game was ended their opponents had a two point lead. In the second game the Wawayandas walloped and blanked the Sioux by the score of 8 to 0. Taylor scored two baskets for the winners, while Wilson and Stoxer each dropped in one.

SCOTCH WOMEN FORM "KNITTING BEE"

Engage in Making Socks and Scarfs for Soldiers in European War.

Mrs. James Ross, of 923 West Fourth street, and Miss Grant, also of West Fourth street, have formed a "knitting bee" among the Scotch women of the West End for the benefit of the soldiers in the European war. The chief industry is making socks and scarfs. The women are responding loyally and already fifty pairs of socks have been made and are now ready to be sent to the front.

Every pair of socks contains two handkerchiefs, tobacco and safety pins, which will be a very acceptable outfit for the soldiers in the trenches. Miss Grant and Mrs. Ross expect to send this "necessity box' away this week. During the Boer war, Mrs. Ross, who was then living in New York, added much to the comfort of the soldiers in South Africa by knitting; also by securing contributions among her city friends.

Mrs. Ross makes an urgent appeal for this worthy cause and all the women who can knit are requested to enlist their services. The wool for the knitting of socks can be had from Miss Grant at 922 West Fourth street. Contributions will also be thankfully received.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS
Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which irritates and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray. Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

THE announcement of the treasury department that the number of individuals who had paid taxes on incomes of $1,000,000 or more was forty-four led bankers, lawyers and many others in the financial district to attempt to figure out which particular individuals these might be, says the New York Times. The result was that when the names that had been suggested were combined in one list it contained a good many more than forty-four.

Some surprise was expressed that only forty-four names appeared on the treasury department's records when it was realized that a fortune of but $20,000,000, if invested at 5 per cent, would yield $1,000,000 a year income. There are a good many persons in New York alone who are popularly supposed to be worth $20,000,000 or $25,000,000.

Big Taxpayers Can't Dodge.

Nobody took the view that any who actually had an income of $1,000,000 had concealed the fact by compromising with his conscience in making a return or had failed to make a return at all, because they would be too conspicuous marks for the attention of the special agents of the treasury department, who are and have been for some time on the lookout for income tax dodgers.

The view that prevails in the internal revenue service also is that whatever tax dodging has taken place has been on the part of persons with comparatively small incomes, many of them just over the line of the $4,000 exemption.

One point that was brought up was that many men who had large means invested in stocks and bonds and would readily be put in the $20,000,000 class were not receiving 5 per cent returns on their property.

Rockefeller Has Biggest Income.

The fortunes of some very wealthy persons, however, are known to be so large that their owners were put down as almost sure to be among the forty-four by those who discussed the question. It is a matter of record that John D. Rockefeller owns approximately 25 per cent of each of the Standard Oil group of companies and very large amounts of their bonds as well as big blocks of securities of gas companies, electric light companies and others. His fortune has usually been estimated at $1,000,000,000 or more, and as the investments he is known to hold are more than ordinarily profitable his income has been figured at nearer $100,000,000 than $50,000,000 a year. Little doubt was expressed that William Rockefeller also, with his large copper as well as oil interests and his extensive railroad investments, was in the $1,000,000 and upward class.

Andrew Carnegie was regarded as certain to be in that class, with an annual income of several millions. His income is so large that many well informed persons think, in spite of the millions he has given away, that his holdings are larger now than when the Steel corporation was formed and he took its bonds as his share.

George F. Baker, chairman of the First National bank, was also regarded as sure. He was associated with the late J. P. Morgan in most of the latter's undertakings and has usually been rated as worth more in property than Mr. Morgan, with probably a round $100,000,000 to his credit.

James Stillman, chairman of the National City bank, was the third of the business trio, of which Messrs. Morgan and Baker were the others. His interest in the City bank stock is large, and he has many other interests and investments.

Profits of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The present J. P. Morgan, to whom fell nearly all of his father's property, was naturally included in the list of those put down as certain. It has been reported that in some years the business of J. P. Morgan alone has yielded a profit of $1,000,000 each to the principal partners.

Vincent Astor's immense holdings of revenue producing real estate in New York put him in the list without any hesitation.

E. C. Converse is a large stockholder in the United States Steel corporation and was one of those who brought about its formation.

James B. Duke is another man regarded as surely in this class. He was the leading spirit in the formation of the old tobacco trust, of which he was president until its dissolution. Mr. Duke has since lived in England a large part of the time, but remains an American citizen, with a big estate near Somerville, N. J. His tax may have been paid in the district in which Somerville is located or in New York, which is his principal place of business in the United States.

Thomas F. Ryan may have paid his tax in Virginia, which he has usually considered his place of residence, or he may have paid it in New York, where his chief business interests are. In any event, there is little doubt that he is in the $1,000,000 income class.

W. A. Clark, Mrs. Sage and Others.

Ex-Senator Clark of Montana, who now makes his principal residence in New York, has extensive and highly profitable mining interests in Montana and elsewhere, as well as lumber, railroad and newspaper properties. Mrs. Sage was practically the sole heir to the Sage fortune, and, while she has distributed much in charities, her present holdings are considered sufficient to earn an income of $1,000,000 or more. Mrs. Harriman received the bulk of the Harriman estate. She is believed to be surely in receipt of $1,000,000 net income a year.

Many others were regarded as quite likely to be in the same class. John D. Archbold succeeded John D. Rockefeller as the head of the Standard Oil and had been associated with Mr. Rockefeller for many years. His stock holdings are understood to be very large. George J. Gould is the head of the Gould family, with important railroad and other interests, developed from those left by Jay Gould. George W. Perkins was the chief agent in the formation of both the steel and the harvester trust and for some years was a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. Daniel G. Reid is the chief factor in the highly profitable American Can company. He has many banking and railroad interests and organized the Tobacco Products Corporation. William S. Tod is a large stockholder in Northern Pacific and has other extensive interests.

Charles Steele is one of the older partners of J. P. Morgan & Co., a director of the Steel corporation and interested in a considerable number of railroads. Arthur Curtiss James is vice president of Phelps, Dodge & Co., with large copper, railroad and banking interests. Mr. Dodge has practically the same interests as Mr. James. Daniel Guggenheim is the head of the great Guggenheim interests in copper and other metals, both mining and smelting, and a stockholder in several important banks.

Hetty Green the Richest Woman.

Colonel Oliver H. Payne is a large holder of oil and tobacco stocks. Jacob H. Schiff is the head of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Hetty Green has long been known as "the richest woman in the world."

As for some others regarded as likely to be in the million a year class: H. P. Davison is a member of J. P. Morgan & Co. Judge Gary is the head of the Steel corporation. Mr. Schwab is president of the Bethlehem Steel company and was the first president of the Steel corporation and, before that, of the Carnegie Steel company. Otto H. Kahn is a partner in Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Norman B. Ream is a director of the Steel corporation and has extensive railroad and banking interests. Levi P. Morton is chairman of the Guaranty Trust company and has a large private fortune aside from that connection. W. K. Vanderbilt is a leading capitalist in the railroad world. August Belmont is the head of a big banking firm. John D. Ryan is president of the Amalgamated Copper company and also has banking and railroad interests. C. K. G. Billings is one of the chief owners of the gas companies in New York and Chicago.

In Wartime.

Now strike the hour upon the clock,
The black sheep may rebuild the years;
May lift the father's pride he broke,
And wipe away his mother's tears.

To him, the mark for thrifty scorn,
God hath another chance to give,
Sets in his heart a flame newborn
By which his muddled soul may live.

This is the day of the prodigal,
The decent people's shame and grief;
When he shall make amends for all,
The way to glory's bloody and brief.

Clean, from his baptism of blood,
New from the fire he springs again,
In shining armor, bright and good,
Beyond the wise homekeeping men.

Somewhere tonight—no tears be shed!
With shaking hands they turn the sheet,
To find his name among the dead,
Flower of the army and the fleet.

They tell with proud and stricken face
Of his white boyhood far away—
Who talked of trouble or disgrace?
"Our splendid son is dead!" they say.

GIVE THANKS FOR PEACE, SAYS PRESIDENT WILSON.

His Thanksgiving Proclamation Points Out Reasons For Gratitude.

In this year's Thanksgiving proclamation President Wilson designates Thursday, Nov. 26, as Thanksgiving day and makes mention of the fact that the United States is at peace, while the rest of the world is at war. The proclamation says in part:

"The year that is now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and of change which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing for us.

"It has been vouchsafed to us to remain at peace, with honor, and in some part to succor the suffering and supply the needs of those who are in want. We have been privileged by our own peace and self control in some degree to steady the counsels and shape the hopes and purposes of a day of fear and distress. Our people have looked upon their own life as a nation with a deeper comprehension, a fuller realization of their responsibilities as well as of their blessings and a keener sense of the moral and practical significance of what their part among the nations of the world may come to be.

"The hurtful effects of foreign war in their own industrial and commercial affairs have made them feel the more fully and see the more clearly their mutual interdependence upon one another and have stirred them to a helpful co-operation such as they have seldom practiced before. They have been quickened by a great moral stimulation. Their unmistakable ardor for peace, their earnest pity and disinterested sympathy for those who are suffering, their readiness to help and to think of the needs of others, has revealed them to themselves as well as to the world.

"Our crops will feed all who need food; the self possession of our people amid the most serious anxieties and difficulties and the steadiness and resourcefulness of our business men will serve other nations as well as our own. Never before have the people of the United States been so situated for their own advantage or the advantage of their neighbors or so equipped to serve themselves and mankind."

EMDEN MAKES FOES HELP.

Germany's Naval Terror to Allies Coals From Captured Ships.

Naval men throughout the world at war or peace are praising the exploit of the German cruiser Emden, which, flying the Japanese flag and disguised by the addition of a fourth smokestack, entered Penang, a British possession in the Straits Settlements, and fired torpedoes which sank the Russian cruiser Jemtchug and a French destroyer.

One explanation of how the Emden is able to keep at sea without putting into ports for coal is contained in a cablegram received from Colombo, Ceylon, by the owners of the steamer Exford, one of the vessels captured by the Emden.

The cable reported the safe arrival at Colombo of the captain and crew of the Exford and added that the commander of the Emden announced before he sank the Exford that he intended to take on board the cruiser the 7,000 tons of steam coal which the Exford carried.

The Emden, by the addition of a cruiser and a destroyer to the long list of ships she has sent to the bottom, is in a fair way to rival the amazing record of destruction made during the civil war by the Alabama, one of the warships built in England for the Confederate states. It was the Alabama's havoc that afterward gave rise to the so called "Alabama claims."

During the twenty-three months of her existence the Alabama sank more than seventy ships, many of them merchantmen. Some writers place the number at more than 150. The Emden, it is reported, already has sunk twenty merchantmen in addition to two warships.

War Kills "Peace Tree."

The peace tree planted by Representative Richard Bartholdt in the capitol grounds at Washington in 1898, when peace was made between the United States and Spain, is dying. The sturdy oak had progressed finely until the end of July last, when it began to droop.

SOCIETY ASKS NEW YORK DESIGNERS TO CREATE FASHIONS; CONDITIONS IN PARIS GIVE U. S. DRESSMAKERS OPPORTUNITY

New York must now dress the world—at least so the women of New York society have determined. Twelve social leaders of the eastern metropolis have formed a group for the encouragement of home designers. Most prominent among them are Mrs. James B. Eustis, Mrs. Ernest Iselin, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Ogden Mills, Jr., Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. These women, among other things, are famous for their distinction in dress.

"It will be very interesting to see just what the designers here can do independently of Paris," said Mrs. Whitney. "They cannot hope to become great original designers all at once. Such ability comes slowly, especially when you have been in the habit of copying."

Germans on the night of November 3 made a counter attack which for a time hindered operations. The attacking forces, according to the statement, are now gradually closing in, shells are falling in the streets of the town and the power house has been destroyed.

Berlin, Oct. 5 (Wireless).—Official denial was made today of the Russian claims that in the recent fighting on the east front that any prisoners have been taken or that the Germans lost. They took many German prisoners and captured numerous cannon and machine guns. The war office specifically denies any artillery.

SENTENCE POSTPONED.

New York, Oct. 5.—The sentencing of Dr. Richard C. Flower was postponed this morning by Justice Davis of the Supreme Court. A number of creditors of the Flower firm appeared in court and said that Flower still had money hidden. Justice Davis then delayed the sending of Flower to jail to give him an opportunity to give up what funds he had, but Flower said that he was penniless. Flower was arrested in Ottawa on October last after a chase of six years. He got large sums of money by fraud.

NO ADVICES RECEIVED.

New York, Oct. 5.—No advices were received this morning from Mexico City as expected by the local office of the National Railways of Mexico relative to the organization of the force here. Naturally it is assumed that the conflict as to who is really the provisional president of Mexico will further complicate the affairs of the Railways Company.

BAD GRASS FIRES.

It was found necessary to lay in a line of hose before the flames could be extinguished. Apparatus from headquarters and the Netherwood house were sent out at noon today for another bad grass fire on Belvidere avenue.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Chestnut Preserves—Cover blanched chestnuts with boiling water and simmer slowly about one and one-half hours. Make a syrup of sugar and water, cook until thick, add equal parts of nuts and syrup and cook one hour. Strain out nuts and reduce syrup. Place chestnuts in glass jars. Flavor syrup with vanilla, have it very thick and pour over nuts. This makes a very rich preserve and is delicious in pudding sauces, puddings, etc.

Quinces (ways to use them)—Pare and slice thin some quinces. Pare and slice sweet apples thin. Dry in moderate oven, with door shut to exclude air. While drying they become white and nice looking. When wanted, stew with plenty of water and a little sugar. Good for the sick. In fever it kills thirst.

Save quince seeds, dry them, make syrup by stewing them. Sweeten with honey; good for colds.

THE TABLE

Egg and Cheese Dish—Cut slices of bread about one inch thick, scoop out center (being careful not to break through bread), then dip in milk and lay in buttered dripping pan. Break egg into each slice of bread, dot with salt, pepper and butter, sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in hot oven ten minutes or till eggs set. Serve hot and garnish with parsley. Makes a fine luncheon dish.

Beefsteak Pie (French style)—Take lean piece of beef (rump or sirloin), cut in small slices; slice also a little raw ham; put both in frying pan with some butter and small quantity choppen onions; let simmer together a short time on the fire or in oven; add a little flour and enough stock to make sauce, salt, pepper, chopped parsley and a little Worcestershire sauce as seasoning; add a few sliced potatoes and cook together twenty minutes. Put this into a pie dish with a few slices of hard-boiled egg on top, cover with layer of biscuit dough. Bake from fifteen to twenty minutes in well heated oven.

Coffee Cake—One cup granulated sugar, one small piece butter, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one pint flour, three teaspoons baking powder; sprinkle cinnamon and pulverized sugar on top, then bake in moderate oven.

Coffee Ginger Cookies—One cup sugar, one cup lard, one egg, one cup molasses, one cup strong coffee, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon ginger. Try these; they are delicious.

Drop Cookies—One cup each of brown and white sugar, one cup shortening (half butter and half lard), two eggs, one cup buttermilk; dissolve one teaspoon soda in buttermilk; two teaspoons baking powder. Flavor to suit taste. Add flour to thicken—not very stiff.

Apple Pudding—One cup sugar and two tablespoons butter beaten to a cream; add one egg, one cup sweet milk, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Line bottom of pudding pan with quartered apples; let apples get hot, pour batter over top and bake. Serve with apples turned on top, with milk or cream.

Spice Cake—Two cups sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half cup sour milk, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon soda, four eggs (take whites of two for icing), two cups flour. Icing: One cup sugar, one-half cup water. Boil until it forms round ball in water. Stir it into the well-beaten whites.

To Cream Butter—If weather is cold, pour hot water in earthen bowl. Measure butter and turn into bowl (after pouring out water), cut in small pieces, or let rest for a few moments; then work with wooden spoon until soft and creamy. If there is any buttermilk remaining in the butter, drain it off as you cream

Daily Christmas Hint

Gifts Which Will Delight the Theater Devotee

Milady never has too many bags. They wear out and soil, and when Christmas time comes she is always glad to find among her Christmas gifts one or two beautiful and useful bags. The ones illustrated here are especially handsome, the lower one being enriched with hand embroidery done with gold thread. The upper one has the upper part made of a piece of handsome brocade, the lower part of the bag of plain satin. The woman who wishes to make useful gifts will scramble around in her workbasket and find pieces of silk and bits of brocade. From these odds and ends wonderfully handsome bags can be fashioned.

Some Cookery Suggestions

APPETIZING AUTUMN SALADS.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Vegetable Soup.
Bran or Whole Wheat Bread and Butter.
Spinach Salad.
Stewed Pears.
Molasses Cookies.
Buttermilk or Cocoa.

WHEN autumn fruits and vegetables are to be secured a great variety of wholesome salads may be prepared.

Spinach Salad.—Chop a pint of cold boiled spinach fine. Salt and pepper it to taste and drain well. Boil three eggs hard, put into cold water, remove shells, cut in half and place in the bottom of a cup with a little green pepper. Press on this a layer of spinach one and one-half inches thick. Chill thoroughly. Serve with French dressing on white heart of lettuce leaves.

A Southern Dish.

Okra Salad.—Cut off stems from one and one-half pints of fresh, medium okras. Plunge in cold water, wash and drain; then place in a saucepan with two quarts of boiling water, a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cover pan and boil thirty minutes. Remove, thoroughly drain on a sieve and let get cold. Place in a bowl and season with four tablespoonfuls of French dressing. Mix well and serve.

Salad With Apples.

Swiss Salad.—Cut balls from firm red skinned apples with a vegetable scoop. Rub them with lemon to prevent discoloration. From a large cake of cream cheese make half as many balls with butter paddles, season with one-half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoonful of chopped pimento and one teaspoonful of salt and paprika. Serve apples and cheese balls on nests of chicory or lettuce and garnish with pimento cut in fancy shapes. Cover with French dressing.

With Novel Dressings.

Fruit Combination Salad.—Have a cupful of cubes of apples and half a cupful of celery dice blanched in cold water flavored with lemon juice. Seed and cook half a cupful of fine, large raisins. When about to serve drain and dry the apple and celery and mix with canned peas and raisins. Make a French dressing with oil, lemon juice, salt, pepper and paprika. Beat until thick and light colored. Pour over the salad and garnish with lettuce leaves.

Tarragon vinegar may be used in place of lemon juice. For variety grate a tart apple into the dressing.

The Dogs of Belgium Are Famous Workers. They Draw Little Carts.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Dogs of Peace And War In Far-Off Belgium.

"IT is a rare sight to see a dog working in this country, isn't it, kiddies?" asked daddy.

"Why, I have never seen a dog work, though I don't see why they shouldn't if they are big enough," replied Jack.

"Well, the dogs of Belgium are famous workers. They draw little carts and have harnesses made for them. There are the draft dogs of the milk and vegetable sellers and the dogs used by the military for the purpose of pulling light machine guns and are also used by the medical corps.

"But I must tell you about the big 'husky' owned by a milk vender. This dog's name was Alaska because he had once been sold to an Alaskan explorer and brought back when the explorer returned to Belgium; then was rebought by Jan Verdean, who was very sorry that he had sold Alaska.

"Little Roselle Verdean was glad, too, when Papa Verdean bought back Alaska, for she and Alaska had been playmates for a long time when the doggie was not busy carrying the milk.

"The only means of support that these poor Belgian peasants had was the milk sold morning and night to the people of Bruges.

"When those fabled golden bells of Bruges would ring out the hour of 3 Alaska was always ready and waiting between the shafts of the milk cart.

"But one morning instead of Jan little Roselle, who was only ten years old, and Mamma Verdean, adjusted the harness.

"Their faces were swollen from weeping, and their eyes were heavy with anxiety, for Papa Verdean had gone to war and left little Roselle and her mamma all alone. But Mamma Verdean was brave. Instead of sitting down and weeping she wept and milked the cows at the same time, having determined to do her part of the war work which was to keep the people of Papa Verdean's milk route supplied with their milk, and little Roselle was to drive the cart, and they were going to rely on the sagacity of the dog to stop at the right places.

"You see, they had a list, but they didn't know where all the houses were.

"But, bless your hearts, Alaska knew. He trotted away gallantly that summer morning with little Roselle perched up behind.

"And Alaska never missed a customer. He trotted along until he came to a familiar gate, and then he would stop, and in that way Roselle and her mamma kept the wolf of hunger from the door while Papa Verdean fought in the war and also kept the customers supplied with milk."

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I do not think anything throws a stronger sidelight on a person's character than the economies he practices. It surely gives as great an insight as knowing what a man laughs at or what his amusements are," said Mrs. Ross, a plump, cheery-faced little woman, as she patted an artistic darn in the heel of a stocking.

"Do you suppose everyone has economies?" asked her neighbor as she busily plied her crochet hook.

"Yes, indeed, it is a means of maintaining self-respect. The most extravagant people I know will airily recite to me their rare economies. Mrs. Joslyn is what you might call poor. She was calling here the other day in a very becoming black velvet hat that cost 'only $15,' she announced. She explained that it was economical because she could have it altered the next season for not more than $5, and that would be but $10 a season," said Mrs. Ross.

"I don't consider $10 a season high for a millinery bill, do you?" asked her neighbor.

"See!" exclaimed Mrs. Ross, "it is just as I told you, an individual matter. We save on the things that are not necessities to us. Mrs. Joslyn picked up my new magazines while she was here that day and said, 'My, your are extravagant, taking so many magazines. I wish I could afford it.' I might have told her I put my money on the inside instead of the outside of my head, but I didn't. She would not have understood."

"No," laughed her neighbor, "I suppose not. I am something like her, I think. I pay $10 more than I need to for a suit just because I find one just right. Then I come home and burn my fingers using refuse matches to light the gas, just as a salve to my conscience. Frank was laughing at me this morning. He said it was quite a problem to compute my saving, as matches cost ten cents for 2,400 or 1,500, according to the kind; that would be 150 or 240 for a cent. I really felt aggrieved because he had taken away my virtuous self-respect on account of my extreme economy."

"Men always laugh at little savings," said the other. "They think of money in big sums and unless they can make a saving of several dollars they do not consider it worth while. John, for instance, thinks it foolish to go to market for our vegetables and fruit. He says, 'You only save four cents a pound on meat and a few cents on vegetables. Your time is worth more than that.' Time is money to men, but few women who are housekeeping can coin theirs into money. I proved by actual figures that I saved at least 15 per cent by buying direct. He would consider such a saving worth while in his business, I am sure," said the thrifty hostess.

"What bothers me is to ride through the country and see fruit rotting on the ground under the trees when I must pay forty cents a peck for apples. Of course those are windfalls, but if I could get them for half price how glad I would be," and Mrs. Norton put her crocheting in its silk bag preparatory to leaving.

"We Americans will have to stop all these leaks before the high cost of living decreases. We simply must have a method of buying direct," said her friend. "Must you go? How soon an afternoon flies."

3COOP, THE CUB REPORTER — THE BOSS HASN'T TUMBLED YET — BY "HOP"

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"The most marvelous photograph ever taken" is the way Dr. Paul Bartsch, of the Smithsonian Institution, described the remarkable films called "Thirty Leagues Under the Sea," now running to packed houses in New York and which will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, tomorrow and Saturday. In these pictures the eye of man beholds for the first time the wonders and beauties that lie far below the ocean's surface. This panorama of nature's hidden marvels pleases theatre-goers a new sensation and has resulted in packing the theatres in every city where they have been presented. The audience is made to realize that the audacious imagination of Jules Verne in his fantastic tale of a trip under the sea was a prophetic dream that is made to come true through the Williamson submarine invention. These remarkable pictures, taken in the crystal waters of the West Indies, are as clear as if made in a photographic studio. After months of experience, during which the difficulties of water densities and light values were overcome, the Williamson Brothers are now able to present thousands of feet of film, telling a story of ocean depths which at times is even more exciting than the most fascinating melodrama.

There is in "Cabiria," the stupendous photo spectacle by D'Annunzio, that is to be shown at the Plainfield Theatre, on Monday and Tuesday, November 9 and 10, a very tender love interest which starts at the beginning of the picture and is maintained all through the two hours and forty minutes which are taken in exhibiting the picture. A little girl, "Cabiria," is rescued from sacrifices to the God Moloch by a crivarious Roman patrician. They are parted. She becomes a slave to the Carthaginian princess. The patrician goes to fight in the battles of the Roman Republic. Nevertheless he is true to the sentiment which the beautiful little Sicilian girl has inspired in him. In after years he rescues her from Carthaginian persecutors. He saves her from destruction and molestation at the hands of the furious high priest and finally when the storm and carnage of the great epoch is cleared away he takes the beautiful girl to his home in Rome as his bride. His Fidus Achates is a collossal slave who helps him to preserve the girl. This slave's devotion to his patrician master furnishes one of the most pathetic episodes in the spectacle.

COMPANY K WANT BETTER QUARTERS

Local Militiamen Appeal to Board of Freeholders for New Home.

NEED FINANCIAL AID

Director Cady Appoints Committee of Five with J. Hervey Doane as Chairman, to Consider the Matter. Board Allows $3 Premium for Fox.

Elizabeth, Nov. 6—Company K of the National Guard, complained to the Board of Freeholders, at the Board's meeting, yesterday, that its quarters are inadequate for its needs and asked the Board to select new quarters and notify the State Military Board of the selection, in accordance with the law. The appeal for aid was made by Captain Charles A Peterson, who told of the company's excellent record throughout the State and the dire need of financial support from the county for its new home.

Freeholder Doane supplemented the letter by stating that the organization bore an excellent reputation and had a splendid record during the fourteen years of its existence, and that at times its members had contributed from their private fortunes to its welfare. Director Cady appointed a special committee of five, under the chairmanship of Mr. Doane, to consider the matter.

A resolution providing for the county's share of the expense of replanking a bridge at Rock avenue, over Green Brook, Plainfield, in cooperation with Somerset county, was adopted.

Thomas Norton, of Fanwood, asked the Board to recompense him to the extent of $54.80 for damage to his automobile due, he claimed, to contact with a culvert cover improperly laid. He was going from Westfield to Fanwood at the time. The matter was referred to the county attorney. It was decided to ask the Somerset County Tax Board to exempt this county from paying $39 taxes on lands in that county, adjoining Bonnie Burn Sanitorium.

Robert L. Rogers, of New Providence, was allowed a $3 premium, under the advice of the county attorney, for shooting a gray fox.

The offense was alleged to have been committed Tuesday afternoon, and the young man was arrested at his home by Game Warden William Hoblitzel, of Rahway. The defendant was indignant when arraigned in court and was inclined to be fresh. He was unable to pay the fine and was remanded to serve 120 days in the county jail.

Union County Organization Met Last Night to Act on Death of John Kean.

Members of the Union County Republican Club met in the Elizabeth headquarters last night at which time action was taken on the death of former United States Senator John Kean, which occurred at his home in Ursino, Wednesday night. Seventy active workers in the organization answered Chairman William Newcorn's call and a committee composed of the following members was appointed to draw up fitting resolutions on the death of the noted statesman and business man: Robert Hues, of Elizabeth, chairman; Donald McLean, of Elizabeth; John W. Cliff, of Summit; Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, and John J. Carroll, of Plainfield. The resolutions will be presented to the county committee at its meeting to be held in the Elizabeth headquarters next Monday night.

The above named committee was also authorized to select a fitting floral tribute in behalf of the organization and to have it sent to the home prior to the funeral tomorrow afternoon. The committee decided to attend the funeral in a body tomorrow afternoon, meeting at the Republican headquarters at 1:30, and marching from there to the St. John's Episcopal church across the street, where the funeral services will be conducted. Eulogistic remarks on the life of the noted Jersey legislator were made by Chairman Newcorn, Robert Hues, James C. Calvert and William Wood last night. All of the speakers paid high tribute to the life and accomplishments of the deceased and reviewed the remarkable work done by him for this State and the nation.

COMMITTEE WILL CONFER WITH BOARD

Chamber of Commerce to Take Action on Equalization of Assessments.

The widespread dissatisfaction over the raise in assessment valuations in Plainfield was the main topic of discussion brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce at its monthly meeting, last night. The session was presided over by President Newton B. Smalley and considerable enthusiasm was in evidence during the meeting. A committee composed of Vice-President Peter J. McDonough, Counsel Winfield S. Angleman and President Smalley was appointed to inquire into the number of complaints that have been received concerning the valuations and to present the matter to the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes.

It is requested that all tax-payers having reason for complaint send their grievances to the Chamber of Commerce together with the assessments of this year and that of recent previous years. A communication was received from the Commercial Club, of the Plainfield High School, requesting the Chamber to send a representative on Wednesday, November 18, to address the club at 2 o'clock in the school auditorium. President Smalley was invested with authority to carry out this request and will make a fitting address on that occasion. Several applications for membership were received and acted upon.

"IMPRESSIONS OF EUROPEAN WAR"

Miss Janet E. Richards Tells Plainfield Women of Great Conflict.

CRITICIZES GERMANY

The War Parties of Warring Nations She Also Blames for Present Trouble—Urges People Not to Forget Millions of Sufferers.

More than two hundred persons gathered at the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, to welcome Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, on her return to Plainfield for her fifth series of talks on "Public Questions," and to hear an illuminative and interesting lecture on "Impressions and Recent Experiences in the European War Zone."

"In these days," said Miss Richards, "everyone has turned book, magazine and newspaper reader, for with ten countries at war, literature before the public is enormous and to keep abreast of the situation one must constantly read. It is therefore, a fairly difficult thing to bring to an aggregation of men and women anything absolutely new. The whole world now knows the history of the differences in temperament language, ideals and religion between the warring nations which have always fanned the flames of jealousy and rivalry."

But to hear them clearly reviewed,

MRS. N. A. MILLER CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Succeeds Mrs. C. A. Reed as Head of King's Daughters' Union.

The resignation of Mrs. Charles A. Reed as president of the City Union of The King's Daughters, was accepted with regret at a meeting of the executive board held yesterday, at The Day Nursery, on West Front street. Mrs. Nelson A. Miller was elected to succeed Mrs. Reed, and Miss Louise Curtis was made first vice-president, and Mrs. L. R. Peterkin second vice-president. Among other things considered at the meeting was the plans for the monthly socials for mothers and the annual Christmas entertainment to be held during the holidays.

The monthly reports were presented, showing what has been accomplished at The Day Nursery. Mrs Emma Bird, matron, reported that during October 520 children had been cared for at the nursery. The various departments of work were reported to be progressing satisfactorily.

The semi-annual meeting of the organization was held at The Day Nursery in the afternoon, with Mrs Miller, the new president, in the chair. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed that the organization is in excellent condition.

The address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. William Snyder, of Hoboken, president of the State organization. She brought interesting information as to what is being done by the various circles throughout New Jersey and also told of a plan to form a State league.

Following the business session and the address by Mrs. Snyder, there was a social hour during which tea was served by members of the different circles represented.

The reports of the various committees are to be presented to the gathering.

The meeting is to be preceded by a supper at 6:30 under the direction of the refreshment committee of the Woman's Society of Christian Work of the church in which the affair is to be held. A feature of the gathering is to be an address by Mrs. S. A. Comstock, of Brooklyn, a well-known church worker, who will speak on the subject, "The Making of a Successful Sunday-school."

"BOB" GAILEY WILL SPEAK IN THIS CITY

Will Come Here Under Auspices of the Plainfield Princeton Club.

The Princeton Club will have Robert R. Gailey, one of Princeton's best known and most highly honored graduates, as its guest and speaker at an open meeting for the men of the city Thursday evening in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church parlors. Mr. Gailey has been one of the out-standing leaders of the Christian forces at work in China for the past fourteen years and he will have as his subject "Fourteen Years on the Firing Line."

Mr. Gailey, known to all Princeton men as "Bob," graduated from Princeton in 1896. He won national fame as All-American center on the Princeton football team. He was also a leader in student life and the next year became secretary of the student Young Men's Christian Association. He went to China in 1898 and was for seven years secretary of the Peking association. He was there during the Boxer War and organized the relief corps that took care of the hundreds of thousands of noncombatants.

Princeton University has sent five graduates to Peking to establish the work of the Y. M. C. A. in China's national capital. Mr. Gailey was put in charge of this work seven years ago. A magnificent building has just been completed, the gift of John Wanamaker. This building is the social center for many of the officials of China's government. It was opened officially by President Yuan Shi Kai. Mr. Gailey was in Peking during the recent revolution and again organized the relief work. He is intimately acquainted with all of China's leading officials and has the confidence of all of them, including the famous President Yuan.

Few, if any, Americans are so intimately acquainted with the inside of China's political struggles as Mr. Gailey, a giant in stature, in heart and in works. Men who hear him will never forget him.

DESCRIBED "NEW ZEALAND" AT "LADIES' NIGHT" AFFAIR

Under the auspices of the Men's Association of Warren chapel, a "ladies' night" entertainment was given at the chapel, last night. The feature of the evening was an illustrated lecture on "New Zealand," given by Rev. Mr. Hardy, who has spent considerable time in that country and is thoroughly familiar with conditions there. Mr. Hardy was on his way to England when the European war broke out and being unable to secure passage was obliged to remain abroad for sometime.

Following the lecture there was a social hour, during which refreshments were served by a committee from the Men's Association. An opportunity was afforded those present to meet Mr. Hardy and learn more about the interesting country which he pictured.

COUPLE MARRIED A HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace Corriell Celebrate Their Fiftieth Anniversary.

PIONEER SETTLERS

Retired Business Man and One of the Oldest Voters in This City or the Borough—Has Unique Record as a Soldier.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace Coriell, of 50 Lincoln place, are today celebrating in a quiet way their fiftieth wedding anniversary, entertaining neighbors and friends in an informal manner at their home in the borough. With John R. Morrison, of 11 Vine street, Mr. Coriell lays claim to the honor of being the oldest voter in this city and borough, having been born in a house that stood on the site now occupied by Firstbrook's grocery store on West Front street. He has taken an active interest in civic affairs of the two communities and his claim to being a pioneer settler is one of his proudest contentions.

Mr. and Mrs. Coriell were married November 6, 1864, by the Rev. D. Henry Miller in the parsonage of the First Baptist church in Trenton, following a courtship that developed during the war. Mr. Coriell was detailed as provost marshal at Trenton and met his future bride while at that station. Their acquaintance rapidly developed into a courtship

TREAT IN STORE FOR PROCTORITES

$5,000 Concert Organ Being Installed at Front Street Playhouse.

In accordance with his plan of keeping strictly up to the minute in providing the patrons of Proctor's Theatre with the newest and best in the amusement field, Harry S. Sanderson has arranged for the installation of one of the Wurlitzer Organ Company's most improved concert organs. The preliminary excavation work is now underway and a corps of men will begin to set the instrument in place immediately after the close of tomorrow night's performances. It will in all probably be ready for use next Monday afternoon. George Warren Scott, the efficient leader of Proctor's orchestra for the past five years, will manipulate the organ, having perfected himself in the art during his course at the Boston's Conservatory of Music.

The idea of concert organs for theatre use is an innovation that has met with marked success in the Hippodrome, the Stand and other big New York houses. The one Mr. Sanderson has purchased represents an outlay of $5,000, being one of the most complete designed by the Wurlitzer concern. That it will be appreciated by the patrons of the popular Front street playhouse goes without saying, especial as the present competent orchestra will be retained in its entirety. Mr. Scott is arranging a special musical program for next week's performances.

MRS. ROBERT A. MEEKER SURPRISED BY "500" CLUB

TRADE BOARD PLANS BIG RALLY MEETING

Speakers Interested in the Newark Bay Bridge Question to Attend.

Members of the Board of Trade are planning for a monster rally meeting to be held in Firemen's Hall, November 17. Civic topics of special interest to men and community workers living in this part of the State will be under discussion and representatives of the Central Railroad will be present to give short talks on the proposed bridge to span Elizabethport with Bayonne City. A number of prominent men have been secured to do the speaking on that occasion by a committee composed of A. E. Force, William L. Saunders, chairman, John A. Gaffney and T. O. Doane, Jr.

Representative delegations from Roselle, Westfield, Bound Brook, Somerville, Elizabeth, Newark and other places will be on hand on that occasion and Mayor-elect Calkins will also be present. The date for the gathering was set for after election day so that the Board might be able to secure as many of the elected candidates as possible to give speeches.

An informal reception will follow the meeting, at which time refreshments will be served by the committee of the Board of Trade. Such a meeting was the outcome of a discussion raised at the October session when the bridge question came up for discussion. This is a topic of vital interest to commuters and those who travel on the Central Railroad and has been the subject of considerable comment in other cities, particularly Bayonne and Elizabeth. A commission has been appointed to confer with the State authorities and the Central Railroad officials in the matter and it may be possible to get one or two members of this body here on November 17.

GRACE P. E. CHURCH MEN'S CLUB DINNER

Chaplain Silver, of U. S. Military Academy, Will Be the Speaker.

The first social event of the year in the activities of the Men's Club of Grace Episcopal church, will be in the nature of a very informal dinner of the members to be given in the parish house on Thursday evening, November 19. The committee in charge has insured an unusual attraction in the two speakers whom they have selected for the occasion, and the announcement of this feature will no doubt insure the attendance of a large number of guests.

Rev. H. Percy Silver, chaplian of the United States Military Academy, West Point, will be the first speaker, and it is expected that William D'Olier, of Burlington, will be the second speaker. Good old choruses will be interspersed through the dinner and a general feeling of brotherhood will be engendered. The hour of the dinner will be 6:30. "Wear your worst clothes and bring your best disposition. We feel sure we can promise an unusually interesting evening, and these prominent speakers deserve our appreciation," says the rector.

FIGHTING BETWEEN VILLA AND CARRANZA REPORTED

Del Rio, Texas, Nov. 6.—Fighting between Carranza and Villa is in progress 15 miles above the Rio Grande. All Americans have been ordered from the zone of hostilities.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Confirmation of the reported fighting between Villa and Carranza forces near Aquascalientes was unobtainable from official sources here today, no reports having reached the War Department. The Secretary of War did, however, analyze the situation near Naco, Sonora, and expressed the opinion that General Maytorena, leading the Villa forces, will not attempt to renew the battle with General Hill until he is further reinforced.

WAR DEADLOCK IS UNCHANGED

Germans Bombard Arras Unsuccessfully and Neither Gain at Dixmude.

BRITISH SINK YORCK

London Hears Submarine Put German Vessel Out—Turks Kill Armenians—Bombardment of Russian Port of Batum.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The Germans are again bombarding Arras, but thus far no appreciable result has been shown, according to the official statement issued by the French War Office at 3 o'clock this afternoon. There has also been no break in the deadlock of the fighting between Dixmude and the River Lys. The statement reads as follows:

"There was no appreciable change in the course of yesterday. On the whole front the contact continues with the same character as that on preceding days between Dixmude and the Lys, with neither advance or marked retreat at any one point. Violent cannonading took place at the north of Arras, and on that town, without any result in favor of the enemy.

"The German effort in Belgium and in the north of France continues. The Germans seem to be making changes in the composition of their forces, which are operating in that region, and to be reinforcing their newly formed reserve corps, which have been severely tired, by veteran troops to attempt a new offensive, or at least palliate the bloody repulses which have been inflicted upon them.

"Between the Somme and the Oise and the Meuse, there have been minor engagements. We have concentrated our advance on the village of Andechy. To the west of Roye a German wagon train has been destroyed by our artillery fire at long range. In the region of Mampcel, to the northeast of the forest of Aigle and near Berry au Bac, we have retaken the village of Sapignuel, which the Germans captured after a terrific struggle.

"In the Argonne, where our troops drove back the Germans by bayonet charges, and in the Woevre, new attempts by the enemy have been repulsed. To the northeast and to the east of the Grand Couronne of Nancy, in the region of the forest of Perroy, and between Baccarat and Blamont, our advance posts have been attacked by mixed forces, whose movements have been wholly checked.

"A great Russian victory is officially announced."

London, Nov. 6 (Central News Cable).—"There is good reason to believe that the German cruiser Yorck was sunk in Jahde Bay by a British submarine," says the naval correspondent of the Times. A statement from Berlin purporting to be an official communication, which was received yesterday from Holland, declared that the Yorck was sunk in the fog by striking a mine chain.

A despatch from Berlin, via The Hauge, says that a report from Wilhelmshaven shows that 266 men are missing from the crew of the German cruiser Yorck, which was sunk recently off the North Sea coast of Germany. 384 members of her crew, including the commander and the first officer, were taken off by another vessel.

A Stockholm despatch says a circular issued by the war insurance committee to Swedish ship owners states the Government has protested to England against the order of the British admiralty closing the North Sea.

A despatch from Petrograd says that the Russians have recaptured the Galician town of Jaroslau, and have taken 5,000 Austrian prisoners, according to a telegram received there today from Lemberg. Jaroslau is seventeen miles northwest of the Austrian fortress of Przemysl. The Austrian attempt to cut off the Russian attackers, the message says, has finally broken down, and the Austrians now are in retreat along the River San. According to Russian information, Wirballen is now the only obstacle to a general advance of the whole Russian front in East Prussia. The Germans, it is declared, soon will be forced to evacuate, being threatened by a flanking movement of the Russians. The backward movement of the remainder of the German line left this point without sufficient support.

The Russian consul general at Constantinople, arriving at Odessa, stated that the Turkish officials were as surprised as Russia by the sudden offensive taken by the Turkish fleet in the Black Sea.

Petrograd, Nov. 6 (Central News Cable).—It is reported that large numbers of Armenians in Bayazin, now occupied by the Russians, were arrested and many killed by emissaries from Constantinople on the eve of Turkey's entrance into the

IT WAS A GOOD PORTRAIT.

And It Had a Sobering Effect Upon "Hollering Jones."

A well known illustrator who makes interesting western pictures once made the acquaintance of a noisy but good humored cowboy who rejoiced in the appellation of "Hollering Jones."

His physical appearance this man was typical of his kind, and the artist made several studies of him, both in repose and in his favorite diversion of "hollering." Some of the studies were sold by the artist to an eastern magazine. They showed Jones in his most violent state.

A year later the artist again visited the region. He was soon approached by Mr. Jones himself, bearing one of the pictures, which he had torn from the magazine in which it was printed. Pointing to it, he said:

"Is that me?"

"Well," replied the artist evasively, "I got the general idea from you, of course, but"—

"Oh, I ain't takin' no offense," Jones made haste to say. "It's all right; only if it's me say so."

"If you put it to me that way," said the artist, "I can only reply that it is a fairly good portrait of you."

"The men here on the ranch agree with you. So I look like that when I holler, do I?"

"I think you do."

"In that case," said Hollering Jones, "all I've got to say is that Hollering Jones has hollered his last holler. Hereafter, when I celebrates I does so with a tin horn. In my opinion no man has a right to look like that 'cept 'round white folks, anyhow."—Youth's Companion.

TREES THAT ROB THE SEA.

Nipa Palms and Mangroves of Sarawak Are Land Builders.

The river banks in Sarawak (British protectorate in Borneo) are lined with nipa palms and mangroves. At low tide you can see the mangroves standing on trestles of black woody roots, looking like snakes writhing in the mud. Upon these pedestals crowns of bright green leaves thirty to forty feet in height form aquatic forests at the mouth of the rivers all along the coast. Each branch is weighed down by fruit, which when ripe drops into the mud and starts a new tree.

The nipa palm has matted roots, which easily retain the flotsam and jetsam carried down by the unceasing current of the waters, and it has an angular fruit, which, like that of the mangrove, sinks into the mud, germinates and forms forests on its own account. The incessant action of these encroaching trees adds continually to the land. Indeed, there are certain aged natives who have been heard to say that part of the coast near Sirik although exposed to the constant surf of the northeast monsoon, has encroached on the sea for two miles or more during their lifetime.

When the land reclaimed by the mangroves and nipa palms becomes drier the trees die and give place to other tropical vegetation.—From "Ranee of Sarawak" in Wide World Magazine.

Penalties of Fashions.

Men of fashion must have felt exquisitely uncomfortable in the days of beaver hats weighing ten times as much as the heaviest hats of today. Sir Algernon West remembers wearing about 1850 "a pair of dove colored trousers with two fluted stripes down the sides and buttoned under the foot with broad stripes of the same material, Wellington boots, which were sine qua non with a man of fashion in those days, and a coat so high in the collar that the back of the hat rested on it. Indeed, every hat had a crescent of cloth on the back of the brim to prevent the rubbing of the beaver or imitation beaver of which the hat was made, for silk hats were not then invented."—London Spectator.

Specializing.

During the short seven years of her life little Florence Louise had become duly impressed with the prevalence of specialists in the medical profession. One day, returned from a visit to a small playmate, she calmly announced:

"Rena swallowed a button."

"Are you not worried about her?" she was asked.

"Oh, she will get along all right," Florence Louise complacently replied. "They sent for a regular button doctor."—Judge.

FOREST FIRES THREATEN TOWN

Sweep Over Country in Vicinity of Blairstown Doing Great Damage.

Blairstown, Nov. 6.—Beyond the control of the fire wardens, fires are today sweeping through the forests of Warren and Sussex counties. The Blair Academy here is threatened by the conflagration, despite the efforts of hundreds of men and boys who have been working day and night to check the spread of the flames. The long drought during the late summer gives the fire its fuel and the wind drives the blaze past all fire checks. Thousands of dollars worth of timber has been destroyed, as well as farm buildings.

Farmers for many miles about have lost their barns and outbuildings in the flames and have ploughed wide circles about their residences in the hope of keeping the fire back. Many of them have lost their garnered crops of the season.

Thousands of deer, rabbits, pheasants and other game are being driven out of the mountains and the woods ahead of the flames and are seeking refuge in streams and small lakes. It is believed that much of this game has perished. The shooting season opened on Sunday, the day the forest fires started, and it is believed that sportsmen left campfires burning in the woods, thus starting the sweep of flame that already has destroyed many thousands of dollars' worth of timber.

Men are being pressed in the fire fighting brigades from all towns and from a region not now in danger. The fire wardens seize them, and if they refuse to accept State employment as emergency fire fighters they are locked in jails. Few have refused, and last night many hundreds of men were fighting the flames, but with poor success.

Governor Fielder held a conference yesterday, with State Forester Gaskell at Trenton and gave orders for all State employes in this section to join the fire brigades and authorized the impressing into service of all able bodied men found.

Across the Delaware, in Pennsylvania, the flames have swept through Buckwood Park, owned by C. C. Worthington. He and hundreds of his men are fighting the fires there and he has appealed to the railroads and to the Governor of Pennsylvania for aid.

ar. The warlike races of the Caucasus are enthusiastic over the opportunity to join in the fighting which is afforded by the outbreak of hostilities there. The Armenians are eager to join the ranks of the Russians.

The name of Constantinople is being rapidly replaced in the columns of the newspapers in Russian by the archaic form of Tsaigrad. The Czar yesterday made a visit to Minsk, capital of the government of that name, which he was given an enthusiastic reception by the people.

Amsterdam, Nov. 6.—A despatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, to the Vossische Zeitung, states that Turkish ships have successfully bombarded the Russian fortified seaport of Batum, on the east shore of the Black Sea.

Copenhagen, Nov. 6 (Central News).—The German minister to the court at Copenhagen has issued a denial of the reports that Crown Prince Frederick William of Prince Albert have been killed or wounded. Both are well, he declares. A private message from Berlin says Prince Joachim, the Kaiser's youngest son, has been wounded in the leg and is in a military hospital in Belgium.

Washington, Nov. 6.—There is to be no change in the attitude of Italy toward the European war, according to Count Celesia, the Italian ambassador to the United States, who today received advices from his Government. Italy, he said, despite the change in the cabinet, would maintain her strict neutrality and also as far as now could be seen under no circumstances would engage in the hostilities. The ambassador was advised of the appointment of Sidney Sonnino as the new minister for foreign affairs at Rome.

Doubt was expressed by both the State and the Navy Department officials that the United States marines had been landed in Beirut, as reported from Paris sources unofficially. The cruisers Tennessee and North Carolina, which are in Turkish waters, have reported no such emergency and no word from United States Consul General Hollis has been received.

A proclamation of neutrality stating that the United States will remain strictly neutral in the warfare between Great Britain and Turkey was signed by President Wilson today. Great Britain is the only nation that has officially notified the United States that a state of war exists between it and Turkey.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT.

A large field started in the qualifying round of the eighteen-hole medal play handicap which began at the Plainfield Country Club, this afternoon. The tournament is similar to the one held last week and the first sixteen will qualify. Prizes will be awarded the winners.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Emma Trentini will soon star in a new production by the Shuberts.

"The Crimson Rambler" is the name of May Irwin's new show.

Marie Dressler began her season last week in "The Sub."

Joseph Brooks' daughter, Virginia Brooks, who made a big hit in Europe, will soon be heard in American opera.

Margaret Illington is rehearsing in "The Betrayal," which suits her, it is said.

Anna Pavlova opens her New York season this week, with her troup of 54 dancers.

Adeline Geneo is to return to England after her New York engagement and a brief tour.

Providence, R. I., recently saw a reproduction of the first play ever given there, "The Provoked Husband."

Ann Swinburne will soon appear in a musical comedy by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom.

Elsie Ferguson was never seen to better advantage than in "Outcast," which opens in New York this week.

Nat Goodwin will appear soon in Los Angeles in "The Bohemian," the new production of Oliver Morosco.

"The Marriage of Columbine" and "Jack o' the Fields" are slated for the new Punch and Judy Theatre in New York.

Dickens' popularity never lags. "The Highway of Life," adapted from David Copperfield, has won the New Yorkers.

"Mother Carey's Chickens," by Kate Douglas Wiggin, is to be dramatized. Edith Taliaferro has the leading role.

Madame Naximova is doing well in "That Sort," which touches on the sacrifice of a woman's soul and gives play to her emotional qualifications.

Professor Max Reinhart, who was to have put on Phyllis Neilson-Terry's production of "Twelith Night," has been held up in England as an alien enemy.

The Shuberts are preparing "The Battle Cry," a melodrama of the Cumberland mountains. Grace Ellison and William Farnum will be seen in the leading roles.

George Stallings and Rabbit Maranville, of the renowned Braves, are the latest additions to the "baseball-actors" squad. They both get away with it.

Theatrical producers are none too optimistic over the outlook for a season. It is said that the best shows are pulling heavily, but that the doubtful productions are finding many empty benches.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVE.

The Hall Printing Press Company, of Dunellen, is experiencing a revival in business and is gradually giving employment to more men. It is expected that within the course of a comparatively short time a full force of men will be at work in all departments of the shops.

SOME ELECTION FIGURES.

Usually when neither a President or a Governor is being balloted for, the vote is much lighter than at times of national and state elections. And yet an analysis of the vote cast on Tuesday shows that a much larger representation of the electorate turned out on Tuesday than was the case in 1912, when Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft were running for President. In that year the vote cast for Congress, for the candidates for the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties amounted to 19,972, and on Tuesday of this week, the total vote in the county for the three candidates for the same office was about 22,750, according to unofficial returns.

Mr. Tuttle, although defeated in the county, received a larger vote than he did in 1912. Then, according to the Legislative Manual, his vote in Union county was 9,020, while this year the unofficial returns credit him with about 10,000. This indicates that he received a substantial part of the increased vote, or that many who voted the Progressive ticket in the last Congressional election, cast their ballot this year for him. His vote in Plainfield on Tuesday was 1,219, while in 1912 he received but 981 in this city. The Progressive vote for Congressman dropped to 273 this year, while Ennis in 1912 had 475. Former Judge Runyon received in the Congressional fight two years ago a vote of 1,782 in this city, while John H. Capstick had 1,864, a gain over Runyon's vote of less than 100.

The increase in the vote in the city and county in two years is shown by the following tables, the figures being those for Congressman:

	Plainfield.		County.
	1912	1914	1912	1914
Rep.	1782	1864	6440	11,166
Dem.	981	1219	9020	10,001
Prog.	475	243	4512	1,575
	3238	3326	19,972	22,742

The 1914 figures are unofficial, but approximately correct.

If nothing else is determined it is shown that the election this year, in spite of the apparent indifference of the voters prior to election day, really was one which attracted more attention than the national contest two years ago, when strenuous efforts were made, esepecially by the Republicans, to get out the full vote to offset the Progressive strength.

Another feature of the election returns brings out the fact that in all probably the Progressives will continue to have a ballot box at the primary next year. In order to retain that distinction, it was necessary for them to poll five per cent of the total vote in the county for their Assembly ticket, and this evidently was done, as the highest man on the Assembly ticket had nearly 2,200, which is over five per cent. of approximately 23,000, the total vote registered.

Three men have now come forward with offers of $100 each, provided seven more can be found to give the same amount, the entire $1,000 to be given to the Belgian Relief Fund, as a contribution from Plainfielders. As has been told in our news columns, the fund was started about a week ago, by a man who said that he would give $100, provided nine other men would do the same thing. Appeal was made through the Daily Press for subscriptions last Saturday night, and on Monday, a second resident said that he would be one of the list. On Wednesday night a second appeal was made in our news columns, and this has resulted in the third $100 being pledged. If the responses come at the rate of $100 per appeal the required amount will soon be raised. Who will be the next?

The Elizabeth Journal draws a significant lesson from the vote in Elizabeth. There was a time, not so long ago, when it was said that the liquor interests dominated that city, and received general support at he polls. The Journal calls attention to the fact that "of the four Democrats on city and county tickets who failed to carry Elizabeth, three were directly connected with the liqour interests; Collins for mayor, Devine for sheriff, and Carroll for Freeholder." The people are beyond the stage where liberality is the most important argument in a campaign. It was proven in Newark, as well as Elizabeth.

Nietsche, the German author, will be the subject of the contributed editorial for tomorrow, and his influence upon the Kaiser's subjects, with relation to war, will be discussed. The writer is one who has several times been a contributing editor, and each time his articles have caused much favorable comment. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be heard from tomorrow night.

News of the death of John Kean was received with much regret by his many friends in Union county. Although he had been a power in Republican politics in the county, state and nation, Senator Kean personally was always quiet, modest and unassuming. He had a great influence in the United States Senate from the day he entered the body, and was respected by Jerseymen, whether or not they agreed with him politically.

Very evidently the offer to save the taxpayers $39,000, made by the Progressive candidates, had no appeal to the voters. People are usually suspicious of an offer to work for a smaller salary, when it is made by the fellow who wants the job.

IMPRESSIONS OF THE WAR

as Miss Richards so cleverly proceeded to do yesterday, with the trimmings which her personality and wit lend to them, is a valuable thing for even the most zealous reader. Miss Richards made the greatest effort to respect President Wilson's request for neutrality in speech, but declared herself as unwilling to be neutral when she touched upon Belgium's disaster. That much of the war's horrors she believes frankly to lie at the door of the German nation, but she credits all the parties to the war with private ambitions, hatreds, rivalries and blame.

In connection with an appeal to her classes for sympathy with and succor to the Belgiums, Miss Richards begged that at least one-third of everyone's charity might rest at home, for she said that she finds hundreds and thousands of "out-of-work" men and women in every city she speaks in, who are sufferers at the hands of this war. Her stirring appeal in behalf of helpless Americans was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

Referring to the war, Miss Richards called the attention of her audience to the fact that Belgium, which is located on a direct line of march between Germany and France, had for a long time been the battle ground of nations. It was her belief that the Germans as a people had not encouraged the war spirit, but that it was the result of war parties, of several nations now at war.

"If the sons of industry or the mothers had been permitted to have a say," said Miss Richards, "there would have been no war. It was the war party of each nation that alone was responsible, they being anxious to test the latest machinery and war equipment." Miss Richards referred to the ambitions and rival jealousy of small groups of men, in secret conference behind closed doors, as being responsible for the greatest conflict in the world's history. Reference was also made to the quarrel over the Bagdad Railroad which had precipitated an outbreak between Germany and England and that the ambition of Russia to establish herself at Constantinople had hastened her desire to engage in the war.

Miss Richards spoke well of the generosity of the Plainfield people in contributing to the Red Cross work and the Christmas ship, but she cautioned all not to forget the millions of people in this country who are suffering at the present time, those who have been impoverished because of the European war.

During her stay in Plainfield, Miss Richards evidenced much interest in local conditions about which she gained considerable information from Mayor Percy H. Stewart at whose home she was a guest. Mr. Stewart explained to her of the establishment of a registry for the unemployed where 142 men had already registered. Miss Richards suggested to him that he open a relief cash fund for the purpose of assisting needy families. The suggestion was well received by Mr. Stewart and may be put into practice here.

MARRIED HALF CENTURY

and afterwards marriage. Immediately after the war was over Mr. and Mrs. Coriell came to this city to make their permanent home and have lived here ever since. They are well known in the community and held in the highest esteem by a large number of acquaintances. Mrs. Coriell is at present in the best of health and received many callers who dropped in to congratulate the couple on their golden anniversary this morning. Many gifts were received by them and Mrs. Coriell's remembrance to her husband was $100 in gold. Mr. Coriell has been in failing health of late but was able to be about today and assist his wife in the reception of visitors.

Mr Coriell is a retired business man, having been active in the wholesale and retail produce trade for thirty-five years prior to his retirement in 1893. He built the structure now occupied by the Leader store on West Front street and carried on his produce business at that place. His retirement took place on his fiftieth birthday.

He registered and voted for the first time when Abraham Lincoln was elected President of the United States and had not missed casting a ballot a single year since then up to last Tuesday, when he was too ill to go to the polls. He had been a staunch Republican, but since Woodrow Wilson's regime has been a Wilson-Republican.

One of his proudest boasts is his army record and he has a letter of endorsement from the captain of his regiment testifying to his merit as a soldier. Following the battle of "Turkey Bend," Mr. Coriell was promoted to the rank of sergeant by General Mott for bravery. He fought under General McClellan and was in all of the battles that this noted fighter took part in. He was hit in the head with a bullet in one of the battles but the blow was a glancing one and it did little harm. Among the battles in which he participated were those at Yorktown, Williamsburg, Seven Pines, Savage Station, Fair Oakes, Glendale, Malvern Hill, Bristow Station, Bull Run, Chantella and Fredericksburg.

A letter from Captain Charles Ewing, of the Sixth New Jersey Regiment, commander of Company B, written to Mr. Coriell, follows:

"I would state in behalf of Sergeant Wallace W. Coriell that he has risen from the ranks by his courage and soldierly conduct and that I consider him by far the best soldier in my company. He has never been absent from the company nor off duty since he has been in the service, until his present disease prostrated him, and that his ambition kept him on duty longer than was consistent with his health. His nervous temperament is such that I consider his life endangered by his remaining in camp."

The illness referred to overtook him at the battle of Fredericksburg and he was forced to retire temporarily. Mr. Coriell's parents were pioneer Plainfielders and one of the first families in these parts. Mrs. Coriell was formerly Miss Jennie M. Hargraves, of Trenton. They are members of the Grace M. E. church, and Mr. Coriell is a Free Mason, having joined the organization in '64.

FAIR AND SUPPER ATTRACTS MANY

Being Held Under Auspices of Young People of Dunellen M. E. Church.

The lecture room of the Methodist Episcopal church was thronged, last evening, on the opening of the fair and supper under the auspices of the Epworth League and the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. The fair room, with its artistic and attractively decorated sidewalls and numerous booths, was a veritable place of beauty.

The booths were particularly attractive. The one that probably won the most attention and proved the most popular was the tulip bed booth in charge of Mrs. William Kennedy. There were eighty tulips made out of natural colored crepe paper set in the bed, which was of sand. Fastened to the end of each tulip and covered over with sand was some article. One paid so much for a tulip and drew it out, receiving are article. The tulips were all gone at an early hour. Mrs. Firman H. Gise and Mrs. Edward Krinic, who made the tulips, have been working diligently throughout the day to replenish the bed this evening. The booth was decorated with arches of natural vines.

The fancy table booth in charge of Mrs. Edward Krinic was very beautiful. Arches wrapped with red and white crepe paper was set from the six corners of the hexangular table. From the top of the arches crepe paper of the same color was festooned to the ceiling of the fair room. The candy booth in charge of Mrs. Ramsey also proved popular and did a thriving business. The booth was decorated with red and pink crepe paper. The ice cream parlor just off the fair room was in charge of Miss Lulu Adams. The color scheme of its decorations was black and gold.

The fair opened at 6 o'clock with the serving of one of the famos suppers of the Ladies' Aid Society between the hours of 6 and 9. While the suppers were being served music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Archie LaRue, violinist; Karl Evers, of Bound Brook, cornetist, and Robert Shive, also of Bound Brook, pianist. The supper will be served again this evening. Clam chowder will be on the menu as an extra. The orchestra will play again.

SINKING OF "TITANIC" BIG FEATURE ACT

In Morey's mechanical and electrical presentation of the sinking of the "Titanic," the audiences at Proctor's Theatre, yesterday, witnessed a distinctly novel number, widely divergent from ordinary stage pictures. Its realism at times is uncanny and yet arranged in such a manner as to hold young and old in breathless suspense when the big liner takes its final plunge beneath the waves. A lighter touch is lent the spectacle in the preliminary portrayal of harbor life at Liverpool, just previous to the sailing of the ill-fated ship. The typical English row boats used in ferrying and fishing and shooting diversions produced many laughs. The collision of the liner with an iceberg, the signalling with wireless and rockets, lowering of boats and final explosion, produce an effect full of thrills. It is by far one of the best things seen at Proctor's in a long time.

The other numbers on the bill for the remainder of the week are in keeping with the high standard set by Proctor and Sanderson. The Van Der Koors give an illusion number chock-full of laughs. "Felix," the mind-reading duck, is a scream. Louise Eschell and Company give a comedy sketch with an original opening; "He, She and the Piano," is a cracker-jack song and dance number, and Harry Victor offers a comedy number which brings the moving picture into a new use. Excellent photo plays complete the program.

MRS. W. B. GRANNATT IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon, at the parish house. The following new officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. B. Grannatt; vice-president, Mrs. George Ludgate; secretary, Mrs. James Chamberlain; treasurer, Mrs. Juan Babcock. Work, visiting and entertainment committees were appointed for the coming year. Plans for a parish social to be held Tuesday evening, November 17, were made. Tea was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

LITTLE STORIES OF HAPPENINGS IN FIELD OF WAR IN EUROPE

Humanity Makes Brothers of Foes When Lull Falls on Strife.

Officials Gone, Woman Takes Over Government of French City.

FRENCH newspapers, says a recent dispatch from Europe, are not averse to relating stories of German acts of kindness to the enemies of the kaiser. Here is one going the rounds in France: A French reservist named Aubrey was wounded by a shell near Nantouillet-le-Heaulmin. He was found the following morning lying helpless in a field by a German patrol. The Germans rushed up to him with fixed bayonets, but Aubrey, fearing that his last hour had come, pleaded with one gray headed German soldier and tried to show him by pantomime that he had a wife and children.

"You husband and father?" asked the German in bad French.

"Yes," was the reply.

"I grandfather; have five sons in army," said the German, who thereupon carefully bandaged his French comrade's wound. Then the guns began to thunder and the Germans retired, leaving Aubrey to be found soon afterward by a French patrol.

Soldiers' Marriages Encouraged.

Aroused by steps taken by Germany and Austria to protect themselves against a falling birth rate and the death rate incidental to the war, England continues to encourage marriage of recruits soon to go on foreign service.

At the suggestion of the archbishop of Canterbury, as has probably already been known in America, the diocesan bishops of the Church of England have made marked decreases in the fees charged soldiers for marriage licenses and clergymen throughout the island are waiving their personal fees.

In Germany and Austria fees for marriages were waived entirely, and in many cities clergymen married the warriors and their sweethearts in large companies.

Gold wedding rings were done away with and iron rings substituted for the ceremony. Then the married women who already had gold wedding rings offered them as contributions to the war fund and replaced them with rings similar to those worn by the war brides.

The archbishop of Canterbury is endeavoring to have the government waive the stamp fee of $2.50 which it imposes on each marriage certificate, and diocesan bishops have reduced the marriage license fee to $2.50 in the case of soldiers and sailors of limited means.

Formerly it cost $10 to procure a marriage license properly stamped by the government. The cost is now $5, and the archbishop of Canterbury hopes to have it lowered to $2.50.

Nearly half a million recruits are quartered in camps scattered throughout England. This new army of Kitchener's probably will not be sent to the continent for at least six months.

Many weddings are occurring daily at the various camps, and new recruits and their sweethearts are often much distressed to find that under the English law one of the parties to a marriage must have resided in the parish in which they are married for at least fifteen days. The archbishop of Canterbury has suggested that this obstacle be removed by statute.

Woman Runs French City.

In Soissons, while shells from opposing French and German batteries crisscrossed over the rooftops, whistling singularly like the air brakes of a train, Mme. Jeanne Watteau Macherez, a heroine of the war, took charge of the city, ran the hospitals, superintended sanitation, street cleaning and, in fact, everything. The civic authorities had left.

"The Germans were making a determined attack on the town as we talked," says a correspondent. "I timed thirty-seven shells in one minute. Mme. Macherez stood in the middle of the street, and although her words were sometimes lost in the noise of exploding shells, she went right on.

"'If the Germans get back into the city this time,' I asked, 'are you going to stay?'

"'I shall be all the more needed if they come back,' Mme. Macherez replied.

"'When they came the first time how did they behave?'

"'They wanted an indemnity from us, but I induced the commander to accompany me about the city to prove to him that he was asking too much. I convinced him that we could give no more than we had.'

FRENCH OFFICER AND ZOUAVES ON MARCH

"This was Mme. Macherez's modest way of putting it, but I had learned how, by infinite tact, she had resisted the demand for tons of foodstuffs, tobacco and great quantities of wines and finally had secured better terms."

Germany Loses Chief Bandmaster.

The London Chronicle's correspondent at Calais says one of the most curious captures of the war was made in the neighborhood of Ypres when the bandmaster in chief of the German army was taken. A good deal of doubt at first surrounded the identity of the much decorated individual in his gorgeous uniform.

He carried a gold mounted baton, and his store of music also fell into the hands of his captors.

It was on the outskirts of Ypres that a number of soldiers came upon this imposing functionary seated, disconsolately and deserted, on a tree stump by the wayside endeavoring to tie up with his handkerchief a slight wound in his right hand. He was surrounded and informed that he was a prisoner. This increased his dejection, and he said that he had lost his band.

The bandmaster in chief was marched off, but before night fell he made an effort to escape. Though he may know a great deal about music, he proved a child in the matter of endeavoring to elude his captors, so the bandmaster in chief of the German army remains a gloomy prisoner.

Prayed For His Dead Leader.

"There is one picture I will never forget," says a German lieutenant's letter in the Cologne Gazette. "We shot down a patrol of chasseurs. Two men who were in cover were taken prisoners. When the skirmish was over I went with one of the chasseurs to where the officer in charge of the patrol had fallen.

"I saw immediately that the man had died from a shot through the heart. But the chasseur who accompanied me and who evidently was very fond of the officer asked me, with great great concern in his voice:

"'Does my officer live?'

"I shook my head, saying, 'No; he is dead.'

"And then a very touching thing occurred. The soldier fell to his knees beside the dead officer and prayed for a long time—a gripping picture. On the ground, in a flood of sunlight, lay four dead horses. My men stood about them in a ring, and in this circle rested the dead officer with the privat praying at his side. We were silent. The silence of death was upon us, but through it we heard the steps of Death, who may gather us tomorrow

Soldiers "Josh" Their Captain.

It is good to march with a French regiment along the roads as they are now marching, says a London Chronicle correspondent.

The regiment marches silently. They have come a long way down the straight roads between the hills, and there is dust in their eyes and throats and they have arrived at that moment in the march when the pack weighs heaviest, when the shoulder straps begin to rub, when the rifle seems to wear a hole in the shoulder and when the shoe begins to pinch—an ugly moment, when black devils poke up their heads in men's hearts.

But the best hearted man in the regiment knows that it is the time for a little joke. He begins to speak about his captain, who is walking a yard away from him.

"Our captain grows a little fat, think, my little ones."

"Yes," says a comrade, taking up the joke. "It is possible that he has been eating too much."

"And he has a great thirst, I am told," says a third man. "It is marvelous what a thirst our captain has. Three bottles of red wine are hardly enough to wet his throat."

"He gets too old for war."

And so the joke goes on, every word of which is heard by the captain, who finally bursts into laughter and says, "You are impudent rascals, all of you."

The bad moment has passed. The weight of the pack is forgotten, and presently the baritone of the regiment sings the first line of a marching song. The chorus goes lilting down the long white road between the poplar sentinels.

BELGIAN REFUGEE FLEEING FROM TERMONDE.

Thought He Had the Kaiser.

The Cossack patrols flitting along the German front are the subject of innumerable stories.

When the news was issued that the kaiser had come east to take command of his army on the Russo-German front the Cossacks were much interested. One day a Cossack came in driving before him a plump, distressed Prussian captain, whom he had gleaned during a day's work.

"I've got him," he announced. "I knew him by his mustache," and he produced an old picture postcard showing Kaiser Wilhelm, whose mustache the prisoner captain had evidently imitated.

Grewsome Sights on Battlefield.

A correspondent sends the following vivid description of the battlefield of the Marne:

"In a large hole rolls and gasps a soldier, his body shaken, his hands gripping tufts of grass. * * * I take him under the armpits and turn him over to an easier position. But a flood rushes to the ground; little by little his life oozes away and at last he dies. Hastily I cover him with his great coat. * * * Near by a wounded man regards the scene with eyes of madness and reaches out to me a hand ravaged by gangrene.

"As I look over the thousands of black spots prone on the yellow grass I know that I am looking at the soldiers who will never hear the great fanfare of victory—obscure heroes whose names will never be published.

"I think of the wives, the sweethearts, the mothers and the children who will thirst for revenge because on one beautiful autumn afternoon the blood of their fathers was shed."

COLLEGE BALL PLAYER SUICIDE.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6—Watson Harpham, Yale, '14, who played third base on the Yale baseball team last summer, shot and killed himself at the home of his parents, in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago. Harpham was twenty-five years old. He was a member of the Scroll and Keys Society at Yale. Testimony at the coroner's inquest indicated that Harpham was despondent because he had not been able to get a suitable position. His father was formerly corporation counsel of Evanston.

In the second game Jersey City accounted for 1058, this being the high total for the season in the Elks' League. At Hoboken the Paterson five got two games out of three, and the Silk City five is tied on a percentage basis with the Jersey City team, New York dropping out of the first place tie.

The Plainfield Eagles' bowling team opened the Eagles' League last night, on the Second street alleys by taking three games from the Progress Aerie, of Newark. The local lodge presented its strongest team and had no trouble in defeating the Newarkers on the local alleys.

In the first game the Newarkers were at their best and pushed their opponents hard till the last two frames were reached and then the Queen City pinners pulled away. There was only seventeen points between the scores at the finish. McCarty led the bunch in scoring in the first game, he registering a 192, while Mahoney was two points short of this mark. The visitors fell off considerably in the second game, while the local pinners became better and the scores were 906 to 772.

The last game was also a "cinch," but both teams fell down in the scoring. The high score mark of the night came in this game, when Morris hit the wood for a 220 and Mahoney made his best score, a 204. This puts the Plainfield team in a tie for first place with the Newark quintet.

LARGE NUMBER REPORTED FOR P. H. S. GIRLS' TEAM

The first practice of the Plainfield High Shool girls' basketball team was held yesterday in the new gym and about fifty candidates reported to Captain Erma Good. Miss Katherine Sminck is coaching the team again this season and has great hopes of the team's repeating their work of last year in the city series.

The team has about three weeks to get into shape before the schedule begins. The first game will be played with the Alumni on Friday, November 27. Three of last year's players are again with the team and are practically sure of places. They are the Misses Erma Good and Dorothy Crane, forwards, and Sadie Rothberg, centre. Some fine material has reported and the other two players will be picked after the squad has practiced for a while.

TWO ELKS' MATCHES.

Two matches will be played in the Elks' Bowling League tonight, when the Newarkers are booked to play the Rutherford team on the latter's alleys and the Elizabeth team will go to Paterson to play off a postponed match which was scheduled for Thursday, October 29. The local team does not play till next Thursday, when the Newark team will appear here.

P. H. S. GAME.

The Plainfield High School football team will go to New Brunswick tomorrow afternoon, and meet the High School eleven of that place. The locals will face a tough proposition as the Middlesex team is considered very fast and took the measure of the Rutgers "Prep" eleven this week. Captain Peacock, who was injured last Saturday, will be in the game.

CHARLIE LEDOUX KILLED IN BATTLE

Charles Ledoux.

The European war has played havoc with several noted French pugilists. Charles Ledoux, Charles Sturber, Adrian Hagen and Max Stinger are the dead, while Georges Carpentier has been injured.

HOLY CROSS ELEVEN WILL NOT MEET DEXTER CHAMPS

Indications are that the Dexter football team will not be active again this season. Since the eleven quit play at the Amusement Park grounds here there seems to have been a waning of interest. It is believed that the players have decided that they could not fare as well on the road as they could appearing principally before Perth Amboy audiences. Last week it was announced that the team would play at Millton on Saturday. There was no record on Sunday or Monday of the crew's appearance there on that date and efforts to locate Manager Applegate to learn something about the doings of the Dexters proved futile.

Since that time there have been no further announcements concerning the Dexter squad. Billy Pfau, who looked after the team, and was in a fair way to make the 1914 season the most successful for them, states he believes that Dexter doings for the 1914 season will amount to little or nothing. He declares himself to be at a loss to know why they chose to travel in preference to play at his Amusement Park grounds, being certain that with the exception of one or two poor days when weather conditions were unfavorable, they would score well financially as well as otherwise.

Aside from having appeared to made a bad move in choosing to travel instead of play at home, the Dexter squad are suffering by an absence of material. Some of the members are restrained by injuries, while others have left the city.

MANY TANK TOWNS PUT ON MAP BY STAR BALL PLAYERS

Many a tank town has been yanked on the map by some famous baseball artist. Whoever heard of Paoli, Ohio, until Cy Young announced it as his place of birth, and who knew about Factoryville, Pa., until Christy Mathewson left its quiet streets to make his mark in the National League?

Then there is Lucasville, Ohio, which was unheard of until Branch Rickey put the St. Louis Browns on Winning street. Lucasville mothers are now naming their babies after the most successful of the new managers of 1914. And, again, what baseball fan ever heard of Plains, Pa., until Ed Walsh started to win games with his spitball? Nobody.

Muskoda, Kan., sounds like it might be the home of some perfume distillery, but it isn't. Joe Tinker was born at this point. Following are the names of the respective tank towns which they hung in the hall of fame:

Tris Speaker, Hubbard City, Tex.
Walter Schang, Wales, N. Y.
Nap Rucker, Alpharette, Ga.
Larry McLean, Fredericton, New Brunswick.
Connie Mack, Brookville, Mass.
John McGraw, Truxton, N. Y.
Fred Merkle, Watertown, Wis.
Hughey Jennings, Avoca, Pa.
Joe Jackson, Brandon Mills, S. C.
Clark Griffith, Nevada, Mo.
Sam Crawford, Wahoo, Neb.
Ty Cobb, Narrows, Ga.
Walter Johnson, Humbodlt, Kan.
Eddie Collins, Millerton, N. Y.
Chief Bender, Brainard, Minn.
Mordecai Brown, Nvesville, Ind.
Home Run Baker, Trappe, Md.
Ping Bodie, Cow Hollow.

EAGLES' GAME.

Only one match will be played in the Eagles' League tonight. The Elizabeth birds are scheduled to go to Somerville and this match will be the first of the league for these two teams.

—It pays to use the advertising columns of The Press.

George Chaney, the Baltimore featherweight, has designs on Kilbane's crown. He is twitching with eagerness for a match with Johnny and is determined that sooner or later he will meet the champ in the ring. And when that time arrives he plans to belabor Johnny in a most spirited manner, thus copping the belt.

Johnny Kilbane is aware of this. He has watched Chaney's performances and studied his style. Johnny has seen that Chaney has reached a point of fistic excellence most formidable. Beating the Baltimore boy and beating him in a decisive fashion will require all the skill the champ can show. Chaney is fast and strong, very aggressive and the complete master of an amazing and bewildering style of battling. In their recent go in Akron, Cal Delaney fought the best fight of his career and yet was unable to seriously perturb Chaney. In but a few of the twelve rounds did Delaney have as much as a draw. At almost all times Chaney had Cal in sore distress.

Chaney has successfully disgraced every featherweight of prominence who has met him. His bout with the much touted K. O. Mars, of Cincinnati, was all but a farce. The Mars adherents were obliged to toss up the sponge in an early round.

Kilbane, knowing Chaney's performances and having seen him several times in action, does not underrate him. He knows that he will have to meet Chaney some day if he is to retain the favor of the fans. It is agreed on every side that Chaney is the most worthy challenger and he will probably get his chance.

Just the same, Johnny is not worrying. As soon as his thumb recovers he will get into action again and dispose of anything that may offer to step between him and his crown. He has never yet shown a reluctance to meet the best his class can offer and it's unlikely that he'll make an exception of Chaney.

ELIZABETH ELEVEN AT CRICKET FIELD

Will Meet Holy Cross in the Regular Week-end Game Tomorrow.

The Holy Cross football team will meet the strong Elizabeth A. A. eleven on Cricket Field, tomorrow afternoon, and all of the regulars will be back in the game after a layoff due to injuries. The Elizabeth team will come here with its best men and a hard game is in store for the locals. The boroughites were out last night under the instruction of "Doc" Hamilton and he will probably do all the coaching for the rest of the season. All the men were out last night and two new players were signed up to play the rest of the season.

Bert Banks has entered the football world and will probably play on the line because of his weight. Tommy Mullin, who was on the field Election Day and who played a short time, has also become a regular and will probably be kept for one of the end positions. Howarth, of Westfield, who has played guard all season, will again be in the game after a week's layoff with a broken finger and injured hip. Bremble, Mair, Caulfield and Fritts, who have been on the hospital list recently, will play in tomorrow's game.

Several new plays have been worked up and the local players are out to give a good account of themselves. The game will start at 3:15 o'clock sharp, so that it may be finished before dark.

DUNELLEN MONARCHS WILL TACKLE MICHELIN ELEVEN

The Monarchs, of Dunellen, will play the crack Michelin A. C., of Milltown, at Maurer Oval, Dunellen, tomorrow.

The Michelins come to Dunellen with quite a reputation. They have played such elevens as the Franklins, of Newark, who defeated the Holy Cross eleven, of this city, by the score of 22 to 6, recently.

The eleven that the Monarchs will opose the Michelins with will be the strongest that has ever represented Dunellen on the gridiron. Endicott, the former Lawrenceville player, will play fullback. The other backs will be "Pud" Maurer, the former University of South Carolina player; Barto, the ex-Erasmus back; Eddie Hannon, a local find, and Jules Margentino. Harry Giddes and George Martin will each play a half game at quarterback. "Red" Maurer will play the pivot position. On either side of him will be "Babe" Fisher, the 250-pound guard of Dunellen's '09 team, and Pete Benson. The tackles will be Adam Dealaman, the Plainfield High School player, and Earl Ising, "Digit" Logan, "Oby" Mohan and "Skip" Cole will take care of the wing points.

GOOD PLAYER LOST TO N. P. H. S. FIVE

North Plainfield High School's prospects for the city basketball championship this year were slightly lowered, yesterday, when it was learned that Roy Love, '14, had left school after returning last month for a post graduate course. Love graduated last June and was one of three of last year's players to go out. When he announced that he was going to return this year basketball fans were extremely happy as his presence on the team would be a great help.

The lanky player has been practising with the team since the first practice because he fully intended to remain in school and play the game. He was put in center and the team was working in fine fashion as was seen when several of the regulars licked the Alumni team last Monday. Love is now enrolled in Miller's Business School, at Twenty-third street and Lexington avenue, New York, and will remain there for a course. He is following the secretarial course.

The borough team will have to be changed around again, and VanMater will probably be placed in the vacant position with Townley taking his place. Captain Abrams has not reported for practice this week, as he is still troubled with the injury he received to his knee Monday night.

TWO MATCHES PLAYED IN IN TOURNEY LAST NIGHT

The Lowrie-Howe combination took two out of three games from George Conover and Luthman in the two-man tournament at Gates' alleys, last night, while Miller and Connolly just nosed out Thorn and Clemons in the third and deciding game of their match by one point.

The first match was the best of the night, and several good scores were chalked up. Lowrie and Howe took the first game by the score of 344 to 294, and came back in the second game with a team score of 408. The third was hotly contested and at the end of the game there was only seven points between the scores, the extra seven being in favor of the Lowrie-Howe duo. In the second match the first two games were divided and the third was the best of the night. Both teams pinned will and at the end the Miller-Connolly had a one-point lead ove rtheir opponents, the scores being 272 to 271.

The scores:

Lowrie	200	212	149
Howe	144	196	166
	344	408	315
G. Conover	159	163	129

RUMORS THAT MARTIN HAS BEEN TRADED

Unconfirmed rumors to the effect that Jack Martin, of this city, who plays shortstop for the Philadelphia National League baseball club, has been traded to some other club, reached here this morning. One of the Phillies' scouts has signed up Shortstop Bancroft, of the champion Portland Northwestern League club, and he will report for work at the spring training next year.

According to all reports, this western player is a great shortstop and the scout was forced to put up a stiff sum of money and several players to get this wonder. Bancroft has been trailed for some time by American, National and Federal League scouts, but the Quaker scout beat them all out for his services.

The local player has already signed his 1915 contract, however, and will probably be retained next year even though this new man is heralded as such a wonder. Jack played great ball for the Philadelphia team last year and Manager Dooin would not let him go, but that man has no more charge of the team now as Pat Moran has succeeded him.

HOPE FIVE OPENS SEASON TOMORROW

Acme Five, of Newark, Will Be the First Attraction of the Year.

The Hope Chapel basketball team will start the season tomorrow night, when the Acme five, of Newark, will appear on the Fourth street court. This team has played two games already this season and won both of them, and has a slight advantage over the local five who have not played yet. The Newark five consists of a combination of star players from in and about that city and will make the Hope players show their regular form tomorrow night.

The last practice of the Hope team was held last Tuesday night, when a good number reported to Coach Martin and it is probable the only two or three of last year's regulars will start the season. The team is somewhat weaker than last year.

The probable lineup of the two teams will be as follows:

Hope Chapel.		Acme Five.
Wells	forward	Boston
Heron	forward	Miller
Schout	center	Vanderbeek
Warlop	guard	Coughlin
Thorn	guard	Brandon

THINK VON KREBS IS IN NEW YORK

Search Being Made in Harlem For Man Who Killed Woman on Farm.

SISTER FLEES IN FEAR

Detectives Searched His Former Haunts in Metropolis, As Relatives Get Out of His Way—His Past Record.

New York, Nov. 6.—Richard Von Krebs, the insane man who shot and killed Mrs. Henry Riehle and seriously wounded her husband on Wednesday, at their home, just outside of New Brunswick, is thought to be in this city by detectives who are making a search for him. This belief is shared by relatives of Von Krebs, two of whom at least have fled from their home in Harlem in fear that he would go there and injure them.

Detective Peltier, of New Brunswick, and local detectives are making a search of Harlem, visiting the cafes and saloons where Von Krebs was known chiefly for his fiery temper and half insane threats against those who chanced to arouse in him the feeling that he was being persecuted.

It is known that he was here on Tuesday morning, when he visited the home of his sister, Mrs. Edna Mahan, at 222 St. Nicholas avenue, near 121st street. She died about 10 o'clock on that morning, while Von Krebs was in the flat or just before he arrived. There is nothing to show that he had anything to do with her death, if he was there, for she was 73 years old and had been ill for some time.

Tenants in the same house who have dreaded Van Krebs' visits because of his wild outbursts of rage recalled yesterday that he went there on Tuesday in one of his most violent moods and stormed about his sister's flat, shouting threats against some one. He left after two hours, and a few hours later his sister's body was sent to an undertaken.

Last night Mrs. Mahan's daughter refused to open the door when reporters knocked. About 9 o'clock she left the flat, acompanied by her daughter, and hurried away. She carried a bag and apparently intended to remain away over night at least. One man in the house announced his intention of sitting up all night, because his mother was afraid that von Krebs will return.

That part of Middlesex county, in which von Krebs is known for his promiscuous threats against local officials, judges, lawyers and other persons against whom he has fancied grievances, is in arms. Posses of farmers are searching for him, and there will be little security felt until he is arrested. He is regarded as one of the most dangerous criminals known in that section. The county authorities are blamed for not putting von Krebs in the State Asylum, from which he escaped after a short incarceration.

Riehle, who is in St. Peter's Hospital with wounds in his side and stomach, may recover unless complications set in.

Those few who knew anything about von Krebs' early life say that it was a most interesting one. He was one of the members of Stanley's expedition into Africa to find Livingstone, and had served in the German army.

He lived for a time with his wife and two children on the New Jersey farm. After he began to show signs of insanity some years ago, he was sent to the State Asylum, from which he escaped. He went to New York, but after a time began to make visits to New Brunswick and the farm at Dean's station, near by, and to the astonishment of many who knew him, was never sent back to the asylum.

He brought a suit for divorce, charging that his wife was in a conspiracy to send him to the asylum. About a year ago Mrs. von Krebs left the farm on which she had lived during her husband's absence, and rented it to Riehle. Von Krebs claimed the property, but his wife's claim was upheld by the courts, and he began to harass the Riehles, who objected to Von Krebs' annoyances, and decided to move. On the morning of the attack, two Riehle children were in the new home, and Riehle was preparing to move the remainder of his belongings.

Riehle says that he does not remember what led to the shooting, but that Von Krebs shot his first, and then shot Mrs. Riehle when she ran out to see what was the matter. Four bullets entered her body. She died within a few minutes. Von Krebs made off in the direction of Bound Brook and had a start of an hour and a half when the police began the search for him.

"WORLD'S LAST GREAT WAR NOW WAGING"?

"The Coming Reign of Peace" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Coward's Hall, Park avenue, by R. Grant Jolly, of New York city. A cordial invitation is extended toall. Admission free.

Mr. Jolly is a close student of sociology and history. He claims that history is repeating itself, that European civilization is bound to fall, and that a new era will soon arrive in which "the nations shall learn war no more." He is said to bring forth many Scriptures bearing on the present day situation which are creating considerable comment. Those desiring to hear him will secure good seats by coming early.

KRONPRINZESSIN CECILE ON THE WAY TO BOSTON

Bar Harbor, Me., Nov. 6—Convoyed by the United States torpedo boat destroyers Terry and Lamson, the North German Lloyd Line steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the "gold ship" which has been interned in this harbor for the last three months left for Boston at 5 o'clock this morning.

John S. P. H. Wilson, United States marshal for Maine, and Charles F. Morse, chief deputy United States marshal for the Massachusetts district, were on board. Wilson had the vessel in custody until she left Maine waters and Morse will assume charge when she enters the Massachusetts jurisdiction.

The Cecilie will be held in Boston pending the settlement of civil suits against the owners in the Federal courts for her failure to deliver $10,000,000 in gold to British and French bankers shortly after the outbreak of the war. She is due in Boston late today and was ordered there to escape the ice and storms in Bar Harbor.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE BEING CAREFULLY WATCHED

Washington, Nov. 6.—Federal quarantine against the foot and mouth disease in cattle today was extended to take in the State of Iowa. Experts of the Department of Agriculture also have been hurried to Mississippi to investigate conditions there, although no quarantine order against that state has yet been issued. This was the substance of a statement by Secretary Houston. There was a hopeful side to the situation, however, for reports that reached the department announced that conditions in Indiana and Michigan now were greatly improved and the epidemic in those two States was believed to be under control.

Denver, Nov. 6.—Governor Ammons issued a proclamation today imposing a quarantine against all live stock shipped from points east of the Missouri river, including stock yards on that river.

STREETS OF CHRISTIANIA.

The Most Tastefully Designed of Any Capital In Europe.

Christiania is probably the most tastefully laid out capital of any state in Europe, Paris itself not excepted. It owes its foundation entirely to King Christian IV. of Denmark, from whom it takes its name, who in or about the year 1623 decided to erect for himself a new capital on the opposite side of the river to Oslo.

The whole of the main streets of the city run at right angles and are extremely wide. Indeed, it would hardly be an exaggeration to call them squares rather than streets. For the most part the architecture is rather heavy in design, but the clear air that comes from the fiords tends to give the whole place a tone of lightness that it would otherwise lack.

The river Aker contains a wonderful series of waterfalls in the upper courses some little distance from the city, where practically the whole of the necessary power for the ever growing manufacturing quarter of the Norwegian capital is generated. This quarter is rather rigorously restricted to the suburb of Sagene, on the north side of the city, since town planning is something more than a mere name in Norway.

The royal palace, which was built by Christian IV., is a handsome building of rather unattractive architecture.—Manchester Guardian.

PREDICTS THE TIDES.

One of Uncle Sam's Machines That Does Wonderful Work.

A machine known as the United States tide predicting machine No. 2 and which is in daily operation in the United States geodetic survey at Washington, makes mathematical calculations which would otherwise require 100 persons to do.

Its work is nothing less than the predicting of the times and heights of high and low tides a year in advance. Its mechanism is of brass and steel, its house a huge mahogany and glass case and its tender one observer, who turns a crank and copies off on paper the reading of several dials and later removes from the machine a roll of paper on which is plotted the tidal curve for the particular spot along the coast the tides of which have been predicted.

Every year the United States issues a book of tide tables, primarily for the use of its navy and, secondly, for the use of all who go down to the sea in ships. This book of tide tables gives the time to the minute and the height of the nearest tenth of a foot of every high and low tide during the year for seventy of the world seaports, and by means of an auxiliary table the same information for 3,000 other places.—Scientific American.

WEEK IS LIMIT OF MAN'S LIFE IN ARMIES OF WARRING EUROPE

Average Duration on March and Battlefield Is Only Seven Days.

Incidents From Varied Sources Throw Side Lights on Scenes of Strife.

A LIFE, whether it be that of man or beast, lasts less than a week on the fighting line in the European war, according to the estimates made by military experts abroad and high army officers in Washington in discussing and writing of the reign of death and destruction on the continent. This figure, varying slightly for the various nationalities engaged in the conflict, is a striking summing up of the manner in which living creatures are being hurled by the hour into the vortex of the greatest war in history.

So accurately have the averages of how long a man or a horse may live in the face of fighting and quick marching under fire been compiled that the following table can be given:

Life of a man—French, six days; English, seven days; Russian, nine days; German, five days; Belgian, six days; Servian, eight days.

Life of a horse—French, five days; English, four days; Russian, five days; German, three days; Belgian, four days; Servian, five days.

War Noisy, but Invisible.

A French officer who had been in the battle east of Amiens in France asserted that this is probably the noisiest war the world has ever known. It is also the most nearly invisible war. Many of the first line troops have fought in all the battles from Belgium to the Marne and back to the present position without actually seeing any Germans, save dead or wounded. The men have become so curious to see their enemies that lately, when the trenches are so close that the French soldiers can hear the Germans shouting orders, the French officers have had the greatest difficulty in forcing the men to keep their heads down.

The same officer credits the mitrailleuse with being Germany's deadliest weapon. Speaking of ordinary artillery, he relates how a few days ago a French infantryman was wading through the mud back to the trench and eating a pear. A shell burst near by, a piece of it striking the soldier's haversack and felling him. He was immediately on his feet again swearing furiously. "Les cochons (pigs)! They made me lose my pear."

Paris Uses "Shibboleth."

So many spies have been caught in France recently, says a Paris letter, that the possession of papers apparently in good order avails a man or woman nothing once an accusation has been made or suspicion aroused. It is asserted that no German tongue can ever pronounce certain French words without betraying itself. It is failure to pass tests of this kind which condemns the suspects.

A woman was challenged in a Paris street, seized and haled to the police station. She was well dressed and of the last type which ordinary home staying people would be likely to suspect of espionage—apparently a prosperous widow of about thirty, leading a little boy by the hand, but it was learned that it proved a clear case of espionage. She had evaded the war regulation of the local authorities that strangers must not remain more than twenty-four hours in any town in this part of France without reporting personally to the police by changing her lodgings every day for a week.

Briton Must Have His Bath.

"Today I stood in the lobby of a hotel in Havre when the water meter man approached the proprietress," says a war correspondent.

"'Madam,' he said, 'it is strange that your water meter record is extraordinarily high this month. You must have English soldiers here.'

"I pursued the inquiry myself and found that it was indeed true that the extra use of water in the hotel was caused by English officers bathing so frequently. The proprietress is threatening to raise the price of her rooms.

Poacher "Keeps His Hand In."

Not long ago a couple of French territorials bivouacking in the shelter of a clump of trees set about preparing the evening meal. One, whose ruddy complexion testified to his open air life, became communicative and frankly avowed he was by profession chiefly a poacher. The other lent a sympathetic ear to the poacher's musings and mentally congratulated himself upon having so resourceful a companion.

Forthwith the poacher produced from a bag a hare which he had laid hold of that morning—"to keep his hand in," he said. As he skinned the animal and dressed and prepared it for the fire he observed that his companion did not seem to manifest much interest in the proceedings.

"Look here," said he as he sat down the tasty dish. "Aren't you pleased?"

"Oh, yes," replied his comrade with the keenest relish, but he did not dare to tell his companion that he was a public prosecutor. Eating poached hare in company was an obviously unexpected experience. In other circumstances it would have been his duty to invoke and vindicate the law.

Zeppelins to Carry Torpedoes.

For the past few weeks many Zeppelins have been practicing at a great height over Lake Constance, firing torpedoes at targets on rafts in the lake below. The results of this practice are such that the Germans are said to have decided to supply the airships under construction with torpedo apparatus. These airships will be ready within a few months to co-operate in the North sea.

Soldier Had to Kill Girl "Sniper."

"I do not find that the German soldiers are savages," says the correspondent of the Chicago Daily News. "On the contrary, I have seen them searching the fields before Antwerp for Belgian wounded who had lain out all day and all night. I have seen them gathering up these victims of war and transporting them to hospitals with all tenderness and sympathy. It seemed to me that they dealt more tenderly with wounded Belgians than with their own wounded.

"I found only one German who had done an act that he deeply deplored. He was a young fellow who had been employed in a Berlin drapery shop. At Vise immediately after he had entered Belgium and before he had had an opportunity to kill any one in battle a beautiful girl rushed into the street and began to fire into the German ranks with an automatic pistol.

"An officer detached a squad to deal with the girl, ordering that she be killed. The Berlin man, followed by his comrades, chased the girl into a house, thrust his bayonet through her body and pinned her against a wall. 'God! How I shivered when I did it!' he said 'But I am a soldier, and I could do nothing but obey.'"

Rabbi Killed Holding Crucifix.

News has reached the Jewish World of London of the manner in which the chief rabbi of Lyons, France, was killed on the battlefield. He was in the midst of the fighting, attending Jewish soldiers, when called to the side of a dying trooper, who was a Roman Catholic.

The poor fellow begged the rabbi, who he probably imagined was a priest, to hold before his eyes the symbol of his faith and give him his blessing. It was while holding a crucifix before the soldier and whispering him words of comfort that the rabbi fell, the victim of a shot from the enemy.

Two Die In Sword Duel.

A London correspondent, who telegraphs from near La Bassee, says that after the fighting at Vielle-Chapelle a German cavalryman and a French mounted rifleman lost their horses. They continued personal combat, finally reaching a cottage, where they fought a duel with swords in the kitchen. Both were mortally wounded. They were buried side by side in the cemetery of the village church.

The correspondent says the fighting all through the north of France has been violent and in many places under most difficult conditions for cavalry, which composed a great part of both forces. The district west of Lille is cut up by rivers, canals and deep depressions. Farms are divided by hedges and rows of trees. Nevertheless the allied cavalry fought successfully at Estaires, Fleurbaix, Laventie, Vielle-Chapelle, La Couture and Richebourg.

Victoria Cross For Three Gunners.

The British gunners of L battery of the Royal Horse artillery earned for themselves recommendation for the Victoria cross by a magnificent stand they made against great odds. Battery L found itself isolated near Compiegne owing to failure to receive orders to retire and were opposed by a strong German force with ten field guns and two Maxims, which, on the lifting of the mist, were suddenly brought to bear on the unsuspecting and unprepared British battery 600 yards away.

The first volley killed nearly all of the horses of the British gun teams. This made retirement with the guns impossible, and with all speed the men of L battery unlimbered and commenced to reply to the German fire. Owing to their positions they were only able to bring three of their guns to bear on the enemy. With magnificent coolness and courage these three guns fired with such good effect that one by one the German guns were put out of action. The firing of the Germans was so effective, however, that in a very short time only one British gun remained to defend the position.

At last only three Britons, all noncommissioned officers, remained to serve the gun. Although all wounded, these three men, crouching behind the gun shield, kept up such a deadly fire that eventually all but one of the German guns was put out of action, and the duel went on until, as one survivor remarked, "We both had enough of it, and the Germans and the three British guns ceased fire at almost the same moment."

Crouching behind their gun the three heroes were found by a force of cavalry and infantry which shortly came to their rescue. The relieving force advanced to the German position and found that all who had survived the British fire had retired, leaving their guns.

VERDICT AGAINST P. S. C. EXCESSIVE

That's the Opinion of the Supreme Court in Decision Given Yesterday.

Trenton, Nov. 6—The Supreme Court has just handed down an opinion holding that the verdict of $2,000 recovered by James Tarpey, of Dunellen, Middlesex county, against the Public Service Railway Company, is excessive. The suit arose out of an alleged assault committed upon Tarpey by the conductor and motorman of a trolley car in an attempt to eject the plaintiff from the car. The alleged assault took place on December 22, 1912. Tarpey sued for $10,000.

The Supreme Court says if the plaintiff will consent to a reduction of the verdict to $1,200, the judgment may stand, otherwise it will be set aside.

The evidence in the case was that the trolley crew beat Tarpey with a switch iron, injuring him so that he became ill.

WHO WLIL GIVE FOURTH $100 FOR BELGIANS?

$300 of $1,000 Fund is Now Subscribed to Aid Widows and Children.

Three men have pledged $100 each, toward the $1,000 which it is hoped will be raised in $100 subscriptions from Plainfielders, for the relief of the fatherless, husbandless and homeless Belgian refugees. Every day the need becomes more crying. Here in America is great want, it is true, but it is nothing to be compared with the unfortunates in King Albert's little kingdom, whose every possession has been wiped out. In the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post an article by Irvin S. Cobb describes the complete way in which the Germans have destroyed everything in Belgium they encountered in their march through the stricken country. The New York Sun of this morning, pictured a group of Belgian refugees sleeping on a pile of straw in a stable the only place in which they could get shelter.

Plainfield women have worked hard to raise money for the cause. They have sent between $1,200 and $1,300 to the Belgian counsel in London, to be used for aiding the worthy and most pressing cases, and have sent two big boxes of clothing to Dr Henry VanDyke, American minister to the Netherlands, to be distributed among the needy of that country. Now the men are given a chance to contribute to the cause, and it has been suggested that the list be topped with ten contributions of $100 each. Three of these have been received, two as a result of appeals made in the Daily Press, and the third from the man who suggested the movement. Those who wish to contribute can notify the Daily Press, and when the entire amount has been pledged they will be advised where to send their checks.

More boxes of clothing will be sent away by the local committee about November 15. While second hand articles will be welcomed, they must be substantial, and ready to stand hard wear. The kind of articles that can be dug up in out of the way places, regardless of their fitness, are not wanted, as they cannot be made to serve the purpose. Children's clothes are especially needed. The contributions of clothing may be sent to Mrs. Frederick W. Wallace, on Hillside avenue.

OLDEST MEMBER OF SOCIETY CELEBRATES HER BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Agnes Head, of 666 Essex street, the oldest member of the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel, celebrated the seventy-eighth anniversary of her birthday with the women of the society, yesterday, at an all-day sewing meeting held in the chapel. She took an active part in the work of making dolls' dresses for the children of the primary department and tieing quilts.

Mrs. Head was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the society and during the afternoon a large birthday cake adorned with seventy-eight candles was cut and served with tea, at which time Mrs. Thomas Hendry, president, presented Mrs. Head with a bouquet of chrysanthemums on behalf of the society. The meeting came to a close with the well wishes of all for many happy returns of the day to Mrs. Head.

ALL IS READY FOR SUFFRAGE MEETING

Twenty-fourth Annual Convention of Jersey Association Opens Today.

After several weeks spent in careful preparation for the twenty-fourth annual convention of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association all is in readiness for the event, which will begin today in the Council chamber of the City Hall in Camden, and will continue until tomorrow afternoon.

The State association numbers seventy-four leagues and twenty-five suffrage committees in small towns, the latter working for league organization. All of these will send representatives to the convention, and it is expected that the enrolled membership of 20,000 will be represented by several hundred delegates. During the morning session and following the meeting of the executive board, reports will be given by the officers and the nominating committee.

The president, Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of Dunellen, and the first vice-president, Mrs. Mary K. Colvin, of East Orange; the treasurer, Mrs. Edward Olmsted, of Elizabeth, and the auditor, Mrs. Arthur Hunter, of Montclair, are candidates for re-election, and it is expected that they will be returned to office. Mrs. C. P. Titus, of East Orange, and Mrs. C. P. Eaton, of Jersey City, corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively, have announced that they are not candidates for re-election. Delegates to the national convention in Tennessee will also be elected at the convention.

Mrs. Philip McKim Garrison, chairman of the joint legislative committee of the New Jersey Suffrage Organizations, will speak on the legislative work at the afternoon session, at which time the report of the president will be given. League presidents and suffrage committee chairmen will give reports of their work in two-minute papers, and Mrs. Clara S. Laddey, of Arlington, the honorary president of the association, will bring a report of the last national convention.

At a mass meeting to be held tonight in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A., the speakers will include Miss Fola LaFollette and Charles H. Ellis, Mayor of Camden.

Other speakers that will be heard during the convention are Miss Cornelia F. Bradford, head worker of Whittier House, Jersey City, who will speak on "The Value of the Vote in Social Service Work;" Miss Helen Hoy Greeley, of New York, whose subject will be "The New York Plan of Campaign for 1915;" Miss Maud Gorham Basset, of Swarthmore College, and vice-president of the Pennsylvania association; Miss Ada D. Fuller, of Jersey City, whose subject will be "Co-operation with the Press;" Champlin L. Riley, of this city, president of the New Jersey Men's League for Equal Suffrage, who will tell "What New Jersey Men Will Do to Win the Vote for Women." Mrs. Feickert will address the convention on "Carrying New Jersey for Suffrage in 1915" before the close of tomorrow afternoon's session.

CONGRESS READY FOR FREE SEED DISTRIBUTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—All is ready for starting the annual distribution of free seeds which members of Congress send to their constituents to the number of 75,000,000 packages a year. While the actual work of sending out the seeds does not start until next month, active preparations for the work are well under way, and big warehouses are loaded awaiting the packing.

In the work of sending out the seeds this year, a battery of 24 of the fastest packing machines will be in almost constant use for three months. Every machine has an output of 20,000 to 35,000 packages in each eight hours.

During the busy season 180 people are employed in the work of filling the envelopes, handling the seed shipments, pasting on the addressed slips, etc. Uncle Sam spends some $260,000 this year for free seed distribution. In addition to this, the Department of Agriculture makes its own distribution of rare seeds.

Although many attempts have been made to abolish the seed distribution, none has succeeded. Each year either the Senate or the House usually votes to knock out the free seed appropriation, but when the agricultural appropriation bill goes to conference the conferees restore the item.

SUITS AGAINST S. S. CECILIE.

Boston, Nov. 6.—Today is the time appointed by Judge Morton in the U. S. District Court for the answer of the owners of the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, to two libels filed against the liner. The Guarantee Trust Co., of New York, sues for $1,040,467.43 for alleged failure to deliver 95 kegs of gold bullion, valued at some five millions, at Plymouth, England. Charles W. Rantoul, of this city, asks $5,000 damages. He was a passenger on the ship when she turned back when about 900 miles from Plymouth, fearing capture by British warships.

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleansing, Healing Balm Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges—Dull Headache Goes.

The Ely's Cream Balm Way:

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open, you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" from any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat. Clears the air passages, stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lie awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv

A very successful and delightful musical social was given in the Wilson chapel, Wednesday evening, by the Pleasant Word Workers. A pleasing program was arranged for and included solos by Miss Elsie Schmidt and Douglas W. Demler, instrumental music by Messrs. Charles E. Spicer and Alfred E. Korff, monologues by Miss Theresa E. Schmidt and an address by George W. Wilmot. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing musical games and group choruses, after which refreshments were served by the committee. Wyckoff and Nora M. Kuntz; reception, Misses Helen Schmidt, Marie Jensen and Frances Newman.

The first run of the Watchung Chemical Engine Company auto apparatus was made yesterday afternoon, when a forest fire threatened Bonnie Burn Sanitorium. The fire was finally put under control after several hours of hard fighting. This was the second still alarm sent out this week. The other day, Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton's handsome home, "Sunbright Farms," was threatened by the fire fiend. The fire was caused by the maid accidentally throwing hot ashes into a wastepaper barrel in one of the rear rooms. When the fire was discovered it had almost totally destroyed the room and was steadily eating its way upward. The discovery and almost the entire credit of saving the handsome residence was given to Miss Aubrey Eaton, who aided the firemen heroically with the extinguishers.

Bound Brook.

The other evening, when Henry Swarwick was out on business, a well dressed man called at his residence. His young son informed the caller of his father's absence, and so the person made an excuse to enter. He prowled around the house until Policeman Gregory appeared, then on Union avenue a touring car stopped in front of the [illegible] residence, and the unknown caller rode away. People on Union avenue kept their eyes open when they saw this same person.

RAILROAD ISSUES LIST OF REAL ESTATE AGENTS

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has issued a list of real estate men in the suburbs which its lines reach. The road is endeavoring to co-operate with the communities along its lines in trying to keep the public in touch with the attractive opportunities for suburban homes. The folders can be procured by writing to W. C. Hope, the general passenger agent of the road, at the Liberty street offices in New York city. Thirty-one Plainfield real estate dealers are mentioned in the list.

TRIED TO BREAK INTO HOUSE TO GET BICYCLE

Charged with disorderly conduct on the premises at 215 West Second street, where he has been a boarder for the past two months, Stanley Coguscosky was fined $10 with the option of spending forty days in the county jail when arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning.

According to the mistress of the boarding-house where he lived, the young man owed $7.50 for board and she held a bicycle in default of the payment of this amount. Yesterday afternoon he attempted to break into the house to get the wheel and was arrested by Patrolman Nolan.

"HOUSE OF GOD FOR ALL PEOPLE ON EQUAL TERMS"

The Junior Department of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of Grace Episcopal church, has taken under its immediate care the interests of the Sunday afternoon service at 4:30 o'clock, and will endeavor to make the service popular. Three of these young men will be on duty each Sunday to welcome the worshippers, to provide seats, and to supply prayer and hymn books. They will endeavor in every way to make the service favorably known and appreciated throughout the community as the great popular service of the day. It is hoped the efforts of the brotherhood will succeed, for the rector and parishoners want to see Grace church useful to all.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, says: "We have a great deal to offer, and we want all the people of Plainfield to know that we are willing and anxious to offer it. We shall not rest until we compel people to understand that this is the House of God for all people on equal terms. People say they stay away because the pews are rented.

"Well, there are two services every Sunday when the seats are not rented, they are free. These two services are at 7:30 in the morning and at 4:30 in the afternoon, both beautiful services. It's 'up to you, dear friend. We can't make it any broader. If you have any objection to a pewed church, come at 7:30 a. m. or 4:30 p. m., and take any seat, or all the seats in the church—except in the sanctuary. We really need you."

LOOKING FOR WORK.

Five men hailing from Philadelphia were arrested here last night, by Central Railroad Detective John Hiney, charged with illegal train riding. Arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, they gave their names as Otto Stemer, Michael Codage, Harry Dunn, Charles Nelson and Carl Johnson. They said they were on their way to New York to look for work. All were given suspended sentences with the proviso that they quit town immediately.

STATE INSURANCE SUCCESS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6—"Dividends declared on Wisconsin State life insurance today, after being in force one year, show great savings to policyholders as compared with the cost to policyholders in any old line company." This summarizes the statement issued by Commissioner of Insurance Ekern. For the 311 policyholders have each saved in net payments over three dollars as compared with the next lowest participating companies.

DISORDERLIES LET GO.

Alleged to have made a general nuisance of themselves about the Central Railroad depot, Charles Lylia and Archibald Campbell, of Hoboken, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, and after being given reprimands, were allowed to proceed on their way home.

BOY TRAIN RIDER.

Thirteen-year-old John Tobin, of Philadelphia, was arrested on the tracks of the Central Railroad, last night, charged with illegal train riding. The boy was sent home this morning provided with a ticket furnished him by the local poor authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Olsson, recently of Martinsburg, W. Va., are visiting parents at 92 Somerset street, North Plainfield, for a few days.

John Wendell, manager for the Woodbrook Farms, is spending two weeks in the New England States, purchasing cattle for the farms in this city.

Household Hints

SOME APPLE RECIPES

Jellied Apples—Choose tart apples; peel, core and slice moderately thin. Place in good-sized crockery dish in alternate layers of granulated sugar and fruit. Put in medium oven, with close-fitting plate on top held down by a weight. They should remain in oven about three hours. When cool, turn carefully into a glass dish and put on the ice, when the slices will be found embedded in a clear jelly. With a meringue on top, either with or without boiled custard or cream as sauce, a delightful variation of this dish may be served.

Stuffed Baked Apples—Cut out core and boil apples until skin loosens; remove skins and roll in hot butter. Chop up raisins and fill apples with raisins and sugar; put in oven until brown, take out, sprinkle apples with cocoanut, set back in oven to brown cocoanut. Serve with milk or cream.

Apple Sauce Cake—One cup apple sauce, one teaspoon soda, one cup sugar, one cup seeded raisins, half cup lard beaten light, two cups flour (after being sifted) teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, one tablespoon vanilla. Cream butter, add sugar. Mix soda in apple sauce and add to lard and sugar. Mix and sift flour and spices (reserving a little flour to mix raisins), and add to first mixture. Add raisins last.

Apple Sauce Cake—One and one-half cups apple sauce; while hot add: one cup sugar, one-half cup shortening (half butter, half lard), one cup raisins, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon soda, flour to thicken rather stiff. Bake one hour in moderate oven.

Apple Sauce Cake—One and one-half cups apple sauce, two cups brown sugar, one-half cup butter, two and one-half cups flour, one-half nutmeg, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one cup raisins, one teaspoon soda. Cream butter and sugar, add raisins and spices to apple sauce, then add to butter and sugar, then flour, and last the soda dissolved in a little water.

THE TABLE

An Excellent Meat Loaf—To 30 cents' worth of ground beef and pork add one small onion chopped very fine, two slices tosted bread (which has been soaked about 20 minutes in milk) and season well with pepper and salt. Mix thoroughly, put in greased bread tin and bake slowly one hour.

Bread and Butter Crisps—For these a square loaf of fresh cream bread is necessary. Remove all the crust, butter one end of bread and cut off the thinnest possible slice; butter again and cut another slice, continuing until sufficient slices have been cut. Roll slices closely and fasten with wooden toothpick. Place on tin plate and brown in oven. Remove toothpicks before serving—hot or cold.

Orange Pie—One cup sugar, six tablespoons cornstarch, one tablespoon butter, yolks of two eggs (whites for the top, juice of one and two oranges and a little grated rind. Mix sugar and cornstarch, add boiling water and butter, cook few minutes, stirring constantly; then add beaten yolks and juice. Put this in a baked crust and cover with two whites of eggs beaten stiff with four tablespoons sugar and a little flavoring. Brown lightly in quick oven.

Cranberry Froth—One quart cranberries, one-half cup water; boil 10 minutes. Press through sieve and to each cup of pulp add one cup sugar and beaten whites of three eggs. Mix and beat well until stiff. Put in sherbet glasses and chill before serving.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

By far the smartest blouses are made in simple styles. This one depends upon the fine tucks and the contrasting materials for its effect.

The sleeves, which are distinctly novel, are extended to form the shoulder portions, and the tucks give pretty and becoming fullness.

TUCKED BLOUSE.

In the illustration chiffon is combined with silk poplin, which latter material is a favorite one for vestees, collars and cuffs, taking the place to a great extent of the pique that has been used with washable materials.

For the medium size will be needed three and five-eighth yards of material twenty-seven inches wide and seven-eighths yard twenty-seven inches wide for collar, vestee and cuffs.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 8420, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Daily Christmas Hint

For Collars, Cuffs and Handkerchiefs

This pretty bag is a departure from the ordinary laundry bag in that it is a thought more elaborate. However, it is made all of washable materials, so the elaborateness of it need not frighten milady who wishes to give a man a useful Christmas gift. It was developed of very coarse linen and lined with a wash silk in any desired shade.

the silk showing through the square of drawn work very prettily. Drawn work is very easy to do in the coarse butcher's linen and wears interminably.

But there is another laundry bag which would be very much easier to make. Take a good sized Turkish towel, fold over one end, embroider upon it the word "Laundry" in wash silks, make little loops of ribbon upon the upper end and hang it straight across the closet or bathroom door.

Some Cookery Suggestions

USING UP COLD POTATOES.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Stewed Pears. Cream Farina.
Rice and Egg With Bacon Curls
Browned Potatoes
Rolls and Toast
Coffee or Cocoa.

WHEN the housewife has cold potatoes she can concoct with them many dainty dishes for luncheon or tea.

A Trio of Useful Recipes.

Slice cold boiled potatoes an inch thick and brown on a wire gridiron. Season with salt, butter and pepper. Cut cold boiled potatoes small, put into saucepan with milk almost to cover; then when the milk has become hot stir and mash the potatoes with a large spoon until there are no lumps. Add salt or butter until it is as dry as you wish it. Stirring often makes it better.

Boil in water, just to cover them, seven potatoes; then slice, sprinkle with salt and fry them. Slice also half an onion and fry brown. When cooked sufficiently add a few drops of sugar, mix onion with potatoes and serve hot.

Combined With Cabbage.

Potatoes and Cabbage.—Cut fine a small head of new cabbage and fry a [illegible] cold boiled potatoes and heat them in one pint of [illegible] of white sauce. Put in a buttered baking dish cover with buttered crumbs and one-half cupful of grated mild cheese. Arrange potatoes and cheese in alternate layers before covering with crumbs. Bake until crumbs are brown.

The Ever Popular Salad.

Potato Salad.—Take one quart potatoes, two tablespoonfuls chopped onion one teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, one-half cupful vinegar, two tablespoonfuls diced bacon, one tablespoonful finely cut parsley and one cupful pickled beets. Boil and skin the potatoes. Put the bacon and onion in pan and fry until tender, but not dark. Add the vinegar, salt and pepper. Boil a minute and pour over the potatoes. Mix well and put in center of plate. The beets are chopped and put around the potatoes. The meat is put around the outside. Sprinkle all with parsley.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Why the Doggie Lost His Patience.

Don Walked Into the Bathroom, His Tail Wagging Triumphantly.

"DOGS are very sagacious animals," said daddy as the children ran to him for the evening story. "I heard a very amusing story the other day about Mr. Patmore's dog."

"Oh, they have the cutest baby!" exclaimed Evelyn.

"Yes, it's about the baby, too, this story. You see after the baby came Don, the dog, took a proprietary sort of interest in her and used to sit by the hour and watch her, and when she grew old enough to sit on the door and play they used to have great times playing together.

"But this particular baby hates the water, so Mr. Patmore says, hates it worse than anything you can possibly imagine. So when the daily bathing time comes around there is quite likely to be considerable of a spree.

"The baby yells at the top of her lusty lungs all through the bathing and drives poor Mrs. Patmore and the nurse almost distracted.

"One day Mrs. Patmore noticed that when the baby howled Don always scuttled into a corner or under a sofa or behind a door and moaned pitifully out of sheer sympathy.

"But after a month or so of this anguish Don must have set his doggie wits to work to devise a scheme to stop it.

"The baby is bathed in a little tin bathtub which is quite low, and what should happen one day when the baby was screaming herself black and blue?

"Why, the doggie Don walked into the bathroom, his tail waving triumphantly and carrying in his mouth baby's rattle as if to say, 'There; I guess I can quell this disturbance!'

"Don stood over the bathtub and shook his head vigorously, making the rattle jingle merrily. The baby stopped crying and looked at Don and the rattle, smiled and cooed as serene as you please and held out her little wet, soapy hands for the rattle.

"But when she got it in her hands she began to yell again louder than ever, and Mr. Patmore says that Don's face, his whole form, were the most wonderful picture of disgust.

"He slunk away out of the bathroom, his tail between his legs, and now Mr. Patmore says that when Don sees preparations made for baby's bath he makes his escape and very often does not return to the house for an hour or more."

The children laughed as they scampered away to bed.

"Good night and pleasant dreams!" called daddy after them.

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"How thankful she must be that her husband carried such heavy insurance! She is one of those helpless little creatures that would be utterly unable to support herself and two small children," said Mrs. Durand as she put a fresh lump of coal on the grate fire.

"Yes, indeed; trouble like that is hard enough to bear without having to fight the wolf from the door. I only knew them slightly, but I understand they were very devoted," replied Mrs. Pollard as she measured and marked her button holes.

"They were very congenial. Both of them were easy-going, pleasure-loving people. They never saved a cent from his big salary. It showed great wisdom on his part, taking this insurance. He would never have saved except under compulsion," said Mrs. Durand.

"She will have to begin now, I am afraid. The income from $15,000 is very little to depend upon for a woman with her tastes and habits. Here comes Grace Marshall, her most intimate friend. Now we will know just how she is standing the blow," said Mrs. Pollard.

"Hello, girls!" said an energetic-looking woman, dropping onto a window seat in the sunny sitting room.

"I have just come from Marcia's and I am utterly unstrung."

"Does she seem unable to rally from the shock of his death?" asked Mrs. Durand.

"That was an awful blow, of course, but in addition she is paralyzed by the knowledge of her destitution. You know he left practically nothing," said Grace, wiping her eyes.

"He carried $15,000 life insurance! He told Harry so only a short time ago," said Mrs. Durand.

"That is what she was depending on, but this morning she learned from the company's agent that he had borrowed $10,000 of that. Think of it! She has only $5,000 and the furniture, and she is as helpless as one of her babies," and Grace Marshall gazed out of the window with a tragic look on her face.

"Did she know he had borrowed on the policy?" asked Mrs. Durand.

Grace shook her head. There was silence in the sunny room. They were trying to take in the significance of the revelation.

"You earn your own living, Grace; you should be able to help her with some suggestions," said Mrs. Pollard.

"That is what she says, but I knew I had myself to support and took a thorough course of preparation. I have no idea what a wholly unprepared, impractical woman can do to support herself and two children. I think every girl should have some preparation for supporting herself as part of her education. She should have something to fall back on in case of need.

"Just now the only thing I can think of is to rent rooms. That would pay her rent if she could keep them full, and the interest on the $5,000 would feed the three of them. I advised her to join the Y. W. C. A. dress making class and she may do that if she can find a way to leave the children. They complicate the situation," said Grace, rising.

"Well, I must go. Put your thinking caps on and try to help poor Marcia solve her problem. She has no relatives to help her out."

AMERICAN LEAGUE MAGNATES ARE MEETING IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—Business of the utmost importance to organized baseball was taken up today, when the magnates of the American League opened their annual meeting. President Johnson is keeping his plans and secrets closely guarded, and the meeting is entirely behind closed doors.

It is believed by those closest in touch with the situation that the main subject of discussion is the attitude to be maintained by the league toward the minor leagues, who are threatening disruption as a result of bad business during the past summer.

When the minors hold their meeting in Omaha next Monday, President Johnson will probably be present and may attempt to assuage the war-like conditions that are reported to exist there. The problem of the minors is a serious one, for several leagues have threatened to break from the regular combination and throw in their lot with the federals.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back ache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

SIX FEET PARTED INTRENCHED FOES

Belgian Soldiers Could Hear Germans Whispering.

FIRED THROUGH THE MUD.

Volunteer Who Took Officers' Place When All His Superiors Were Killed Tells Story of Endurance and Valor on Banks of the Yser—Twenty-two Days' Continuous Fighting.

Writing from an unnamed place in Belgium, a correspondent of the London Daily News quotes a young volunteer member of a Belgian regiment which had been fighting, marching and drilling continuously for twenty-two days as follows:

"The town was evacuated by the Germans, and we were sent in at nightfall. As soon as they saw our lights they began shelling us. We lost terribly. We were 600 who went in and must have left a third there.

"In the morning we moved down to re-enforce a network of trenches on our bank of the Yser. We got into the trenches. They were full of water. I was firing for six hours myself thigh deep in muddy water.

Could Not Show Head or Hand.

"The Germans got across the bridge. We could not show head or hand over our bank. German machine guns shot us from crevices in their raised bank across the river only a few yards away. I was hours and hours dragging our wounded out of the cross trenches. We lost our officers, but I got the men to listen to me.

"Some Germans shelled us with a cross fire. They got into the cross trenches. They fired down our lines from the side. We had to run back. I was too tired and sleepy to drag my feet. I think I must have fallen asleep.

"We had an order to advance again. The French were behind us on either wing in support. I was too tired to get up. Some one kicked me. I looked up. They were three of my friends, volunteers like myself.

"I found myself running forward again. I called to men lying and running near and held my revolver at them. We were all charging with bayonets back at the Germans shooting us from our own trenches under the raised bank. They did not wait for us. They looked like frightened gray beetles as they scrambled up away over our bank and down into the river. It was dusk, but we shot at them over the bank. The water seemed full of them. We crouched in a big trench.

Heard the Enemy Whispering.

"There were perhaps 200 left of our 600. I think there was one officer further along, but it was quite dark. Some of the men talked very low. Then I heard voices whispering and talking near us on the river side of our bank. It was of earth perhaps five feet high and six feet thick. On the other side the slope fell steeply to the river.

"I sent a hush along the line. We listened quite silent. I thought I heard German words, an order passed along on the other side. I crawled up on to the bank, not showing my head, you know. It was really about 300 Germans who had stayed there on our side under the bank, fearing to cross the river under our fire. So we stayed all through the night. We did not sleep, nor did they.

"There was just six feet of piled wet earth between us. We only whispered and could hear them muttering and the sound of their belts creaking and of water bottles being opened.

"There was a thick gray mist hanging low in the morning. I crawled on to the bank again, holding my revolver outstretched. A gray figure stood up in the mist below close to me. He looked like a British soldier in khaki. He said, 'It's all right; we are English,' and I said, 'But your accent isn't,' and I shot him through with my revolver. Some of our men crept to the bank, but they shot them, and some of theirs climbed over, but we fired at their heads or arms as they showed only a few feet away, and they fell backward or on to us or lay hanging on the bank. Then we all waited.

Neither Side Dared Move.

"As it grew lighter they did not dare move away, and none of us could get out alive over the bank to use the bayonet. A few men made holes in the looser earth, and so we fired at each other through the bank here and there.

"Somebody threw a cartridge case across close to me. On a paper inside was scrawled one word—'Surrender!' We did not know if they wanted to surrender themselves or wanted us to surrender. They were more numerous, but we were better placed, so we went on scrapping and crawling around to get a shot at them.

"Perhaps it was the French who got around at the ends. There was heavy firing. We heard quite close through the raised bank a few slipping down on the river edge and water splashing. Some of us pulled ourselves up on to the bank. I heard our men scrambling up on either side of me, but could not see them. I think I was too sleepy. I shouted to charge and then must have fallen over on my head, rolling down the bank."

3COOP, THE CUB REPORTER — The Boss Almost Closes a Good Deal (Not Hip Yet) — BY "HOP"

THE FORUM

November 5, 1914.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

Perhaps one of the greatest uplifting powers of human life is the organization of the Boy Scouts. After awhile, from the raw material, we gain the finished product. The timid, wild, young heart of the boy grows into a man's heart; for the scout has learned to think for himself, to put forth originality, and to know that he can be depended upon.

The boy joins a scout troop where he first learns to be a tenderfoot. He must serve in that capacity for a month, for he is only on probation. When the time of probation is up, he may, if he is capable, take examinations to a second class scout. Passing these examinations he becomes a scout and may then strive to become a first class scout and a merit scout.

There is enough in scoutcraft to keep a boy busy continually. Scoutcraft keeps him mentally awake and observant. He sees things that he had overlooked before and he finds joy in searching for something new. He learns how to keep well, how to help others, and how to do things. He learns to love nature, to be friendly, to be trustworthy, and to be courteous, to be loyal, kind, brave and reverent, and, best of all, he can do the right thing at the right time.

J. RA[illegible]OND MANLEY,
Assistant Scoutmaster, Troop 11.

EXPENSE RECORD OF JOINT SEWER

Filed by Secretary Charles M. Dolliver at Borough Council Meeting.

$18,331.34 PAID OUT

These Figures Were Compiled Following Commission's Meeting November 4—Other Business Transacted by Council Last Night.

Secretary Charles M. Dolliver, of the Joint Sewerage Commission, made a report at the November meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council, last night, showing that the total expenditure recorded at the meeting of the Commission held November 4, was $18,331.34. Of this Plainfield will have to pay sixty-eight per cent., or $12,465.31; North Plainfield is charged with twenty-five per cent., or $4,582.84, and Dunellen has seven per cent., or $1,283.19 charged up against it. The expenditures have been apportioned as follows: George Fuller, engineer, $5,250; advertising, $239; salary of William F. Arnold, treasurer of the Commission, $75; salary of Charles M. Dolliver, secretary of the Commission, $79.76; janitor's salary, $10; for purchase of right-of-way, $12,500; tax for 1911, $274.68.

The Council, last night, authorized an advance of $300 on the borough Board of Health account and ratified the certificates filed by Borough Engineer Harry VanEmburgh for the macadamizing of West End avenue, the work to cost $1,007.52. A communication was received from the Building Trades' Council requesting the Mayor to appoint a committee of co-operate with the local councilmanic representatives who are maintaining efforts to alleviate the stress among those men in the city and borough now out of employment. The proposition met with favorable consideration and after a short discussion Mayor Clark selected Councilmen Julius Stahl and U. G. Tingley to serve on the committee. They will meet with the local workers with a view to devising some means of assisting the unemployed.

Councilman Tingley offered resolutions to the Council suggesting that lights be placed on Watchung avenue on the north side of the bridge, on Sycamore avenue and on Belmont avenue. The three additional lights will be ordered by the borough clerk. William Pangborn, who was elected constable of the borough last Tuesday, filed his bond of $50. During the month the police department has received $71 in fines and nineteen arrests have been made. Councilman Milne reported that the sum of $1,685.22 had been spent for street repairs, etc., and said that the culvert laid out by Harry VanEmburgh and constructed by Alfred DeNise was entirely satisfactory and suggested that it be accepted.

The police department has cost the borough $475.05 for maintenance during October. A resolution was adopted authorizing the payment of interest on the firehouse bonds, the first amount of which comes due January 1, 1915, and the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids, the same to be opened at a special meeting of the Council, Nov. 24. A new steam heating plant has been installed in the fire headquarters on Somerset street and inclusive of this improvement the fire committe paid out $531.28 during October. Bills amounting to $3,988.58 were ordered paid.

The following building permits were turned over to the Council by Councilman Stahl: Fred Armstrong, garage at 37 Duer street; David T. Kenney, two frame houses on Grove street; Thomas Bonefede, two stores with overhead dwellings on Greenbrook road to be of brick or hollow tile construction.

An adjourned meeting of the Council will be held next Friday night.

BOROUGH JUNIORS WILL HOLD MINSTREL SHOW

The end men will include Vincent LaPorte, Daniel Denny, Robert Hebert and Warren Townley. President John Dawe apointed Miss Marjorie Burtis, Charles Roll, Vincent LaPorte and Harry Kirch a committee to purchase costumes and other articles. Miss Helen K. Ray will coach the show and Charles Roll will write a sketch.

ALL IN READINESS FOR THE MINSTRELS

Plainfield Schoolboys' Greatest Production Will Be Given Tonight.

Everything is in readiness for the ninth annual minstrel show of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association, to be held in the auditorium of the institution tonight. Sixty-five boys comprise the biggest chorus the school has ever had.

An excellent program has been arranged under the direction of Coach Sewall Ulrich and the final rehearsal last night went with a smoothness that indicates complete success for the big performance. Among the features will be a topical song portraying in a humorous manner various incidents of school life.

COMMITTEE TO ASSIST UNEMPLOYED WILL MEET

Those selected to serve on the committee working to devise some means of aiding the unemployed of the city and borough, will meet tomorrow night at the office of Mayor Percy H. Stewart. At that time the representatives of the North Plainfield Common Council, U. G. Tingley and Julius Stahl, appointed last night, will be present.

Several plans are now under consideration and it is possible that some definite course will be adopted at tomorrow night's meeting. A large number of names have been registered at the office of the employment bureau and the committee now faces the proposition of securing work for these individuals.

PROFESSIONAL HIKER PASSES THROUGH CITY

"Colonial Jack" a Good Customer for Some Shoe Dealer.

"Colonial Jack," a long distance walker, stopped in this city for a few moments this morning on one of his trips from nowhere to somewhere, as yet not named. "Jack" has already completed a number of feats which have been record breakers of a kind. He pushes a small wheel before him, the vehicle being literally covered with cards, press notices and posters. He arrived here this morning from South Jersey and expects to make Elizabeth this afternoon, where he claims to have an uncle, although no names were mentioned by the wanderer.

Among the trips which "Jack" credits to himself is a trip of 9,300 miles made around the border of the United States, starting from Portland, Me., along the northern border to Seattle, Washington, along the Pacific coast to Los Angeles, Cal., through the southern states to Jacksonville, Fla., and along the Atlantic coast back to Portland. This trip was made in 357 days, or 43 days ahead of schedule time, an average of 25 miles a day.

During the trip "Jack" wore out eleven pairs of shoes, five wheels to the barrow, and three extra tires. The barrow of pamphlets and books weigh from 60 to 100 pounds.

FRIENDS MEET IN HALF YEARLY SESSION

Henry M. Haviland Gives Interesting Talk on "What is Life For?"

The Shrewsbury and Plainfield Half-Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends convened at the Watchung avenue meeting-house at 10:30 o'clock this morning. A number of visitors were present from out of town, including Miss Mary Willetts and Mrs. Phebe C. Wright, of Sea Girt; Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Borden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trafford, Walter C. Reynolds and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Haviland, Mrs. L. Kimball and daughter, Mrs. Underhill and Mrs. Fred Carver, of Newark; Daniel Willets, Robert Barnes and Miss Barnes, Mrs. Webb, Mr. Webb, Lewis Palmer, of Concordville, Pa.; Mrs. Anna Rice Powell, formerly of this city; Mrs. Clara Benson and the Misses Katherine Pearsall and Anna Curtis, of New York.

Henry M. Haviland, who spoke at the morning session, said in part: "What is life for? What is worth while? Some care for power, some for acquisition of wealth, some for the things of the mind. How shall we tell which are right? The test might be this, the things that last longest, the things of the spirit, the immaterial things are most worth while."

Daniel Willets spoke of the beauty and simplicity of the life of John Burroughs, Lewis Palmer and Robert Barnes and gave messages. Miss Margaret F. Vail and Miss Frances Reynolds were re-appointed clerks of the business meeting for the ensuing year.

The committee in charge of the luncheon consisted of Mrs. Arthur Stryker, chairman; Mrs. Frank Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Vail, Miss Carolyn Borton and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vail. A paper on "Essentials and Non-Essentials of Quakerism" will be the subject of a talk this afternoon, and this evening's session will be largely social in charge of the Young Friends' Association.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA TO PLAY AT GUILD MEETING

The Plainfield Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild will hold its monthly business meeting at the Friends' Meeting-house, Tuesday evening. A pleasing program has been arranged for the occasion. The High School orchestra under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Evans, will have charge of the music.

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, pastor of the Monroe Avenue Methodist church, will address the gathering. The public is invited to attend. The guild will receive contributions of fruits and delicacies at the W. C. T. U. rooms Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning at the usual hours.

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue tf

CHARMING RECITAL ENJOYED BY MANY

Randall Trumpe and Oscar Wasserberger Are Heard in Delightful Program.

With a fine neutrality essential in art, Randall Trumpe sang German, French and English songs with equal enthusiasm at the Hartridge Auditorium, last night. He was assisted by Oscar Wasserberger, a lad of fifteen years, who delighted his audience with an amazingly precocious virtuosity. Both singer and violinist were accompanied by Miss Catherine Maurice Moore, whose technique and sympathy were flawless.

The auditorium resembled a large drawing-room for this musical evening. Tables bearing large bunches of chrysanthemums were interspersed among the chairs and the guests, many of them coming from dinner parties in large groups, crowded the hall. Plainfield was never better represented.

The program was very popular with this gathering of music lovers. From the opening song by Schumann to the final encore, Allitsen's tender "Since We Parted," Mr. Trumpe displayed an trtist's appreciation of the lovely songs he sang. His high notes were given without effort and a natural simplicity of style marked all his work. There was no straining after great volume of sound, so often found among young

KING'S DAUGHTERS CHARMING AFFAIR

Literary and Musical Entertainment Pleases Many Auditors at Day Nursery.

Under the auspices of Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, a delightful musical and literary entertainment was given at The Day Nursery, on West Front street, last night. The affair was well attended and was followed by a sale of home-made candies, and the serving of refreshments.

The program was of an informal nature but none-the-less appreciated by the audience. It was arranged by Mrs. John C. Evans and comprised the following contributions: Readings and recitations, John C. Evans; vocal selections, Mrs. Grace Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Caroline Schuyler; recitations, Mrs. Kane, of Somerville, and Mrs. Charles Steiner; violin selections, Prof. Theodore Gottschalk; vocal solo by Mrs. Robinson, with violin obligato by James Tanham. An especially pleasing number was given by little Miss Alice Spangenberg; whose recitation, "The Wind," brought a hearty encore. All the numbers were liberally applauded.

The sale of candies was in charge of Miss Louella Stryker, assisted by Mrs. Vincent W. Nash, Jr., and Mrs. Alfred Spangerberg. The supply was soon exhausted, netting a substantial profit. The refreshments were in charge of a committee composed of Miss Carrie Dunham, chairman; Mrs. A. N. Lagren, Mrs. Dan. VanWinkle, Mrs. Harry C. Runyon and Mrs. Gross.

The president of the circle, Mrs. Clarence S. Tapscott, was in general charge of the affair. A silver offering was received and the proceeds will be added to the circle's general fund.

PLAINFIELD BOYS PLEAD GUILTY IN COUNTY COURT

Benjamin and Arthur Kane and Jacob Overland, Plainfield boys, were arraigned before James C. Connolly in Elizabeth this morning charged with breaking and entering. The trio entered a plea of guilty to the charge of stealing $71 worth of clothing from the store of J. Laurie and Company, of West Front street, and were remanded for sentence next Friday. The fact that the boys admitted their culpability will probably result in the showing of leniency by the court when sentence is passed.

CLAIM CONTRACTS GO OUT OF CITY

Anonymous Communication Stirs Building Trades Council.

Announcement was made at the session of the Building Trades' Council, last evening, that someone in this city, with a sense of humor, had written a letter to the local Business Men's Association condemning the members of the latter organization for awarding their contracts for construction work to out-of-town people an mechanics, signing themselves "Workingmen's Committee." The writer of the letter, who did not sign his name, took it upon himself to state that ninety-five per cent. of the contracts let by local merchants went to outsiders, in spite of the fact that the organization was preaching "patronize home industries." The writer went so far as to threaten that as long as this condition existed, local mechanics would not shop at the local stores. The writer was scored from the floor of the meeting by several of the members present, as the council had been working with the Merchants' organization for several months past in bringing about a better state of affairs along this line, and feel that there is little room for complaints at this time.

The question of the construction of a pedestrian and vehicle bridge over Newark Bay from Elizabethport to Bayonne was discussed to some extent ,and it is probable that one or two members of the labor body will attend the session of the Board of Trade on November 17, when the question is to be discussed at length.

Business Agent William H. Lunger reported that conditions in the building world in this vicinity had improved somewhat during the course of the past two weeks, with a fair number of the building mechanics being kept busy.

A brief report was made concerning the report of the committee on the unemployed, and the details of the plans now under way to give employment to local men now out of work were described. Members of the council feel greatly encouraged over what is being accomplished along these lines.

HOME DEPARTMENT HOLDS SEMI-ANNUAL SOCIAL

The semi-annual social of the Home Department, of Trinity church, was held in the church parlors, yesterday afternoon, and was very largely attended as well as successful. It was known as a "dime" social and there was also a sale of home-made cakes. Mrs. Julius Williams, president of the department, was present and made an address of welcome.

The program consisted of an entertainment, which was followed by musical selections on the piano and violin. Claudia Bailey rendered a pleasing selection on the piano and Miss Norma Bailey played a piece on the violin. Miss Adele Freeman sang a fine solo and was accompanied by Miss Helen Woodruff at the piano. After the program was concluded a general social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

FUTILE HUNT FOR INSANE MURDERER

Perpetrater of Act Near New Brunswick Still Roaming at Large.

New York, Nov. 7.—Central office detectives last night, watched the undertaking establishment of Philip Zugner, at 163 East 116th street, in the hope of catching Richard Von Krebs, who is wanted in New Brunswick, on a charge of being concerned in the murder of Mrs. Henry Rheil. Von Krebs' sister, Mrs. Edna Brehm, died on Tuesday and was buried yesterday from Zugner's place. Shortly before the funeral a man called up the undertaker and asked:

"Where is my wife?"

He refused to give his name, but Zugner was of the opinion that he was Von Krebs, and so notified the police.

Two detectives rode to the funeral in a closed carriage, and other detectives were placed on guard at Von Krebs' home.

Six police officers from New Brunswick yesterday obtained permission to make a search for Von Krebs in Harlem.

No trace of Von Krebs has been found either by the New Brunswick police.

LOCAL ENTHUSIAST GIVES HIS VIEWS

Anti-Noise Campaign Has Its Supporters Even in the Queen City.

William Newmiller, of the Walter Scott Printing Press Company has just returned from Havana, Cuba, where he has been for the last nine months installing a Scott press and stereotype machine in the La Politica Comica Company. He also supervised the moving of another press from one quarter of the city to another and rebuilt and put an extra color check on the old machine.

The Scott Unit Press he erected is capable of printing sixteen pages and can turn out 36,000 eight-page papers per hour, being the fastest running press in Cuba. He also installed a full new stereotype equipment for La Lucha. During the war the La Lucha and La Moche are running four editions and on Lottery Day, which occurs about every fortnight, both machines have to be run their full speed. There are so many newspapers in Cuba that the one getting the paper on the street first is the one to get the majority of the sales.

Mr. Newmiller has been repairing the El Mundo Color Press for the past four weeks. This machine was formerly in use in the New York Times. He was very well pleased with the conditions existing in Cuba and is seriously contemplating making his permanent home at that place.

SAYS HER NEIGHBORS THREATENED HER LIFE

Claiming that neighborhood gossip has assumed the form of scandal, Mrs. Frederick Plum, of Manning avenue, appeared as complainant in the borough court, yesterday afternoon, against Mrs. Lena Phillipson, Mrs. Hannah Cruickshank and Miss Olga Phillipson, neighbors. Justice of the Peace Thomas H. Snape spent one hour and a half taking evidence in the case and finally decided that there was no cause for action, dismissing the complaint.

According to Mrs. Plum, the three defendants called her vile names and hurled threats of bodily harm at her. The quarrel appeared to have arisen over a petty grievance and the complainant failed to prove her case.

TSING TAU CAPTURED

Confirmation of Its Capitulation Received at Washington Today—Little Change in North of France—Spaniard Offers to Aid England.

London, Nov. 7.—A despatch from Tokio, which is unofficial and without confirmation of any sort, says that the German cruisers Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, which took part in the naval battle against the English South Pacific squadron Sunday morning, off the coast of Chili, have been captured while coaling. The place where the alleged capture took place is not mentioned. It was presumably by the Japanese fleet.

After the defeat of the Germans in the vicinity of Dixmude, the Belgians buried dead soldiers estimated to the number of 37,000, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Belgium.

A despatch from Amsterdam says that word has been received there from Vienna that the Austro-Hungarian Consul General, and the Turkish diplomatic representative at Tabriz, Persia, have been taken prisoners by the Russians and transported to Tiflix. The Persian Government and the United States minister at Teheran, Charles W. Russell, have protested to Russia, according to the message, against this alleged infraction of international law.

A despatch from Constantinople says that according to an official announcement, one of the British warships bombarding the Dardanelles was struck by a shot from one of the forts and that an explosion on board resulted. A British steamship, it is also stated, has been sunk off Aivali, Asia Minor, after the crew and cargo had been put ashore.

Paris, Nov. 7.—Little or no change in the situation along the Yser is reported in the official statement issued at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the French War Office. It reads as follows:

"On our left wing the situation is relatively quiet on the Yser downstream from Dixmude. The Belgian troops who advanced along the right bank of the Yser from Nieuport in the direction of Lombaertzyde, and who had been counter attacked by the Germans were sustained in time. The situation has been entirely re-established in this locality. At Dixmude the Marine Fusiliers repulsed a fresh counter offensive movement.

"Further to the south the attacks of the enemy around Bixichmote also were repulsed by French troops, who subsequently advanced. In the east of Ypres the situation is without change. To the southeast of this town we have resumed the offensive in combination with the British troops operating in this region, and repulsed an attack, particularly violent and pronounced, by detachments belonging to the active army corps, recently brought into this region by the Germans.

"Between Armentierres and the La Bassee canal, the British army has repulsed a violent attack directed against Neuve Chappelle."

DUNELLEN

All the Happenings of the Day In Plainfield's Hustling Suburb.

JUSTICE VON MINDEN HAS BUSY DAY IN DUNELLEN

Judge Rene P. F. von Minden held a very busy session in the borough hall, yesterday morning, four cases being tried by him as follows:

Russ vs. Sheehan.

Mrs. Thomas Sheehan, of Grove street, was given a hearing on a complaint made by Mrs. Christopher Russ, who resides in the same apartment of the same house with Mrs. Sheehan, alleging that she used unseemly language in addressing her. The Russ and Sheehan families do not get along well together and this is not the first time that their troubles have been aired in court. The court, after listening to both sides of the case, termed the affair a "back yard scrap." In dismissing the case the court in very plain language told each party what they should do and should not do and as a "parting shot" warned them that if either should appear before him again that a trip to New Brunswick would be the result.

Mr. Pernell vs. Mrs. Pernell.

William Pernell, of Chestnut street, appeared before the court with a complaint that his wife would not attend to her household duties. He told the court that his wife would not cook, take care of the children and that she had visitors coming to the house and drinking all the time. Mrs. Pernell admitted that she was addicted to the use of liquor and was ashamed of herself. She blamed her husband for her present state, alleging that he had beaten her and closed her eyes times without number for which she had never had him arrested. The outcome of the case was that the complainant decided not to press the charge against his wife and asked the court for information as to what he could do under the circumstances. The reply of the court was, "Since you do not wish to press the charge and have your wife sent over to New Brunswick you can lock up the house, take care of the children and keep her out as long as she continues to drink.

C. R. R. vs. Lavell and Laverencki.

James Lavell, of Bayonne, and Walter Laverencki, of Philadelphia, were arraigned on a complaint made by Detective Martin Malley, of the Central Railroad, charging them with stealing a ride on a mixed coal and freight train of his company. Detective Malley made the arrest with the assistance of Marshal Tarpey at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The defendants pleaded guilty to the charge and were given the alternative of paying a fine of $20 a piece or being sent to New Brunswick for 60 days. They were unable to pay the fine and were taken over to New Brunswick last evening.

Central Railroad vs. Johnson.

A negro, Walter Johnson, alias "Iron Head Smith," who said he hailed from Plainfield, whom Detective Malley and Latourette, of the Central Railroad, have had under surveillance for the past few weeks, was arraigned on a charge of "breaking and entering," made by the two detectives. Johnson was arrested at midnight by Detective Malley while slumbering in the warmth of a roll of burning cables near the Greenbrook tanks of the Central Railroad. When searched some woolen underwear that had been stolen from a freight car near the tanks on Sunday morning was found about his person and he was taken to the borough hall and locked up. When asked by the court what he had to say for himself the prisoner admitted that the underwear he had in his possession was taken from the freight car that was broken into on Sunday night, but he said that he was not guilty. He claimed that he had fallen in with a gang that was going to rob the car and that he had been told to watch while the car was being rifled, for which he was later given the underwear. The prisoner was also accused by the detectives of having placed a railroad tie on tracks 4 and 2 at Lincoln, on Sunday morning, October 25, and of having had something to do with the stealing of a lamp on the night of October 16 from a switch located between Lincoln and Bound Brook, which was used to furnish light for the prying of a lock of a battery well from which thirty pieces of zinc were stolen. Upon the motion of the detectives, who were desirous of using the prisoner to assist them in locating the members of the gang who broke into the car, the court suspended sentence for twenty-four hours.

The detectives, Latourette and Hiney, who had relieved Malley, started out with the prisoner in the afternoon in quest for his confederates in an automobile. The quest was unsuccessful as concerns the apprehension of the confederates, but it was a very successful trp, nevertheless, as the detectives succeeded in inducing the prisoner to reveal his past history. The feat was accomplished by stopping at a restaurant on the road and satisfying his hunger with heaping plates of beans and steaming hot coffee. He admitted having placed the tie on the railroad track and said he did it to get the trackwalker a going. He also said that he was a party to the stealing of the signal lamp and the breaking into the battery well. Other deeds that he admitted as having participated in was the series of store robberies at Flemington three weeks ago and the breaking into of the office of the National Pure Foods Company, at Lincoln, about a month ago. He will be sentenced by Judge von Minden today.

READY FOR OPERATION.

VanBlaricorn & Company, the drapery manufacturing concern from Paterson, who are locating in the new M. A. Gallagher building at the corner of Washington and North avenues, are expected to commence operations next week. When interviewed yesterday, one of the members of the firm said that the remaining machinery from their dismantled Paterson plant was somewhere between that place and here and that they would be ready to open up about four days after this shipment arrives. They will commence operations with twenty-five or more hands secured from this section. As most of this help will be inexperienced on account of there being no drapery manufacturing center nearby. This batch will be thoroughly broken in before additional help is employed. The concern is hopeful that their business will grow to such an extent that they will be obliged to look for larger quarters in the borough within the next two years. In that case they made decide to erect a factory of their own here. Just at the present time, however, business in their line is very dull on account of draperies being in luxuries class. During normal times the firm has a fair export trade with South American countries, but the war has tightened money the world over and they are doing very little in the exporting line at the present time. The concern is hopeful that when the machinery of the new Federal Reserve system shall get in full operation and branches of our national banks are opened in South America, that they will be able to take advantage of the times and build up a large export trade with that country. When asked what he thought of the freight service rendered by the Erie, the railroad along which their plant was located, the member of the firm interviewed said: "There is one sure thing and that is if the transportation service of the Central is no better than that of the Erie, then we will not remain along its tracks long."

JOHN HUFF IMPROVED.

John Huff, of North avenue, has returned from Bayville, L. I., where he spent seven weeks with a brother-in-law, Fred Chesire. Mr. Huff, who went there largely to benefit his health, returns greatly improved.

CAKE SALE.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a cake sale in the quarters in the Ratti building on North avenue, which Vincenzo Tozze, the barber, will in the meantime vacate, on Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. The money received will be used for the purchase of chairs for the new Lincoln School. In addition to cakes, there will be a sale of home-made bread. Coffee and sandwiches will be served at small cost.

Mrs. George Huff, a former resident of this place, who has been visiting friends in the borough for the past two days, has returned to her home in Raritan.

The tickets for the Public Library entertainment to be given in the local theatre on Tuesday, November 17, are now on sale. Buy one and help a good cause along.

Mrs. M. J. Whitford, of New Market road, entertained her brother, Wilbur Drake, of Plainfield, yesterday.

MRS. FISHER RECOVERING.

Mrs. Jacob Fisher, of Washington avenue, who sustained serious injuries as the result of falling down the rear stairs of her residence a few weeks ago, is rapidly recovering from the effects of the accident. She is now able to come down stairs.

Mrs. J. G. Little entertained the members of the Evening Card Club at her residence on Washington avenue, last evening.

BANQUET IN HIS HONOR.

Judge Rene P. F. von Minden, who was recently elected to the office of State councilor of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, will be tendered a banquet in honor of the promotion, in Friendship Hall, New Market, on Tuesday evening. The banquet is being given by Judge von Minden's lodge, Friendship council. The members of the lodge, their wives and a few invited guests will be present. Harry S. Titsworth, William T. If the kidneys are at fault

Set them working aright with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is Plainfield proof of their merit.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and in the morning my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians, but their medicine didn't help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store, that I had any hope of getting rid of the trouble. They made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since."

TACT AND A PLUMBER.

Masterly Inactivity at a Banquet in High Society.

Not so very long ago there was a dinner given in exclusive Washington society at which the most tactful person was undoubtedly a plumber in overalls.

It was an elaborate dinner. The central feature of the table decorations was a playing fountain, but just before the dinner was to be served the fountain refused to play.

A plumber was hastily called. He crawled under the table and soon had the fountain sending a delicate spray into the air. He was busy tightening the couplings of the temporary pipes under the table when the head butler, his mind relieved of a load of care when he saw the fountain playing, announced in the drawing room:

"Dinner is served."

Before the plumber knew what was happening the guests had entered the dining room, chairs were drawn up, and he suddenly found himself hemmed in by a wall in which trousers alternated with skirts.

It was a big round table, so he was safe from discovery from any shifting foot. He scratched his head and wondered what he should do. He looked carefully around. Neither to the right nor to the left nor between any pair of feet was there sufficient space for him to wiggle through. The only way to get out would be to tap on some knee and—"Pardon me, please."

He didn't know much about the etiquette of formal dinner parties, but he had a hunch that that wouldn't make a hit. He decided that there was just one thing to do—stay where he was until the trousers and skirt wall departed. So there he sat while course after course was served, coffee sipped, cigarettes and cigars smoked, nothing to entertain him but a ground floor view of high society.

When the dinner was at last over and the guests had returned to the drawing room the plumber crawled forth.

The hostess had tarried for a moment to give a few directions to the head butler. She gasped with astonishment.

The plumber explained.

"Sir," said she, "you are a gentleman." Then to the head butler, "James, give this man $10 for himself." Then to the plumber, "And please say nothing."—New York Times.

SHOEMAKING IN AMERICA.

Massachusetts Now Turns Out Nearly Half the World's Product.

Thomas Beard, arriving by the Mayflower in 1629, was the first shoemaker to come from England to America. He settled at Salem, Mass.

More than $250,000,000 is now invested in American shoemaking and more than 200,000 wage earners are employed.

Before 1850 practically every shoemaking process was a hand process.

Lynn, Mass., with over 100 factories, is the leading shoe city of the world.

Of the world's boots and shoes more than 47 per cent are made in Massachusetts.

John Brooks Nichols of Lynn adapted the Howe sewing machine to sew the uppers of shoes in 1851, and this was the first important step in the application of machinery to shoemaking.

William F. Trowbridge at Feltonville, now a part of Marlborough, Mass., applied horsepower to the shoemaking machinery of 1855. Steam and water power came later.

The poet Whittier was a shoemaker in his youth. Henry Wilson, eighteenth vice president of the United States, was "the Natick cobbler" and was always proud of his shoemaking days.

Ebenezer Breed of Lynn is credited with securing by personal influence the first protective tariff on shoes. He was a merchant of Revolutionary times.

August Destouy, a New York mechanic, invented in 1862 the first curved needle to sew turn shoes.—From "A Primer of Boots and Shoes," Compiled by Daniel S. Knowlton.

The Myrtle Warbler.

The myrtle warbler breeds in the northern and eastern parts of the United States, but migrates through every woodland path and is so numerous that it is familiar to every observer. More than three-fourths of its food consists of insects, practically all of which are harmful. The bird is small, nimble and successfully attacks insects too minute to be prey for larger birds. These insects are its chief items of food.

Antiquity of the Grape.

The native country of the grapevine is the region around the Caspian sea extending through Armenia and as far west as the Crimea. The grape has been cultivated from the remotest antiquity, being mentioned in the Hebrew Scriptures and in all of the most ancient writings.

Not Much.

"Are you putting away something for a rainy day, Tommy?" asked the little boy's aunt as she saw him at his little savings bank.

"No, ma'am," was Tommy's reply. "There ain't no ball games on rainy days!"—Yonkers Statesman.

LOUIS S. ROGERS.

Louis S. Rogers, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rogers, of Berkeley Heights, died at the Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, following an operation. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, NOVEMBER 7 ,1914.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

When one seeks to discover the real causes for the present European war, they are directed to Bernardi, Treitschke, and Nietzsche. The Bosnian lad who slew the archduke merely threw the match into the powder magazine. If he had not done it somebody else would have, for certain men "desired" it.

"Twenty-five men in Europe brought on this war and they could have stopped it," said Dr. Lynch the other night in our city. They were men who lusted for power and empire. The remarkable thing about Bernardi's book is that the war is being conducted just as he prophesied it. He represents the teachings of both Neitzsche and Treitschke when he says: "War is a biological necessity, an indispensible regulator in the life of mankind—without war inferior or demoralized races would only too easily swamp the healthy and vital ones and a general decadence would be the consequence. War is one of the essential factors of morality."

In order that we may not be demoralized by the inferior races, we must enter the business of war and not "regard the massacres, the burnings, the battles and the marches." Bernardi is the disciple of Prussia's great national historian, Treitschke. The vision of Treitschke was that the greatness of his country was to be achieved through the spirit of Prussian militarism, and that the world was to be blessed in proportion as it was dominated by German culture and German character. The whole trend of his message was world-empire for his own people. Mr. Archer says of him, "he clothes war's wickedness in all sorts of fine phrases and would have us understand that for non-German peoples to be ruined by Germany is the first step to moral and intellectual regeneration." America comes in for his criticism, for he declares that "the civilization of mankind suffers every time a German is transformed into a Yankee."

Back of Treitschke is the mad philosopher, Neitzsche, the son of a minister, who was born in Rocken in 1844 and died in Zeimer in 1900. He preached the Gospel of Force as a great philosophy. His teaching was that of an antichrist. In fact he titles a part of one of his books, "The Antichrist," and with words of strong approval. Listen to his gospel: "Christianity is the greatest of conceivable corruptions, the one immortal blemish of inankind, the one great curse." He calls himself "the most essential opponent of Christianity." Why? Because Christianity is filled with a message of pity and sympathy for the unfortunate.

The comforting invitation "come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest," found no place in his teaching. It was rather "come unto me ye strong men and I will show you how to use your strength."

Neitzsche divided men into two classes, masters and slaves. The masters or superior men of the world should not be governed by conscience or a sense of duty. These are the deadly poisoned arrows of Christianity against superior races. For the superior men a thing is good according to whether at a given moment it is profitable or unprofitable to life. If immortality and cruelty and falsehood are favorable to the development of life and the success of superior men and morality, sympathy and truth prejudicial, then the law of life compels me to say YES to immorality.

Nietzsche saw in cruelty one of the noblest passions of the human soul for it is the passion which incites him to seek ever more and more knowledge. Ambition for power, for world empire, is most commendable because "passion for power is the earthquake which breaketh and unbreaketh all that is rotten and hollow."

Nietzsche did not believe in the great ideals of democracy. A government by the people, of the people, and for the people he would deny, for the people are slaves and should be subject to the masters. "Men are not equal. It is proper that there should be slaves for slavery is of the essence of culture." It is well enough for the slave to be governed by conscience.

Conscience is a sort of police agent for him. It will keep him subordinate to the Master. The ordinary man is simply a part of a machine, a working tool the master uses.

The tender emotion of sympathy had no place in Nietzsche's philosophy. This is made clear to us in what he says of the experiences of Zarathrustra, or the ideal superman, or master. Zarathrustra meets "in a vile place where nothing grows and only serpents are to be found, a repulsive and awful looking object." He calls him the most hideous of men. He is most hideous because he represents all the accumulated load of humanity's sufferings and misfortunes.

"A moment's hesitation as he looks, then he rises and passes on. His heart is steeled against all pity and he emerges stronger than ever from the ordeal."

What a contrast to the ideal man of the New Testament. He comes not with a message simply to the elite and strong, but with a word of comfort to the depressed, the poor, the sick, and the sinful. He says, "I have come to make you whole."

Take the philosophy of Nietzsche as a whole and we discover it to be the philosophy of the Antichrist.

He taught further that the masters or supermen of today are to be followed by greater men in the future and this is to be accomplished by breeding.

The name of Napoleon occurs very frequently in the writings of Nietzsche because in him there was the great illustration of force, for Nietzsche believed in war. "The future men will love war," he says, "for that will develop their courage and fearlessness."

In the first edition of Bernardi's, "Germany and the Next War" there was this motto of Nietzsche on the title page, "War and courage have won more great things than love to our neighbor." That is not a Christian sentiment. It is, however, the gospel of the militarist. Bernardi, Treitschke, Nietzsche, they are all one, and they are all Antichrists.

We compliment ourselves on the fact that we are a neutral people and therefore are perfectly safe and that the war may be of great advantage to our trade in South America, but California insists that we maintain a great army to keep out the Japanese, while she is doing all in her power by nagging legislation to bring on a great conflict with the yellow races.

Dr. Sidney Gulick has well said in his little book on Japan, "God is no respecter of persons. He has no pet race. Neither the white race as a whole, nor any special portion of it has any special claim on God's favors. Might is not right and only suffering love can redeem the world from its sin and error, from its turmoil and its wars."

After this war is over, Europe cannot go back to militarism. Nietzsche and Treitsche must be dethroned and Christ must be king and His will "must be done on earth as it is done in Heaven."

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The last word in motion photographic art comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, November 9 and 10. Gabriele d'Annunzio, who is unquestionably Italy's foremost dramatist, wrote and personally staged the photo spectacle "Cabiria." Experts in motion photography predict a new epoch with the introduction of this remarkable film which is a historical vision of the third century, B. C., immediately after the close of the first Punic war. It has never been equalled for real splendor and barbaric magnificence. Its cast is composed of the best known players of Rome and the ensembles, mobs and armies number over seven thousand people. d'Annunzio has taken as a basis of this story the strife between Carthage and the Romans, at the time Hannibal took command of the Carthaginian forces, and surprised his antagonists by crossing the Alps with his army. The romance of "Cabiria" is fictional, but the action and main facts historical. "Cabiria," the title part, is the principal character of the scenario. The name means "one rescued from the flames" and "Cabiria" an infant child, taken prisoner during the eruption of Mt. Aetna, is sold into slavery. The High Priest of the Temple of Moloch was the purchase and the infant is kept with others until the time arrives for her to be sacrificed to Moloch, whom the Carthaginians worshipped as the God of Fire. She is saved by a young Roman "Fulvius" and her experiences and sensational escape with the assistance of a veritable hercules, form the nucleus of the plot. Matinees will be given daily beginning with the opening, and a popular scale of prices will prevail during the special engagement.

BEST WAY TO PROTECT LAWNS

Application of Properly Rotted Manure in Late Fall Suggested.

METHOD OF TREATMENT

Should Not Be Used Until After Frosts Have Stopped the Growth of Grass—How to Treat Bare Spots.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7—To stimulate the growth of a lawn and to improve its appearance for the following spring, no better treatment can be recommended than the application of properly rotted manure in the late fall, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's specialist. This application should not be made until after the frosts have stopped the growth of the grass. Ten to twenty two-horse loads should be applied to the acre, according as the soil is more or less rich.

It is most important that the manure should be thoroughly rotted before application so that all weed seeds are killed; otherwise damage done by weeds will more than offset the fertilizing value of the application. Manure really needs careful handling before it is suited for spreading over the lawn. Unless it is properly "composted" it may have most of its valuable constituents destroyed by improper handling. To "compost" manure properly it should be treated as follows:

Pile all manure in heaps with alternate layers of sod or other litter. Keep it wet enough so it will not burn. Let it stand a whole year through summer and winter, forking it over two or three times during the year. It will then be ready for use on the lawns and danger from weed seeds will be minimized.

Ground bone meal and wood ashes—Many people object to the use of manure at all, not only because of the danger from weed seeds, but because of its unsightly and unsanitary appearance. These will undoubtedly prefer to use something else, and the most economical substitute is finely ground bone or bone meal. This should be applied at the rate of from 500 pounds to one ton per acre, according as the ground is more or less rich. It should cost between $25 and $30 a ton.

With the bone meal, it is desirable to use double the quantity of wood ashes. These ashes contain considerable lime in a very desirable form, as well as other valuable elements. However, they are apt to be more or less costly.

Ordinarily muriate of potash would be found more economical than wood ashes, although the potash does not contain the lime which the other fertilizer imparts to the soil. On account of the European war, the potash may prove more difficult to obtain than the wood ashes. Only one-tenth the quantity of potash should be used as of bone meal.

The potash may be sown separately or mixed with the bone meal as desired. The same is true of wood ashes is these are used instead of potash. All applications should be made before the ground freezes permanently for the winter as otherwise the fertilizer may be largely washed from the soil before it has a chance to become incorporated with it.

In regions where cottonseed meal may be obtained at a price not over $25 per ton, it may be used satisfactorily in the place of the ground bone. Tankage and fish schapa are even richer in imoprtant elements than ground bone, but are frequently in bar mechanical condition for handling (that is, they contain hair or other foreign coarse matter). Their bad odor also makes them objectionable.

Prepared sheep manure is an excellent dressing. As it has been sterilized by drying and rendered odorless, there are not the objections to it that there might be to ordinary manure. Its one drawback is expensiveness.

To protect worn places. If there are any parts of the lawn which will be tramped over when they are not frozen, and especially when snow is melting there, these parts should be protected to prevent persons from cutting across. Tramping on the turf when it is covered by slush or snow is as destructive to a lawn as almost anything else.

It is hardly necessary to say that nothing will be gained by scattering grass seed on the lawn at this season.

RECEIVES PENNANT.

Iona Council, No. 14, Daughters of Pocontas, was agreeably surprised at its session Thursday evening, when Mrs. Charles L. Holstein, keper of the records, presented the lodge with a silk pennant as a gift from the Great Council of the State for having secured the largest gain in percentage of membership during the course of the past year. The pennant was awarded the local fraternity at the recent State convention at Asbury Park, where Mrs. Agnes K. Clarke was the representative of Iona council.

LODGE NOTE.

Old Glory Council, Daughters of Liberty, will hold a social following its meeting this evening, at the Babcock building.

MURDERER SCHMIDT'S APPEAL MONDAY

Argument for New Trial of Priest Will Be Made in Supreme Court of N. Y.

New York, Nov. 7.—Argument on the motion to grant a new trial to Hans Schmidt, the Bavarian priest now in the death house for the murder of Anna Aumueller on the night of September 2, 1913, will be heard Monday in the criminal branch of the Superior Court. The defense will produce what is claimed to be new evidence as to the death of the girl, and the substance of this evidence has been furnished the district attorney's office by Attorney Koolble.

Schmidt, who had been exercising the functions of a Roman Catholic priest in New York for nearly three years, despite the fact that he was not registered in any diocese, confessed to Inspector Faurot, Coroner Geinberg and Deacon Murphy, deputy assistant attorney, on September 14, 1913, that he had cut the throat of Miss Aumueller, sawed the body into nine pieces and dropped the bundles containing them into the Hudson River from a ferryboat.

Schmidt, in confessing the crime, is alleged to have said: "I was commanded by my patron saint, St. Elizabeth of Hungary, to offer a sacrifice; like the sacrifie of Abraham, it must be one of blood. St. Elizabeth also told me that in order to consummate the sacrifice, I must drink some of the blood of the offering. So I killed Anna Aumueller, and after I had done so, drank some of the blood in order to consummate the sacrifice."

The murderded girl was a Hungarian, 20 years old, who had come to New York to better her condition. She was a servant, and while employed at the rectory of St Boniface church, met Schmidt, then the priest of the parish. The couple obtained a marriage license, and Schmidt in his confession said he had performed the marriage ceremony himself. The girl was established as his wife in a cheaply furnished flat, where she was slain and dismembered.

Schmidt told how he had gone to a second-hand store and bought a butcher knife and a small carpenter saw. These implements he had with him when he entered the little flat and found the girl asleep. He concealed the saw and knife before he turned on the gas, for fear his intended victim might awaken. When he found her fast asleep with her throat exposed, Schmidt crept to the bed, drew the knife across the throat of the sleeping girl, and, as he said, "she never knew what happened." He dragged her to the bathroom, where he set about the task of dismembering the body in the bathtub. He removed the head first, using the knife and saw. Then he severed the upper part of the trunk, then the arms and legs. He wrapped the parts in brown paper and tied them with wire.

The following morning, Schmidt confessed, he left the flat and completed the work of wrapping the bundles and washing the room, and proceeded to carry out his plan of disposing of them. He took the head to a ferryboat and while crossing threw it overboard. The other parts were disposed of in similar manner. Schmidt then went to his candidate the blood stains in the flat, and was successful in part. He took the mattress to a neighboring unoccupied plot of ground and burned it without exciting any attention. The murder tools were left in the flat.

The murder was a two weeks' mystery in New York, and the only clue was a pillow-slip in which a part of the body had been wrapped. The makers traced the case to a New York store, and it was found that Schmidt had bought a bed and some bed clothing there. Night and day the police watched the flat, but no one came. The police finally broke into the flat and the evidence of the crime was found.

Schmidt is 34 years old, of dark complexion, medium height and is well set up. The Catholic clergy believe the man is insane, and that the credentials which he presented here were forgeries. The man seemed to be devout and he was allowed to say mass, although he was never officially admitted into the diocese.

CHARMING RECITAL ENJOYED

singers. Mr. Trumpe seems to realize that his concepts of Frank Rogers, not that of Caruso, and sureness of tone, finish and restrained emotion make his future already very promising. Still a student of the National Conservatory, Mr. Trumpe does that institution great credit, and no less credit is due William Holmes, the local teacher, to whom this young singer is indebted for his production of tone. The songs best illustrating Mr. Trumpe's finest characteristics were Griggs' Ein Schwan, Die Nachtigal by Brandt very rich and poetic, and Massenet's famous Elegie, for which Oscar Wasserberger rendered a very sympathetic violin obligato.

Too much praise cannot be given this young player unless one remembers that too much praise alone might spoil such promise. At present his poise is wonderfully unselfconscious. His [illegible] of to[illegible]manship as a whole are marvelously developed, while his feeling and fineness of taste would put older virtuosos with recognized standing to blush. A pupil of Mittell, this boy may reach the position of Kreisler himself, whose Liebesfreud [illegible] last night with a charm like the Pied Piper's in its bewitching waltz rhythm.

After the recital the guests were invited to meet the artists at an informal reception arranged by the patronesses. Every one enjoyed this unique addition greatly.

The patronesses were: Mrs. M. S. Ackerman, Mrs. A. H. Atterbury, Mrs. E. G. Belcher, Mrs. S. S. Carvahlo, Mrs. W. G. Cook, Miss Curtis, Mrs. A. E. Faber, Mrs. H. A. Fisk, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. J. PATERSON TAKES POSSESSION OF TOP RUNG IN ELKS' RACE

Averages Indicate That Some Shakeups Have Occurred During the Week—Plainfield Was Idle and Still Holds Last Place—Taylor Holding Fast to First Place in the Individual Standing—Leick, of Newark, Took a Big Drop—Jersey City Now a Runner-up.

Plainfield pinners experienced their first week of inactivity in the Senior Elks' Bowling League during the past seven days, the compilation of averages for the week leaving them perched firmly in the cellar berth in company with the Brunswickers. By virtue of their success in two series in which they have indulged this week, the Paterson antlered wood splitters have climbed from second to first place, now having an undisputed grip on the coveted top run. Jersey City representatives are closely pressing the Silk City leaders, being one game in the rear. New York and Newark, the former tied for first place with Jersey City last week, are tied up in a knot for third place, each having dropped seven and won five. Harry Taylor still covets the honor of being high individual leader with a mark of 200.2, having fallen from his 206.4 of last week. In the Paterson tribe's first series of the week, Taylor took a decided slump but managed to climb back into the 200 class last night, and maintain his lead. Erler, of Newark, continues to hold on to the runner-up title, but has fallen from 202.3 to 198.1 during the week. Leick, of Newark, who was third last week, has fallen to seventeenth position, his drop being one of the biggest recorded. A. Walters has taken possession of the rung he occupied.

Wasserman, of Jersey City, took a big leap toward the individual high score mark of 257, held by Williams, of Newark, when he recorded a 245 last night. Although he did not bowl during the week, Captain Bill Nash, of Plainfield, remains in tenth place and is third in the high individual score race.

Gloversville downed Paterson in a New York State Basketball League tilt at Gloverville, in the regular weekly contest. The final score was 43 to 25. The feature of the contest was the excellent shooting of Frank Bruggy, who scored twelve points, which was the highest of the match. He also played an excellent passing game.

M'INERNEY COPPED ALL BUT ONE GAME

Made a Clean Sweep Over Wilson and Took Two Games From Cannon.

Two pinners benefitted by the games played in the Knights of Columbus bowling tournament, last night, and one player lost all six games. McInerney won five and lost one, while E. Taylor won four games and lost two. Miles Wilson came out on the short end of every game he played and Cannon secured an even break.

In the first match of the night Taylor took all three games from Wilson and the second was the only hard one of the match. The score of the first was 181 to 155, and after that Wilson went after the second game and pinned for a 232, but Taylor came out three points to the good, his score being a 235, which was high score of the night. McInerney took the first and third games from Cannon, the last one being a hair raiser. The score of the first game was 217 to 159 while Cannon took the second, 201 to 190. Only one point separated the two scores at the end of the deciding game. McInerney had 171, while Cannon was credited with 170.

Cannon turned around in the next match with Taylor and took two games out of the three, his opponent taking the second. The last game of this match was very close, seven points being the difference in the scores. Wilson was again the victim of three defeats, the games going to McInerney. The first game was very close, the final marks being 165 to 163, while the other two were easily McInerney's.

The scores:

PAUL COLLIER WILL AGAIN COACH N. P. H. S. QUINTET

That the North Plainfield High School basketball team is again to have the services of Paul R. Collier, who coached the team through a championship series last season, was the report given out in the borough this morning. Collier has consented to take the team in charge again and will probably start in next week.

His coaching last season was a big factor in winning the championship and he will undoubtedly put out a good aggregation this year, although severely handicapped by the loss of players.

WESTFIELD HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN HAS DISBANDED

Owing to the bad luck which has followed the team from the beginning of the season, the Westfield High School football team has disbanded for the season. More players have been injured this year than in any previous season of High School football. Out of the seven back field men on the squad there remains only one uninjured and eligible.

A few of the uneligible players together with the rest of the High School team that is in condition to play may play a few more games, but for the rest of the season there is little chance of any regular football in Westfield.

Rabbit Season Opens Wednesday, November 10 and Many Local Nimrods Are Polishing up Their Guns for Annual Trips Into the Woods—Game is Abundant—Woodcock is Being Brought in Now—Pheasants Are Also Plentiful—Duck Hunters Are Now Out.

Many inquiries have been received at this office regarding the open season's for various kinds of game in New Jersey and the tabulated list published below supplies in resume form this information. The Jersey hunting season gets into full sway next Wednesday when hunters will go out after quail, pheasants, grouse, partridges, rabbits and squirrels. Many local gunners have taken out the necessary licenses and are polishing up their weapons for the month of shooting.

The woods in this part of the State are said to be abundant with this game and plenty will probably be found to reward the hunter for his tramps. Brant, duck and geese are now being sought by many nimrods in this section and the reports indicate that the shooters have been fairly successful to date. Woodcock is also being brought in now.

GATES' QUINTET TAKES TWO GAMES ON ALLEYS

George Gates' bowling team defeated Culver's five on Gates' Somerset street alleys, last night. Only two games were played, as the third was not necessary to decide the series. The first game was a cinch for the home team as they had 845 to 770.

In the second game Culver's men took a brace and almost got away with the game, but the last men to bowl on each side decided the game. The scores ran very close, with Culver's team leading at the end of the fourth roll. Radin bowled 136, while Gates' anchor man, Luthman, hit the wood for 188, which put his team in the lead by a three point margin. The scores were 807 to 804.

The election of Leighton Calkins as Mayor of Plainfield upon a platform of economy in all departments of city affairs, especially in the administration of the schools, may usher in a new standard in educational matters, and Plainfield will be watched with intense interest by the whole State. Plainfield has always stood for the best and highest in educational matters, and whether we have come to the time when a revised standard should be adopted is a matter of the greatest interest to every citizen of our State. ADVANTAGES OF NEW BAY BRIDGE

Plainfield Likely to Benefit to Great Extent by Improvement.

BOON TO REAL ESTATE

Local Business Men Through Board of Trade Are Agitating the Erection of Structure Which Will Help Conditions in This Section.

With the resurrection of considerable talk concerning the possibility of a new bridge over Newark Bay between Elizabethport and Bayonne, local business men and real estate holders are beginning to seriously consider the probable benefits of such a structure to be derived by this end of the county, and Plainfield in particular. The bridge is undoubtedly a long way off as yet, but it is far from being too early to look into the advisability of such a project from a Plainfield viewpoint.

It has been conceded that the big feature of the bridge would be its commercial value to the manufacturing plants of the county, especially to those shops located in the 'Port section of Elizabeth, while its value to this end of the county in that respect is not to be passed up without some attention by those directly or indirectly interested in the industrial development of this section of the State. The bridge as proposed would give to the manufacturers a direct road by which goods might be shipped to New York by either wagon or auto trucks. This fact, in itself, would more than justify the construction of the bridge, as nearly every manufacturer and manufacturing concern of any importance has endorsed the movement. In this respect, Plainfield and Dunellen, as well as South Plainfield, all of which have shops, would be effected by the advent of the bridge.

The direct route for automobile, as well as other vehicular traffic, between Union county and Hudson county and New York, would also have a great effect upon the realty market in those sections especially known as residential sections. New Yorkers who come into New Jersey to look over prospective home sites, seldom get as far as this city, because of the indirect route which would, of a necessity, have to be taken to reach the city. Plainfield, recognized as it is, as a residential city of the first class, would undoubtedly attract a large percentage of home-seeker visitors to this county. The bridge would bring this city, as well as the surrounding towns, all of which contribute to the growth and prosperity of Plainfield, visitors galore, many of whom are today being stopped in other counties adjacent to the metropolis before they have a sufficient chance. Once they arrive in this city, the home sites are here for them. No doubt other places between this city and Elizabeth would reap benefits as well as ourselves, but Plainfield would, in all probability, meet with the greatest successes in this line. Elizabeth would benefit chiefly in a commercial sense, while Plainfield and other towns of the county would be in a better position than the county seat to satisfy the demands of the seeker after the home or the home sites.

The local Board of Trade is the first Plainfield civic organization to take this matter up from the viewpoint of this city, and is planning to hold a meeting to discuss the question Tuesday, November 17. Business men of the city should make a special effort to attend the gathering to become acquainted with the details of the project and work in conjunction with the Board in bringing about what will ultimately tend to build up the community.

It is to be noted that the consolidation of city and borough will, in all probability, be a realized fact before the bridge is under any great headway. With a greater city, Plainfield will be able to present to the home seeker the best residential city to be found in the State, while the bridge will be but a means to an end—and Plainfield the destination of the home seekers who travel across the Newark Bay bridge of the future.

LITTLE FARMS COMPANY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Little Farms Company recently elected the following officers: President, William Jeffery; treasurer, Joseph Brandt; secretary, C. E. Gulick. Mr. Brandt, as treasurer, succeeds A. S. Herr, retiring officer.

This company has completed five beautiful bungalows at Sherman Park and contemplates several more, two at a time, until such times as the entire tract is developed. This will provide a unique settlement of high class bungalows on half-acre plots.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT FOR THE TRADES

Money Conditions Still Continue to Affect Building Operations Here.

Seven building permits, calling for the expenditure of $1,470, and the erection of four garages, one storage building, one tank for the storage of volatile liquid, and one for alterations were issued during the course of the past week by Inspector T. O. Doane. No encouragement has been offered to local contractors and craftsmen during the week, as the money market in this vicinity still remains tight, and the cash for use on construction work is still hard to get.

Several plans for structures of various types have recently been drawn up by property owners who were of the opinion that the general situation would relax to a sufficient extent that the necessary cash for the starting of operations would be available by this time, but these plans are still idle. One owner had plans for three double houses drawn for structures to be erected this fall, but these will now be undoubtedly laid over until spring, as has been the case with a number of other structures. The number of buildings being held up in this city owing to the money market are gradually increasing, with modern dwellings in all parts of the city leading in numbers by a substantial majority.

A number of buildings which have been started during the course of the summer are now nearing completion, among these being the Astor Theatre, and the improvements to Muhlenberg Hospital. The two apartments at West Fourth street and Plainfield avenue, being erected by the Bloom Construction Company, are now well under way, and will probably be enclosed during the next week or ten days

The permits as issued during the past week are as noted below:

First Ward.

Mrs. M. E. Nolte, of the borough, is to erect a 20x26 frame garage on her property on Netherwood avenue, south of East Second street. The structure will be two stories high, the second floor being used for a shop. The foundation will be of concrete, with spruce framing and a shingled roof. H. D. Huff is the mason contractor, while George W. Nolte will care for the carpentry work.

F. W. Bird is to erect a 9x13 frame garage in the rear of 15 Westervelt avenue, at a cost of $70.

A tank for the storage of volatile liquid is to be installed at 210 Johnston avenue, at a cost of $25, by Jacob Schlick.

Alterations are to be made to the dwelling at 356 East Second street by John H. Stevens, the owner. The improvements will include a 12x8x16 frame extension on the east side of the structure, the estimated cost of which has been placed at $75. James Radum, of Scotch Plains, has the carpenter contract.

Fourth Ward.

Thomas Brown is to erect an 18x16 frame garage at 349 Bergen street, at a cost of $150. Axel Lagstom has the carpentry contract.

A one and a half story frame garage of frame construction is to be erected by James C. Manning on West Fourth street, south of Monroe avenue. The building will measure 20x24 feet, and will cost in the vicinity of $500. Leland Manning has the mason contract, while the carpentry work will be cared for by the owner.

George Clyde will erect a one story frame garage measuring 12x18 feet at 29 DeKalb avenue, the estimated cost of which has been placed at $50. C. Scriven has the contract for the work.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following realty transfers from this end of the county have been recorded at the office of the county register at Elizabeth:

Anna Estaeleky to Mary J. Mathews, southerly side line of West Fifth street, 129.80 feet southerly of Lexington avenue, Plainfield, $1.

Julia R. Honeyman to Mary C. Marsh, southwesterly side of Madison avenue, corner of lands of Onderdunk, Painfield, $1.

Home Building & Supply Co. to Howard P. Manning, lot 10, block C, Mountain View Park map, Westfield, $1.

The following transfers from the surrounding towns have been recorded at the Middlesex county seat:

John H. Stryker sold to May S. Hamilton, three lots, southeast side of George street, Dunellen.

Kaiser Smith bought of Merchants & Traders' Realty Co., lot, Lakeside Park, Piscataway township.

James D. Taylor sold to Ovilda Audet LaPointe, lot, Lincoln, $25.

May Dunlea bought of W. M. Ostrander, Inc., lot, in Lincoln.

Ella L. Hyde and others sold to John Byard Marter, one-half interest in two lots, Clarendon Court, Metuchen, $200.

James Lawless sold to Martin C. Carney and others, two lots on Highland avenue, between Main and Rector streets, Metuchen.

John B. Eick has transferred to Estelle M. Eick house and lot in Dunellen.

AWARDS CONTRACT FOR FIVE ROOM COTTAGES

David Kenney, of the borough, has awarded the contract for two five-room cottages on Grove street, below Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, to George Wilson, of this city. The houses will be of frame construction, and are to cost in the vicinity of $1,200. It is the intention of the owner to erect a number of these cottages on this tract in the near future.

It is believed on all sides that the assurance that the joint sewerage system is now possible within a comparatively short time, that many dwellings will be erected in the borough within the course of the next few years, and that ultimate consolidation with this city will add largely to that section of Greater Plainfield as a residential section.

JERSEY CITY LEADS IN NEW TENEMENT BUILDING

Jersey City led the State last week in new tenement house buildings. According to the weekly report of the Board of Tenement House Supervision, plans totaling a value of $32,000 have been approved from Jersey City in the past week. The next city in point of tenement house construction was Newark, with $24,000 worth, and little thriving West New York came to the front again with $22,900. The rest of the tenement house building is represented by a $5,000 building in Fairview, a $5,000 alteration in Hoboken, a $5,000 building in Athenia, a $5,000 building in Bloomfield, and a $4,000 building in Ocean City.

The aggregate cost of the new buildings is estimated at $97,300, while the improvements and alterations cost $5,000, making a total of $102,300. These figures show a decrease in the cost of $10,000 over the plans approved for the preceding week.

WILL ERECT BUSINESS AND APARTMENT BUILDING

West Third street, between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue, which has been developing into a business section for the past few years, is to have another business and apartment building erected during the course of the fall. The estimated cost of the building to be erected by Morris Rabinowitz, of Hillcrest avenue, has been placed at $12,000.

The proposed structure, plans for which are now awaiting approval by the State Commission of Tenement House Inspection, will be of hollow terra cotta block, three stories high, with a twenty-seven foot front and a depth of sixty feet. Stores will occupy the first floor, while the second and third floors will be utilized for four room apartments, which will contain all modern improvements. The front of the building will be of white brick. This is the second building of its kind to be erected by Mr. Rabinowitz on this block. George H. Fisher, Jr., of Manson place, is the architect. Work on the building will be started as soon as the plans are approved by the State Commission.

JUST NOTES

The local Board of Trade is as much "on the job" as they come. Having failed to land the South Plainfield trolley, they are now after a span across Newark Bay for vehicular traffic. But the South Plainfield trolley extension has not been lost sight of, as it means a great deal to the development of this city as well as to the neighboring village.

This may be an off year for building operations in this city, but some one will have to pay up for it before another season rolls by. The "left over until spring" excuse cannot hold out much longer.

By the way Dunellen and Fanwood are making improvements on their sidewalks and streets, one would judge that they, too, are looking for a busy season in 1915.

An armory worthy of the name is being advocated by Co. K, of this city, and is worthy of consideration. This adds another building to the long list to be looked forward to by Plainfielders. The new postoffice and Y. M. C. A. buildings will probably precede the armory, but we trust that another few months will see the plans for the proposed armory well under way, that actual operations may be started before the end of next season.

The number of garages for which permits have been issued recently indicate that all the automobiles are not "hocked" as yet.

—Is not one of the problems facing you at the present moment a want ad problem?

BUILDING EXPENDITURE IS CUT IN HALF

Only Nineteen Permits Are Issued in Plainfield During October.

Nineteen permits constituted the building operations for the month of October, calling for the expenditure of $29,320, as against $46,150 for the same month last year. As noted in the table printed below, the First ward leads in the expenditure of money for new buildings and improvements, while the Third ward is without a permit during the month.

As indicated in another column, the tightness of the money market is still a big factor in holding down building operations in this city, as is the case in many other sections of the county, State and Nation. As reports come in from many sections of the city, the value of buildings and improvements of all sorts and descriptions planned, but held up owing to the money market, aggregated close to $400,000. In this respect, Plainfield is not alone.

The buildings and improvements started in this city during the open building season are now fast nearing completion, and unless there is a radical change for the better, the bulk of the building craftsmen of the city will be idle within the next four weeks. The fact that the Board of Education rejected the bids for the new Evergreen Avenue School is a disappointment to local craftsmen in one way, that there is now little probability of the work on the building starting until spring, as new bids will have to be advertised for before contracts are let and work started.

FOURTEEN CONTRACTS ARE FILED DURING WEEK

County operations took another slight jump during the week ending last Saturday, when fourteen contracts were filed with the county clerk, calling for the expenditure of $37,519, as against seven contracts and $24,405 for the preceding week, thus showing substantial gains in two successive weeks. No contracts were filed from this end of the county.

Operations throughout the county, however, are slowing up in many sections, and indications are that no large contracts to any extent will be given out before the coming of another season. Contractors, as a general rule, are looking forward to an exceptionally busy season in 1915, when it is expected that the money market will be sufficiently improved to justify extensive building in this section of the State.

IN THE SUBURBS

Moris Rabinowitz has just completed five bungalows at Warrenville for the Kline Realty Company, thus completing a large number for which contracts were let early in the season.

The Dunellen Home and Investment Company has sold a lot on Columbia street to Edward M. Pyatt, of South Plainfield.

The Dunellen Home and Investment Company has sold a lot on Columbia street to John R. McDonough, of Plainfield, who will build at once. Mr. McDonough has awarded Contractor Samuel M. Titus the contract of erecting the house, which will be of the bungalow type.

The Watchung Investment Company house on Walnut street, between Whittier and Prospect avenues, Dunellen, has been sold through the John P. Fenner agency to Emilie J. Galichet, of Somerville, who will take possession about the middle of the month.

TO LECTURE ON "INDIA."

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

The house was small but immaculate, the white paint and yellow trimmings glistening in the sun. Every available inch of the small yard was crowded with plants, flowers in front and vegetables in the rear. As I stood on the tiny porch waiting for an answer to my knock a dog dashed around the corner of the house, barking savagely.

The door opened and a plump woman began gesticulating to the excited dog, while she made room for me to enter.

"Ach! Fritz, go vay. I tole Jacob not to tie dat dog loose dis morning. Dat dog no mind me. I tell him go vay, he don't went," she explained as she ushered me into the kitchen shining with cleanness and dusted a spotless chair for me to sit on. She stood before me with arms akimbo, looking at me with her head on one side with a smile as wide as her face.

"My English is not so goot. I come to America nineteen year ago, but I was thirty year old a'ready, when I come, und one learn not so quick ven one is old," and drawing up a chair she sat down, smoothing her starched apron over her knees.

I made known my errand. I had been told that I might get her daughter for a maid.

"Ach! Himmel! She go to school still. We are poor, but I vish my girl to be smart. I got goot man. Such a very goot man. He gif me all his money effery Saturday. I safe it. Dis house all paid for und we haf money in de bank. My son he work and gif me his money, too, and dat I safe for him. He need it ven he get marriet, but my girl she go to school yet. Haf you children?" she asked.

"One son, married," I answered.

"Ach! Mein Gott! Gone a'ready!" and she threw up her hands to heaven.

"I been marriet twenty-nine year," she continued, beaming as if telling unusually glad tidings, "und I am fifty-two dis mont. Elefen year agc mein man haf no work; a strike you call it! Yess! We haf no money for six months. My man go long mit a face on like he lose $10,000 and would always go hungry again. I say, 'Marcus, we must spend nodding on beer und pipe dese times,' and Marcus he say so, too. After six months dey go to work again, but dare yas de store bill to pay, so Marcus he didn't smoke or drink again. So for one year nodding go for dese. Den Marcus say, 'Now we build a house, und all de beer und pipe money go in that house.' So for elefen year, still, he no smoke und drink. Ach! I vish you effery one so goot a man, und goot smart children. No, Gretchen, she stay home und go to school," and she radiated happiness as she nowed me out, having first sent Gretchen to fasten Fritz in his kennel.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

WARRIOR WOMEN.

Feminine Delight of Battle in Legend and History.

To the Edior of The Sun—Sir: Many woman Suffragists say that when women have the ballot war will cease.

Those who believe that the woman's vote means international peace have never read history or they would know that the female portion of the world's population has from earliest times shown warlike propensities and keen patriotism when its nations have been engaged in combat. While it is true the female is the least combative of the sexes owing to the keen preponderance of physical force being with the male, certain individual women or groups of women have actually engaged in war, and the entire sex has cheered its men to fight and bitterly hated its opponents. No true woman likes a timid man, and every female heart has a tender spot for a warrior, a fact appreciated by the artistic Greeks in the myth of Venus and Mars. The Greek poets told many tales of the Amazons who met their fate at the hands of the Athenians to show that while superior women may wage war on inferior men, when the average of the sexes meet the male has the physical advantage.

But it is unnecessary to look back to the tales of Plutarch or Strabo to find warrior women, or to delve into the mists of far antiquity for a Boadicea or a Semiramis. We have shining examples in Joan of Arc saving France for a worthless King, Isabel of Castile wresting Spain from the Moors; Mary Queen of Scots cheering her troops; Catharine Sigurna saving Nice and LaGrande Mademoiselle pointing the guns of the Fronde. More humble types are found in Hannah Snell, who, as a private of infantry, fought in '45 under Cumberland and later with Frazer's Marines participated in the siege of Pondicherry; Mary Ann Talbot, natural daughter of Baron Hensol, who as a drummer was wounded before Valenciennes in 1794; "Mother Ross," who served under William III. and Marlborough, in Flanders; Deborah Sampson, who fought with the Continental troops throughout the Revolution, and Loreta Valazquez, who wore a Lieutenant's shoulder straps in the Confederate Army.

Aside from individual cases, there is no doubt that every war has had a certain number of Amazons in the field both as spies and as soldiers, and the history of Europe abounds in such narratives. Innumerable women followed Peter the Hermit on his first crusade, and throughout the Middle Ages every army had a large number of female camp followers, who were often inclined to push into the fray beside their masculine friends. Spanish women have shown a marked inclination for war, and during that of the Succession Barcelona was long defended by its women before Berwick succeeded in entering it. Again, during the French invasion, when Lefebvre attacked Saragossa, the women formed themselves into companies of two and three hundred and fought side by side with the men under the celebrated Agostina of Sargossa.

Endeavoring to emulate their ancient Germanic and Gallic mothers who fought against the Roman legions, the French women of the Revolution formed themselves into militant bodies and the dames de Halle and the Faubourg St. Antoine, in short petticoats, red Phrygian caps, with pikes in hand, became conspicuous in the early days of the Terror, and the "Amazon of Liege," grasping her lighted match, astride her cannon, was dragged by a mob of demented women to Versailles when the royal family was forced to return to Paris. Women were also prominent at the barricades during the Commune, and many a murderous shot was fired by a woman's hand from the windows of the capital.

In all probabilities there were numerous women engaged in our Civil War, especially in the gallant South. During the present Mexican anarchy and brigandage the brown women south of the Rio Grande have followed their men by hundreds and gone into the fight with rifles in their hands. The Boer women of the Transvaal fought beside their men in practically every battle of both wars with England and won many laurels by their excellence in marksmanship and bravery. There are battalions of Chinese women ready to support the Celestial republic. It is reported that female battalions are being formed in Ireland to defend the homes from invasion. Throughout the Balkans women are preparing for military activities.

Considering the attitude of women toward military events in the past, it is difficult for the student of history to believe that the sex is united in its opposition to war under all circumstances, and that all women are peace lovers or that woman suffrage would either prevent or decrease military activity. It is simply another of the utopian claims made by Suffragists which nothing in the past affairs of history gives cause to believe in.

MRS. ALBERT T. LEATHERBEE

Physical Force.

The present titanic struggle, in which before the end is reached half a score of nations may be engaged for the maintenance of the principle of national independence, offers an irrefutable argument against the main doctrine underlying Suffragism. Gradually this fact is being brought home to Suffragists, and we must expect a long series of attempts to explain away the significance of the war. The first is made in what is termed the "official organ of the United Suffragists"—a body presumably small enough and young enough to have escaped hitherto the notoriously disintegrating effects of Suffragism. In "Votes for Women" (September 25), Laurence Housman makes an ingenious attempt to controvert the fact that physical force is the basis of government by placing his own interpretation on the term physical force. Unfortunately he is unable to distinguish between physical force and brute force, and so arrives at the conclusion that "if human nature were so conditioned that it would accept almost blindly as its ultimate good the highest organization of physical force which could be set over it by its masters and rulers then the strongest form of government would be the military form, and the Zabern incident, of peaceful memory, would be merely typical of good and wise government in the exercise of its proper functions." Such a theory will, no doubt, satisfy many Suffragist audiences, and their misconception of the meaning of two simple words will be not greater than their failure to understand the realities of life. Mr. Housman considers that "humanity" and not physical force is the basis of government. There would have been very little government left in Servia or in Belgium—at least of the type desired by Servians and Belgians—if these countries had relied upon Mr. Housman's basis in conducting their affairs. The "Zabern standard of conduct" has no more in common with the physical force argument than a Suffragette outrage has with the manners of the drawing-room. One lesson taught by this war is the necessity of being able to rely upon argonized physical force in order to resist brute force which, by a process of juggling with words dear to our own Suffragists, may be styled "humanity," "culture" or "civilization."

Some Cookery Suggestions

APPLES FOR DESSERT.

THE aromatic quality of autumn fruits particularly adapts them to the making of cooked desserts, like those of apples, suggested here.

Apple Meringue.—Take two cupfuls apples, steamed till tender. Mash fine, add one-half cupful sugar, one teaspoonful butter and one-half teaspoonful cinnamon. When cool add two well beaten egg yolks. Fill a deep pie plate and bake without upper crust. When done cover with meringue made from egg whites and brown slightly.

Delicious Foods.

Green Apple Dessert.—Take tart apples, mix one-half glass of red currant jelly or any tart red jelly with three-fourths of a cupful of boiling water and when it is dissolved add one pound of granulated sugar and the grated rind, also the juice, of one lemon. Let it boil three minutes in a saucepan. Then put in eight apples pared and cored, simmer gently until the apples are transparent; then lift them into a glass dish. Let the sirup boil for five minutes, and when partially cooled it should be clear, light red jelly.

Made With Gelatin.

Apples With Jelly.—Take six apples and core them. Put two cloves into each apple and as much granulated sugar as it will hold. Place them in a baking pan without touching, and add a cupful of water or more, as you think fit. Try to keep them from breaking. When done take out carefully and place in dish. Strain the sirup they were cooked in and put in another saucepan with a little dissolved gelatin and a few drops of red coloring. Boil till clear and then put around apples. Set away to cool till supper time.

Delicious For Luncheon.

Jellied Apples.—Pare six or eight apples, core them and put parings and cores and three or four more apples cut up in pieces on to cook with water enough to cover. Put your pared and cored apples in steamer and steam until cooked through, then lift them carefully into a dish. When the parings, etc., are sufficiently cooked drain same as any jelly, put back on stove, let boil ten minutes, then add sugar to taste and cook the same as you do any jelly. When ready pour over the apples and put aside to get chilled. These are nice for lunch with cream.

The Mate Was Sitting on the Nest.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Duck That Could Reason.

"THERE are many fine tales told by the arctic explorers," said daddy, "but I think the most wonderful are the stories they tell about the reasoning power of birds—ducks in particular."

Daddy leaned back on the big sofa before the flaming log fire and cuddled the kiddies upon either side of him.

"How can they tell that the ducks can reason, daddy?" asked Jack.

"Oh, by the things they do!

"At the club one night I heard a very interesting story told by an arctic explorer himself.

"He said that he had been out gunning for about an hour and had succeeded in bagging one duck and had maimed, as he thought, another one, as he had shot at it and it lay perfectly motionless upon the surface of the water.

"He waded in after the maimed duck and was quite surprised when as he drew nearer and nearer the duck did not flutter wildly or make any other fuss.

"But as he neared it it glided easily away through innumerable nooks and windings, and several times as he would reach out his hand to catch it it would cleverly elude him.

"At last he cooped it up in a corner and bent over to catch it when, to his astonishment, with a loud quack it flew out of his grasp.

"He said that it flew so strongly that he was sure it had never been injured at all, but had been drawing his attention to itself for some reason.

"As this man is a naturalist as well as an explorer, he, of course, was tempted to lay by his gun and follow the bird and try to see if it really was as canny a duck as he thought.

"He searched a long time in the marsh when he came upon the nest of the bird.

"Its mate was sitting upon the nest, and this man said that he was sure that that duck was decoying him away from that nest.

"You see, as a husband and a prospective father, when the eggs should be hatched that duck felt he had a duty to perform and did it in a very masterly fashion.

"Well, children, hadn't you better go to bed? Good night and pleasant dreams."

"I'm going to dream about that duck," said Jack. "I think that was a wise duck!"

"I wish girls could have guns and go hunting," said Evelyn.

"They'd shoot themselves," laughed Jack

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Saw two and one-half feet from two or three old broom handles and when you want to move the heavy chests, boxes or trunks, raise up one end, slip handle under, move six inches and put under another handle; as they roll out keep replacing. By putting short pieces of board under stove legs (or anything with casters on), you can also move them easily and rapidly over carpets or linoleum.

When making starch, put in a tablespoon each of kerosene oil, sugar and salt, and you will have a beautiful gloss. In winter the salt keeps the clothes from freezing as well as sticking.

When one has more bread than common, a good way to use it up, especially when one is tired of bread pudding, is to take one egg, one cup buttermilk or sour milk, one level teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, and flour to make a thin batter. Cut slices thin, dip in batter and fry in hot lard, or, if preferred, a little butter may be added. If eggs are scarce, egg can be omitted, but it is not quite so good.

SANDWICHES

Mushroom Sandwiches — Cut brown bread in rings and spread the following mixture between the slices: One can of mushrooms cooked in a rich white sauce; when done, take mushrooms from the sauce and spread between buttered slices of the bread. Serve with browned slices of onion that have been fried in butter. This is a hearty sandwich.

Deviled Ham Sandwiches—One cup cold boiled ham, yolks two hard-boiled eggs, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon mustard, three teaspoons melted butter. Rub yolks of eggs smooth with butter, mix with chopped ham, mustard and lemon juice; season to taste; spread on thin slices of bread.

Pastry Sandwiches—Puff paste, jam of any kind, the white of an egg, sifted sugar. Roll paste out thin, put half of it on baking sheet or tin, and spread over it any preserve preferred. Lay over this preserve another thin paste, press the edges together all around and mark paste in lines with a knife on the surface, to show where to cut when baked. Bake from 20 to 30 minutes, and a short time before being done take the pastry out of the oven, brush it over with the white of an egg, sift over powdered sugar and put it back in the oven to color. When cold cut it into strips; pile these on a dish, pyramidically, and serve. These strips, cut about two inches long, piled in circular rows and a plateful of flavored whipped cream poured in the middle make a very pretty dish.

THE TABLE

Stewed Beefsteak — Get any amount of beefsteak desired and stew it until it is tender, then roll in flour and fry in butter. The broth from the meat can be used for making the gravy. This is delicious as it has the flavor of chicken.

Marshmallow Gingerbread—Melt one-half cup shortening, add one cup molasses, one egg well beaten, one cup milk, two and one-third cups pastry flour, sifted with one and three-quarters teaspoons soda, one teaspoon salt, one dessertspoon ginger. Bake in large pan 25 minutes. Remove from pan, cut in halves crosswise; spread half with whole marshmallows, cover with the other half, put in oven. Let stand five minutes with door open. Remove to serving dish, cut in squares and serve with whipped cream.

Tutti-Frutti Jelly—One pint canned sour cherries and one pint gooseberries or any canned fruit (pour liquid off into separate casserole), grated peel of one large orange and pressed out juice of same. Now soak one package plain gelatine in half cup cold water 15 minutes; stir well. Heat poured juice from fruit and small cup sugar to boiling point. Pour this over soaked gelatine, stir until gelatine is dissolved. Have fruit, juice of orange and peel ready in a tin form which has previously been dipped in cold water; then pour gelatin mixture over same and set aside to form. When fully set take a towel wrung

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS
Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.
We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-know authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.
The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.
When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.
Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and no body can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR
It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.
You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.
Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and him have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.
This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

LABOR PROSPECT NONE TOO GOOD

Committee on Unemployed Hear That 200 More Men Are to Be Dropped.

POOR FUND EXHAUSTED

Will Ask Public Service to Double Track on West Front Street Line and to Employ Local Men—Improvement in Spots.

Somewhat discouraging reports were received at the meeting of the citizens' committee on the unemployed of the city and borough, which held its third meeting at the Mayor's office, last night. W.A. Garrigues, of the Levgar Structural Iron Works, was present at the meeting, and said that as much as he regretted to do so, he was compelled to report that his plant would in all probability have to lay off two hundred or more men within a very short time. Councilman Francis J. Blatz, chairman of the street committee of the City Council, reported that upon investigation, in company with Mr. Gavett, the street commissioner, it had been found that the total amount available for public work in the city was between $800 and $1,000. This will be used for public work, and so far as possible some of the idle men will be employed.

Regarding the trunk sewer, it was pointed out that while the contractor has agreed to employ as much local labor as he can possibly use, it is highly probable that as soon as he starts work the Borough of Middlesex will get out an injunction against the work, and make it impossible for much to be done, until legal obstacles are out of the way.

A. E. Force, president of the Business Men's Association, suggested that perhaps the Public Service Corporation might proceed with the double tracking of the line from Grant avenue to Jefferson avenue, on West Front street. He pointed out how the company wanted to build a double track along that thoroughfare, when they relaid the single track a few years ago, but that they were then unable to get a franchise. Now, Mr. Force believes that the consent of the property-owners can be procured to proceed with the work, and if the franchise is granted, and the company would consent to do the work at once, it is probable that 150 local laborers would receive employment for six weeks. A committee, consisting of Mr. Force, Herman Schwed and Leslie R. Fort, was appointed by Mayor Stewart, the chairman, to get in touch with the Public Service officials within the next week, and find out what their attitude in the matter would be.

It was reported by William Lunger, business agent of the Building Trades' Council, that there had been a slight improvement with the craftsmen identified with his organization, and that he would do all he could to better conditions during the coming week. H. H. Corey said that the Hall Press Works was running full time again, and the situation at Spicer's and Pond's was said to be improving.

Herman Schwed suggested that this would be a splendid time to clean out Green Brook, but Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed said that there would be legal difficulties arising that would make that work next to impossible under city management. Councilman Cose said that the poor fund is exhausted because of the extraordinary demands that have been put upon it already this year.

There are now 187 names on the list on file in the Mayor's office, of men who want work, and it was again urged at last night's meeting that the general public be requested to apply there when wanting work done. An appeal for help for the men out of work was made in nearly every pulpit in the city at the services yesterday.

MRS. LOUISA LONG.

Mrs. Louisa Long, of South Bound Brook, died Saturday evening, after a long illness. Four sons and two daughters, beside her husband, survive. Mrs. Long was a member of the Reformed church, of South Bound Brook. The funeral services will be held from her late home tomorrow afternoon.

RASROES MEETING.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning, with Mrs. H. R. Halloway, on East Seventh street.

Do You Want a Job?
Efforts will be made to secure work for all who leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue. tf

NEW APPOINTEES TO GO ON PROBATION

Firemen Will Have to Show Efficiency to Get Regular Berth.

From authoritative sources it is learned that the new ordinance now being prepared to govern the city fire department when the full paid corps dispenses with the present call men, will bring a number of radical changes. One of the most important will call for a revision of first year men's pay and the establishment of a probation period similar to that existing in the police department.

As it stands now, a new fireman can be appointed a regular as soon as he enters the service. His pay is fixed at $67.50 a month, increasing yearly until the five-year limit is reached. The new ordinance will establish a probationary period of six months at a minimum salary of $60 monthly. If the candidate proves his efficiency and conduct exemplary by that time he can then be made a full paid member, subject to the established rules which call for dismissal only under charges. The change, it is believed, will keep the service up to a high standard.

Several other important changes are to be made in the proposed measure, which is now in the hands of the fire and buildings committee and the corporation counsel. It will probably be ready for presentation to the Common Council during the present month in order to pave the way for the new order of things soon after the first of the coming year. The second Nott auto engine recently purchased by the city will be delivered within the next few weeks and the distribution of men to form its crew will call for the speedy selection of candidates for regular places. It is believed that some of them may be recommended at tonight's councilmanic session.

MISS TAYLOR SEEKS $15,000 DAMAGES

Case Against Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. Being Tried Today.

The case of Miss Anatasia Taylor, of Elmwood place, this city, against the Lehigh Valley Railroad, is being tried today in the Circuit Court, at Elizabeth, before Judge Spear and a jury. Miss Taylor was injured on November 26, Thanksgiving Eve, 1913, when an automobile in which she was riding with Alexander Stamler, of Rahway, was struck at the Picton crossing of the railroad by a passenger train. Miss Taylor is suing for $15,000 damages. It is expected that the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Miss Taylor sustained a broken rib as a result of the accident, as well as a number of bruises about the head and body. The fact that both Miss Taylor and Mr. Stamler were on the front seat of the automobile when it was struck by the Buffalo express saved them from being killed outright.

DARING BURGLARY IN DUNELLEN HOTEL

Second Story Man Enters Hostelry and Gets Away With Nearly $300.

A daring daylight burglary was committed at Taylor's Hotel, Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, when $260 in cash and $25 in checks were taken from the desk of the proprietor, W. H. Taylor. The desk is located on the second floor of the hotel, where Mr. Taylor's son, G. W. Taylor, had been working earlier in the afternoon. The fact that the money and checks had been taken was not discovered until 6 o'clock last night, when Mr. Taylor had occasion to visit the room. Entrance to the desk was made by use of a saw.

The burglars left no clew, but it is the opinion of both Mr. Taylor and the police that the deed was committed by someone well acquainted about the place and who knew of the presence of the money and checks in the desk. Marshal Patrick Tarpey, of Dunellen, is now working on the case and hopes to be able to get some trace of the burglars.

URGE COSE FOR DEPUTY SHERIFF

Local Man, Runner-up on Republican Ticket, is Backed by Friends.

WOULD PLEASE MANY

Fact That He Carried Many Cities in Republican Primary, It Is Pointed Out, Entitles Him to Appointment to Office.

Friends of John H. Cose, of this city, who was the runner-up in the Republican primary fight for sheriff, are urging Sheriff-elect George H. Otto to name Mr. Cose as his deputy, when he takes office tomorrow. They point out that Mr. Cose would surely be the most acceptable man that could be chosen, to a large number of the Republicans in the county, as he came within three hundred votes of getting the nomination, running second in a field of five candidates. Outside of Elizabeth, he carried all the principal communities in the county, including Plainfield (and there was another candidate from this city), Rahway, Westfield, Roselle, Summit, New Providence and smaller places.

It is argued that Plainfield is the second largest community in the county, and gave the biggest Republican majority at the election of any community in the county, outside of Elizabeth. Mr. Otto had a plurality here of about 1,200, and Mr. Cose worked hard for the entire ticket after he lost the nomination. It is also pointed out that Plainfield has had neither the sheriff or the deputy's job within the last twelve years, at which time B. Frank Coriell was sheriff.

The aspirants for the deputyship, aside from Mr. Cose, are George Johnston, of Scotch Plains; James Werner, formerly postmaster at Cranford, and George Stewart, of Elizabeth. The appointment will be made tomorrow as soon as Sheriff Otto takes office. The salary is $2,500 a year.

HEARING IN TAX MATTER ON FRIDAY

Governor Will Listen to the Charges Made Against Somerset Co. Tax Board.

Governor James F. Fielder has fixed Friday, November 13, as the time for a hearing at the State House, Trenton, of the charges made by the North Plainfield Township Committee against the Somerset County Tax Board. W. de la R. Anderson, chairman of the Committee, will represent that body at the hearing.

The charges set forth that the County Tax Board wilfully and intentionally failed to obey the law in the assessment and collection of taxes on property owned by Mt. St. Mary College. The matter was first brought to the attention of the Governor by Mr. Anderson, last summer, and it has been pending ever since.

"FAREWELL MASQUERADE" FOR MISS HELEN PIERSON

Miss Helen Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierson, of 1138 Myrtle avenue, was tendered a "farewell masquerade surprise party at her home Saturday night, by about twenty of her friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. David Major, and Misses Jessica Hill, Leontine Huntsman, Dorothy Huntsman, Helen Adams, Marguerite Lee, Myra Stebbins, Irene Dunham, Clara Karner and Esther Karner, and Irving Walsh, Hebert Cubberly, Newall Karner, Cory Adams, Wilbur Dunning and Clinton and Bertram Pierson, of Montclair.

ROAD CONTRACTS CAUSES CRITICISM

Rival Concerns Charge That Favoritism is Shown by State Officials.

Robert A. Meeker, of Netherwood, engineer of the State Department of Public Roads, Saturday awarded contracts amounting to $104,800 for the repair of the gravel roads in South Jersey to John L. Le Compte, of Egg Harbor, and Richard Hafeman, of Freehold. Mr. Le Compte is to repair four-fifths of the road and Mr. Hafeman one-fifth. The awarding of the contracts has again raised the suspicion that favoritism is shown by some of the members connected with the road department.

As soon as they were awarded the work both of the contractors notified the State Department that they would use the preparation known as glutrin and owned by the Robeson Process Company, of Pennington.

The mysterious part of the awarding of the contract is the fact that the use of glutrin will cost the contractors about $8,000 more than the use of bindite, a process owned by the Binder Company, of New York. Mr. Meeker admits that either bindite or glutrin will serve the purpose required, but glutrin was chosen even though it is very much more expensive than bindite and despite the fact that the prices mysteriously rose from 11.8 cents to 15.3 cents per gallon applied.

Contractors say there is a reason for this. The representative of the Binder Company was at the State House, Saturday, and when he was approached by one of the successful contractors after the award the contractor is said to have remarked: "I can't use any of your stuff. If I did and Meeker didn't want it he could bankrupt me in two months."

A proposition was also made to give the Bindite Company a portion of the road to build about fifteen miles, but this was turned down by the company's representative as he said that at the price quoted his company was entitled to all of the work. It was evident that there was a definite understanding that unless the contractors who were awarded the work specified glutrin, the contracts would not be looked upon with favor by the State Department.

FUGITIVE MURDERER IS STILL AT LARGE

Funeral Services for Von Krebs' Victim Held This Morning.

New Brunswick, Nov. 9.—Richard Von Krebs, who last Wednesday shot and killed Mrs. Henry Riehle and attempted to kill her husband, is still at large, but the police feel confident that he will be arrested soon. They base this opinion upon the fact that Von Krebs has been a fugitive from justice several times before.

The New York police have joined in the search for the murderer, fearing that he intends to kill some of his fancied enemies, including his wife, in that city. He was last seen in New York on Thursday night. John Ferguson and Richard Peltier, detectives of Prosecutor W. E. Florance's office, have spent two days in New York searching for the fugitive.

The funeral services for Mrs. Richie were held at her late residence this morning and the body was placed in a vault at the request of her husband until such time as he is able to be about again. At the hospital this morning, it was said that he is now well on the road to recovery and unless complications develop will be able to leave the institution in a short time.

TWO MONTHS' OLD CHILD FOUND DEAD BY PARENTS

Marie Chamberlain, the two months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain, of 669 West Third street, was found dead in bed yesterday morning. County Physician F. W. Wescott was summoned and pronounced death due to acute indigestion.

The parents say they put the child to bed Saturday night and at that time she appeared to be in the best of health. No crying or other noise was heard during the night to indicate that the infant was suffering and the parents were completely overcome when the sad discovery was made yesterday. Funeral services were held at the home this morning, Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery having charge of the services. Interment was made in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery.

MANY ATTENDED MINSTREL SHOW

Plainfield High School Athletes Made Big Hit in 9th Annual Production.

TALENT WELL DRILLED

Sewall Ulrich In Charge of Amateur Performers—Topical Song the Feature of the Evening—Music Furnished By P. H. S. Orchestra.

An audience that packed the spacious auditorium of the Plainfield High School, witnessed the ninth annual minstrel show presented by the Boys' Athletic Association of the institution, Saturday night. The attendance was without doubt the largest ever entertained by the association and the program presented was far superior to that of former years. Three solid hours of mirth and music was supplied by the amateur performers and they left nothing to be desired in the way of amusement. Divided into four different parts the program held the audience from start to finish, a constant round of rapturous applause featuring the affair.

The opening portion of the program took the form of a genuine old-time minstrel with a chorus of sixty-five voices, the largest in the history of the event. J. Sewall Ulrich, the coach of the production, acted as interlocutor and the end men included Gerald Linke, Donald Hylan, Cortlandt Fleming, Daniel F. McNamee, Milton Randolph and Monroe O'Donnell. The chorus was composed of the following:

F. Baille, E. Blimm, A. Brower, A. Brownlee, H. Burdick, R. Cockburn, L. Cook, E. Crone, M. Dealaman, C. Dunham, H. Eckert, A. Franke, M. Fullerton, R. Greenwood, H. Goldberg, K. Guttridge, T. C. B. CORIELL DIES, AGED SEVENTY YEARS

Well Known Borough Citizen Passes Away After Long Illness.

Cornelius Boice Coriell, aged 70 years, died at midnight Saturday, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Williams, 47 Grandview avenue, the borough, following an illness of two years with complications. Last Thursday Mr. Coriell dropped into a comatose state in which he remained until shortly before midnight Saturday. He then regained consciousness for a few minutes after which he passed away.

Mr. Coriell was born and always lived in this vicinity. For many years he followed the trade of painter and decorator, retiring a few years ago. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, Mrs. W. G. Williams and Mrs. Merton Lunger, the latter of Somerset place; two cousins, W. Wallace Coriell, of Lincoln place, the borough, and Mrs. Sarah Johnson, of First place, and a niece, Mrs. George Giles, of Dunellen. Funeral arrangements will be announced upon the return of Mr. Williams from Texas, where he was called on business. He is expected home today or tomorrow.

FOUR BOYS ARRAIGNED FOR DEED COMMITTED AUGUST 6

Arraigned before Judge Connolly, in Elizabeth, this morning, John and Patrick Long, Andrew Davinazo and Frank Diano, boys of this city, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery preferred against them by L. V. F. Randolph, of this city. The boys were indicted by the October Grand Jury.

The four defendants were arrested by Sergeant Maurice Higgins, on August 6, after they had been mixed up in an apple stealing escapade on Mr. Randolph's property. The boys admitted that they went to the place to ge apples, but denied that they were guilty of beating a gardener who tried to make them leave the premises. They have been in the county jail since their arraignment here August 7.

ITALIAN FIGHTERS IN SCRAP OVER GIRL

One Drew Knife and "Upset" Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy.

Two cops, one formerly connected with the police force of Italy, and the other at present a locust swinger in the local department, engaged in a scuffle at Somerset and West Front streets, Saturday afternoon, creating havoc in the business section among a crowd of shoppers. Patrolman McCarthy, who was patroling a beat at Plainfield's "four corners," had his attention called to a pair of Italians who were indulging in a wordy fracas near Luzardi's fruit store.

Fistic warfare had been declared between the two by the time McCarthy appeared on the scene and when he attempted to play the role of mediator he was dropped to the sidewalk by one of the individuals. The local minion of the law finally got the two fighters under control and summoned the patrol wagon. They were lodged in a cell and arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning.

Brought up for a hearing the men gave the names of Ben Cearpur, 413 Berckman street, and Andrew Barrow, 759 North avenue. According to testimony offered in court, Cearpur was intoxicated when the feud started and he appeared to have been the aggressor. The argument started over a girl, for whose hand the two men had been suitors, and Cearpur drew a wicked looking ten-inch knife on his companion. Judge DeMeza fined Cearpur $20 for carrying concealed weapons and Barrow was exonerated from all blame. Cearpur was until a year ago a policeman in Italy.

He is connected with the Lake Region Fruit and Grove Company.

The announcement of the engagement of the couple was made on February 27 last at a reception and dance given by Mrs. F. W. Inman. Among the guests at today's wedding are Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rogers parents of the bridegroom.

MORRIS PLAINS FUGITIVE FOUND AFTER LONG SEARCH

George Grieb, of Johnston avenue, who escaped from the Morris Plains Insane Asylum, was recaptured here last night, and is now a prisoner in the local police headquarters awaiting removal to the institution. Since he gained his freedom the man has been causing considerable trouble about his home and has threatened to shoot his wife.

She became alarmed at his actions and notified the police the fore part of last week. Since that time the authorities have been on a constant lookout for him but failed to land their quarry until last night, when they found him hiding in a house in Netherwood.

SAYS GERMANS ARE RETREATING

Correspondent Quotes German Officer as Saying "We Must Go Back."

FRENCH CLAIM SUCCESS

Official Statement Says That German Efforts Have Been Repulsed—Russians Have Again Crossed German Border Near Posen.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9 (Central News Cable).—"We must go back, but nevertheless we shall conquer," is the statement made by a German officer in Belgium, according to a correspondent of the Telegraaf, at Sauvangent. The Germans, says the correspondent, are persistently reported as retreating toward Antwerp, and troops stationed at Salzaete are reported to have been transferred by transport to the left bank of the Terneuz on Ghent canal. British patrols reached a point three miles from Bruges last Saturday.

Paris, Nov. 9.—More repulses for the German army in the north of France are reported in the official builetin, issued by the war office at 3 o'clock this afternoon, which reads as follows:

"On our left wing the Germans have taken a new offensive against Dixmude and in the region of Ypres, particularly to the southeast of the latter town. Their attacks were repulsed everywhere by the end of the day. On the entire front between Dixmude and the Lys we have progressed. At most of the points our advance, however, is slow because of the offensive undertaken by the enemy, and the very effective organizations that he has already had time to make around some points of support.

"Since the beginning of the battle the fog also has rendered operations difficult, especially between the Lys and the Oise.

DRIVER DISAPPEARS AFTER AUTO CRASH

Two Collisions at Scotch Plains But No One is Seriously Injured.

An automobile party, comprised of nine people, met with a mishap at the sharp turn in the approach to the White Bridge on Muntain avenue, Scatch Plains, Saturday night, when the car crashed into a tree at the side of the road. The occupants were hurled to the ground and all sustained injuries of a minor nature. Marshal Ashton, of the Scotch Plains police force, arrived on the scene a few minutes after the accident happened and found the autoists picking themselves up off of the turf.

When the police officer arrived the engine of the machine was still running at a rapid clip, this feature indicating that the automobile was speeding at a high rate when the crash came. Although the turn is a bad one it is the supposition of the officer that the accident could have been avoided as the street is wide at that juncture and no other vehicle was in the immediate vicinity at the time.

In an endeavor to ascertain the cause, Marshal Ashton sought the driver of the car, which the occupants said they hired from the Park Garage, of Newark. He made a quick get-away and has not been heard from since Saturday night, although efforts have been made to locate him. What his reason was for making a hasty get-away cannot be determined, but the car was towed to the garage of Seifel and Frazee in Scotch Plains and there awaits a claimant. A taxicab was summoned and the autoists were taken to their home in Newark, refusing to make known their identity.

Scotch Plains was the scene of a second accident yesterday afternoon, when a taxicab, operated by a Plainfield driver, ran into a traffic post at Front street and Park avenue. The lamps on the car were broken and the mudguard was bent. The driver get away before his name could be learned.

WILLIAM TINSMAN INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

William Tinsman, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Tinsman, was knocked down and run over by a Maxwell runabout in front of Trewin's restaurant on North avenue, at about half past five o'clock Saturday evening.

The accident was witnessed by a number of people who were standing along the thoroughfare in the vicinity waiting for their evening mail. They hurried to where the young lad lay. He was picked up by John Grindlay and taken into the Pennock pharmacy, where Dr. Roger L. Cooley happened to be at the time. After making a thorough examination the doctor pronounced that no bones had been broken. The only thing that saved the lad was the fact that the car was a light one and going slow at the time, as both of its left-hand side wheels passed squarely over the trunk of his body. The sum total of his injuries at the present writing appears to be a laceration under the chin, a bruised knee and a general soreness.

The car that ran over young Tinsman is owned by Tax Collector W. B. LaRue, of Piscataway township, who resides on Centre street, New Market, and in it at the time were Mrs. W. B. LaRue and her son, LeRoy LaRue, who was driving. The car was proceeding in an easterly direction and Mr. LaRue was in the act of turning it to the Railroad Park side of the thoroughfare and stopping in order to alight and go into the postoffice when young Tinsman, it is said, without looking to the right or left started to dart across the roadway in its path. He would have made it in safety, it is said, if he had not stopped and looked around when he heard the car. As it was, however, he had no more than turned his head when the car struck him. When Mr. LaRue brought the car to a standstill a few yards away his mother, who was made frantic by the accident, narrowly escaped being run down herself, when she jumped out of the car in front of another one that was proceeding along the thoroughfare in a westerly direction. Three or four noted her danger and yelled at her and she just stepped to one side in time.

WILLIAM REESE PREVENTS DESTRUCTION OF HOME

But for the coolness of an eight-year-old lad, Willie Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reese, of North avenue, there is no telling where a fire that originated in the kitchen pantry of his home about 9:30 o'clock on Saturday night, would have ended.

Willie and his mother were upstairs in bed and Mr. Reese and an older son were down town when Mrs. Reese smelled smoke. She aroused Willie and together they made a search of all the upstairs rooms, but they could discover no trace of fire. They then went downstairs. They searched the parlor and dining room, with the smell of smoke growing stronger all the time, and finally went into the kitchen. Upon her entry into the kitchen Mrs. Reese recollected that there had been a fire in the kitchen pantry once before, and she hurried to its door and threw it open. A cloud of smoke belched out and greeted her. Panic stricken she bolted out of her home yelling "Fire! Fire!" Mrs. Reese's cries were heard by William Huff, a neighbor, sending his twelve-year-old son, LeRoy, on a run downtown for the fire department. Mr. Huff hurried to the Reese home. When he got there he found that the fire had almost been extinguished by the eight-year-old Willie, who was valiantly throwing water on the flames with a wash basin. Mr. Huff lent a hand and the two had put the fire out by the time the local fire department arrived on the scene.

It is believed that the fire was caused by mice nibbling on matches that were in the closet.

DR. H. M. SHAW TELLS OF GERMAN ATROCITIES

Edward Pennock, the North avenue pharmacist, was born at Pine Grove Forge, Pa. All mail for inhabitants in that place is received through the postoffice at Oxford, four miles away. Ever since leaving his boyhood home, Mr. Pennock has been receiving a copy of the weekly paper of the latter place, the Oxford News. From time to time the local representative of this paper has expressed a wish that he might be given a sample copy of this paper. This wish was gratified the other day. In looking over the paper the following article on a current subject was noted:

"Dr. Henry M. Shaw, who is with the American Red Cross in the foreign field, in writing home states that the stories of atrocities on the part of the German soldiers are almost too horrible to describe. A single instance will serve to illustrate the tales that are current: A wounded Belgian told of a German officer who was forcing a Belgian civilian to go to work for the German army. The Belgian's wife came to the officer to plead with him not to take her husband, saying that he had nine children and that she could not support them if he were taken away. The children were with her and the officer solved the problem by shooting five of the children and telling her that she could certainly care for the other four."

GAVE A HOUSE PARTY.

C. Lou Wahl, Jr., of Washington avenue, gave a house party on Saturday evening, to twenty-five of his friends from Westfield, Plainfield and this place. The home was beautifully decorated with autumnal foliage and orange and black crepe paper. The evening was pleasantly passed in dancing, singing and playing games. Raymond Tynan was present and sang several bass solos which were decidedly the entertaining feature of the evening. Just prior to the breaking up of the party at midnight a dainty repast was served.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Another fire at nearly the same place and seemingly from the same reasons as the one that was burning in the fields between South and LaGrand avenues for about six months, several years ago, has been burning for the past week. In the opinion of many it is a sort of peat bog as the fire seems to burn into the ground. No flames can be seen, but a dense smoke rises with a peculiar odor. Attempts were made to put the previous fire out by turning a fire hose on it, but to no avail and so the thing burned itself out.

The local boys that composed the Scotch Plains Parish House second basketball team last year, are making arrangements to organize as a traveling team this year. The team was rated as one of the best in the county last season for its weight, and with the vacancy caused by the resignation of Maurice Hall, who is spending the winter in New York, filled by Edward Hetfield, the local five ought to repeat its record. The fellows on the squad are Guy, Keith and Fred Saunders, Walter Anson, Everett Marston and Edward Hetfield. THINGS ESSENTIAL IN QUAKERISM

The Bonnet and Broad-Brimmed Hat Are Not Necessary Says Speaker.

"Essentials and Non-Essentials of Quakerism," was the subject of an interesting address by Henry M. Haviland, of Brooklyn, at the afternoon session of the Half-Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, on Saturday. In part Mr. Haviland said:

"Every soul contains the divine presence, and it is the highest duty of each to turn it into service to one's fellow-man. The main essentials are, First, the presence of God in man; second, the love of God and man, the first and second commandments combined; third, the application of religion to life.

"The noblest souls have been those who when smitten on one cheek have turned the other. They have done good to those that hated them. The 'thee' and 'thou' and 'thy,' the Quaker bonnet and the broad-brimmed hat, even though they sheltered sweet faces and covered honest heads, all these are non-essentials.

An interesting discussion followed in which Mrs. Anna Rice Powell, J. E. Borden, K. S. Palmer, Mrs. Carver and others participated. The committee in charge of the "Margaret" Home held a regular meeting following this session. After supper Mrs. Richard D. Williams, Mrs. Benson and Miss Curtis entertained those assembled with several recitations which included "Darius Green, and His Flying Machine," "The Indian Warrior," and "The Bride of Enderly." Many of the visiting Friends remained over night and there was a large gathering yesterday morning at the service in the meeting-house. The speakers were Lewis Palmer, of Concordsville, Pa.; Robert Barnes and Isaac Roberts, of Jersey City.

TELLS OF PROGRESS OF NEW REPUBLIC

Rev. Dr. J. H. Franklin Speaks Hopefully of Mission Work in China.

"Uttermost Parts of the Earth," was the subject of an interesting talk given at the First Baptist church, last night, by Rev. Dr. James H. Franklin, secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society. The speaker devoted his remarks almost wholly to China, picturing the rapid progress made by the new Republic in recent times. He referred to the many ways and means being used to improve the social conditions of the Chinese.

Dr. Franklin said that the Chinese do not enthuse over denominational conditions, and the aim of all the missionaries seems to be to unify the people in one large Christian body. He said that it made little difference to the Chinese whether they were Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians or members of any other denomination. the one vital question being to have them converted. With this in view all are working along one definite plan and greater progress is the result.

Dr. Franklin spoke hopefully of not only the religious and social conditions, but of the general progress of the Chinese toward a more advanced civilization and he said that the future has great things in store for China. He told of the work being done in that country by the Baptist missionaries and how they have been encouraged by the support and aid given by the natives to the cause of Christ.

CIVIL SERVICE IN UNION.

As a result of the decisive vote in Union county in favor of civil service for county employers, the Trenton Times draws the conclusion that there is now little danger of the law ever being tampered with, as was threatened had the Democrats been given control of the Legislature at the election last Tuesday.

According to unofficial returns the majority in the county for the adoption of the act was 3,983, in a total vote on the question of 11,493, or almost two to one. In Elizabeth alone the majority in favor of the act was 1,141, and in Plainfield it nearly reached that figure. As the Times says, it was to be expected that Union county would join the procession as soon as the opportunity was given, for it was former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, who introduced and successfully piloted the bill through the Legislature in 1908. Last year an effort was made to have the matter submitted to the people of the county, but petty politicians in the Board of Freeholders prevented its submission by remaining away from the meetings.

Five of the most populous counties in the State have now adopted Civil Service for county employes—Hudson, Essex, Passaic, Mercer and Union,—with a combined population of 1,531,873, out of a total population in the State of 2,537,161. In other words more than three-fifths of the people of the State have registered their preference in the matter.

Undoubtedly the threatened attack by Comptroller Edwards and a few other Democratic officials on the law will never materialize now. As the Times says, the passing of control of the Legislature into the hands of the Republicans will no doubt deter the Comptroller and his hold-over Senatorial friends from following up their threat, sugar-coated though it was, with professions of a desire to relieve the State of the cost of conducting examinations for the counties and municipalities.

It was a Republican Legislature that passed the Ackerman law, and champions of the law will no doubt be plentiful who will show that it is much more economical for the State to do the work, while certainly there is then some assurance that the law will be fairly administered. If necessary, a part of the expense may be assessed upon the municipalities for whom examinations are held.

But until the Legislature so amends the tenement house law as to put the cost of its administration upon Newark, Jersey City and Hoboken—which cities monopolize its benefits—it will be idle to attempt to discredit the civil service system under the pretense that it is costing the State too much. The appropriation to the Civil Service Commission this year is $51,500; for the Tenement House Commission $69,350 is appropriated.

Americans are going to be called upon more to aid in charitable work this winter than has ever been the case in this country. The hundreds of thousands of men out of work throughout the nation, with their families must be taken care of, and the appeal from abroad will make the demands far-reaching and of most urgent character. All the world, virtually, will be looking to us for help, and the people of the nation can be counted on to respond to the limit of their resources. Regular expenses will have to be curtailed. Here in Plainfield, unless there is a decided improvement in some of the local industries, there is much to be done. And the "Do It for Plainfield" spirit will see that no worthy persons are in want and suffering.

There is one subject that the new Council should take up next year, and take up seriously. That is the matter of public parks. Plainfield is growing rapidly, and available tracts of land, especially those with handsome trees on them, are few and far between. Almost before we know it there will be little or no land available to be used for park purposes, unless it is procured by the expensive process of condemnation. If the city is not in a position to spend the money to construct parks, it at least should purchase land to be used for the purpose in the future, for every delay now means more expense later. We know of no city so large as Plainfield which is so woefully lacking in these public centers, as is the case here.

John H. Cose is entitled to the deputy-sheriff's office, by every possible political right, and also by a fitness for the office which cannot possibly be excelled by any other aspirant. The fact that he was runner-up in the Republican primary, and came within three hundred votes of getting the nomination from a field of five, and that he carried a large number of towns normally showing a Republican majority when he made the primary fight, should have much weight with Sheriff Otto when he chooses his deputy tomorrow.

Former Judge William Newcorn must be given full credit for the part that he played as county chairman of the Republican party in the recent campaign. There was not a detail of the campaign work that was not under his personal supervision, and much of the credit for the big vote given the candidates of his party goes to Mr. Newcorn.

Shelling cathedrals hurt the towns in France, and the shelling peanuts on the public sidewalks and streets hurt Plainfield. A word to the wise, etc.

"Julius Caesar in Six Parts," reads a moving picture advertisement. Shakespeare has probably turned over in his grave.

Some people never pay any attention to the word "Push" unless it is on a barroom door.

Don't spend so much time talking war that you haven't any left to talk business.

Don't be a grouch. Everyone you meet wishes you well—even the doctor.

Be a live one and Plainfield will never be a dead one.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The last word in motion photographic art comes to the Plainfield Theatre, today and tomorrow. Gabriele d'Annunzio, who is unquestionably Italy's foremost dramatist, wrote and personally staged the photo spectacle, "Cabiria." Experts in motion photography predict a new epoch with the introduction of this remarkable film, which is a historical vision of the third century, B. C., immediately after the close of the first Punic war. It has never been equalled for regal splendor and barbaric magnificence. Its cast is composed of the best known players of Rome and the ensembles, mobs and armies number over seven thousand people. d'Annunzio has taken as a basis of this story the strife between Carthage and the Romans, at the time Hannibal took command of the Carthaginian forces, and surprised his antagonists by crossing the Alps with his army. The romance of "Cabiria" is fictional but the action and main facts historical. "Cabiria," the title part, is the principal character of the scenario. The name means "one rescued from the flames" and "Cabiria," an infant, child, taken prisoner during the eruption of Mt. Aetna, is sold into slavery. The High Priest of the Temple of Moloch was the purchaser and the infant is kept with others until the time arrives for her to be sacrificed to Moloch, whom the Carthaginians worshipped as the God of Fire. She is saved by a young Roman, "Fulvius," and her experiences and sensational escape with the assistance of a veritable hercules, form the nucleus of the plot. An orchestra and chorus will accompany the stupendous photo spectacle, and everything to assure a most enjoyable and perfect presentation will be introduced.

One of the big events of the season will be the presentation here on Saturday afternoon and evening, at the Plainfield Theatre, of the sensationally successful farce comedy, "Madam President," with dainty Fannie Ward as the star. Miss Ward starred in this play last season, appearing the greater part of the year at the Garrick Theatre, New York city, where critics and playgoing public were unanimous in their praise of the star and the comedy. She also appeared in several of the larger cities, including Philadelphia and Chicago, where the attraction was equally successful. "Madam President" enjoys an unusual and enviable record. It was produced originally at the Palais Royal in Paris, famous the world over as the home of French farce comedy. It ran there for a solid year. Productions in Berlin, Vienna and Milan followed with success fully as great as that achieved in Paris. Then came the American version which took New York city by storm. Following this came the London production. "Madam President" was played simultaneously in six countries and four different languages. Miss Ward will be seen here with the complete New York production and practically the same supporting cast that appeared with her during the metropolitan run. These include Harry J. Ashford, John W. Dean, Amy Lee, W. J. Ferguson, Jack J. Horwitz, George Brennan, Charles Laite, William Levis, Reynolds Sweetland, Harriet Trench, Alice Kelly, Emily Hampton, Helen Buckley and others.

MANY ATTENDED MINSTRELS

E. Stevens, L. Stringham, D. Swackhamer, P. Thompson, R. Tomlinson, W. Traynor, M. Trowbridge, R. Vail, F. VanNorden, R. Vincent, D. Wean, A. Whitford, I. Wiltsie, A. Wirtz, L. Weintrob, C. Wright, W. Zimmerman.

The numbers included: Opening chorus by the entire company; end song, "Roll On, Missouri," by Mr. Hylan; ballad, "Ship of My Dreams," by Mr. Martin; end song, "Bake that Chicken Pie," by Mr. Fleming; ballad, "Love's Own Kiss," by Mr. Manley; end song, "Plant a Watermelon on My Grave," by Mr. Linke; quartet, "Medley," by Messrs. McNamee, Martin, Stevens and Fleming; end song, "Topical Song," by Mr. McNamee; closing chorus by the entire company.

The topical song, composed by the singer, was easily the hit of the evening. It portrayed in mirth and music interesting bits of High School work and dealt with the characters connected with the institution.

The second part of the play was a drill in which the following young men took part, led by Mr. Ulrich: F. Baillie, W. Zimmerman, T. Littell, H. Neeley, C. Dunham, A. Dealaman, H. Eckert, E. Crone, M. O'Donnell, M. Fullerton, P. Thompson, E. Blimm, I. Wiltsie, V. Smith, W. Traynor and T. Ryder.

Carl Evans appeared in a musical act playing a cornet, violin and drum in the third part and the grand finale proved to be a sketch written by the coach. This proved a wonderful laugh producer and kept the audience in a mirthful frame of mind from start to finish. The characters included:

Sargent Lock, Harold Davis; Private Property, Daniel McNamee; Girl, Irving Wiltsie; Rigah of Shebersey, Harold Burdick; Astronomer, F. Baillie; Soldiers, Eckert, Vincent, Smith; Buyor Sell, Gerald Linke; Fillem Up, Sewall Ulrich; Ima Nutt, Donald Hylan; Hotel manager, Charles Phelps; Diners, Eugene Martin, Edward Crone; Waiters, Dunham, Ryder; Duke Doolittle, Edward Crone; Baron Muchless, William McAneny; Ghost, A. Franke; Constable, Milton Randolph.

Between the first and second portions of the show, Daniel McNamee the business manager of the production, made a short speech presenting Sewall Ulrich with a purse of gold in recognition of his work as coach. Mrs. J. C. Evans, leader of the P. H. S. orchestra, was presented with a bunch of carnations by the cast.

Following the show the cast was entertained at a banquet in The Ritz and several members of the managing staff made short speeches. The executive staff included:

Coach, Sewall Ulrich; business manager, Daniel McNamee; stage director, Mr. Biddle; stage manager, Roscoe Blanchard; electrician, R. W. Lord.

LOCAL ENTHUSIAST GIVES HIS VIEWS

Anti-Noise Campaign Has Its Supporters Even in the Queen City.

In connection with the New York Evening Sun's campaign against unnecessary noises, Charles S. Sminck, of this city, has contributed a letter outlining his views on the subject. The columns of that paper were open to correspondence from anti-noise enthusiasts and the proposition concerned itself mostly with the unnecessary noise of railroads. One writer attacks the claim of W. G. Besler, of this city, vice-president of the Central Railroad, who contends that noise making is the true index of health and efficiency. The writer says that if Mr. Besler's statement were true then we should establish lunatics and drunken men as our soundest citizens. An extract from Mr. Sminck's communication follows:

"The Onion Is the Whistle of the Kitchen."

"It reminds me of a friend who was asked to prepare an article on odorless cooking—it seems to me that both propositions are alike in that they each try to run along the perspective of the impossible.

"It is also on a par with trying to conduct noiseless commerce in New York—smooth pavements to torment and torture the hard-working and patient horse and motor trucks, some of which make more noise than horse drawn trucks over rough pavements.

"Let us all be dainty and aesthetic, but to the point only of remembering the practical.

"The onion is a whistle of the kitchen and the screech of the locomotive is the warning at a crossing. Both are necessary, but neither should dominate.

"If an onion is a whistle of the kitchen let us remember that it stands high in nutrition, the same as a locomotive whistle is often a life saver on the rails or at the crossing.

"Let us remember that today there are thousands of people abroad who would like to get a chance of a good onion stew and that these same people would enjoy the opportunity of keeping step with the noise and music of commerce, the hum of industry, the racket of the drilling freight cars, the whistle of the locomotive, the glare of the blast furnace and all the other sounds which come from the harmony of peace and prosperity.

SPECIAL WARNING AS TO FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Special warnings have been issued to farmers of the East by F. R. Stevens, agriculturist of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, regarding the outbreak of foot and mouth disease among cattle in the West. He has advised every stock owner to watch carefully for any outbreak of the disease in his herds.

"The symptoms are mainly inflammation about the hoofs and in the tissues of the mouth, causing a froth to appear in the mouth," said Mr. Stevens in a recent bulletin on the subject. "These symptoms may come from other causes but in times like these it is the duty of every owner to report any symptoms immediately to the nearest veterinary."

Stock owners in sections without a veterinary close at hand are told if they have the slightest doubt as to the presence of the disease to notify the nearest station agent of the Lehigh Valley, and he will get word to its agriculturist at once, so that steps may be taken to determine whether there has really been any infection.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS' "FRAT" HELD BUSINESS MEETING

The Misses Lucy Douglas, Julia Rowley, Lillian Spencer, Dorothy Martin, Margaret Ewart, Ann Hull, Marjorie Burtis and Edna Green, all members of the club, were present.

The proceedings of the meeting were kept secret, but after the meeting was over, Roy Love, William Taylor, Ronald Conroy, Augustus VanDeventer and Edward Moraller were admitted to the social time which followed, consisting of music and dancing. Several vocal solos were rendered by the special guests. Refreshments were served shortly before midnight.

"IMPREGNABLE FORTIFICATIONS"

The Gunning Season Opens Tomorrow.

Local hunters are putting the finishing touches on their equipment for the opening of the season tomorrow and many gunners will hit for the woods at daybreak, taking advantage of the first few hours of the season. Rabbits, squirrels and quail are said to be plentiful in the wooded districts of South Jersey and this part of the State will probably be thickly populated with armed individuals during the next month. Gunners, back from the deer woods, brings the report that small game of all kinds is very abundant. Up to last night the country districts were extremely dry and the downpour of last night was a welcome one to the nimrods. It is necessary that the ground be moist in order to obtain the best results from hunting with dogs and the rain left nothing to be desired for a successful opening.

A license is required for the balance of the year and it will not carry over after January 1, as some gunners think. The fee is still $1.15, and all persons over fourteen years of age must carry such a license and no one under fourteen is permitted to hunt.

The license must be shown when the hunter has been requested to show it, so it might be well to ask the other fellow before he has a chance to put the question to you.

Every hunter is warned about the use of matches in the woods and fields, as a few more fires like the ones that have swept over certain sections of the State might lead to the issuing of a proclamation by the Governor, closing the season for the year or until wet weather comes. The Governor is opposed to taking any action without good and sufficient reasons, as he does not wish to interfere with the sport of the hunters, but safety first is his motto.

The season opens tomorrow and closes in December for quail, partridge, pheasants and rabbits and the latter part of November for woodcock. The killing of squirrels is prohibited and the same law covers wild turkey.

A good trip that comes recommended from Bound Brook is to start from the latter place and hunt toward Martinsville or to follow the lines of the Port Reading Railroad. On both these trips good hunting for quail and rabbits can be had, or else to go to Ambrose Brook from Bound Brook and follow its course while hunting.

Washington farmers are willing to take in a few boarders during the hunting season, and they tell us there will be very good hunting in their neighborhood, especially along the Musconetcong River. It is a great rabbit section, and a few birds will be found also.

Two parties of hunters will leave the borough this evening in preparation for the opening of the season tomorrow. The first party, composed of Michael Hogan, Fred Eckhart, Fred Krausse, Edward Krausse, James C. Waller, Walter Chandler, Raymond Schmidt and William Gaub, will visit the vicinity of Mine Brook, while Eddie Clark, Joseph Newman, Frank Hollingsbauch and Charles F. Stahl will visit the Liberty Corner section.

The offices of City Clerk James T. MacMurray and Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver were busy places today issuing hunting licenses. Mr. Dolliver, of the borough, reports that the number of licenses issued thus far is below the record of previous years, up to this time, but that the record will probably be broken before the day is over, judging from the number applying for the necessary documents.

Charles Wendell, of Arlington avenue, and "Hub" Reynolds, of Somerset street, will scour the vicinity of Sterling and Millington for cottontails tomorrow and Wednesday. They will spend tonight at Sterling in order to get an early start.

James Mottley, Joe Parson, Al Sutterline and John M. Caulfield will leave tomorrow for the woods.

OMAHA EAGER TO HELP IN "BUY A BALE" MOVEMENT.

City Is Willing to Share Its Prosperity With Southern Cotton Farmers.

Recognizing the unfortunate condition in the south, where the cotton farmers are unable to market their product, the Commercial club of Omaha by unanimous vote of its members has entered into the spirit of the buy a bale of cotton campaign by placing its order for five bales. This action was supplemented by the agreement to assist the southerners in any campaign which they would inaugurate in Omaha which might tend to a more general co-operation in buying cotton.

Omaha, which serves the middle west, especially the Missouri river valley states as a metropolis, is particularly fortunate this year in that the yields from its fields have been enormous. Record breaking corn, wheat and alfalfa crops have stimulated business as never before, and prices are higher.

In entering into the buy a bale of cotton propaganda Omaha's business men made one request—that the money so expended go into the pockets of the farmers rather than to the speculator. Stipulation has been made that the cotton be of the new crop and bought direct from the farmer. Negotiations are being carried on through the Montgomery (Ala.) chamber of commerce.

The Commercial club of Omaha is the first, especially in the middle west, to take cognizance of the southern situation as a club to contribute its share in relieving the situation.

PLAN TO REOPEN STOCK EXCHANGES

British and American Financiers Seek Method.

THEY WANT US TO PAY GOLD

Balance Against United States In Favor of Britons Exceeds $200,000,000. We Have Metal to Liquidate Obligation—Treasury Experts Explain Difficulty In Way of Doing So.

In view of business conditions in the United States American business men learn with interest that the British government wants to have the London Stock Exchange reopened as soon as possible. Its views in that connection are being made a subject of conferences in Washington with Sir George Paish and Basil B. Blackett, the representatives of the British chancellor of the exchequer now in Washington, with the idea that the discussion may lead to consideration of the opening of American exchanges.

From what was said in well informed quarters the impression was obtained that the matter would be taken up with a view to an arrangement for the synchronous opening of the London and New York Stock Exchanges and the opening of the British and American Cotton Exchanges. The British view is that if exchanges on both sides of the Atlantic are reopened the tendency will be to restore normal conditions, and that this will be particularly true with regard to dealings in cotton.

Conferences over the international financial and business situation were held between the two British financial experts, President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and the members of the federal reserve board. These conferences succeeded in making clear the position of the British financial administration toward the efforts of the United States treasury department to make an amicable arrangement for the settlement of American obligations in the British isles.

Britons Want Us to Pay.

Generally outlined, the British attitude is that with all the gold that is stored in the United States treasury and in banks American debtors are in an admirable condition to pay what they owe in Great Britain and should pay in gold as the obligations become due. Some difficulty is expected in explaining to the British representatives the circumstances that surround the possession of this great quantity of gold and the financial embarrassments that would come to the United States if payment were insisted on at this time.

With $1,000,000,000 of gold in the federal treasury and about $300,000,000 more in the banks of this country, the British government does not understand why there should be any difficulty on the part of the United States in paying the balances against it in the British possessions. The Bank of England, with a comparatively smaller store of gold, is handling greater financial problems, according to the British representatives. The balance against the United States in favor of the British Isles amounts to between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000, this being the estimate of Sir George Paish, and the British government and financiers find it difficult to see why, with all the gold that there is at hand, these obligations should not be liquidated easily without detriment to finance in this country.

Objections to the British Plan.

The United States authorities answer this argument with the statement that while the United States has this large gold reserve there are obstacles which will make it very difficult to attempt to settle the entire balance in the metal.

The argument has been advanced to Sir George and Mr. Blackett that the gold reserve in the treasury is not available for this use, that it is standing against gold certificates which are in circulation and that the only way in which it could be used would be to acquire a sufficient number of the certificates. Furthermore, the New York banks, upon which London draws in exchange, have no gold to spare, their reserve already having been depleted to a considerable extent.

According to the American authorities, it would mean that the United States in order to settle the present obligations with England in gold would be obliged to resort to the same method that was employed in the recent raising of the $150,000,000 for the promotion of foreign exchange.

There would have to be a voluntary subscription by the banks of the country, and Washington officials expect considerable difficulty in any attempt that would be made to raise $200,000,000 or $250,000,000 for shipment to London.

Biggest Gun For Our Navy.

With the utmost secrecy the navy department, the New York American learns, has completed a powerful sixteen inch gun as a new type, said to be the largest and most destructive naval engine of war. Inquiry at the navy department in Washington concerning the gun was met by the reply, "The government does not wish anything said about this new construction."

A Series of Special Sales--and Why?

By December 1st we want ample space for the proper display of holiday assortments. To achieve this most effectively, a series of special sales is being introduced, presenting important purchases recently bought way under market value, and to specially reduce assortments which are now excessive, due to the continued warm weather. This will include also lines of merchandise reduced in quantity from active selling, which cannot at this date be replenished to complete assortments.

We need not use many words to tell of the RELIABILITY of the merchandise offered, nor of the RADICAL SAVINGS the occasion affords.

By inspection and comparison in any casual tour through this lately reorganized, re-modeled and re-stocked dry goods store, where in the constantly increasing trade is plainly indicative of the complete recognition accorded it by the public of Newark and throughout the State of New Jersey.

SPECIAL TO CHARGE CUSTOMERS AND TO THOSE WHO PAY CASH.

Charge customers request have purchases made now placed on bills due January 1st. Cash customers have privilege of reserving selections, upon payment of a deposit, to be called for at any time before Christmas. This we believe will tend to facilitate Christmas shopping as well as add a convenient method of buying for our patrons.

BEAT VISITORS IN ROUGH FIGHT

Elizabetheans Resort to Rough House But Are Walloped by Holy Cross.

LOCALS FIRST VICTORY

Pretty Work by Coyle Overcomes Visitors Unsportmanlike Tactics—Plainfielders Fought Against Odds From Start to Finish.

Invading the Queen City prepared to battle against the Holy Cross eleven with sheer human strength minus real playing ability, the Elizabeth A. A. was treated to a sad bump on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, when the locals played them to a standstill and at the same time gave them an equal dose of their own game. The final score, 20 to 0, would probably have reached monster proportions had it not been the regrettable tactics resorted to by the opposition. Aided and abetted by the twelfth Elizabeth man on the field playing the role of umpire, the county seat crew robbed the locals out of every thing that fell into their grasp during the first half. With a few yards to gain for first down the locals were invariably treated to a sad jolt when the Elizabeth official came to the rescue of his team and unearthed some petty grievance for which he levied a penalty. Nine times out of ten these set-backs were of the ridiculous variety, the official having absolutely no cause for his action.

Playing a battering, slamming game, the visitors resorted to every foul tactic imaginable. Slugging, kicking and tripping was very much in evidence and when the locals found that they were battling against a squad of rough and tumble players they began serving up the same calibre of football. In the fourth quarters, at which juncture the Plainfielders began playing the invaders at their own game, things took on a more even aspect and the visitors were drubbed at their own game.

Many fumbles were recorded by both teams, this factor being due to the erraticness produced by rough house, and as a result the ball changed hands many times. Particularly noticeable was this feature in the first quarter when the visitors, through their slugging and rough house and with the aid of their official, managed to work the ball on two occasions to within striking distance of the goal only to be held for downs.

During the first half of the game, Jack Caulfield loomed up bright on the defense while Billy Coyle and Jerry Manning were powers on the offense. Caulfield broke numerous plays behind the line of scrimmage by his hard and sure tackling and appeared to be a nemesis to the visitors each time they needed a small yardage to gain in their distance. Coyle made several pretty runs and outgeneraled his rival quarter in brilliant style. Jerry Manning's batering at the center of the visitors' line was a bright feature and many gains were credited to him. For the Elizabeth clan, O'Rourke, the Boston National League club's new recruit, was easily the star both on the offense and defense. Smith and Wilson also played well for the Plainfielders.

The line-up and summary:

Local Boys Face a Hard Proposition in New Brunswick High School.

FINAL SCORE 12 TO 7

Plainfield Weak on Defense—Brunswick Lacked Power in Its Line Plunges—Wheelan Nabs Fumble for First Touch Down.

The Plainfield High School football team struck a harder proposition than it expected when it lined up against New Brunswick High School, at New Brunswick, Saturday afternoon. From the previous records of the two teams it looked as if Plainfield would have no trouble in cleaning up with the rival clan, but soon after the game started it was evident to all that it would be close and the Plainfield boys may consider themselves lucky to come home with the large end of a 12 to 7 score. Except for Wheelan at center, the Plainfield line was weak. They seemed to lack the snap and fight that was such a big factor in holding the Rahway backs from tearing down the field. The New Brunswick guards and tackles many times broke through and smashed up the Plainfield plays before they were started.

Wheelan was a terror to the Brunswick backs, breaking through the line and tackling the man with the ball before he was started. It was his good playing alone that was responsible for Plainfield's first touch down. After blocking a punt on the twenty-five-yard line he raced down the field after the ball, which was rolling before him and fell on the oval behind the goal line for a touchdown. It was a pretty play, but seemed to put more fight into the opposing team and just before the close of the first half a long forward pass from Broffe to Reed resulted in a touchdown for New Brunswick. Baschong kicked the goal which put his team in the lead by the score of 7 to 6.

Plainfield came on the field in the second half determined to carry home a victory. They received the kickoff and then by straight line plunges and an occasional end run the ball was carried straight down the field and Daniels was sent over for a touchdown. Neither team scored after this, although in the last quarter the ball was in Plainfield territory most of the time and a touchdown seemed certain at any moment. Rosenson and Greene played well on the offense and carried the ball for large gains when they were needed.

HUNT CLUB CHASE COVERS 22 MILES

Following Breakfast Hounds Lead Riders in Exciting Run.

The Watchung Hunt hounds covered much territory on Saturday, leading the huntsmen a distance of twenty-two miles. After a luncheon at the Old Meeker Inn, at Union, the hounds were thrown in nearby about 2:30 o'clock., leading the riders a lively pace. The first check was at Springfield. The hounds were taken up again and cast in nearby, going toward and checking at Mountainside.

Taken up for the third time and thrown in nearby, the line led to the water tower at Netherwood, the place of the last check. This was the longest run of the season. It was a pretty sight to watch the riders from the Springfield road, as they took the various jumps. Many followed in automobiles.

There were several spills, but the riders were uninjured, being able to continue the chase. Among those seen in the field were: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., H. Stuart Hollis, Miss Mary F. Baker, H. L. Finch, H. A. Bourne, Col. C. E. S. Bellows, R. H. Towner, Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield; A. C. Fox and Huntsman Harrison.

BORO BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES ANOTHER PLAYER

The North Plainfield High School basketball team has lost another valuable player in Bob Hebert, who started work in New York today. This is the second player that the borough team has lost within the last week, Roy Love, one of last year's stars, having left school a few days ago to take up commercial studies in New York.

Hebert's position as guard will most likely be filled by French, who is the most promising candidate for it. French showed up very well as guard in the game last week against the Alumni.

HOPE CHAPEL FIVE WON INITIAL GAME

After a Hard Fight, Acme Five, of Newark, Lose to Locals by Four Points.

The Hope Chapel basketball team had a hard time winning its first game of the season from the Acme Five, of Newark, on the Fourth street court, Saturday night. The final score was 21 to 17. The game was very fast and close throughout, the home team never leaving their opponents by more than four points.

Only two veterans were on the Hope team, they being Tommy Heron and George Leighs, while the other members of the squad that were put in the game were second string men last year. Schott played an excellent game at center, and Walls, Bohl and Grisley all looked good. The game started off at a mid-season clip and both teams played well. No scoring was done for about five minutes and then Schott broke into the scoring department with a foul. The Acme players followed immediately with a foul and the score remained a tie for some time. Hope then took the lead with two field goals, but this lead was quickly cut down with a pair of nice shots by the visitors. At the end of the half Hope was leading its opponents by one point, the score being 8 to 7.

Both teams scored more frequently in the last period and it was only a foul shot that brought the local team out on top. Many fouls were called and Schott made four count, while Lawlor could find the rim only once from the fifteen foot mark. One point was awarded each team and with the final whistle the Fourth street delegation were three scant points in the lead. Next Saturday, the Vikings, of Tottenville, will be the attraction and there will be a preliminary game between the Heavenly Rest team and the Hope Chapel Boys' Club. The score:

SWIMMING TESTS AT Y. M. C. A. HAVE BECOME POPULAR

Three boys of the "Indian" League of the Y. M. C. A. advanced from Class F to Class E in the swimming tests, Saturday, and will receive their first mark on a red ribbon. Those who passed were Boyle, Gates and Goss, and there were three who failed on one thing which put their mark below passing.

In this examination a ten-pound stone must be carried from the bottom of the pool to the top. Arthur Krausse, of the same league, passed from G to F.

SENIOR COLOR LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED TOMORROW

The Color Senior League of the Y. M. C. A. will be inaugurated tomorrow night, when a dinner will be given, to all the members of the senior class. Mr. Mermans will give a short talk about the work for the coming year and after the dinner the class will be held. The league consists of four teams, the red, white, orange and blue, and it is Mr. Mermans' intention that these teams play the preliminary games to the big game which will be played in the association gym every Saturday.

The teams will compete in athletic and gymnastic events and also basketball games. Two captains have been appointed for every team as follows: Red, Walter Carson, Albert Newmiller; orange, Henry Kinney, Cedric Osmun; blue, Ray Boice, Ben Harris; white, G. McCorbe, J. S. Karlburg. After the regular class work tomorrow night the teams will compete in the running broad jump. On Thursday the "pull up" on the horizontal bar will be held.

DUNELLENITES IN SCORELESS DRAW

Michelin A. C., of Milltown, Treated to a Big Surprise by Suburbanites.

SOME HARD FIGHTING

Home Eleven Puts Up a Remarkable Game On the Defense, Holding Strong Rivals at All Times—Are Now After Holy Cross.

Battling through four ten-minute quarters on Saturday afternoon, without being able to cross each other's goal line, the Monarchs, of Dunellen, and the Michelin A. C., of Milltown, played one of the best games to watch that has ever been staged on a Dunellen gridiron.

Both elevens made big gains but when their opponent's goal line was neared encountered a defense in every instance that amounted to a veritable stone wall. The Milltown eleven rushed the ball to the Monarchs' fifteen yard line towards the close of the first half, but were unable to carry the pigskin one inch further. In the second half the Monarchs had the ball on their opponent's twenty five yard twice, but the ball was lost there in each instance. Jules Margentino, the fleet left halfback of the Monarchs, leaped up in the air in the fourth quarter and caught a punt that had bounced off of the shoulder of a Milltown player, running twenty five yards amid rousing cheers, across his opponent's goal line. He was called back, however, because he had fallen to the ground after catching the punt and the cheering drowned in the throats of the Dunellen rooters.

The most beautiful play of the entire game was when Ed. Maurer, who played end for the Monarchs, rounded right end behind perfect interference for a twenty-five yard run just prior to the blowing of the whistle signalizing the end of the first half.

Eddie Hannon, the Monarchs' right halfback, was a consistent ground gainer for his team throughout the entire game. His end runs and plunges just off tackle were very spectacular. H. Kuhlthan shone for the Michelin's on the offense.

Ising, Ed. Maurer, P. Maurer, Rinehart and Johnson, the new fullback, were a power on the defense for the Monarchs.

"Ted" Pierce, of New Market, a former college player, played at guard during the last three-quarters for the Monarchs and played a good consistent game.

"Babe" Fisher, the Monarchs' giant 250 pound guard, of whom much had been expected, was laid out shortly after the commencing of the second quarter and obliged to leave the game.

URGES PARISHIONERS TO CONSULT BUREAU

Father Bogan Calls Attention to the Registry List in Mayor's Office.

During the course of his sermons at the masses in St. Mary's church, yesterday morning, Father B. M. Bogan took occasion to call the attention of the parishoners to the labor conditions existing in Plainfield at the present time and to the methods being employed by various civic workers to alleviate the stress. The rector urged the people of the church to take advantage of the information obtainable at the employment bureau in the Mayor's office and to have whatever work required on their premises done by the names that have been registered.

Father Bogan stated that it was necessary thatt he men out of employment should have work in order to continue the maintenance of families and that many were urgently in need of funds. He also took occasion to remark that because of the fact that they were registered in a bureau established by the city on a charitabje basis that they were not willing or able to give their services without the usual compensation. He declared that some people are laboring under the impression that the men out of employment were willing to work for practically anything, a fact that may be true in some instances, but which should not be taken advantage of by employers.

progress indicated in the communiques of yesterday has been maintained. In the Argonne and around Verdun, there were only minor engagements.

"On our right wing in Lorraine there is nothing to report. In Alsace new attacks by the Germans against the heights of the pass of St. Marie have ended only in a pronounced check for them."

Rome, Nov. 9 (Central News Cable).—Two British torpedo boats bombarded the telegraph stations at Sarmousak and Aysat on Saturday says a despatch from Athens.

London, Nov. 9.—According to information from Constantinople says the Post's Berne correspondent the Turkish treasury is empty, and an economic crisis threatens the country.

A Central News despatch from Johannesburg, says that the speech by Hon. J. C. Smuts, minister of finance in defense of the union of South Africa, has created the most favorable impression in all sections. He assured the audience that the rebellion in the Transvaal has been broken and that that in Orange Free State will be easily coped with.

The Russian general staff reports that cavalry have crossed into German territory, near Posen, and destroyed the railroad near Pleschen. Wirballen, in East Prussia, has fallen into Russian hands.

The offensive in Galicia has been taken up with increased vigor, and in the fighting of the past two days, at the River San and at Przemysl, 13,000 Austrians are said to have been taken prisoners and large quantities of war material captured.

Vienna advices say the Russians are rapidly advancing on Crocaw and the Austro-Hungarian authorities are calling every available man to the colors.

The "Times" Warsaw correspondent, after spending a fortnight in the Polish field, wires that the Russian organization is at last under way in every direction and within thirty days Germany either will have to submit to an invasion by vast Russian hosts or withdraw substantial bodies of her best troops from the western frontier.

"Russia's huge army is now moving with remarkable precision," he says, "and it is advancing with incredible rapidity and smothering every rearguard action with its numbers.

"The transjort is keeping pace everywhere, moving forward night and day. In many cases the main bodies accomplish about fourteen miles daily."

The "Daily Telegraph" Petrograd correspondent hears of another significant victory, not yet reported in the press, said to be the greatest of the war. He declares the combined Austrian and German armies have been dealt a staggering blow along their line of communications which is of vital importance.

"When all the details of the Russian operations in Poland are known," says the correspondent "Grand Duke Nicholas will be hailed as one of the greatest stragetists of the period."

Terror stricken inhabitants are reported fleeing from their prosperous Silesian homes despite the fact that Gen. von Hindenburg's strong army is between them and the advancing Russians. But something besides the might of the German army may enable them to remain in security, for a Petrograd message announces Russia may defer the German invasion until her historic mission toward the Bosphorus is accomplished. This mission includes the subjection of Austro-Hungary as well as the invasion of Turkey.

Cossack raids continue across the German border, and Berlin now admits the Russians are well beyond the river Warthe. The Russian advance has been made over bad roads at the rate of fourteen miles daily, and the German retreat has now passed Czernstochowa without stopping. The Russian line is well back of the Warthe, between Czernstochowa and Kalisz. Another Petrograd report states Czernstochowa is still held as the last German position in Russia.

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, was re-elected president of the New Jersey Women's Suffrage Association at the closing meeting of the twenty-fourth annual convention held in the Camden Y. M. C. A. building Saturday. The other officers elected were:

Mrs. Mary K. Calvin, East Orange, first vice-president; Mrs. Robert P. Finley, Merchantville, second vice-president; Mrs. L. H. Cummings, New Brunswick, recording secretary; Mrs. Bayard Naylor, Bound Brook, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Olmstead, Elizabeth, treasurer and Mrs. Arthur Hunter, of Montclair, auditor.

Miss Fola LaFollette, of Wisconsin, was the principal speaker and the slogan promulgated by her was "no more pink teas for suffrage workers."

"One canvasser with a horse and buggy, driving about the country, can do more with the farmers than any number of meetings held in the town hall," said Miss La Follette, who is Mrs. George Middleton in private life. "Don't go with the automobile, that is too pretentious; the canvasser with the buggy gets nearer to both the farmer and his wife, and leaves no suspicion of money power in their minds."

There were several brief speeches at the convention dinner held at the Garden Hotel, with Rev. J. L. Surtees, Miss LaFollette and Miss Cornelia Bradford, the only woman member of the Board of Education of Jersey City, as guest of honor.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY.

Bad grass fires kept the members of No. 4 hose company at Netherwood, on the jump most of the time Saturday and yesterday. They were out four hours on two calls, Saturday afternoon, one being a dangerous blaze in the rear of the Cruikshank property on Belvidere avenue, and the other was at the Fresh Air Home on Leland avenue. The flames were extinguished after a hard fight but before any great damage occurred. The company was called out three times yesterday for brisk blazes in the grass on East Seventh street and Central street.

LOCAL INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS BETTER

Various Plants Are Resuming Full Time With Increased Force of Men.

Reports from the various industrial plants throughout the city, today, indicate that work is somewhat brisker. While no great number of men have been taken back, practically every shop had increased forces, in the foundry and machine departments starting this morning. At the Potter Press Works, a dozen men were taken on for several repair jobs and they will probably keep busy for several weeks. The Saurer plant continues to run overtime in machine departments and the Bosch-Lomb Magneto Company took back a number of its old employes this morning.

A notice was posted in the Pond plant today that commencing with tonight the present force in the machine shop would work three hours overtime each night, running from 6 until 9 o'clock. This will continue until further notice. It was stated at the office of the company at noon that no additional men were being taken on at present, but prospects for the very near future were good.

The Spicer plant at South Plainfield also took on a number of its former employes today and orders now on hand will keep the shop busy for three or four months without any new work coming in.

MAKE YOURS A PUBLIC SERVICE STORE

This is the age of service. The rewards of today go to the men who give the most in return.

Translated for you, Mr. Merchant, this means that the customers are certain to patronize the store that will give them what they want when they want it.

Cut prices may bring some trade, but better service will bring more.

This is the age when people are reading the advertising in their daily newspapers because they are finding it a distinct part of the service they expect their newspapers to give.

When a nationally distributed article of merit is advertised in the newspapers a demand for it sets in right away.

People want to see it and, if satisfied, want to buy it.

They are going to turn to the store that lets them know it has the article. That store will be giving them the service they want at that particular moment.

If it is a good article they are going to remember the store where they got it and will come back to that store again.

Co-operate with the manufacturers who come into the newspapers of your town to exploit their goods and you will be building business for yourself.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

—Jacob Gernert, newsdealer, Somerville, sells the Daily Press or will deliver it to your home each day.

STRINGING PEARLS

Only the Choicest Silk Is Used For the Best Jewels.

TYING KNOTS AS A FINE ART.

The Perfect Hang of the Necklace Depends Upon How These Tiny Twists Are Formed, and It May Take a Year to Master the Knack.

The pearl stringers themselves call it a "trade." They are not the kind of people to talk about art. If they see anything of their work beyond the prosaic fact that "stringing" is a good employment it is only an indirect and somewhat vague appreciation of the delicate attraction of the pearls they handle.

Although not professing to be expert judges, I have never met a pearl stringer yet whose eye and taste were not trained to a fine perception of the form and color of the beamy, iridescent luster of the jewel of the shellfish. It would be as impossible for them to mistake an artificial pearl for a real one as it would be for a lapidary to begin to polish a piece of glass under the impression it was a diamond.

It is often said that the little known industry of pearl stringing is dying out, but this is not the fact. No machinery is yet invented to supersede the ten clever fingers of the practiced stringer. The industry is exclusive, too, and a business has often been passed on from mother to daughter, even from grandmother to grandchild. Drilling and mounting of pearls is quite a different branch of the industry.

Good light is one of the essential needs of the pearl stringer, especially when she is employed in making or repairing seed pearl ornaments. All the beads have to be arranged according to their size and then separately and most carefully sewed into place on their dainty framework. For instance, if the design is that of a flower or leaf the skill lies in graduating from the biggest pearl to the one that touches the extreme point. Some of these ornaments, by the way, are very old, for if they are carefully handled there is no reason why they should not be a joy, if not forever, at all events for as long as the handsome, antique pendants and pearl studded medals of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries that one still admires in the British museum.

Only the finest silk is used for stringing the finest pearls. Great beads, round and shiny, unmistakably artificial and with no more real luster than white marbles—with the exception of what are called Roman pearls, manufactured many years ago—may be allowed to hang together on catgut, but orients must be threaded, pearl kissing pearl, on silken strands worthy of their shape and "skin."

Now the art of the stringer lies in the apparently simple manner of tying the knot that attaches the snap. Sometimes also she has to make a knot between bead and bead, a method that adds to the length of the necklace, but detracts from the beauty of the line of pearls. The knack of making this tiny knot will perhaps take a girl a year to master; the perfect hang of the beads, neither too loose nor too tight, depends on how it is made.

There is no needle fine enough for threading small seed pearls, so the stringer makes her own out of a piece of wire as thin as a hair. She arranges her pearls, if they are of different sizes, on a grooved board covered with billiard table cloth, any other material, such as green baize, being much too coarse. When she is making a tassel or loops, it is pretty to watch her hold her work at arm's length every few minutes, measuring its size and effect with her well trained eye.

It is hardly necessary to speak of the strict integrity and unfailing care required in a pearl stringer. She is intrusted with great possessions, for the value of pearls is continually on the increase. There are some ladies who never trust their treasures out of their own houses, but arrange, through a jeweler, for a pearl stringer to call so many times a year to repair ornaments or restring necklaces.

The work of the pearl stringer is so little known, so quiet and dainty, that it is doubtful if one in a thousand women who stop to admire and covet as they pass show windows ever gives a thought to the patient fingers that have threaded the beautiful beads and tied the almost invisible, cunning knots that link them to their diamond clasps.

The little band of stringers are very simple, but businesslike people in their humble workrooms—devotees of beauty, although they are unconscious of the fact, and true artists in the perfection of their work.—London Chronicle.

Both Played the Game.

The head of the firm approached his son.

"What was the idea when I looked in your room just now? You and that traveler appeared to be walking round and round the office."

"Oh! It says in this Business Manual that one should always be careful when interviewing anybody to have one's back to the light. But I think the other fellow must have been up to that dodge. When we settled down at the finish he was sitting on the window sill," was the disconsolate reply.—London Answers.

A Gift For the Society Maid or Matron

The French reach all sorts of extremes in the matter of corsage bouquets, and here is a most beautiful conceit in the way of a water lily with soft yellow petals, and deeper yellow center. The stems are of light green twisted chenille with dark green velvet leaves. The center of the flower is dotted with brilliant dewdrops. The long stem, drooping leaves and buds give an exquisite long line when the flower is pinned to the bodice. This would be an appropriate gift for the maid or matron who goes out much.

COLD MEAT ECONOMIES.

DINNER MENU.
Ham and Chicken Pie.
Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Lima or String Beans.
Lettuce.
Grape Sherbet.
Coffee.

COLD meat should never be thrown away. It may be used in making many savory dishes in combination with vegetables.

When You Have Ham.

Barbecued Ham.—Take thin slices of cold boiled ham and soak about one hour in lukewarm water, drain, wipe and slightly brown in a hot frying pan. Remove ham to the dish and add to the fat in the pan three tablespoonfuls of vinegar mixed with one and one-half teaspoonfuls of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of sugar and one-eighth teaspoonful of paprika. When thoroughly heated pour over the ham and serve at once.

Ham and Chicken Pie.—Take thin slices of cold ham and lay in the bottom of a baking dish, then add a layer of cut up cold chicken; season very lightly with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Rub the hard cooked yolks of two eggs in a spoonful of flour and a large tablespoonful of butter, moisten and stir in one cupful of chicken stock and pour this over the first layer; add more chicken, cover this with a paste not quite as thick as for pie and bake slowly for half an hour or forty minutes if the meat is underdone. Serve hot.

Use For Cold Steak.

Beefsteak Hash.—Take cold steak and chop fine, with one small onion and potatoes, using two-thirds of potatoes to one-third of meat. Heat stock or water in frying pan and add hash. Let simmer slowly for ten or fifteen minutes, watching so it will not burn.

The tough end of sirloin and porterhouse steak make excellent hash. Serve poached eggs on hash and it makes a nice breakfast dish. If you use water instead of stock put a piece of butter in the hash. Season with salt and pepper.

Meat and Rice En Casserole.—Take three-quarters cup of rice and boil till tender; chop very fine one pound of cold beef; season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Chop one small onion, add one beaten egg, one tablespoonful fine cracker crumbs and moisten with hot water. Butter a baking dish, line the bottom and sides with rice and steam one hour. Serve with tomato sauce.

The Lyre Is a Very Timid Bird.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Dollar Mark Tail of the Lyre Bird.

"I HAVE told you about the vanity of the peacock, haven't I, kiddies?" asked daddy as the children snuggled down beside him and the fire leaped and flamed in the big open fireplace.

"Yes, daddy," said the children.

"Well, I'll tell you tonight about the lyre bird, and the peacock is not more vain than the male lyre bird with the tail that sometimes gets its feathers crossed, and then it looks like a dollar mark walking around.

"The lyre bird does not live in this country, but there is a small family of them in New South Wales.

"It is a very timid bird, however, and as the people begin to go where he is he goes away so they can't catch him. They say it is hard to get even within gunshot distance of him.

"And he builds the queerest nest you ever heard of. His tail is of a very peculiar shape, and so, of course, he must have a nest to fit it or else it would be all disarranged when he is sleeping.

"So he builds his nest in the shape of a dome, and he is able in that way to keep his wonderful tail erect while he sleeps.

"In addition to his beautiful tail, the lyre bird can sing. His song isn't always musical, but sometimes the harsh notes he utters as he struts around displaying his tail, of which he is very proud, change into quite a fine song.

"So, you see, the lyre bird really has more to be proud of than the peacock.

"But I'm afraid that Mr. Lyre Bird isn't a very good husband because Mrs. Lyre Bird is a very downtrodden looking lady, and she hasn't anything like as pretty tail feathers as her proud husband.

"And unless I am very much mistaken Mrs. Lyre Bird does the most of the work about the building of the nests. I may be mistaken, of course, but why else would she look so downhearted?

"The lyre birds can't fly very well on account of their tails, so the way they outwit their enemies is by running away very swiftly.

"So their nests are built upon the ground instead of in the limbs of trees, and they are woven of sticks and plant stems.

"They are called lyre birds because their tails when they are not mussed up to look like a dollar mark resemble the musical instrument upon which the Greek god Apollo is always pictured as playing."

"Tell us about Apollo, daddy!" cried the children.

"That will be another story, kiddies."

"Good night, daddy."

"Pleasant dreams, kiddies."

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

She met him at the door with a happy smile, and taking his face between her hands said as she kissed him: "Many happy returns of the day, dear old boy! Did you think I had forgotten it was your birthday?"

A smile of pleased surprise crossed his face as he said: "Why, yes, I had most forgotten it myself. My, but you are dolled up tonight," he continued, holding her off at arm's length.

"Of course I'd wear the dress you like best on your birthday. Now, you must dress for dinner tonight, as it's a festive occasion. Hurry, for everything is about ready," and she bustled away to the kitchen.

It certainly was a pretty sight that greeted the eyes of Phil Armstrong when he entered the dining room. The three children in gala attire assaulted him with birthday "pats," while he took in the decorations, the pretty shaded candles, the flowers and a mysterious stand by his place, covered with a linen drape. An envelope was pinned on the cover addressed to him. He opened it while his wife tied on the baby's bib and lifted him into his high chair. It read:

"This business assistant applies for a position in your private office and is especially recommended by your loving wife. Many happy birthdays be yours. The flowers are from the children."

He raised the drape and there was a handsome typewriter. He had many times expressed a wish for one, but never felt able to buy it. He kissed the radiant face upturned to his, saying, "My dear! how could you do it? They are so expensive."

"It's all paid for, so don't you worry about that, but sit down and serve, for everything is getting cold. I will tell you about it while we eat.

"About a year ago," she went on while she prepared the baby's plate, "Mrs. Thomas called up one afternoon and asked if I would help her out. She said she had company coming for supper and was feeling very miserable. 'If I had warm biscuits,' she added, 'I could get a very simple supper and manage all right. You make such fine biscuits. Could you help me out?' Of course I gladly helped her and sent the biscuits over piping hot, and she sent back 60 cents for the four dozen. I figured everything up and found I had made 24 cents and it had taken hardly any time. When I saw her next, she thanked me and praised the biscuits. 'I would never make any more if I could persuade you to do it for me,' she added. I told her I would gladly do it for her or any of her friends. Orders began to come in. I had some tins made that filled the oven. I can bake twelve dozen on one shelf. Later I got orders for cakes and fried cakes."

"You certainly have worked very hard to do all this in addition to your other work. I am afraid it is too hard for you. It was a beautiful thought and I shall take great pleasure in the typewriter because of it, but I don't believe I would do this work any more. Your health is worth more than anything else to us all," said her husband, smiling across the table at the happy face opposite.

"It isn't hard, really. The pleasure of having some money to get just what I want with will help keep me well," she replied.

When the cake covered with candles was brought in and served, he said:

"I don't wonder you got orders for cakes if they were as good as this. I'm glad I was born."

3COOP, THE CUB REPORTER — THERE ARE WAR ZONES AND WAR ZONES — BY "HOP"

DR. HERMANN, ELECTRICAL WIZARD, AT PROCTOR'S

The offering at Proctor's Theatre the first part of the present week introduces another novelty in the person of Dr. Hermann, the electrical wizard. In all appearances this man is a veritable dynamo, carrying many volts of electricity, emitting sparks and flashes at will, lighting gas jets by mere contact of the fingers and giving distinct shocks to those grasping his hand. His act embodies a demonstration of thought transmission superior to any of his telepathic predecessors. This is the first time Hermann has been seen in any of the (big time) houses and his visit to Plainfield will undoubtedly be met with a hearty response on the part of patrons.

The remainder of the bill presents a variety of numbers in keeping with the Proctor standard. Mercedes Bock and Company offer a comedy sketch that causes one prolonged laugh. Lee and Walter Henney have a dancing, singing and piano number that gets everybody going; George Wagner, comedian, is a good mirth producer, and Luce and Luce are sure to please everybody with their novelty musical act. The eighteenth episode of the "Perils of Pauline" will be shown on the screen this afternoon and evening, and "The Million Dollar Mystery" is scheduled for Wednesday.

COUNCIL TO AID PLAN OF RELIEF

Representatives Named to Confer with Citizens' Committee for Unemployed.

SEWER BILL IS PAID

Councilman Blatz Introduces Ordinance to Widen East Second Street—Public Hearing December 7—Various Petitions Received.

Councilmen Leighton Calkins, John H. Cose, C. C. Graves and Theodore Martin were named by President George S. Clay, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, to confer with the Citizen's Committee formed to look after the interests of the unemployed men in the city. This action was taken in response to a request from the Building Trades Council, and the appointees will meet with the larger committee from time to time.

The statement from the Joint Sewage Commission, regarding Plainfield's share of the expense to date, amounting to about $12,889.78, was passed upon in accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Calkins and referred back to take the usual course.

Another resolution by Mr. Calkins, which was adopted, authorized an appropriation of $345 to pay Armstrong Mulford, D. J. Courain and Frank J. Hubbard for their work as commissioners of assessment in the matter of sewer extension, which work was completed in August last.

Petitions from LeRoy Whitman and Leopold Wolf, Lamar VanSyckel and Postmaster A. E. Hoagland in reference to street work, were referred back on motion of Francis J. Blatz, chairman of the street committee. In reference to Mr. Hoagland's petition, which pertained to the sidewalk on East Second street, along the government property, Mr. Blatz introduced an ordinance which was adopted twice and ordered advertised, providing for the widening of that thoroughfare between Watchung avenue and Church street, 25 feet each side of the centre line of the street. There will be a public hearing on the proposed action on Monday night, December 7, when it is the intention of the Council to adopt the ordinance on third reading. This widening has been in prospect for sometime.

The resignation of Joseph Robinson, as a member of the fire department, received at the regular November meeting, was accepted on motion of Councilman A. D. Edgar.

In response to a request, Henry P. Vosseller was given permission to install a gasoline tank, of 500 gallons capacity, beneath the sidewalk at 331 Park avenue, a short distance from Fourth street.

Councilman Juan A. Babcock referred back the communication of Leslie R. Fort, of the Citizens' Committee on unemployed, requesting that all public work be started as soon as possible, with the explanation that steps have already been taken in that direction and that within ten days work would be started on the sewer work. The city clerk was instructed to inform Mr. Fort to that effect.

Petitions for street lights on Rushmore avenue, and on Monroe avenue, between West Second street and Rushmore avenue, were referred to the proper committee. The petition from the Building Trades' Council requesting that representatives of the Council, as well as the Borough Council co-operate with the Citizens Committee to handle the situation regarding unemployed men in this city and the borough, was referred, the matter already being underway. The Council adjourned to meet on Monday night, November 23, at 8 o'clock, to receive bids for two issues of sewer bonds.

MAYOR-ELECT CALKINS AND COUNCILMEN SWORN IN

Prior to the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, Mayor Percy H. Stewart administered the oath of office to Mayor-elect Leighton Calkins and Councilmen-elect Francis J. Blatz, A. D. Edgar, C. P. Hamilton and R. H. Cox. Mr. Cox afterward attended the meeting of the Council and evidenced considerable interest in the proceedings. The new men will take office on January 1 at 12 o'clock noon.

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue tf

SAYS SHE WILL NAME AFFINITY

Mrs. Florence D. Roundey Files Petition for Temporary Alimony.

CRUELTY IS CHARGED

Applicant Alleges Her Husband Attempted to Force Her to Live in Damp Apartment—Also Claims He Paid Attention to Another.

According to information divulged by the petitioner in Newark, this morning, when she made application for a court order compelling her husband, John E. Roundey, president of the Endress Company, to pay her temporary alimony, startling revelations will be made by witnesses for the applicant when the matter comes before the court next Tuesday. In her petition, Mrs. Florence D. Roundey, who has been residing recently at Truell Court, makes allegations against a prominent Plainfield woman for alienation of affections, and contends that she is prepared to divulge information substantiating her claims when placed on the witness stand.

The application was received in the Newark courts, this morning, the petition being presented by William Newcorn, counsel for the applicant. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who represents Mr. Roundey, was astounded at the introduction of a woman's name into the cast, and in view of the fact that he had not been previously acquainted with certain details necessary for continuing the hearing, the matter was laid over until next Tuesday. The name of the woman was not mentioned today and attempts to establish her identity were futile.

The petitioner maue a supplementary charge in her application against the woman. She demands separate maintenance pending a divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Roundey were married in New York city, August 1, 1898, and ten years later moved to Plainfield when Mr. Roundey secured an interest in the Endress Company. Mrs. Roundey claims that her husband attempted to force her to live in an apartment over the meat market on West Front street, but that her health would not permit and she refused to establish a residence there. The petitioner, although of robust appearance, contends that she is troubled with rheumatism and that her health is delicate. The apartment in question was formerly a plumbing shop and it is claimed that it is subject to dampness at times.

She further charges that her husband refused to provide sufficient funds for her maintenance and that she was compelled to support herself out of $15 a week she got as treasurer of the Endress Company, in which she was a stockholder. Mr. Roundey claimed that his wife had put but $3,500 in the business and that he had paid her back this amount. He further stated that the corporation's property was mortgaged for $35,500, of which $25,000 was a chattel mortgage and said that he was willing to dispose of the business for an offer of $40,000.

It is charged that Mrs. Roundey interfered considerably with the business, making false charges against employes and making herself generally disagreeable about the store. It was brought out in court that she formerly lived at the Waldorf, on Crescent avenue, but it is said had been asked to move because of her disposition. Mr. Roundey denies the allegations of cruelty made against him.

RENEWS REQUEST.

John Schorb, an heir of the estate of Elizabeth Schorb, who, several months ago requested the Common Council to remove his name from the liquor application of Ellsworth C. Wescott, who conducts a cafe in a building on East Front street, owned by the estate, communicated with the Council again, last night, renewing his request. The city clerk, James T. MacMurray, was instructed to send a copy of the request to Mr. Wescott.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION.

The annual meeting and exhibition of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Club of America, will be held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, Thursday afternoon. A meeting of the directors will be held at 3:30 o'clock and the exhibition will start at 4 o'clock. All garments that have been collected throughout the year will be on exhibition and all who are interested in the work are cordially invited to attned.

DISTRICT COURT RECEIPTS.

Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District Court, reported at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, receipts of $233.11 and disbursements of $65.89 for the past month. The balance has been turned over the the city treasurer, William F. Arnold.

TYLER SALOON ZONE THREATENED

Amendment Allowing Clark Place to Continue Adopted on Second Reading.

OPPOSITION IS RAISED

"Councilmen Are Servants and Not Bosses," Says Mr. Graves and Should Give the People What They Want.

In accordance with an amendment to the excise ordinance introduced by Councilman C. C. Graves sometime ago and adopted on second reading at the adjourned meeting of the Council, last night, by a 7 to 2 vote, the first real attempt to lessen the effect and change the intent of the Tyler "zone" ordinance was made. If the amendment is finally passed, which now seems probable, it will mean that Clark's saloon at Liberty and West Third streets will be assured of a license next year.

According to the provisions of the Tyler ordinance, the Clark license would die at the expiration of the present year and could not be renewed again, but according to Mr. Graves, as well as Councilmen John H. Cose and Leighton Calkins, there seems to be a real demand for the continuance of the saloon, and it seemed in their opinion that it would be better to continue that licensed place rather than increase the number of saloons in the business section, which it was believed would be the result in case the Clark place is outlawed.

Just previous to the action of Mr. Graves in calling the ordinance up for a second reading, a communication was received from Alexander Smith and others representing a Hebrew congregation on West Fourth street, asking the Council to disregard a previous one complaining about the Clark saloon, adding that no such action had been taken by the congregation, that the communication was the individual act of one Louis Kadish. It was further set forth in the communication that Clark's place had always been and is now orderly and that the Hebrew congregation located its house of worship at its present place with the

SEARCH FAILS TO REVEAL CHAFFEUR

Newark Garage Representatives Claim Wrecked Car That Hit Tree.

Two representatives from the Washington Park Garage, of Newark, called at the Scotch Plains garage yesterday afternoon, and claimed what remained of the seven-seated Peerless touring car that crashed into a tree on Mountain avenue, Saturday night. At the time of the accident a party of eight persons and a chauffeur employed by the garage owners were traveling in the direction of Newark at a high rate of speed.

The chauffeur for some unknown reason failed to see a slight curve in the road and the heavy car crashed headlong in a tree at the side of the road. All of the occupants were hurled to the ground their escape from certain death being little short of miraculous. The car was reduced to a heap of scrap iron the engine being stove through to the rear portion of the machine.

Immediately after the accident members of the party and Marshal Ashton, of the Scotch Plains police force, instituted a search for the driver, it being thought at first that his body was underneath the wreckage. A thorough investigation failed to reveal the whereabouts of the driver and the suspicions of the authorities became aroused. It is the supposition of the police that he made a hasty getaway in the direction of the mountains as he has not since been heard from. The representatives from the garage were told that they would have to produce the chauffeur before they could reclaim the car, but later satisfied the police that they had no knowledge of his whereabouts and were just as anxious to have him apprehended as were the Scotch Plains officials.

The garage owner has joined in the search for the missing chauffeur and every possible effort will be made to have him arrested. His object in making a getaway is still a mystery.

TO START SEWER WORK AT ONCE

Cauldwell-Wingate Co., Contractors, Agree to Employ Local Help.

WILL NEED 100 MEN

Efforts Being Made to Have E. L. Bader Commence Operations on the Darling Farm—Officials Do Not Fear Injunction Proceedings.

Encouraging news for the idle men of Plainfield and vicinity was given by Councilman Thomas F. Hylan at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, when he stated that within ten days work would be started by the Cauldwell-Wingate Company, contractors, on the new 42-inch main sewer in the western end of the city and borough.

Mr. Hylan has been in communication with the contractors and they have agreed to employ all of the Plainfield help available and if the weather continues favorable there will be work for the next two or three months. The contractors are getting their machinery and materials on the ground and they will be ready to employ at least one hundred men inside of ten days.

Efforts are now being made to have Edward L. Bader, of Atlantic City, who has the contract for building the sewage beds on the Darling farm, start operations by carting stone and other materials preparatory to the actual commencement of operations. As yet little progress has been made in this direction, Mr. Bader, it is said, preferring to wait until spring to start work on the beds.

At the present time there are about 180 men registered at Mayor Stewart's office, signifying that they want work, and it is believed that the majority of these men will find employment within a short time. Mr. Hylan is very much pleased with the attitude of the Cauldwell-Wingate Company and its desire to co-operate with the officials of Plainfield in relieving the local situation.

As most all of the present work on the joint sewers will be in Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, the Borough of Middlesex will be unable to secure any injunction stopping this work and many doubt its ability to stop the work when it is started on the Darling farm.

WANT SHAWLS AND MONEY FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

As the time approaches for shipping another lot of clothing from Plainfield for the Belgian Relief Fund, the women of the local committee having the matter in charge find that there is great demand for good, new or second hand shawls. Many articles of clothing of various kinds have been received to be packed, but there are not yet enough shawls, and an appeal is being made for more of these very useful articles. Any person having such apparel which they wish to contribute for the cause, can send them to Mrs. Fredcrick Wallace, of Hillside avenue.

Up to the present time only $300 of the $1,000 which it is hoped to raised in contributions of $100 each, has been received. The appeal has been so strongly, and the want and suffering of the women and children of stricken Belgium are being so graphically described in articles appearing in the newspapers every day, that it is not necessary to add anything to the appeal. It is hoped that some of the public spirited men of the city will come forward soon with the other $700, so that the first $300 pledged can be collected. Those who wish to aid in the work can notify the Daily Press, and when the entire amount is subscribed, they will be requested to send their checks.

Two contributions, one of $25 from E. H. and one of $5 from a friend, were received today.

BOOM RUNYON FOR SPEAKER

Movement Started With a Conference Held at Trenton Today.

UNION COUNTY SUPPORT

Believed That the Plainfield Man Would Be Acceptable to the Lower Branch of the Legislature—Endorsed by County Committee.

A boom for Asemblyman-elect William N. Runyon, of this city, as House leader, was launched at a meeting of the Union County Republican Committee, in Elizabeth, last night. The movement was started with the conference in Trenton today in mind. The members of both the Assembly and Senate who will comprise the next Legislature, are in session formulating plans.

It leaked out yesterday that there would be a measuring of relative strength between Assemblyman Kates and Godfrey in their respective candidacies for the speakership. It has been the rule in the past that the candidate defeated for the speakership was made House leader. Both of these men are second year men and in that way meet the requirements of established precedents, which prevents a first year man from being speaker or leader.

As both are lined up with factions, however, it is believed that another would be acceptable to many of the other legislators, and especially those from this county. To support Godfrey they feel would be a slap at the Pierce Bank Tax Act, owing to his affiliations. Kates is known as a Baird man.

Regarding the movement started in his favor, Judge Runyon said he was much gratified by the expression of confidence it implied, but it was his purpose to go to Trenton for service rather than honors or advancement and he had no thought of seeking either. Recalling the vote given him and his colleagues last week, he said such an expression could not go unheeded in the absolute fulfilment of every pledge.

Assemblymen-elect Arthur N. Pierson and Charles L. Morgan expressed similar sentiments.

ACTION TAKEN TO ABOLISH CALL MEN

Council Adopts Ordinance on Two Readings Making Important Changes.

Action was taken by the Common Council, at its adjourned meeting, last night, to abolish the "call-men" system and establish a full paid fire department, through an ordinance introduced by Councilman A. D. Edgar, chairman of the fire and buildings committee. The ordinance was adopted on two readings and ordered engrossed and advertised. It is proposed to make the change effective on January 1, 1915.

Among the new provisions in the ordinance is one which calls for a probationary period of six months for new appointees, the salary to be $60 a month during that time, and all appointees will be obliged to sign an agreement to comply with the rules of the department. It is further provided that there shall be drills, inspections, etc. There are no changes in the classes nor salaries of the men, but in place of "call-men" the firemen other than officers will be called "privates." After the final adoption of the ordinance it is the purpose to appoint three or four additional men to take the place of the "call-men," and the fire alarm whistle will also be abandoned. By this change the city will save about $1,900 on the whistle and doing away with "call-men." This amount will provide for the hiring of at least two regular men.

WANTS TO BE GAME WARDEN.

Elizabeth, Nov. 10.—George Johnson, of Scotch Plains, who, together with several others, was after the appointment as under sheriff, is now seeking the appointment as game warden, according to rumors current about the Court House this morning.

EMDEN DESTROYED; KOENIGSBURG BOTTLED UP IN EASTERN WATERS BY THE BRITISH BATTLE FLEET

AFTER LONG HUNT, DESTROYERS OF BRITISH SHIPPING HAVE BEEN REMOVED, AND WAR RISK INSURANCE GOES DOWN.

TSING TAU UNCONDITIONALLY SURRENDERED

Although Battle in France Continues With Great Severity the Allies Are Making Gains Every Day—Germans Rushing Troops to Russian Frontier From French Battle Line—English Reverses in South Africa.

London, Nov. 10, (Central News Cable)—The German cruisers Emden and Koenigsburg, which have been troubling British and French shipping in the Indian Ocean and Pacific since the war began, are no longer a menace. The Emden has been driven ashore and burned after an action with the cruiser Sydney, of the Australian navy, according to an official announcement made public today by the admiralty office. The Koenigsburg is aground in German East Africa and unable to move, according to the same statement.

The Sydney's losses were three killed and 15 wounded, and the losses among the officers and crew of the Emden are announced as having been very heavy.

The Emden was encountered and destroyed in the Bay of Bengal by the Sydney. The Australian cruiser sighted the Emden yesterday morning. With superior speed she quickly overtook the Emden and a running fight followed. The Emden was soon afire from the shells of the Australian warship and was beached.

The announcement by the admiralty says that after the whereabouts of the German cruiser Koenigsburg were indicated by her attack on the steamship Pegasus on September 19, a concentration of fast cruisers was arranged in east African waters. A prolonged search by these war vessels in combination was made resulting on October 30 in the Koenigsburg being discovered by the Chatham, a British second class cruiser hiding in shoal water about six miles up the River Rusigi, opposite Mafiia Island in German East Africa from which place she cannot escape because the channel to the harbor is blocked.

The announcement of the destruction of the Emden and Koenigsburg resulted in the immediate lowering of rates on marine insurance in the Indian Ocean.

Sentiment on the stock market was helped further by the elimination of the German cruisers Emden and Koenigsburg. The stock exchange committee announced that it would give out an important statement late tonight probably not before ten o'clock. It is expected that it will embody a most important amendment to the settlement scheme.

Far Eastern shipping risks at Lloyds slumped below the government rate on the favorable British naval news.

The German stronghold of Tsing Tau, according to a despatch from Shanghai, was unconditionally delivered to Japan at ten o'clock this morning.

Tokio, Nov. 10.—According to reports reaching here the captain of the German cruiser Emden was saved. Previous to the engagement with the Sydney off the Cocos Islands the Emden had cut the British cable connecting the Cocos Islands with the outside world.

Paris, Nov. 10.—According to the official statement given out at the War Office this afternoon, yesterday's action continued with great severity between the sea and the region of Armentieres.

The text of the statement follows: "The conflict continued yesterday throughout the day with the same ferocity as on the preceding day between the sea and the region of Armentieres. The shock has become even more violent as the opposing forces wage their offensive movement from one side or the other. In general the day was marked by the check of a German attack in considerable force directed to the south of Ypres and by appreciable advances of the French forces.

"Around Bixschotte and Ypres and Armentieres on the front, the British troops likewise have thrown back all the German attacks energetically. On the greater portion of the front from the canal of La Bassee, as far as the Woevre region our troops have consolidated. The results gained in the course of the last few days show our decided advance."

North of France, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—A considerable concentration of German forces was noticed Thursday afternoon, in front of the British trenches south of Ypres. About this time a heavy rain began to fall. The British troops knowing that the massing of the enemy's troops was progressing were keenly alert. Behind a thin line of trees a short distance in the rear there was a silent gathering of many hundreds of almost invisible figures moving with lithe tread. A score of these hazy figures detached themselves from the main body and moved stealthily beyond the British trenches. "The Indians are going out," passed the word. The ghostly outposts crawled noiselessly to the first German trench and for five minutes there was perfect quiet. Then a few shots were followed immediately by a wild splutter of rifle fire mingled with cries and groans. Three or four light balls thrown in the air revealed to the British troops the Pathans at their deadly work six hundred yards away.

Amsterdam, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—The transport of German troops from the battle line on the west toward the east is proceeding on a large scale, says a despatch to the Tyd from Antwerp. A large number of troops appear to have been withdrawn from the conflict on the River Yser. Military trains full of men and munitions of war are going to Germany daily by way of Brussels and Louvain. It is stated that Roulers has suffered terribly and that the neighboring village of Rumboke has been plundered and partly destroyed. The Mayor of Handzaerne has been shot for defending a member of his family.

A despatch to a local paper from Tournhout, behind the German lines in Belgium, says that much uneasiness exists among the population there at the prospect that the Germans will spend the winter there. Many of the people of the Province of Brabant, who have attempted flight to Holland, have been brought back by the German patrols. Fugitives reported an extraordinary activity of German military automobiles yesterday, but the meaning of the movement is unknown.

A despatch from Berlin says that martial law has been proclaimed in Constantinople, and that a number of arrests have been made and prisoners executed.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—Commandant Cronjes loyal commando encountered General Christian De Wets' Boer rebels at Sand River bridge, Doornberg, Orange Free State, and NEARLY LOSES EYESIGHT.

Edward Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Lewis, had a narrow escape from impairing if not losing the sight of both of his eyes on Sunday. Eddie was out for a bicycle ride. As he was pedaling along North avenue a group of young men friends, standing in front of Ratti's confectionery store, hailed him. He stopped and conversed with them. During the conversation one of the group expressed curiosity as to the workings of a carbon lamp attached to Eddie's bicycle. Eddie took it apart and showed how gas was formed by permitting water to drop from the recepticle in the upper part of the lamp on pieces of carbon in the separated at the time, lower part. He then ignited the gases formed. His narrow escape occurred when he attempted to put the light out by blowing it—the lighted gas flaring back towards his face and singing his eyelashes as a result. If the lamp had been held a couple of inches closer to his face at the time he would surely have injured his sight by his rash act.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 10, 1914.

FOR SUFFERING HUMANITY.

Certainly there must be seven more men in the city of Plainfield who feel that they can give $100 each toward the Belgian relief fund of $1,000 which has been started by three public spirited men, who offer $100 each. That amount seems like a lot of money to many of us, but with all the wealthy inhabitants of the city, surely there are seven more whon can contribute the amount. For that matter, there is not a man, woman or child in the city, who is now employed, who cannot contribute something to the fund which a number of local women have started, and which already reaches about $1,300.

The alleviation of the suffering of hundreds of thousands of homeless Belgians is a task which must come upon the United States. Things have reached such a stage abroad, that now the appeals come for foodstuffs and clothing, rather than for money, for the supply is getting so short in Belgium that the coin of the realm cannot purchase what is not there. So the American people are urged to buy the supplies in this country, and ship them to Belgium, ready to be consumed.

It has been pointed out that five cents will buy enough to sustain life in a hungry woman and child for a day, and that six dollars and forty cents put into a barrel of flour will keep a family from starvation for some weeks. Three dollars will buy fifty pounds of beans, and the Belgian sufferers are not a bit fussy about what is sent to them, so long as they do not have to starve. The necessities of life are what they want, and they want them quick. If they can only keep alive until they can return to their homes, probably in the spring, they will soon be able to take care of themselves.

Plainfield has many demands this winter. We have our own unemployed to care for, but most of them are at least able to keep roofs over their heads, and to live a life somewhat near the normal. The poor suffering Belgians appeal to us as the only country that can provide them with the necessities of life. All the other nations abroad are having troubles of their own feeding the residents and armies.

Every community in the country is responding to the appeal for aid, and Plainfield should be with the leaders in this great and charitable work. Certainly we can raise that other $700, so that the first $300 can be secured, for it has been offered conditionally. Who will be the next to say that we can count on him for $100? The Daily Press will take great pleasure in acknowledging contributions, and when the entire sum is raised in seeing that the amount is placed in the hands of the proper authorities.

If you have a small job to do around the house, that will keep an unemployed man busy, if only for a few hours, telephone the mayor's office and give the work to some one that is seriously in need of the money.

Over in New York it is quite the proper thing to swear off personal taxes. Here in Plainfield we have to take it out in swearing at the assessors for putting them on the bills.

TYLER ZONE THREATENED

full knowledge of conditions.

Another communication from Morris Abrams and others requested the Council to enact such legislation as would insure the continuance of Clark's saloon, believing that there is no more orderly place of the kind in the city.

The amended section of the ordinance changes the word "name" to place, providing that there is nothing in the ordinance which would prevent the granting of a license to any saloon now in force. Councilman Thomas F. Hylan objected to the adoption of the ordinance, solely on the ground that it would change the intent of the Tyler "zone" ordinance, which has been a fixture. He said that he had visited Clark's place on five or six occasions and found it to be as orderly as any in the city, but he did not think a saloon at that place a necessity, in fact he did not believe that a saloon was of any benefit to adjacent property. He was sure that he would not want one near his home. Mr. Hylan said that he might be considered narrow and short sighted, but he was not willing to change his opinion regarding the Tyler "zone."

Councilman Graves advocated the adoption of the ordinance as amended, adding that in case of its failure to pass it might bring another saloon to the business section. "We are not bosses, but servants of the people, declared Mr. Graves, "and it is our duty to do the will of the people. Morally, I do not believe that the Clark saloon will do any harm. The people in that section want the saloon and it is the place of the Council to give the people what they want."

Mr. Calkins said: "I think the amendment has merit and I shall vote to advance it to third reading so that we may have a full and frank discussion of it. The amendment will, of course, be opposed by all who are working gradually to reduce the number of saloons in Plainfield until we shall be on a prohibition basis. In the same way most prohibitionists were opposed to my ordinance adopted last June, limiting the number of saloons to one for every two thousand five hundred inhabitants. From my viewpoint, Plainfield's policy of high license, with a restricted number of saloons, is a wise solution of the problem; but it will not be any solution at all if the Council is unable to renew licenses to the proprietors of well conducted places.

"I can understand opposition to this amendment if put frankly on the ground that it will put one saloon out of business, and hence be a step in the direction of prohibition. But I confess I do not see much force in the objection that it enlarges the zone; because it doesn't really do that. It leaves the zone limits precisely as they were; and also leaves the two saloons outside the zone, just as they were left, unmolested when the zone ordinance was enacted many years ago. In short, this amendment leaves the situation just as it has been for years. If this amendment is not adopted, we shall have applications for another saloon to take the place of the Clark saloon, which will be outlawed, and there can be no question that another license would be granted promptly enough.

"It is true that it was the intent of the original zone ordinance ultimately to outlaw the Clark and Watson saloons. But that was a compromise. I understand that the ordinance would never have been passed if either place had been affected. In any event, the whole situation is now changed. The zone ordinance today plays but a small part in safeguarding the public welfare. There would be little danger of any license being granted to a locality, residential or otherwise, opposing it. Our real bulwark is the new ordinance prohibiting a greater number of saloons, proportionate to our population, than we now have. If we stick to this policy, we shall continue to be the best regulated city on the license question in the State.

"I see no gain in taking away the Clark license, and granting a new one to someone else. So long as any saloon now licensed, obeys the law and conducts its business in an orderly manner, I see no reason why it should not continue—unless there is substantial objection from the immediate neighborhood. The Clark place is in a district which is partly a business section; and as the city grows and eventually doubles in size, it is apparent that the zone itself will have to be enlarged, to keep pace with the business territory. When that time comes will it be claimed that the zone ordinance is sacred and must not be touched? I am willing to be convinced; but it is my opinion that our welfare is abundantly secure if we restrict the number of saloons and leave those now licensed undisturbed during good behavior."

Mr. Hylan remarked that the "zone" ordinance was intended to restrict saloons to the business section and thought that rule should be continued. He for one would not want a saloon near his property, and he felt sure other members felt the same way.

It was the belief of Councilman Cose that seventy-five per cent. of the people in the vicinity of Clark's saloon want the place continued. He said that he had made a personal investigation and found such to be true. He agreed with Mr. Graves that the councilmen are servants and not bosses and should be governed by the majority of the people. He added, however, that he would oppose any increase in the number of licensed places. "I think it was Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed," said Mr. Cose, "that said that once the city advertises under the State law that it will receive bids for licenses, the city is obliged to grant applications of the highest bidders up to a certain number."

In reply to this Mr. Reed said that he did not remember having made such a statement, whereupon Mr. Graves promptly declared, "Yes, he did," which brought a laugh from the members and those in the lobby.

President Clay took a decidedly opposite view of the situation, explaining that there is a respectable body of citizens in the vicinity of Clark's saloon who have time and again protested against the place. There is the Mt. Olive Baptist church which has also protested, but these remonstrances have gone unheeded. Mr. Clay remarked that O. B. Leonard, an historian, had said that the church was there before the saloon and this should be considered. The Tyler "zone" ordinance had been adopted carefully and liquor dealers outside the restricted section have known what would happen under certain conditions. Mr. Clay thought it unwise to change the ordinance at this time.

A vote was then taken on the amended ordinance and it was passed by a vote of seven to two, Councilmen Juan A. Babcock, Francis J. Blatz, Leighton Calkins, John H. Cose, A. D. Edgar, C. C. Graves and Theodore Martin voting for the amendment, and Councilmen George S. Clay and Thomas F. Hylan voting against its adoption. On the motion to advertise the ordinance Mr. Hylan alone voted no.

There now seems to be no doubt but that the amendment will be adopted on third and final reading at the next meeting. If the license is continued under the amended ordinance it is reasonable to suppose that the Watson saloon on Grant avenue would have the benefits of that ordinance should a similar condition arise at any time.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Fannie Ward comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, afternoon and evening, in a farce from the French by Maurice Hennequin and Pierre Veber, called "Madam President," which was produced at the Garrick, in New York, early last September. It comes here from its New York run with the original cast and production. There are three acts, the scenes being laid in Gray, a small provincial town in France, and in Paris. The story has to do with the adventures of Gobette, the leading woman of the "Pet of the Harem" company, the character impersonated by Miss Ward. With some members of her touring organization, Gobette gives a late supper at the only hotel in Gray. This proceeding is not to the liking of the president of the village, who ordains that the players be banished from the hostelry, bag and baggage. There is no place for them to sleep but in the railway station, and to this Gobette, who has a will of her own, objects. She repairs to the president's house and finding his wife absent promptly installs herself in that good lady's place. The pragmatic husband is naturally horrified, the more so as the minister of justice is expected and shortly arrives. Then the complications begin and they continue until the final drop of the curtain. The base of all farces is mistaken identity, and "Madam President" is no exception, for as soon as one of the characters arrives on the scene he or she is instantly taken for someone else and the fun is furious and fast. There is nothing vicious about Gobette, for she proves the good friend of everybody, including the president himself.

Extremely welcome announcement is made of the coming to the Plainfield Theatre for a single performance, Tuesday evening, November 17, of John Drew in "The Prodigal Husband," the new comedy by Dario Niccodemi and Michael Morton, in which Mr. Drew has been appearing at the Empire Theatre in New York since the opening of the present season. In his newest vehicle this most popular of American actors is said to have a role fitting him to a nicety and supplying him with ample opportunities for the display of those delicate comedy methods and moments of sincere and sympathetic characterization that have given him first place in the list of our American players. As the title suggests, Mr. Drew, in the new comedy, appears as a husband slightly given over to the life known as "sporting," and the story deals with his career during a temptuous period in which his young wife has become estranged from him. In an extremely interesting and sympathetic manner his shortcomings are brought home to him by a young girl in whom he has evinced a protecting interest, the daughter of his housekeeper. Through a series of intensely amusing scenes, replete with laugh-provoking situations and brilliant dialogue, his adventures makes their way to a climax at once unusual and unexpected. In the end, as in all similar cases, the prodigal is received by the young wife with open arms and the girl who has been the cause of his awakening also finds her happiness. Charles Frohman has surrounded Mr. Drew with a splendid supporting company. Martha Hedman, recalled for her splendid success in "The Attack," two seasons ago, is seen as the young girl in whom the prodigal evinces an interest. The company also includes Ferdinand Gottschalk, Harry Leighton, Grace Carlyle, Helen Hayes Brown and Rose Winter

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS GATHER

Third Annual Dinner and Meeting of Superintendents' Association Held.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

George E. Hall is Chosen Head of Organization—Mrs. A. W. Comstock, of Brooklyn, and W. D. Murray Address Workers.

The election of officers, with a review of the past year's work and an address by Mrs. W. A. Comstock, of Brooklyn, were features of the third annual meeting of the Sunday-school Superintendents' Association held in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, which followed an excellent dinner. The affair was largely attended by superintendents, assistants, department heads and teachers. The dinner was prepared and served by the Woman's Society for Christian Work of the entertaining church.

William C. Hubbard, the retiring president of the association, took occasion to review the work the organization had accomplished during the three years since it was first instituted in 1911. The reports of the various officers and committees were also read, indicating that much had been done to bring about a closer relationship among the Sunday-schools of the city. During the session, a large bouquet of chrysanthemums was presented to the committee in charge of the preparation of the dinner. Plans were also made for the transportation of a large number of local workers to Newark, on Thursday of next week, when the State Sunday-school Asociation is to be in session.

The Union county delegation, which is to take part in the parade at that time, will be headed by the Dutch Arms Band, of this city. The question of the organization of the two school districts in this city as provided for by the county association, will be investigated during the coming year by the executive committee. This action is taken to bring Plainfield up to the county standards.

The officers elected for the coming year were as follows: President, George E. Hall; vice-president, LeRoy R. Gates; secretary-treasurer, Harry R. Bouton. The executive committee for the new year consists of the above officers together with Arthur M. Harris, Fred E. Smith, Joseph W. Gavett, William C. Hubbard and James R. Joy.

During the course of the evening, Mrs. A. W. Comstock, junior superintendent of the Marcey Avenue Baptist church, Brooklyn, gave a most interesting talk on the topic "The Making of a Successful Sunday-school Worker." The work was discussed in a practical and interesting way. William D. Murray also gave a short talk on Sunday-school work.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO SELL BONDS

$167,000 Issue to Cover Sewer Work Will Be Disposed of November 23.

Steps were taken by the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, to sell $75,000 worth of joint sewer bonds, being part of the issue decided upon some time ago, of which $30,000 were issued and sold, and to issue another series of bonds in the amount of $92,000 to take care of the various short term sewer notes which have been issued from time to time. This does not mean any increase in the indebtedness of the city.

Both issues are to be at 5 per cent., and they are to be sold at once. The first issue will be dated April 1, 1914 and the other November 1, 1914. Bids for the issues will be received on Monday night, November 23, at 8 o'clock. No bid will be received for less than par and interest. Announcement of the intention to accept bids is to be published in The Daily Press and Courier-News and one New York commercial publication. City Clerk J. T. MacMurray was authorized to have the bonds prepared at an expense not to exceed $200.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Greenbrook Council, No. 1,725, Royal Arcanum, will hold a euchre party this evening, after their regular business session. Members and friends of the lodge are invited to attend. The lodge meets at 109 Park avenue.

PASS RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF JOHN KEAN

Union County G. O. P. Committee Adopted Tribute Last Night.

The testimonial presented by a committee named by County Chairman William Newcorn to prepare a suitable set of resolutions on the death of former United State Senator John Kean, reported at a meeting of the Union County Republican Committee, in Elizabeth, last night. The tribute was prepared as a personal testimonial of the members of the committee rather than the usual form under similar circumstances. It is to be engrossed and signed by all the members and presented to the family of the deceased.

In addition to the written tribute, Donald H. McLean, of Vail & McLean, of Elizabeth, who was the Senator's private secretary during his terms in Washington, delivered an eloquent eulogy to the memory of the departed. In it many of the Senator's most intimate characteristics were brought out. They were revealed on occasions to nearly all of the men present and were graphically recounted from the intimate view enjoyed by Mr. McLean.

The tribute adopted is as follows:

"In the death of our late fellow member, John Kean, we have lost a loved friend and the county, State and nation are poorer by one of the noblest of men.

"[illegible] was a big man. He was a natural leader. In his extended and conspicuous public career he did honor to his forebears who were prominent figures in the history of our nation.

"In the many activities of the future which he would have participated, we shall miss his sound advice and the stimulating enthusiasm which he gave to our numerous gatherings and efforts in the past. His family will miss his tender consideration and we shall mourn the loss of an affectionate and charming companion.

"In token of the lasting esteem in which we hold the memory of Mr. Kean, we, his friends of the Union County Republican [illegible] meet tonight to pay this tribute."

BORO COURT NOTES.

H. C. Leonard, of Warrenville, was arraigned in the borough court, this morning, on the charges of being drunk and creating a disturbance in a number of the borough stores yesterday morning. Recorder Fred Hand suspended sentence and told the man to get out of town as fast as he could.

OYSTER SUPPER.

The Philathea Class of the Temple Baptist church, will give an oyster supper at the church tonight. The public is invited.

FIVE ARRESTED IN DISORDERLY HOUSE

Place "Pulled" at Noon Today by Sergeant Higgins and Patrolman Welsh.

Sergeant Maurice Higgins and Patrolman Martin Welsh put to rout a quintet of alleged disorderly characters in a house at Second and New streets, at noon today, bustling the accused into the patrol wagon and landing them in a cell at police headquarters. The raid was a carefully planned one and culminated several weeks of careful watching on the part of Higgins, who has been detailed to maintain a strict surveillance on the characters who entered the place.

Those taken into custody were Anna Dearford, August Wolf, Margaret Manson, John Burns and Frank Carroll. They are all known to the police and will be arraigned for hearing before City Judge William G. DeMeza tomorrow morning.

A number of complaints have been made by residents of that section regarding the frequent outbreaks in the disorderly house and the authorities have been awaiting an opportunity to "clean up."

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

MAC SAYS

Open season for grouse (grouch) hunters opens today. A number of local sportsmen who make a specialty of this pastime were out at daybreak.

Nimrods galore strayed away from the confines of the Queen City at dawn today in search of cotton-tails and other small game which will adorn the hunters' menu for the next month. The woods in South Jersey are said to be abundantly supplied with the trophies and some good bags will probably be brought back by the gunners tonight.

New Brunswick Home News headline—"New Brunswick Elks Near the Bottom in the Elks' League Race"—So is Plainfield and the Queen Cityites happen to be tied for the cellar berth with the pinners who reside along the banks of the old Raritan. Couldn't be much nearer, old scout.

One of the Plainfield High School athletes took occasion to make a short speel to the audience between the acts of the minstrel Saturday night informing the friends of old P. H. S. that the local schoolboys had trimmed New Brunswick on the football girdiron in the afternoon. We're still wondering whether this was meant as a minstrel joke or whether the Ninth street aggregation really reaped a whole lot of glory in spanking the luckless Brunswickers who have gained quite a reputation this season as losing artists.

Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball enthusiasts are awaiting with interest the outcome of that Newark Public Service and St. Johns' basketball clash at New Brunswick tomorrow night. The Newarkers will be the opponents of the locals in the opening tilt next Saturday here and as the Plainfielders were trounced by the St. John's crew last Wednesday night some line on the relative strength of the opposition will be gleaned in this way. You've got to hand it to someone for this bit of scout reconnoitering. Now we'd like to know what the manager will do if the Newarkers trim the Brunswickers.

Some fifty odd candidates reported for the Plainfield High School basketball team yesterday afternoon. Most of them were odd but nevertheless the captain expects to get a stellar combination together this season and we see no reason why that interscholastic trophy cannot be brought back to the Queen City confines once more.

If the North Plainfield institution loses many more of its luminaries Captain Abrams will have to resort to the distress signal and call for a hasty consolidation of the borough with this burg as the Plainfielders appear to have a surplus of good material on hand for fall picking. Love and Hebert have deserted the ranks for the business world.

Wonder what Frank Bruggy's object was in breaking his teammate's nose in that Paterson basketball clash Saturday night? The papers say the unfortunate performer collided with Frank's stiff right arm in an accidental manner, but then in this free country we're all entitled to our own opinions.

Three Elizabetheans waited in a shady corner near the Sycamore avenue bridge for one Billy Coyle after the game on Cricket Field Saturday afternoon. Nightfall was fast approaching when Billy hove in sight with a pair of his huskiest confederates and the Union county seat youths suddenly decided that they did not care to entertain the little quarterback. 'Tis said that little Billy took a crack at one of Elizabeh's finest during the engagement on the borough lot.

Anyone who collected some satisfaction along the pugilistic line at Cricket Field deserved all the credit that was coming to him. The visitors invaded the Queen City like a bunch of European allies but trolleyed back like an army of defeated Belgians. Scoop says—Nix on the war stuff.

While we're pastiming on the war question we might suggest at this time that a contest between the Holy Cross and Plainfield High School football teams would be appropriate at this juncture, the proceeds of which to be devoted to the Belgium Relief Fund. You won't be able to locate either manager for a week after they read this suggestion.

What's the matter with that pool tournament inaugurated some weeks ago by the Y. M. C. A. Pool is some slow sport, but the sharks generally manage to get going when they once start.

Hope Chapel got off to a flying start Saturday night in taking the fast traveling Acme Five into camp. We agree with another local scribe, however, in his statement that the visitors came as close as could be expected to accomplishing the impossible—beating the Hope contingent on its home court.

GUNNERS GET OFF TO EARLY START

WHAT LAW REQUIRES

Sixty Thousand Licensed Sportsmen in Search of Game in New Jersey —South Jersey the Objective Point of Many.

Sixty thousand licensed gunners are distributed through New Jersey today when the season opened for the killing of quail, rabbit, ringnecked pheasants, partridges and woodcock. The automobile has placed the gunners within easy reach of the best game districts. It makes no difference whether the distance is one mile or a hundred.

The State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners have restocked the State, sending thousands of game birds to the sections considered best for the purpose. Watch has been kept on these birds and their conditions and surroundings observed. Fewer violations of the game law have been noted.

The enactment of that section of the law imposing a fine of $100 for killing other than woodcock at this time has caused a stay in many cases. It has been noted that the heavy alien violation list has decreased this year. Few have taken chances in the woods and fields, knowing of the heavy penalty that would be imposed if caught.

Several restrictions noted this year, such as the prohibition against the shooting of wild turkey, many of which were liberated by the Commission; also the prohibition against the killing of female pheasants, are conservation measures. The limit law must also be respected or else there will be trouble between the violators and the game warden.

Another point for the hunter to remember is that a gun carrying more than two shells is prohibited by law. Warning against forest fires has been sent out by the Fish and Game Commissioners to the hunters of the State. Because the large forest fires that have raged have been laid at the door of negligent hunters, large sportsmen's organizations have uttered a denial. They claim that a hunter is constantly being drilled in being careful.

Patrolman Roland McIntyre and Russell McIntyre left this morning for Belvidere.

"Hub" Reynolds and Charlie Wendell got off last night for South Jersey in order to be ready for an early start this morning.

Joe Parsons and John M. Caulfield took to the woods this morning.

Fred Ivamy and Henry Vosseller left town at daybreak for the woods.

Lester Chandler is hunting at Califon.

TWO MATCHES TONIGHT AND THREE THURSDAY

Two Elks' League series will be rolled tonight, but the local Bills do not play until Thursday, when the Newark team will appear here. Tonight, New Brunswick goes to New York for three games and Rutherford is due in Jersey City.

Besides the Plainfield-Newark match next Thursday there are two others, Rahway going to Paterson and Elizabeth rolling at Hoboken. With five matches this week, there is likely to be some change in the standings that are issued on Saturday.

FIRST FOOTBALL AT COLUMBIA IN 9 YEARS.

The student board of Columbia University met last night and sanctioned the plan for a freshman-sophomore football game on Thanksgiving Day or the Saturday before. In the afternoon A. R. Schulte, president of the sophomore class, called on Frank D. Fackenthal, secretary to President Butler of the university. He learned to his surprise that intercollegiate football never had been under the ban, that the edict nine years ago was only against the intercollegiate brand. It must have been a student misunderstanding, Fackenthal said, that had caused the belief that interclass and interfraternity football were barred; that the students could have been playing all these nine years if they only knew it. The students' further idea now, said Schulte, is to work up sentiment favorable to the game, with a view to the possibility of having a varsity team and a full intercollegiate schedule next year.

LOCAL SCHEDULE OF CONTESTS FOR PLAINFIELD SCHOOLBOYS

Manager Nicholas Zelmas, of the Plainfield High School basketball team, has completed his schedule for the season of 1914-15. Many new teams will appear on the local court this year and practically all of the teams played by the local High School last year. Prominent among the new opponents to be met are Easton High School, South Side High School, of Newark, and Dickinson High School, of Jersey City. The game with Easton will afford a chance to compare the local team with the teams of Pennsylvania. No athletic relations have ever been held with South Side High School, but Dickinson High School has been met an the football and baseball fields, though never on the basketball court. The annual two games will be played with Yonkers.

There have been no athletic relations with Battin High School, of Elizabeth, for years, but Manager Zelmas has arranged two games of basketball with that institution. Two games have been arranged with the Alumni, one with the graduates of the past two years and one with the graduates of '06 and before. This is the longest schedule ever arranged for the High School team, but there is plenty of good material in the school and the boys should be able to stand the strain.

The schedule arranged by Manager Zelmas is as follows:

Nov. 25, Bank Clerks, at P. H. S. (practice game).
Dec. 9, Somerville at P. H. S.
Dec. 11, Dickinson at Jersey City (night).
Dec. 14, Roselle at P. H. S.
Dec. 17, Yonkers at Yonkers.

GOOD GAME BOOKED FOR NEXT SATURDAY

Fast Midwout A. C., of Brooklyn, Will Be Opponents of Holy Cross.

The Holy Cross football squad will practice on Marshall Field tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The invaders Saturday afternoon, will be the Midwout A. C. eleven, of Brooklyn, and the boroughites will face a tough proposition. This aggregation defeated the Cupids, of Brooklyn, 6 to 0, while the Cupids took Holy Cross into camp by the same score early in the season.

The local team is going much better now than earlier in the season and will undoubtedly give the Cupids' superiors a hot fight. Several of the members of the Brooklyn team are known here and the eleven will be accompanied by a large delegation of rooters.

The shift that was made in the line-up last week was a good one and with Coyle back at quarter the team works better. All of the players went through the game last week without any serious injury, although after the contest some of them knew they had been in the game.

FINAL PRACTICE FOR Y. M. C. A. TEAM BEFORE ITS FIRST GAME

The Y. M. C. A. basketball squad will practice tomorrow night, and all members of the team are urged to be present as this will be the final workout before the team meets the Newark P. S. A. A. on the local court in the first home game of the season.

Good attractions have been booked for every Saturday night, until the middle of January and the team will be in action during the week on opponent's courts. The practice tomorrow night will start at 7:30 o'clock

COLLIER STARTS TODAY TO TRAIN BOROUGH ATHLETES

Paul Collier, who so successfully coached last year's basketball team of North Plainfield High School, will be out today to start coaching the team that the borough expects to put on the floor this year. The good work accomplished by last year's team and the many victories won, both at home and against out of town teams, were due largely to the work and good coaching of Mr. Collier.

For the past two weeks that the squad has been using Saengerbund Hall it has been practising under the direction of Claude Jeffries, the new Manual Training teacher, who has also had much experience along basketball lines, and Mr. Jeffries will continue with his coaching of the team in co-operation with Mr. Collier. With the aid of these two men as coaches, Captain Abrams expects to put a fine team on the floor this year.

EAGLES' BOWLING MATCHES.

Newark and Elizabeth Eagles will meet tonight, in the only match scheduled in the Eagles' League and the Plainfield birds will entertain their Rahway brothers here Friday.

WELSH AND WHITE FIGHT TO A DRAW

Other Roped Arena Matches That Were Fought Last Night.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10—In a fiercely contested ten-round bout here last night, Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, was fought to a draw by Charlie White, of Chicago. Under the Wisconsin law a referee's decision could not be given, but it was the consensus of opinion among newspaper experts that the worst White could get was an even break. Coming in the wake of his defeat of Willie Ritchie, White's exhibition makes him a formidable contender for lightweight honors.

Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul wizard, and Kid Lewis, the clever Englishman, were winners in the twin ten-round bouts in Madison Square Garden, New York, last night. Young Mike Donovan, the son of the veteran New York A. C. boxing instructor, proved a poor oponent for Gibbons, the St. Paul man's ring generalship giving the New Yorker a tasty trimming. Referee Roche stopped the Gibbons-Donovan melee in the sixth round, after Gibbons twice had dropped Donovan in the fifth, the bell saving him, and sent him to the boards again in the sixth.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10—Young Charlie Weinert, of Newark, after having the better of the first round of his fight last night, at the Olympia A. A., with Jack Dillon, found the end of the voyage as the second round came to a close. The club physician refused to allow the bout to continue.

SIOUX INDIANS LEAD IN STANDING BROAD JUMP

Twenty- four members of the Indian League of the Y. M. C. A. took part in the standing broad jump yesterday afternoon. The longest leap was 7 feet 3 inches credited to Doane, of the Omaha team, and Jim Brownlee, captain of the Iroquois, was a close second, being two inches short of the winner's mark. Doane scored forty points for his team and Brownlee 38.

BASEBALL MOGULS LOOK FOR CRISIS

Closer Organization or Open Disruption Result of Gathering at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10—Closer organization or open disruption will be the result of the big gathering of the minor leagues in this city, according to those high in baseball circles. When the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues opened their thirteenth annual meeting this morning, representatives from one to eight in number from each minor league in America were on hand. There were portraits of insistent demands to be made, of possible insurgency, and even of an open split unless the big league magnates would make new terms. Representatives of the American and National Leagues were on hand early and all day yesterday they held consultations with leaders in the minor leagues, looking to the formation of a policy for handling the difficult situations which are admittedly certain to arise during the session.

The opening guns of the meeting were fired from behind closed doors, and it is not expected that the result of the big conference will be known until after the final meeting Thursday.

Although hard hit by the lack of patronage during the past season, baseball owners are optimistic of the coming season, and there is a general desire in the conservative ranks to prevent any open disruption. The demands of the players, and the situation which the Federal League has created, is no little cause for worry, but the owners in the old major leagues are confident they can pilot their crafts over the rocks.

That the owners will be forced to enter into some defensive plan in order to meet what is generally declared to be exhorbitant demands of the players, is conceded. Although no baseball club owner will acknowledge that the players have held the whip hand this year, it is generally recognized that the owners have been at the mercy of the players.

The activity of the Federals have made this condition possible, and the players have not overlooked their chances. Frequent reports that overtures have been made to the American and National League magnates by the Federals, will not down. A getting-together between the two old major leagues and the Federals would, of course, close up one of the big gaps which the players have relied upon to boost their own cause.

The demands of the Players' Fraternity will be strongly put this year, and it is said that there are many of them. At the Columbus meeting a year ago, the fraternity brought in a long string of demands. Some of them were met, but most were tabled until this year, and those tabled demands will be the basis of a spirited fight, according to the players. Whether the magnates will be forced into consideration or recognition of the fraternity is a subject of speculation here today.

Representatives of the Federal League are in town, and rumor has it they are trying to effect an arrangement with some of the minor leagues to form a brand new organization, with the Federals as their leaders. The Federals, it is said, are offering some choice bait for their purposes, and the strength of organized baseball will be tested to the limit, it is believed.

Tonight the visiting league men will be entertained at the theatre, and tomorrow night the annual banquet will take place, unless open disruption occurs.

BARACA PINNERS TOOK TWO FROM PATHE FRERES

The Baraca bowling team, of Dunellen, defeated the Pathe Freres team, of Bound Brook, on the Presbyterian alleys, Dunellen, last night, in two straight games and the beating was so bad that the third game was not played. Both teams made low scores but the home players hit squarely in the pinches.

The Baracas took the first game with seventy points to spare, Oakley getting high score in this game with a 187. The Bound Brook pinners took a brace in the second game but they fell almost thirty points short in this roll. Parker hit the pins for a 188. The scores:

BLATZ LEADS ALL IN K. OF C. TOURNEY

Has Won 17 and Lost 7 and Has Average of 219 for Fourth Round.

With a record of seventeen victories and seven defeats, Frank Blatz leads the Knights of Columbus pinners in the one man bowling tournament that is now in progress. His individual average is 200.19 which is thirteen points above Chief Kiely, his nearest opponent, but the latter has played 30 games while Blatz has only taken part in 24. Blatz's high score is 236.

Miles Wilson still has a hold on the high score mark and will probably have it at the end of the tourney as his 300 will be hard to tie. The next highest man to Wilson is Kiely who made a 279 in one game. E. Taylor has played the greatest number of games, 42 being credited to him and he has an average of 182.5.

The standings follow:

GLENN WARNER TO QUIT THE INDIANS

Football Wizard Has Been Engaged by University of Pittsburgh.

Glen S. Warner, football wizard and one of the leading general athletic coaches in the country, is to leave the Carlisle Indian School after the Christmas vacation and assume charge at the University of Pittsburgh.

Well grounded information to that effect came to hand last night from a man who is very much concerned with gridiron affairs in Pittsburgh. Warner has been in conference with the Pitt athletic authorities several times in the last fortnight, and announcement of the fact that he has been signed to a long term contract is expected either today or tomorrow.

Pittsburgh's anxiety to sign Warner is due directly to dissatisfaction with the work of Joe Duff, the erstwhile Princeton star, with the Pitt football squad. Pittsburgh believes that it has the greatest squad in the country, and that Duff has not succeeded in getting the best work out of the men. From time to time there have been declarations that Duff has permitted personal animosity to interfere with his judgment as to which men should be placed on the eleven.

FIRST PRACTICE FOR P. H. S. BASKETBALL CANDIDATES

The first practice of the Plainfield High School boys' basketball squad was held yesterday afternoon. The squad was in charge of Captain McNamee and was put through a short, snappy practice at passing the ball and shooting goals. Practice will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. About twenty-five men reported yesterday.

BIG GAME SATURDAY.

The Plainfield High School football team will meet one of its best rivals next Saturday, when the team goes to Phillipsburg and plays the High School team of that place. Last year the locals held this aggregation to a scoreless tie, but two years ago was unmercifully drubbed. Peacock will be back in the game and the local team expects to give a good account of itself.

K. OF C. ALLEY SCHEDULE.

The following players will take part in the Knights of Columbus bowling tournament tomorrow night: Hillman vs. Blatz, Moynihan vs. Caulfield, Blatz vs. Caulfield and Moynihan vs. Hillman. No matches were played last night because of a club meeting that was held. There will be a council meeting in the clubrooms tonight.

AUDIT COMPANY ASSIGNS CLAIM TO ELIZABETH BANK

The National Bank, of Elizabeth, informed the Common Council, last night, that the Universal Audit Company, of New York, which has the contract for auditing the city books, had turned over its claim to the institution. It is presumed that the company not wishing to wait until it completes its work here to get the money due, has made arrangements with the Elizabeth bank to take up the money, assigning the claim to the bank. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

OTTO NAMES WARNER AS DEPUTY SHERIFF

Elizabeth, Nov. 10.—George C. Otto, sheriff-elect of Union county, was this morning sworn into his new office, County Judge Connolly administering the oath. James E. Warner, of Cranford, was sworn in as undersheriff.

Frank H. Smith, of Plainfield, was sworn in as county register. A large number of politicians were present at the Court House, and congratulated the new office-holders.

TABLES ARE TURNED.

Michael Kaczynoski, a Hungaian, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, charged with disorderly conduct, the complaint being preferred against him by Andrew Stranzenbach, a neighbor. According to the complainant his neighbor directed some vile language at his wife which annoyed the neighborhood. It was brought out in court that one party was as much to blame as the other and the complaint was dismissed.

ELECTED COMMITTEEMEN.

R. W. Aldrich was elected second vice-president of the I. C. S. Fraternity at a meeting held in the new quarters in the First National Bank building, last night. An executive committee comprised of George Lewis and F. A. Costoles, to serve three years, was also chosen. Harry Swivel and George Barnes will serve two years and O. Curl and Harry Hanlon will serve for one year on the same committee. The next meeting will be held November 19.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Charles Hardaway, colored, of this city, who was indicted by the October term of the Grand Jury for burglary, was arraigned before Judge Thomas Spear, in the Circuit Court in Elizabeth, yesterday, and entered a plea of not guilty. He was held in $1,000 bail for trial, the date of which will be announced later. In default of the necessary bonds he was committed to the Union county jail.

EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF JOHN LEMATTY

Interesting Services Held at Rescue Mission Marking the Event.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Rescue Mission, a special service was held, last night, marking the eighth anniversary of John LeMatty as superintendent of the mission. The meeting was largely attended by members and representatives from many of the local churches, including a number of clergymen, who made interesting addresses. Frederick H. Andrews, chairman of the executive board of the mission, was in charge of the meeting, which opened with a song service, after which he read the Scripture lesson.

Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church, was to have made the address of the evening, but was unable to be present. Mr. LeMatty took his place, making a short, but helpful address. Other remarks were made by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, and Rev. Ernest R. Brown, of the Dunellen Presbyterian church.

Harry Gee, secretary of the mission, reviewed the work of the past year, telling of the many things accomplished by Mr. LeMatty and his corps of assistants. Before the meeting closed three persons signified a desire to lead Christian lives through a public confession. Mr. LeMatty also briefly told of the work accomplished at the mission's lodging house on Park avenue, where many people have been cared for during the year.

took 20 prisoners, eleven of whom were wounded, says a statement from the Union defense headquarters. Ten of the rebels were killed. General De Wet, reinforced, then charged the loyal commando, released the prisoners and captured all the wagons. General De Wet's son, Daniel, was killed. The captured rebels, before being retaken by De Wet declared that De Wet had "sjamboked" them to induce them to join his forces. State Commandant Cronje is now reassembling his forces, to which reinforcements have been sent.

The Hague, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—The population of Brussels is near the point of revolt, say refugees from that vicinity. Citizens are tried by court's martial for trivial offenses and are placed under arrest for smiling in the presence of a German officer, or refusing to give up a seat in a train to a German soldier. Bread is scarce and meat is dear.

Rome, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—The following official statement given out by the War Office in Constantinople has been received here: "Following the departure of the Russian warships which bombarded Zuzlu, the Turkish fleet reentered the Black Sea to seek the enemy."

Italy is sending reinforcements to Tripoli to prepare against a revolt which is expected will follow any uprising in Egypt.

Berlin, via The Hague, Nov. 10.—Official denial is made of the report that General Von Hindenburg, the German commander on the Russian front, has been captured by the enemy.

London, Nov. 10 (Central News Cable).—The reason military observers of neutral countries, including the United States, now in London have not been allowed to go to the front in France has been explained. Uncertainty as to the attitude of several supposedly neutral countries has made it impossible to grant privileges to any of the military observers which are not given to all. Until last week Turkey would have had the same privilege of having military observers with the British army at the front as the United States.

BRIGHTSIDE CIRCLE WILL MEET

The Brightside Circle of King's Daughters will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, November 12, at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Daniel Clawson, 37 Brook avenue, borough. A full attendance of the members is desired as plans will be made for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday times.

MISS ELIZABETH ALPAUGH.

Miss Elizabeth Alpaugh, of Germantown, who has been at the Muhlenberg Hospital for the past two and a half weeks, being treated for complications, died at that institution this morning. The remains were taken to relatives at New Germantown.

COLDEST NOVEMBER 10.

According to John Neagle, the local weather prophet, today was the coldest November 10 on record in this section, the minimum temperature being 23 degrees. The previous colder November 10 was in 1896, when the mercury dropped to 27 degrees.

SON CHOSEN TO SUCCEED FATHER

Clifford W. McGee Now a Member of Muhlenberg Hospital Board.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital was held last evening, when the reports of standing and special committees were presented, showing a degree of activity in the hospital management that is most satisfactory. The committees are alive to the needs of the hospital and are endeavoring to meet them with renewed interest.

In addition to the routine matters there was an election to the board that will be of interest to the community as well as of advantage to the hospital management. The board has lost a most valuable and interested worker in the death of Henry A. McGee, who served the institution in a most efficient way, being unsparing of his energy and time in the devotion to the hospital affairs. The selection of Clifford W. McGee to succeed his father to the membership of the hospital board meets with general approbation.

The president appointed as members of the finance committee to fill vacancies, Samuel Townsend and Herman Schwed, and at a meeting of the finance committee later, Mr. Townsend was elected its chairman.

This committee will direct its energies in the near future to increasing as far as possible the number of annual subscriptions to the hospital support. Like every other line of business it feels the effects of the times and this is shown in a falling off of the annual donations. The institution cannot get along without the contributing support of the people of Plainfield and it is to be hoped that every one who must have the interests of Muhlenberg at heart will feel it incumbent to contribute annually, no matter how small the contributions, to the support of this worthy cause.

The activities of the hospital for the month of October, 1914, in comparison with the month of October, 1913, are shown by the following data:

	Oct. 1913	Oct. 1914

BORO INSTRUCTORS ATTEND INSTITUTE

Annual Two Day Session of Somerset County Teachers Being Held.

The North Plainfield public schools, and all other public institutions of learning in Somerset county, were closed yesterday and today owing to the Somerset County Teachers' Institute in session at Somerville. The meeting is being held under the direction of County Superintendent Dr. H. C. Krebs.

One of the features of the institute this year was the address of Miss Jessie Field, formerly a superintendent of schools in Iowa. Miss Field has had considerable success in addressing institutes. She has been in the east for some time and is visiting a number of these meetings. The subject of her address here was "Rural Schools."

SOCIAL EVENTS AT PARK CLUB

Entertainment Committee Announces Attractive Program for Winter Season.

The entertainment committee of the Park Club has planned a number of social events to be held at the clubhouse between now and New Year's Day, beginning with an informal dance on Saturday evening. Friday evening, November 27, there will be the annual Thanksgiving social function, the affair being termed an "inconsistent dance in costume." Those attending are expected to appear in costume.

There will be informal dances on December 12 and 26 and on December 31 the annual junior dance will be the attraction. On New Year's Day, there will be a reception and The Dansant, which promises to be one of the most attractive events of the winter season.

ALL IN READINESS FOR COPPERS' ANNUAL BALL

Members of the local branch of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association have completed their plans for the sixth annual ball of the organization to be held in Saengerbund Hall, tomorrow night, and present enthusiasm manifested in the event indicates that this year's affair will eclipse the previous five in interest. Prof L. R. Anderson, of Elizabeth, who has annually furnished the locust wielders with terpischorean music, will be on deck again tomorrow night and the dancing is expected to be one of the pleasant features of the evening.

The auditorium has been appropriately decorated for the occasion with electric lights and autumnal foliage. The local branch of theassociation now numbers thirty-two members and they will have as their guests patrolmen from Newark, Jersey City, the Oranges Bound Brook and other places.

The local committee of arrangements are: General chairman, Arthur A. McGinley; printing, Ferdinand Bader; hall, Frank Sweeney; music, Martin Flatley; reception, Martin Welsh; entertainment, Thomas Flatley, and refreshments, Dennis O'Keefe.

OUR NEW-YORK LETTER

When Shopping Please Mention Marion Manhattan's Letter.

Something very new and smart in Women's Shoes—I have discovered in the "Myrod Boot," sold exclusively at Lord & Taylor's palatial shop on Fifth Ave. (at 37th St.). Let me describe it: In the first place, there is no buttoning or lacing. Although to see this shapely boot on the foot, it appears to be either tightly laced or trimly fastened with handsome smoked pearl buttons. There is a secret in the fine cloth uppers, which are in the new shades of gray and brown, or black (also black velvet), for they are made of a new and patented fabric, which pulls out much like elastic, but it is firm and quite as heavy as leather. This flexibility permits of the boot being slipped on the foot in a second. Superb! Nothing less—and you may choose the "Myrod Boot" in patent colt skin or black Russian calf. Tops are edged and trimmed with leather to match. The new conceive of high Cuban heel completes a shoe you will desire on first sight —$5.85, $10 and $12 a pair—those at the lower figure are specially priced by way of introduction.

Arthur Lindau, Importer, presents stunning Millinery, Ultra Modish Gowns and Fashionable Furs, at prices quite new to Fifth Avenue. Especially are the savings notable in the Dancing Frocks, Promenade Dresses and Gowns for all occasions. Furs remodeled. This attractive shop is No. 500 Fifth Ave. (at 42d St.)

Patrons of Mrs. Kate Collins will wish to know that her new and attractive home of Antiques and Art objects is now conveniently situated at No. 4, 37th St., West. Mrs. Collins has an international reputation for antique furniture, and many a piece of her selection now graces the home of our first families in America. You may choose easily, for everything has already undergone discriminating selection.

The Book & Art Exchange, at 30 E. 34th St., affords the opportunity of selecting the truly appreciable kind of Christmas gifts, which express personal sentiment and are acceptable for themselves regardless of cost.

The new holiday stocks make this a fascinating place to visit. Beautiful mottoes and good thoughts in hand-hammered brass frames, sentiments evincing the utmost care in selection. Christmas cards and gift books. Bayberry candles, dainty sachets, Biblical pictures (framed or unframed) and calendars, by the million. I have rarely seen so choice a selection of wholesome, refreshing gift things. Prices are surprisingly low, as you will discover.

Do you know that the most complete stock of Dutch Silver in America is to be found at S. Wyler's, 6 E. 46th St., near Fifth Ave. You may browse among lovely gift things at attractive prices. Jewel Boxes, $2 to $100. Picture Frames $4 to $50. Demi-Tasse Holders and Saucers $250 doz. Flower Vases, Baskets and Centerpieces $10 to $350. Beautiful English Sterling and Sheffield Plate Candlesticks, the former at $50 to $100 pair, the latter from $7.50 to $25 pair, and unending variety in modern and antique jewelry, expertly selected.

The enlarged children's department of the New York Exchange for Woman's Work, 334 Madison Ave., corner 43d St., is now open on the ground floor—Christmas gifts are ready to choose from. You are urged to place orders early for home-made jams, jellies, marmalades, preserves, etc., etc. Luncheon served from 11.30 to 2. Tea from 3 to 6.

Photographs make beautiful Christmas gifts and now is the time to have sittings made. Mr. Edward J. Foley's portraits of children are nationally famous—his work and posing original and artistic. To out-of-town patrons he offers 12 Cabinet photos and a handsome enlargement—for twelve dollars. Studies made at your home or studio. Address, 383 Fifth Ave. at 36th St.

I have discovered a real Artist in rebuilding gowns. The most stunning creations in the modes of to-morrow can be made from your gowns of yesterday. Madame Homer, 11½ W. 37th St., can do just this for you, and you will be delighted. Her creations are inspirations which express individuality and those features of the reigning Paris vogue, which would adapt themselves most to the wearer and the fabric.

You may send your seemingly worthless gown to Homer and be assured of a creation, which, to have made, would cost at least three times the price of Homer's rebuilding charges.

Let me recommend an excellent place to have your fine hemstitching or pleating done or buttons made of the same material as your suit—Mehrlust & Grossman, 3460 Broadway. Write for booklet, which gives instructions how to prepare materials.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by

THE W. C. T. U.

Try to Save New Jersey Boys.

At the request of the W. C. T. U., of Butler and Bloomingdale, the Anti-Saloon League investigated saloon conditions in those towns. The saloonkeepers in Butler were real good on Sunday. They had evidently become alarmed because of the exposure made of conditions at Lake Hopatcong in the same county, and were taking no chances. Two "hotels" in Bloomingdale, which is just across the line in Passaic county, were doing a big Sunday business, largely with Butler's thirsty population. The league's investigators trailed them down, and Sunday, October 4, Mr. Wilson personally visited two joints and brought away samples of their booze.

Conditions were widely exposed in the Passaic county press.

Mr. Wilson and one of our investigators in this case appeared before the Passaic county grand jury on Monday, October 26.

At Butler we noticed some conditions that are demoralizing to the boys of that community. On Sunday afternoon a ball game is conducted on the top of the hill between pick-up nines. Sunday, September 27, beer was drunk by those boys openly on the field, and in a shed adjoining the grandstand, and was apparently provided by a boy whose name was given as Gene Sampson. Gene first brought out two bottles and drank them himself, and later sent a lad for three more bottles, which were handed to other boys, and later, the crowd went to the shed for refreshments, and it was overheard in conversation that Gene had provided two cases of beer. On Sunday, October 4, Gene apparently had been short of funds, as he notified the boys who inquired, that he had no beer. Another boy urged him to get a pail and send to a place that was named, for cider, which it was stated, could be bought for twenty cents a gallon. Gene asked if it was any good and the reply was that it was a week old, to which he answered, "Oh, that's no good." The other boy then told of some resident of Butler who, on the previous season had a quantity of "rum" in a barrel, and then filled the barrel with cider. He said that he drank three glasses of the cider and it made him drunk.

Apparently this Sunday baseball needs investigation on the part of the local constabulary of Butler, and it might be well for the church and Y. M. C. A. forces to do something to prevent the demoralizing of these lads.

Social Evil Conditions In Newark.

The long expected report of the Public Morals League's survey of the social evil conditions of Newark, N. J., has been issued. It is a handsome volume of 176 pages, and has been ably edited; and the contents fully justify the expense of the survey, and its publication.

We have not had time to study the report, but shall have more to say about it in the future. We have read enough to know that the investigation reveals a horrible condition of commercialized vice rampant in the city, with full knowledge, and in some instances, protection of the police authorities; and with the brewer-owned saloon the chief agency for promoting vice; and drink the invariable companion of depravity, and the nemesis of decency.

This survery confirms the charges made two years ago in the crusade against vicious resorts conducted by the Anti-Saloon League, which resulted in closing many resorts, and sentencing their proprietors to the penitentiary, and is a fearful arraignment of the Nugent-Haussling administration, and their "system."

This report is a direct result of the activities, and courageous exposures by the Anti-Saloon League, which led to the formation of the Committee of One Hundred, and then the Public Morals League.

Business and Liquor.

Secretary Daniels has no occasion to feel lonesome in the stand he has taken for abstinence as an essential to efficiency.

The Homestead Steel Works has ordered that hereafter no employe will be allowed to drink while on duty, and the employe drinking off duty will find it difficult to keep his position. All dinners and banquets hereafter are to be dry.

The Carnegie Company has ordered that hereafter all promotions will be made only from the ranks of those who do not use intoxicating drinks.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company has ordered that no workmen about its mines shall belong to clubs which dispense liquor. Dismissal is the penalty for disobeying this order.

Director Harris, of the Census Bureau, has ordered abstinence for all employes in his bureau. Not even sickness will be accepted as an excuse. "If a man is sick enough to require a bracer," says the director, "he is sick enough to stay at home."

The West Pennsylvania Traction Company has ordered all liquor advertisements in its cars to be cancelled, because it is strictly enforcing the rule against drinking by employes, and deems it inconsistent with this rule to accept liquor advertisements.—S. S. Times.

This is the day of the sober man. Industry has come to realize that dependability is better than brilliancy and that brilliancy itself is more common with men of clear heads than with those whose brains are muddled with alcohol.—Editorial in Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Daily Christmas Hint

The Baby Must Have a Christmas Gift

There are always Christmas babies, and their needs are many and various. Illustrated here are two hints for the very wee babies' comfort, which will doubtless be more appreciated by the mother whose baby is remembered by such a gift than by baby himself. These models were cut of tricot flannel, a material that will stand repeated launderings, and was quite elaborately embroidered.

But there are a great many materials which would be suitable for these babies' garments. Thin white bedford cord is used. A thick quality of peau de sole also makes pretty coats and coatees. Cashmere also is used.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FOR LOVERS OF CHEESE.

CHEESE is considered by many to be indigestible; hence it is not frequently introduced into the menu. It may not be so easy of digestion as some foods, but its digestibility is increased by cooking.

Weight for weight, cheese contains twice as much nutriment as beef.

Excellent Luncheon Dishes.

Cheese Fritters.—Take one-fourth pound of cheese, two tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, one ounce of butter, one yolk of an egg, one teacupful of batter and seasonings. Grate the cheese and mix it well with the breadcrumbs, butter and yolk of egg. Add the salt and pepper and shape the mixture. Coat these in thick batter and fry in deep fat until golden browned.

Cheese Patties.—Take croustades of bread, two ounces of grated cheese, one tablespoonful of milk, one ounce of butter and salt and pepper. Prepare the croustades by cutting some thick slices of bread. Cut these into rounds and hollow out the center. Dip them in melted butter or good dripping and bake in the oven until a pale yellow color. Fill the centers with the mixture of cheese, butter and milk, well seasoned, and replace in the oven until the cheese is melted. Serve hot with sprigs of parsley.

Combined With Macaroni.

Macaroni Cheese.—Take one-fourth pound of macaroni or spaghetti, one-fourth pound of cheese, grated; one-half pint of milk, one ounce of flour, one ounce of butter, one egg, salt and pepper and toast. Boil the macaroni in salted water for fifteen minutes. Make some white sauce with the milk, flour, butter and seasonings. Add the macaroni to the sauce; also half the grated cheese and the egg. Place this in a buttered pie dish and add the rest of the cheese on top. Bake in a moderate oven until browned. Serve with toast.

Cheese Puff.—Take one-fourth pound of cheese, two tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, one-half pint of milk, two eggs, salt and pepper and one ounce of butter. Heat the milk in a saucepan. Add the butter and breadcrumbs. Add the cheese, stir until it is melted, cool slightly and add the yolks of the eggs and seasonings. Whip the whites stiffly and stir these into the mixture. Turn this into a greased pie dish and bake in a quick oven until the whole mixture puffs up and is a pretty golden brown. Serve immediately.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How the Spider Saved A Life.

So Rosa Dusted Away the Cobweb.

"A SPIDER spun a fairylike web right in the beautiful music room of Mr. Mayor of the City," said daddy.

"But Rosa, the parlor maid, didn't know how useful spiders are. In fact, she had been taught to hate spiders.

"So Rosa dusted each morning, and each morning the pretty web draped from the bust of Beethoven and fastened to the beautiful rosewood piano in the music room of Mr. Mayor of the City was dusted away.

"This same thing happened ten times, and ten times did the spider weave its fairy web.

"Upon the eleventh day Rosa was ill, and so the spider web on the eleventh morning was not dusted away.

"Now, this spider knew something that Mr. Mayor of the City did not know. It had heard some flies and mosquitoes buzzing away one day out in the fields, and they were telling what they were going to do.

"You see, Mr. Mayor of the City had a little boy named Harold, who was the apple of his eye, and these mischievous little flies and mosquitoes had declared that they would descend upon the house and do awful damage.

"The flies were going to bite Master Harold, and, as they were simply loaded with germs of infantile paralysis, they thought they could do some damage.

"The mosquitoes had been visiting the swamps, and their little stingers were all filled with malaria germs, so they were going to sting Master Harold.

"And all this because Mr. Mayor of the City had sent out notices and posters telling the citizens how dangerous flies and mosquitoes really are.

"Well, upon the eleventh day early in the morning this spider of the music room knew that the flies were coming that morning and the mosquitoes were going to wait until night. So she sent a wireless message to all the spiders for miles around to come and help protect little Harold.

"So in the early morning aeroplanes loaded with spiders of every fashion and hue descended in the front door yard. And then what a busy time there was! Over the grass on the lawn and across the doors and windows of Mr Mayor of the City's mansion was quickly spun spiders' webs, which as the sun crept up over the eastern hills glittered and shone like jewels.

"Then the flies began arriving in droves. But as fast as they came they were caught by the spider webs and held fast.

"When Rosa, the parlor maid, got up in the morning to dust she found the piazza and windows and doors all filled with the webs and dead flies, and little Harold's life was saved, and the mosquitoes didn't come."

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Look here, Nora, here's an article in the paper that says there is no excuse for the heavy housekeeping bills most people pay. I wish you'd look over these menus and cut down our expenses. This war is making everything look uncertain in our line of business; we'll have to retrench somewhere," said Mr. Anderson, handing over the woman's page to his wife.

"I'm perfectly willing to read anything or try anything, but I have practiced buying cheaply and stopping leaks until I think I am more likely to be able to give pointers than get them. Some of these things are written by experienced women and more by theorists who know nothing about the subject," replied Mrs. Anderson, taking the paper. "There's too much talk about women's extravagance and wastefulness."

"That's it, women always know it all; they are not willing to take advice," retorted her husband, puffing at his cigar.

"Women in general are much more economical than men. Of course there are exceptions, but I am speaking of the two sexes in general. American wastefulness is not a feminine fault alone. If men would practice the economy they preach it would help to get through the hard times," said Mrs. Anderson with warmth.

"You don't know what you are talking about, Nora. You may be sure big business is looking after economical management these days," said Mr. Anderson in a superior tone.

"Yes, I imagine so. When I came from Chicago last month we rode past piles of burning railroad ties for miles. The heat was so intense we had to put down the car windows. They paid out as much to have that wood piled as it would have cost to load it into empties and take it to some city and sell or give it to some charitable organization, and it would have warmed hundreds of poor families this winter. Now we are being taxed and importuned to get money to keep these poor people comfortable. They cannot be allowed to freeze. Any thrifty woman would eliminate such waste," and she spread the paper out to read.

"You are quite an economist," said her husband. "You might present your theories at headquarters."

"Would they receive the attention you are giving the suggestions here?" and she tapped the paper. "The average housewife is a very careful buyer. She can extract more from $5 than the average man. In most cases she is business manager of the home, buyer, auditor, office boy, janitor, seamstress, nurse and housemaid. Most men have the household expenses figured down to the minimum and the commission for the one person on whom the success of the whole home enterprise depends is left out or is so small it will barely suffice for her needs."

Her husband took his feet from the mantle, tapped the ashes from his cigar and gazed at the energetic little speaker with amusement.

"You could add to our income by going on the lecture platform," he chaffed.

"You needn't laugh at my oratory," she said good-naturedly. "If you really want to economize, cut out the smoking. If I spent as much on candy and sodas as you do on cigars you would think it grounds for a divorce."

SPECIAL SERVICES TO BE CONTINUED AT GRACE CHURCH

Interest is still being manifested in the special evangelistic services at Grace M. E. church, the borough, where large congregations continue to meet. The services will be continued for the remainder of the week with the exception of Saturday evening. Among the speakers for the rest of the week include Rev. C. C. Woodruff, of Elizabeth; Miss Emily March and Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of the church. This will probably be the last week of the services.

—Your "for sale" ad will be found and considered—probably investigated—by some of your "logical buyers."

NO WORD FROM U. S. CRUISERS

Government Striving to Learn Whereabouts of North Carolina and Tennessee.

HEARD FROM NOV. 2

Secretary Daniels Refuses to Credit Report That North Carolina Has Been Blown up in Beirut Harbor But Uneasiness Exists.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Although this government is using both the cable and the wireless in a vigorous effort to get in touch with the cruisers North Carolina and Tennessee, the two vessels appear to have vanished from the face of the ocean so far as any clew to their whereabouts is concerned. The last heard from either vessel was on November 2.

Secretary Daniels refused to credit the report that the North Carolina had met with a mishap in the harbor of Beirut. The fact remains, however, that the report yesterday of the blowing up of the vessel was preceded several days before by a report that American marines had been landed on Turkish territory to protect the lives and property of Americans in Beirut. Since then all communication with the two warships has been cut off.

Communication in and out of Constantinople is intermittent, probably because of the seizure of the cable and land lines by military authorities.

DISAPPEARED WITH HORSE AND WAGON

Hired Man Also Supplied With Funds Before He Left Employer's Home.

The reported disappearance of a hired man, a horse and rig and a sum of money may assist the police of Dunellen in establishing the identity of a horse thief who has been operating successfully in that village for several months past. At 8:30 o'clock last night, Arto de Brigard, who claims residence at the Mansion House, reported to the Dunellen authorities that his hired man had mysteriously disappeared. Early in the afternoon the man had been sent from the de Brigard farm near New Market, to a blacksmith's to have the animal shod. The employe was also supplied with a sum of money with which he was told to pay a bill owed by his employer.

When nightfall came and the farm equipment and the driver were still missing, Mr. de Brigard became alarmed and sent out the aforementioned signal of distress. Up to late this afternoon nothing had been heard from the missing party.

The man is unknown to the Dunellen man inasmuch as he has been in his employ but a short time. He was hired on the recommendation of a neighbor who had previously been his employer. During the hired man's regime on the neighbor's farm two animals disappeared but the theft was never traced to the man in question. Now that he has made off with de Brigard's horse, the neighbor holds some hope of locating his steed if the man is ever apprehended.

It was voted to go to Elizabeth next Monday night to meet the supreme regent there. One new member was initiated and after the business meeting a collation was served and a social time was held.

FENCE ON FIRE.

An alarm from box 41 brought the fire department to West Third street, between Madison and Central avenues, this afternoon, when a portion of the fence that surrounds the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company's yards caught fire. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, little or no damage resulting.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR DISORDERLIES

Five Taken in a Raid Will Have to Serve Long Terms in County Jail.

In disposing of charges against five disorderly characters, two women and three men, in the city court, this morning, Judge William G. DeMeza announced that he was prepared to establish a firm stand against trouble makers of this calibre in Plainfield and would make a determined effort to break up the practice of running houses of ill repute within the city's confines. The quintet of offenders arraigned today were taken in a raid made by Sergeant Higgins and Patrolman Martin Walsh, yesterday afternoon, in a house run by Mrs. Anna Beresford at Second and New streets. The mistress of the house was sent to jail for sixty days without the option of paying a fine, and the other defendants were given the following penalties: Mrs. Margaret Manson, $20 or sixty days; John Burns, $10 or forty days; Frank Carroll, $10 or forty days; August Wolf, $10 or forty days, and William Galloway, $10 or forty days.

The house in question has been the source of much annoyance to the police recently, numerous complaints having been filed by residents of that neighborhood against the character of the place. When the raid was made, Higins and Welsh found the two women lying on a couch paralyzed from intoxicants and the men were engaging in some loud argument in another part of the house. Burns appeared to be the aggressor and a few minutes prior to the arrival of the bluecoats he had created a rumpus by hurling a large piece of sidewalk flagging through the window, breaking sash and glass.

The condition of the women was such that City Physician Norman W. Currie had to be called last night. The Beresford woman has been arraigned on the same charge before in the city court and was banished from North Plainfield for keeping a similar place a number of years ago.

The New Jersey Branch of the Prince of Wales National Relief Fund for the soldiers at the front, is doing a splendid work in providing "creature comforts" for the men fighting so bravely in this great war. Through the Daily Press they wish to make an earnest appeal to all of the women of New Jersey to aid in this urgent need and to help in contributing the following knitted or crocheted articles, which are the ones most needed at the present time: Mufflers, head scarfs, wristlets, helmets, bands, sweaters and socks.

RETURN CHECKS AND BANK BOOK

But the Money Taken From Taylor's Hotel, Dunellen, is Still Missing.

William H. Taylor, the proprietor of Taylor's Hotel, received a letter post-marked Newark, yesterday, enclosed in which were his bank book and three checks amounting to $225 that were stolen from his room sometime during last Sunday afternoon or evening. The $225 in currency and $40 in coin were not returned.

A short note was also enclosed in which the thief endeavored to disguise his handwriting as in some places the writing was very poor while in others it was fairly good. The culprit said that the coin had been left along the Central Railroad tracks, where it could readily be found. In conclusion, to use his exact words, he said: "Don't worry Kul, we are leaving tonight for the Barbary coast. We advise you to get a chunk of iron in which to keep coin."

Immediately after the receipt of the latter a thorough search was made along both sides of the railroad tracks, but not even the box in which the coin had been kept was found. The letter has been placed in the hands of the local police.

Miss Pearl Dodwell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dodwell, of 140 Jackson avenue, Dunellen, and Clarence T. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dunellen, in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride, an attractive young woman, wore a gown of white crepe meteor, trimmed with oriental lace and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a pearl pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. Dodwell gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Julia Dodwell, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of corn color faille and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Arthur H. Voorhees, a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The wedding march was played by Loyal Blaine, a cousin of Mr. Voorhees.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, during which the couple received congratulations, and supper was served. The home was attractively decorated with autumn leaves and yellow and white chrysanthemums. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch arranged in a large bay window of the parlor, with a background of ferns and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's gift to his best man was a gold signet ring. The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a pearl ring. Mrs. Voorhees received a large collection of gifts, including cut-glass, silver, china, furniture and money.

GERMANS TAKE DIXMUDE AFTER FEROCIOUS BATTLE ADMITS FRENCH WAR OFFICE IN BULLETIN

ALLIES CONTINUE TO HOLD OUTLYING DISTRICTS AROUND THE TOWN, AND CLAIM SOME PROGRESS NEAR SOISSONS.

GERMAN LOSS TO DATE SAID TO BE 509,000

Crown Prince Takes Charge of Kaiser's Troops Against Russia—Japanese Torpedo Boat Sunk by a Mine Early Today—Russian Cruisers Bombard Turkish Forts in Bosphorus—Reported That Attack on Suez Canal Has Been Abandoned by Turkish Army.

Paris, Nov. 11.—That the Germans have taken Dixmude is admitted in the official French statement issued at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It reads as follows:

"On our left wing the battle was resumed yesterday morning, with great ferocity, particularly between Nieuport and the Lys. In a general way our front has been maintained. Despite the violence and strength of the German attacks directed against certain of our points of support to the north of Nieuport, we succeeded in reoccupying Lombaertzyde and advanced beyond that locality, but toward the end of the day the Germans succeeded in taking Dixmude from us. We continue to hold the outlying districts around this village.

"On the canal from Nieuport to Ypres, which has been firmly held, the battre was very hostile. The British troops themselves attacked at numerous points and checked the enemy. On the rest of the front the general situation remains unchanged, except that there has been some progress by our forces to the north of Soissons and in the region to the west of Vailley, on the right bank of the Aisne. Around the two points atmospheric conditions have permitted only minor engagements. There have been successful results for our forces. We have routed a detachment of the enemy from Coincour, three kilometeres to the north of the forest of Parroy."

The German Crown Prince, Frederick Wilhelm, has been appointed commander in chief of all German and Austrian forces operating against the Russians, says a despatch from Petrograd to the Matin. General Von Hindenburg is given as commanding the left wing and General Dankl the right.

RUSHMORE LIGHTS IN EUROPEAN WAR

Plainfield Product Playing an Important Part in Trouble Now Brewing.

Several Plainfielders returning from England recently convey the information that a Plainfield product is playing an important part in the great European struggle. In the city of Lodon, where the people are in fear of a Zeppelin invasion, everything is darkness at night but an immense searchlight, mounted in elevated position, sweeps the skies at intervals for German air craft. A close inspection shows that all the brilliant illuminators were made at the former Rushmore shops in this city, now controlled by the Bosch Magneto Company.

At the main entrance to Hyde Park, London, three of these searchlights are mounted and the namesplate of the manufacturer can be easily read by pedestrians. Similar lights are used on the British, French and German ships, all having been exported from this city. One of the home-comers said yesterday: "When I saw that name, 'Rushmore, Plainfield, N. J., U. S. A.,' I felt proud as a peacock and didn't hesitate to say to everybody that the searchlight and myself came from the same town."

HORSE SHOW BUILDING THREATENED BY FIRE

Fire which was discovered in the thickly wooded section between the Plainfield Horse Show Grounds and the Arlington avenue trolley line, threatened the destruction of the horse show grandstand and other buildings about 1 o'clock this morning. The blaze was discovered by a policeman, who sent in an alarm. The department responded quickly, and was able to protect the nearby buildings.

Before the blaze was extinguished by the chemical engine, nearly an acre of woodland was burned. The cause of the fire is a mystery, occuring at that early hour of the morning.

HEAVY FIRE HEARD ACROSS THE BORDER

Washington Officials Admit Situation in Mexico is Very Grave.

Washington, Nov. 11—Heavy rifle fire at Naco, Mexico, all during the afternoon, yesterday, was reported to the War Department today. Colonel Hatfield telegraphed to Secretary Garrison that events have developed with unexpected rapidity and interprets the fire as an attempt on the part of General Hill to prevent Governor Moytorena from getting his forces in position to attack.

Although the administration today faced the greatest crisis in the Mexican situation since Vera Cruz was taken, officials of the State and Navy Departments were unable to confirm or deny published reports of the developments which are expected to culminate tonight in open hostilities between Generals Carranza and Villa. The White House also was without word of the trend of events south of the Texas border.

It is known that the text of General Carranza's apeal to the Mexican people to take Vera Cruz from the American invader, has been received at the State Department, but Secretary Bryan declared he did not know whether such a telegram had been received. In the War Department alone it was admitted by high officials that the gravity of the present situation could not be exaggerated.

ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF STEALING CHICKENS

Samuel Anderson, of West Dunellen, was arraigned in the borough hall, before Judge Rene P. F. Von Minden, yesterday, on a complaint made by David Wenkoop, of Lincoln, that he stole three chickens from his hennery last Friday night. The complainant testified that Anderson had sold six chickens to Louis Feldman, the North avenue shoe dealer, on Saturday night, and that his chickens were among the lot. Anderson admitted having sold the chickens to Feldman, but said that he had a perfect right to do so because they all belonged to him. The court decided to adjourn the case until Monday, in order to give the defendant an opportunity of proving that the chickens in question, which are still in the possession of Feldman, really belong to him. Anderson was released under a $100 bond.

J. Russell Garretson, of Front street, enjoyed a day off yesterday.

BREAKS WRIST BONE PLAYING FOOTBALL

Albert Jennings, aged 14 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jennings, of Front street, broke a wrist bone while playing football during the morning recess of Lincoln School, yesterday. The school lads were playing football on the old baseball field opposite the school. Dick Feldman was rushing the ball and Albert tackled him, the two going down together. Dick immediately got up off the ground but Albert failed to arise. His chums rushed to where he lay and found him in a semi-conscious condition. He quickly recovered, however, and was able to go to his schoolroom upon the ringing of the bell signalizing the end of the recess. His teacher examined his wrist and believing it to only be sprained allowed him to remain in school. The pain, however, that he shortly commenced to experience was too much for him to bear and he asked permission to go home, which was granted. Upon his arrival home he was rushed immediately around to the office of Dr. Cooley, where the true nature of his injury was at once ascertained. After setting the bone the doctor placed his forearm in splints. Albert was able to return to school in the afternoon.

James Margentino substituted in the hardware store of Smalley Brothers, yesterday. Frank Smalley, the junior member of the firm, and Benjamin Vail, the chief clerk, both enjoyed a day off and spent it in hunting.

SECOND OPERATION.

This is the second operation for the trouble that the little fellow has been obliged to submit to in six months.

Gerald and Philip, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pfeister, of Front street, have the chicken pox.

Earl Haver was hunting at North Branch, yesterday.

Bound Brook.

Mrs. Elmer J. Mundy and daughters, Marjorie and Jessie, former residents of this place, but now living at Saranac Lake, New York, are spending some time with relatives and friends here.

The funeral services of Mrs. Louisa Long were held at her late home in South Bound Brook, yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. William T. Boult, pastor of the Congregational church, assisted by Rev. Harold E. Green, of the Reformed church. Mrs. Long leaves a husband, Edward Long; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Lund, of Plainfield; Mrs. Susie Harseld, of Brooklyn, and four sons, Frederick Parry, of New York city; William Parry, of Somerville; Charles Parry and James Long, of South Bound Brook.

Miss Emma Voornees, of Franklin Park, was a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Giles, at Harris Lane, yesterday.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Y. M. A. was held in the chapel of the Reformed church last night.

Burglars entered the residence of James A. Hart, in Maple avenue, early Sunday night, and made away with valuables to the amount of $250. The culprits are supposed to have started a fire in a rubbish heap near the barn of Ralph M. Ward, in Union avenue for which an alarm was sounded, and during the excitement incident to the fire jimmied the back doors of the Hart residence. The intruders ran sacked the entire house and the contents of bureau drawers were strewn about the floors. The booty consisted of $20 in cash, three diamond rings, several pins, and a quantity of silverware. The fire, which threatened the barn, was subdued before any damage was done.

Plains & Fanwood.

A meeting of the Fanwood Tuesday Afternoon Literary Club was held at the home of Mrs. William Huss on Westfield road, yesterday afternoon. English history during the eighteenth century was discussed the forepart of the afternoon after which an hour was spent in talking of current events.

Nearly everybody that possessed a gun in this place was out hunting and in almost all of the cases bagged considerable game. A. Storr, the local station agent, bagged several "cotton tails" in a short time, and John Albert made a day of it by bringing home a large number of rabbits. George Clark, Joe Albert and many other local huntsmen were also out. Robert Walpole, one of the best known hunters in this place missed the opening of a hunting season for the first time in many years yesterday, and that was because he is detained at home by illness.

Miss Alice Whitehead, one of the oldest residents of the borough, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital the first part of the week for treatment.

Dr. George Brick has returned to his duties in Washington after spending the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brick, of Terrill road.

The lecture and Boy Scout exhibition held in the Baptist church last evening, was attended by nearly a hundred people, including the local Boy Scouts, a number from Jersey City, who were guests of the local patrol, and many who were not Scouts. Captain S. B. Saunders gave a very interesting lecture on "How Our Boys Saved the Day," and illustrated it with many stereopticon views. At the close of the lecture the local Scouts gave an excellent exhibition of wig-wagging and other accomplishments and were congratulated on their efforts. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

After the first day of hunting this season most of the local gunners gathered in Joe Albert's store, last night, to relate some of their experiences. From arguments over the ownership of a rabbit to walking half the day with an unloaded gun, nothing was missing. With all of the fun there were some who told yarns of pheasants, patridges and rabbits that took the "goods" to prove. Joe Albert had six rabbits as the result of the first day, while Frank Lee came home with a pheasant and a dozen "cotton tails." Charlie Walpole and George Clark each exhibited pheasants and Henry Schawback brought down several grey squirrels.

John Ford, who was granted a license at the last meeting of the borough Council, will start a taxicab service at the local railroad station the first of the week. That is another indication of the growth of this place as a few years ago there was only two hacks at the station and now the number is more than doubled.

Max Saunders, who expected to spend a few weeks with his parents, was re-called to his ship yesterday, in New York, from which place he will go to Halifax.

They have occupied Sheikzar Fort, at El Arish, Egypt, and taken four field guns from the Russians. The Russians, the announcement says, have been forced to retire to their second lines of defense in the Caucasus.

Included in the information given to the press from official quarters today is the following: "The rout of a Russian battalion near Konin, 33 miles northeast o: Kaliz in Russian Poland, by a detachment of German cavalry appears to have been thorough and while the engagement is without great importance it shows the offensive spirit of the German troops. DR. HERMANN PRESENTS ELECTRIC NOVELTY ACT

The audiences at Proctor's theatre Monday and yesterday witnessed one of the greatest novelties of the season in the personage of Dr. Hermann, known to the stage as the electrical wonder. By a seemingly inherent gift, this man defies all natural physical laws by permitting 7,000 volts of electricity to pass through his body, lights incandescent bulbs and administers shocks by mere cotnact of his fingers, fires paper by emission of current from all parts of his body, and accomplishes other amazing manifestations of his power. His offering is intermingled with comedy that at times elicts roars of laughter. All in all it is one of the most orignial acts Proctor and Sanderson have yet provided local theatre goers.

DARE AUSTIN IN "HIS WEDDING MORNING"

Dare Austin, the English comedian, who will be seen at Proctor's theatre Tursday, Nov. 12, in his own comedy "His Wedding Morning," claims to be one of the most traveled actors in the country. It was seven years ago when he first produced this sketch in London, England, and since then he has played it continuously, making in addition to several trips throughout Great Britain, Canada and the United States, two complete tours of the world, embracing all the principal cities. This gives Mr. Austin a record of over four thousand performances to his credit and necessitates his playing his comedy not only in English, but in French and German also. With these credentials and supported as he is by clever people in Walter A. Chetham and Phyllis Deane the Proctor theatre audience will be assured of a real treat.

WINTER CARE OF SHRUBS AND ROSE

Should Be Neither Trimmed Nor Covered With Straw.

TREATMENT OF PLANTS

U. S. Agriculture Department Gives Some Excellent Advice as to the Protection and Growth of Flowers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—While lilacs, snowballs, and certain other shrubs should be let alone during the winter, being neither trimmed nor covered with straw and manure, other bushes need special attention.

Hydrangeas: Hydrangeas (semi-herbaceous) in the South will last out the winter if properly cared for out-of-doors. The tops should be protected with straw or brush. This may be held in place about the bushes with a little manure or stones. The flower buds of the hydrangea form in the fall, and this cover will keep them from winter-killing while shielding the bush from winds and sun. In the North hydrangeas must be taken up, planted in tubs and placed in the cellar. This is generally true of latitudes north of Philadelphia.

The shrub known as brugmansia should be treated as is the hydrangea. The brugmansia (known botanically as Datura) is also called thorn apple. It is a cultivated form of Jimson weed and has long bell-shaped white flowers and rather coarse foliage.

As a rule shrubs should not be trimmed in the fall. This process is timely immediately after the blooming period, if this is in the spring, as in the case of the snowball. If the shrubs bloom in the fall, as do some hydrangeas, the rose of Sharon, and some lilacs, they should not be cut directly after blooming, but in the spring of the following year.

The mock orange, which is also known as "syringa," needs no special treatment to help it winter the severe weather. The name "syringa," although popular applied to the mock orange, is really more appropriate for the lilac, which is known botanically by that designation, while the mock orange is botanically, "Philadelphus."

Roses: Almost all kinds of roses are hardy in the vicinities of Washington and St. Louis and to the south of a line drawn between these points. From Washington northward local conditions influence the successful cultivation of certain varieties. Some roses, as the briar and rugosa, need no protection, but other varieties, such as the hybrid-perpetuals, teas, and hybrid-teas, need special care, particularly north of the fortieth parallel. Teas and hybrid-teas hardly succeed in Chicago, although the hybrid-perpetuals grow as far north as Canada. All these classes do well on Long Island and in Boston near the sea when proper care is given them. These varieties in the vicinity of Washington need merely a little manure on the ground to prevent alternate freezing and thawing. Farther north, however, they should be treated as follows:

Cut the tops to within 30 inches of the ground. Cover the roots with coarse manure or leaves or similar litter. Hold this in place by brush, which also acts as a protection. Evergreen boughs may be substituted for the coarser litter except in the most northern regions.

It is best to draw mounds of earth about six or eight inches in height about the base of the rose bushes to keep them from mice. In some localities the loose brush around the roots will attract mice, who will make their winter quarters there and destory the rose bushes. As an added protection against mice, permit the ground to freeze slightly before winter protection is supplied. In fact, roses should not be protected until after the first light freeze, which may be expected in Washington about the first of December, but earlier farther north.

Climbing Roses: In the latitude of Philadelphia and farther south climbing roses usually need no protection during the winter unless they are a particularly tender variety. Farther north these roses need protection similar to that given to the tea and hybrid-tea roses.

Climbing roses may be best cared for by being removed from their supports. The branches should then be covered over with a little dirt and treated as hybrid-perpetual roses would be treated. A little fall trimming might be desirable to lessen the space occupied by the branches on the ground. Such side branches as are not to be needed for next season's blooming may be cut off. Such cutting off and shortening of the ends as would otherwise be done in the spring, may be done in the fall before covering, merely for convenience.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The annual foreign party will be held tomorrow night and Mrs. Harper Silliman, of New York, will give an illustrated lecture on "China." All are invited.

The October-November birthday party for all members having birthdays in those two months, will be held Thursday night, November 19, at 6:30 o'clock and all who expect to attend are requested to register as soon as possible at the association.

Every member of the association is requested to attend a meeting to be held on Thursday, November 19, when Miss Aller will discuss plans for the Panama-Pacific Exposition Contest with the members.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Lester Chandler will be absent from school for the rest of the week, as he and his brother are on a hunting trip for cotton tails in Califon.

Although Captain Abrams has not sufficiently recovered from his recent injury to take his regular place on the team, he has been out at every practice and has been giving some important suggestions from the side lines. However, he soon expects to be back in his old position.

Elmer French and Edson Day have each been presented with a pair of the new basketball shoes, as they have both practically made the squad.

The treasurer of the junior class sent in the completed order for the class rings today, together with the initials and sizes.

Fifteen fellows of the senior class today placed an order for bronze watch fobs. These fobs will bear the school initials and the date 1915.

The new lockers in the basement of the school building for the storing of bicycles during school hours have just been completed and will be put into use immediately.

A meeting of all fellows of North Plainfield High School interested in basketball was held this noon. At this time Captain Abrams and Coach Jeffries urged upon them the necessity of every one trying for the team to be out at every practice. In the past the men have not been showing up at practice as they should and it was made plain that only those men who came out to practice regularly and showed an earnest desire to play on the team would be allowed to make the team.

PURITY OF THE AIR.

An English Scientist Attacks Our Theories of Ventilation.

Crowther, the English scientist, attacks one of the most cherished of our hygienic notions with a logic that compels respectful attention. His contention is that efficient ventilation does not depend upon the chemical purity of the air. The attempt should be to secure motion, coolness and dryness rather than to displace one body of air by another.

He denies that there is a toxic organic substance in the atmosphere as the result of human exhalations and challenges those who disagree with him to their proofs, as the existence of such poisons has never been scientifically demonstrated.

The lungs, according to him, are never filled with air some of which has not been exhaled. Inhalation follows so closely upon exhalation in normal breathing that a portion of the air that has just left the lungs is invariably drawn back into them.

Exhaustive experiments show that the amount of air thus returned is from 1 to 2 per cent in persons remaining quietly indoors. It is from 4 to 10 per cent in those asleep in bed. There are certain sections of the respiratory apparatus, moreover, the nose and the larger bronchi, in which exhaled air always lingers. It thus appears that the air in the lungs is always heavily contaminated with their own excreting gases, even in outdoor life, and the dead spaces make it certain that this contamination will not decrease.

It is not worth while, so the doctor argues, to pay much attention to the small amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, therefore, and if the air is kept in motion and not permitted to become too moist or warm the necessary ends of ventilation will be subserved. —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Useful Wives!

Equal suffrage has not yet penetrated Africa's jungles. A husband will send two of his wives out to plant and care for the cassava farm. Two more will be appointed to look after the rice farm, to plant, attend it, drive off the rice birds and animals, and finally to cut and harvest the crop. Two more will be delegated to the jungle to chop and bring home firewood. Another will be commissioned to carry water for the family. Another will do the cooking. Still another will shine her husband's sword, light his pipe and bring it to him, while he sits in the kitchen and talks any kind of palaver that his men friends care to quibble about. The husband works on the principle of "to every woman her work."—Christian Herald.

BROKAW BROTHERS

MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING, HATS & FURNISHINGS

While the prices of our mixture sack suits range from $18 to $50, the suits we sell at $25 and $35 easily lead in popularity.

Always alert to meet the popular trend, we have made a very liberal provision at those prices.

Fifty-five different patterns $25 and $35, not merely a representation of each to qualify, but good big lots affording an ample range of sizes.

Clothes-buying to-day has developed into a choice of two distinct kinds—those built up to a high quality and service standard, and those built down to a low selling price. We have found that making the service kind of clothes assures a steady and permanent growth that is a natural result of adherence to honest principles.

THE FASHION SHOW.

Even the blase New Yorkers, who have always felt that they had to go to Paris for their styles have had their eyes opened. What was started last week as a modest display of American fashions became, before the week-end, a matter of much importance to the so-called "society" in the metropolis. Scores of women who probably had never before bought a gown that did not come from Paris, were really amazed at the ingenuity, art and workmanship of the American dressmakers.

Some of those who have been fawned upon by Paris dressmakers for many years, and deluded into believing that the only place in which a woman could be properly gowned was in Paris, actually praised much of the work displayed at the first American fashion show. It was even admitted that in the few cases where the gowns were not perfect, they were almost so, and that they left little to be desired in grace, richness of shades, taste in combinations of materials and harmony with the occasions for which they were specifically designed. Here then is the chance that sensible American men and women have advocated.

The war has closed the ateliers of Paris. It is impossible to get a Worth, Paquin or Poiret. This is the chance to crush the worship of the fetish the foreign label on a gown, a hat or piece of fur has had for so many, many years. It is the opportunity to foster the "Made in the United States," slogan among a creditable aggregation of American fashion artists who have been starved of patronage through the foolish notion, fad, whim or whatever it may be called, of American women. It is the time for the emancipation proclamation in clothes and the independence whose lack women have professed has made the cost of their wardrobes so high, but which cost they willingly paid because not to have done so would have relegated them to the oblivion of "those without style."

Fashion is ever whimsical and there will never be a time when a woman can wear the "same" dress more than one season without paying the penalty of fashion. So long as it is that way, and the dressmakers are going to see to it that the styles will keep on changing, it is better that American dressmakers shall be moulded to sensible American ideas and the wearers of their product be educated to the habit of distributing the vast annual wealth that has been going to Paris in the United States of America that produces it.

"Plainfield Comes Across With a Win," says a New Brunswick headline, describing a football game between the high schools of the two cities. What else did they expect when Plainfield plays New Brunswick?

"No more pink teas for the suffragettes," says a headline. We hope that does not mean that they are going to start some of the "gentler" diversions which interest their sisters abroad, such as burning up buildings, etc.

Every cloud has a silver lining, according to the old saying. The labor cloud in this city, is somewhat brightened by the fact that while some shops are laying off men, others are taking them on.

We certainly agree with Abe Martin when he says "The ranks o' th' down an' out are filled with fellers who nailed a hoss shoe over th' door instead o' puttin' a ad. in th' newspaper."

Somehow or other we cannot fail to admire the optimism of those Democrats who still can see where the party polled a victory at the polls last Tuesday.

And speaking of fashion shows, it was suggested some months ago that the Plainfield merchants have one. That sounds like a good business plan to us.

Green brook reminds us of some girls we know; a little fixing up would work wonders in the appearance.

It isn't so very long after a wise young man reaches the marrying age before he reaches the parsonage.

And again we rise to remark that it is never too early to do your Christmas shopping.

Fire a man with ambition, instead of a cussing, suggests the East Second street sage.

The only time some families get in the van is when they move.

PHTHISIS CLINIC DOING GOOD WORK

A Total of 243 Patients Have Been Examined and Advised by Physicians.

Every Wednesday, afternoon and evening, and every Saturday, afternoon and evening, the Plainfield Tuberculosis Clinic, at 109 Madison avenue, holds a medical session at which physicians who are among the best in Plainfield examine applicants who are afflicted with tuberculosis or diagnose the ailment of those who suspect they are falling victims to the disease. Dr. F. J. Hughes has been re-elected chief-of-clinic by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and Dr. E. S. Krans, Dr. Sidney R. Titsworth, Dr. Bernard Levenson and Dr. N. W. Currie are assisting him in the clinic's work of eradicating the disease and in preventing the infection of individuals. Miss Mary L. Leahy, the Anti-Tuberculosis League's trained nurse, gives largely of her time to the work of the clinic, visiting patients and attending the twice-a-week sessions at the Madison avenue office.

The report of the clinic's first year's work has just become available. In the 103 day's session at the clinic there was an average of eight applicants at each session, and 810 visits by patients were enumerated. Of course, this represented more than one visit by the same patient, but the total represents 243 different patients examined and advised.

In the year's attendance there were seventeen new cases of tuberculosis diagnosed and there were 49 cases of active tuberculosis. There were 127 patients with tuberculosis in their family history. The treatment of patients showed varied results, as might be expected with the applicants for physician's advice and nursing in different stages of the disease and with different facilities for following the physician's advice.

The numberof patients who gained in weight was much larger than the number who lost weight, the comparative figures being 66 as against 47, the average gain per patient being the same, 2¼ pounds, but the maximum weight lost, being the smaller number of patients, was greater, there being a maximum loss of 25 pounds as against a maximum gain of 12½ pounds. Miss Leahy made 275 visits during the period covered by the report. There were four deaths recorded by the clinic.

C. T. Elliott, chairman of the clinic committtee of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, has been most earnest and energetic in his oversight of the clinic and is exceedingly anxious to make the little institution of great avail to Plainfield folks who will make use of its facilities. Any one who applies can obtain at the clinic advice as beneficial as that given the wealthiest patient consulting a high-priced specialist. Co-operating as it does with the National Association for the Sutdy and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League is in touch with most advanced theories of the treatment of the white plague. The officers of the league plan that the second year of the Madison Avenue Clinic's activities shall reach a larger number of people who desire advice and treatment. Those who suspect or know that they are suffering with tuberculosis are urged to make use of the facilities of the clinic. Those who know individuals, particularly children, who are afflicted with tuberculosis, and frequently sufferers are ignorant of the symptoms of the disease, are urged to make known the benefits and facilities offered by the clinic.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF REV. DR. SWAIN

Was Brother of Philip Swain and Widely Known Presbyterian Clergyman.

The funeral service of Rev. Dr. George Swain, aged 73 years, brother of Philip Swain, of this city, who died on Saturday at his home in Allentown, this State, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Presbyterian church, Allentown, of which he was pastor-emeritus. Rev. Thomas Tyack, of Hightstown, officiated. Dr. Swain, who was a widely known retired Presbyterian minister, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, on June 20, 1841. He came to this country when eight years old. At the age of seventeen years he decided to study for the ministry, and after a year's preparation in Rutgers' Grammar School, entered Rutgers College, from which he was graduated in 1863 as the honor man of his class and received the Broadhead medal for classics.

After three years in the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, Dr. Swain was installed pastor of the Reformed church at Middlebush, where he married Miss Annie E. Beekman, of Somerville. After two years' pastorate, he became the minister at the Reformed church at Marlboro, where he remained five years.

Following a year spent at the Irving Place Presbyterian church, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dr. Swain began his long and faithful pastorate at Allentown, preceding Rev. Lawrence Colfelt. For thirty-seven years he labored actively in the field and was made pastor-emeritus three years ago.

Dr. Swain is survived by his wife and six children, one of whom is Rev. James Ramsey Swain, of Philadelphia, and another the wife of Rev. George B. VanDyke, of Moosic, Pa.; a brother, Philip Swain, of this city, and four sisters, all of whom live in Brooklyn.

DISCUSS MISSION WORK IN PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church met in the parlors of the church, yesterday afternoon, the devotional service being led by Miss Bryant. Afterward the topic for the month, "The Philippines," was introduced. Miss Dorothy Simons gave a delightful impersonation of a Filipino girl.

The principal work was regarding the work of the United States in the Philippines. This was given by Mrs. Isaac L. Miller. Medical and religious work of the Presbyterian church in the Islands were described by Miss Ella F. Dunham and Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor.

LOYAL BAND HELD SUCCESSFUL SUPPER

Pure Food Demonstration Held at Trinity Reformed Church Last Night.

The Loyal Band, of Trinity Reformed church, held a successful pure food supper and demonstration in the church parlors, last night. There were over one hundred present and as the food cost nothing the organization realized a large sum, which will go for the benefit of the church. This is the second supper of the kind in this city recently.

The supper was in charge of Robert W. Rollins, of Brooklyn, who assisted in preparing the food and then made a short speech. The food was all donated by various manufacturers. All the milk and cream used was donated by the Borden Milk Company.

After the supper was over a general social time was enjoyed. Mrs. William J. Trembath, president of the Loyal Band, was chairman of the supper, and was ably assisted by all the members of the class. The reception was in charge of Mrs. H. B. Seader and she was assisted by Mrs. Alleger, Mrs. Arthur B. Cole, Miss Sadie Searing and Miss May Randolph.

PHILLIPSON WAS "FRESH" IN COURT

So States Justice Snape in Explaining the Rabbit Case.

There are today in circulation stories in behalf of one Oscar Phillipson, a twenty-year-old North Plainfield youth, who was sentenced to serve 120 days in the Somerset county jail for shooting a rabbit in his cabbage patch one day last week. A wrong impression has been sent broadcast regarding the stringency of the borough court, Justice of the Peace Thomas H. Snape, and an attack has been launched in several instances on the results of "Jersey law." Rumor has it that certain boroughites have enlisted their sympathy in behalf of the imprisoned youth and are today circulating a petition which will be presented to Governor Fielder when enough singners are obtained.

Furthermore it has been stated that Justice Snape was one of those who affixed his name to the petition but when interviewed by a Daily Press reporter, this morning, the borough official stoutly denied this He stated that he had heard that such a document was going the rounds, but like others, had not seen "it" as yet. Members of the "Women's Civic Club," an organization that does not exist, are said to have softened the justice's feelings and induced him to sign the application.

The attack on Justice Snape would appear to be unwarranted. The Jersey statutes protect the rabbit by levying a fine of $100 on anyone who shoots them out of season. When brought into court, young Phillipson, assumed an indifferent attitude, according to Justice Snape. The official further declares that Phillipson said that he might as well be spending the winter months boarding on the county as to be roaming around the streets out of work. Hence he took the alternative of spending 120 days behind the bars.

When interviewed by a Daily Press reporter today, Miss Roxana Love, a teacher in the North Plainfield High School, admitted being instrumental in starting a petition for this purpose and said that she had visited Phillipson in the Somerset county jail, yesterday. Miss Love's brother, Oswald Love, of East Ninth street, is also working for the cause and it is said that a number of signers have already been obtained. Queried concerning her object in visiting the prisoner, Miss Love stated that she wished to get a personal interview with him before connecting herself with any proposition of this kind. She said that she was impressed with the young man's straight-forward manner and for this reason was willing to enlist her services toward bringing about a movement for his release from custody.

DUNELLEN'S NIGHT SCHOOL IS POPULAR

Board Authorizes a Schedule Calling for Two New Sessions Each Week.

Hervey B. Walters was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Dunellen Board of Education made by the resignation of John P. Fenner several months ago, at last night's session of the Board.

Superintendent George H. Rentschler in his report recommended that night school be conducted four nights a week instead of two as at present.

The superintendent's idea in making this recommendation was to double the educational advantages and to secure financial aid from the State amounting to $80 per teacher per annum, which is forthcoming when school is conducted four nights a week. The recommendation of Superintendent Rentschler was favorably acted upon and the new schedule, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, will go into effect next week.

The superintendent's report gave the present enrollment of pupils, including those attending night school and Plainfield High School, at 576. His report furthermore showed an average percentage of attendance of ninety-five per cent. for the month.

PRESIDENT NAMES GEORGE HAMPTON AS COLLECTOR

Washington, Nov. 11.—President Wilson today appointed George Hampton, of Bridgeton, an internal revenue collector at Camden. The appointment comes as a surprise, for it is said that United States Senator James E. Martine had selected someone else for the office.

THE CASE OF INFANTS.

The Prudential Insurance Company has just published a little booklet addressed to mothers and having entirely to do with the care of babies. It has been called "The Baby Book," and is replete with excellent advice and other useful information as to the health, feeding and physical and moral training of the new arrival in the household. The book is divided into chapters, each one prefaced by a clever drawing marking somewhat the various stages of infancy and early childhood. The cover is in several colors and of a very novel and original style, depicting, as it does, two roly-poly, bare-bodied tots seated on a flower-strewn mound with a couple of newspapers before them from which they are apparently deriving much enjoyment and satisfaction. On the whole the book is one of the most attractive publications ever issued by The Prudential. An edition has been printed for general distribution and any one desiring a copy can secure the same by writing to the Home Office of the Company at Newark, N. J., or by making request to the local Prudential agency in the town or city where they reside.

TRUANT IN COURT.

Miss Margaret Holly, attendance supervisor of the local public schools, appeared as complainant before Judge DeMeza in the city court, this morning, against a number of parents charged with not sending their children to school regularly. A number of minor reasons for the irregularities were advanced by the accused and all were allowed to go on suspended sentences provided they would see to it that their charges obeyed the school regulations in the future.

FLOWER GUILD MET.

The Plainfield Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild held its monthly meeting, last evening, at the Friends Meeting-house, at which Rev. D. B. F. must be the watchword when the housewife buys baking powder.

Alum is well known to be a powerful astringent, and should never be used in food.

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M. D., of the University of Pennsylvania, says: "I consider the use of alum baking powder highly injurious to health."

Food economy now, more than ever, demands the purchase and use of those food articles of known high quality and absolute purity and healthfulness.

LODGE MEMBERS TO HOLD FIRST OF WINTER TREATS

An entertainment will be presented by members of Plainfield Council, 711, Royal Arcanum, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in the lodge rooms in the Babcock building. R. A. Prugen, regent, and D. W. Littell, Jr., chairman of the entertainment committee, have completed arrangements for an elaborate program of entertainment and it is planned to inaugurate the winter schedule at this time.

It is desired that a full attendance of members be present in order that sufficient support may be obtained to make the opening entertainment a success. Monday night, November 16, Resolute council, of Elizabeth, will hold a Wickersham night to members of the Royal Arcanum in this county and the Plainfield members will be in attendance.

BACK TO ASYLUM.

George Grieb, of this city, who escaped from the Morris Plains Insane Asylum several weeks ago and was recaptured by the local police in Netherwood, Sunday night, was taken back to the institution Monday afternoon. The man threatened to shoot his wife and was considered unsafe to have at large.

PLAINFIELD SCOUT COUNCIL MET MONDAY NIGHT

The Plainfield Scout Council held its monthly meeting in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., Monday night. The success of the field day which was held last month was discussed. It was announced that Alfred Palmer, of this city, is starting a Scout troop at Hope Chapel.

Two Scouts applied for first-class honors, having successfully passed the requirements for that position. Fifteen Scouts applied for merit badges, having performed various acts that are worthy of reward. J. W. Aughiltree, who was chairman of the field day committee, has looked up the records of several of the events that were run off at Parker Field, and he found that the time made by the engineers patrol in the barrier climbing event was within five seconds of the world's record. Charles Rice's time on making fire without friction was also worthy of mention as it was within five seconds of the lowest time.

Mrs. William Cochran, of North Plainfield, has returned from Philadelphia, where she has been for sometime on account of the illness and death of her sister.

"TOMLINSON Y" PLANS FOR STATE MEETING

Young People's Branches to Convene in This City February 22.

The monthly meeting of the "Tomlinson Y" was held at the home of Lewis Burnett, on Duer street, last night, and there was a large attendance. The local organization is making plans for the State convention of young people's branches which will be held in this city on February 22. Chairmen for the various committees and their assistants were selected and will be passed upon at the next meeting.

The "Y" is also planning for other special work throughout the year and expect to make this a banner year. Miss Clara Karner, vice-president of the "Y," read a very interesting paper on the State convention of the W. C. T. U. which was held at Moorstown a short time ago. She gave some very interesting and new suggestions about the work. After the business a social time was enjoyed by all and refreshments were served.

"HOCH DER KAISER"!

MAC SAYS

Enthusiastic followers of the gridiron sport, several of whom are college graduates and former stars, have registered "kicks" with this paper regarding the treatment accorded them by officials of the Holy Cross football club at a recent game. One of the men, all of whom are exponents of clean-cut sportsmanship, is a lawyer and for professional reasons did not wish us to use his name at the end of a protest. He was with a party that attended last Saturday's contest at Cricket Field and shortly after the group had purchased tickets from one seller they were accosted in a gruff manner by a second official who demanded that the men dig down in their pockets and present their credentials. One man in the party became indignant and refused to meet the demands of the club official whereupon he was saluted with a volley of vile oaths and threats. This was entirely uncalled for on the part of the offender who should have known better, and those in the immediate vicinity at the time will probably not be over enthusiastic about attending games in the future. As for the offended group they are staunch in their vows never again to attend a Holy Cross contest and this party is not without its followers locally.

The legalite in the party said, that while he was willing to pay the admission fee, he knew that the demands of the club were lawless. He said in part: "For one of the policemen to put a man off Cricket Field would be a crime for which the bluecoat could be severely dealt with. The Holy Cross club has merely a playing privilege on Cricket Field and should an attempt be made to put a man off for not paying the required fee, either by the cop or club official, the patron would have a sufficient cause to enter a complaint of assault against the individual who attempted to eject him."

Some strenuous protests have been lodged against our suggestion for a Holy Cross-Plainfield High School football clash as a means of swelling the Belgium Relief Fund. Jack Caulfield avers that "charity begins at home" and on a second thought we agree with him. In fact, we're ready to donate the turnstile receipts to any old thing as long as we know that the shekels are going to do someone some good. They might even do the managers some good for all we know.

Giving the Plainfield High School basketball schedule the double "O" we have been led to believe that the Ninth street youths will need everyone of those half hundred candidates who put in appearance at the initial tryouts. The contests have slightly increased both in number and formidability over the retinue of last season.

Frank Blatz is certainly showing the way in that Knights of Columbus tourney. Blatz and his Elk League confederate, Chief Kiely, are exhibiting some classy wood splitting on the West Front street alleys.

Few things are certain in the world of sports but one of the chosen few to have a sinecure of a prize winning task is Miles Wilson. This bowler's 300 score in a contest during the early part of the K. of C. tourney is the one best bet for the individual high score prize.

A triple bowling bill is on tap in the Elks' Senior League tomorrow night. Some team's average is bound to do the rapid change stunt on this occasion.

The copper athletes will engage in a little terpischorean exercise on the Saengerbund Hall floor tonight. Some of the locust wielders are said to be past artists in tripping the light fantastic and a big gallery will probably gather to get a glimpse of the bluecoats begarbed in evening frocks.

If you never saw a squad of bluecoats sporting evening regalia you'd better drop around and see how gracefully and comfortably they can turn the trick tonight.

Substituting Stiglitz for Carty in the Holy Cross lineup last Saturday proved to be one popular shift. Andy put up a splendid game at the pivot position and more than earned a right to be recognized as a permanent occupant of this berth.

Carty's playing has fallen far short of the standard required of a Holy Cross football performer during the past season. He has been "dead wood" both on the defense and offense and a change would be welcomed by those who have the best enterests of the team at heart.

Returns brought in by Plainfield nimrods last night indicate that the bunnies are plentiful in the Southern part of the State as previously announced in these columns. The cotton-tails were bagged in plentiful bunches by local sharpshooters during the first twenty-four hours of gunning.

Brunswick papers are registering one loud kick over the result of that Plainfield-Brunswick High School clash Saturday afternoon. One of the scribes says that Brunswick was "robbed," and that the Plainfielders were allowed six downs in chalking up their last score. All of the allegations fall far short of being accompanied by the necessary proof to make us believe that the Queen City youths failed to spank the Brunswick eleven good and proper.

What's the matter with electing a captain for the Hope Chapel contingent now that the season has been sent on its way? Tommy Heron appears to be the logical choice for this job and the veteran little forward certainly deserves whatever honor that might be piled on his shoulders.

Here's the lingo a Elizabeth sport scribe has been prompted to hand out to his paper's readers the following story related by the Elizabeth A. A. on their return to the county seat after being drubbed by the Holy Cross eleven Saturday afternoon:

"Elizabeth football teams and others, too, have ofttimes returned home after battle bearing tales of unfair treatment, but the Elizabeth A. A., returning from a 20-0 defeat at the hands of the Holy Cross eleven at Plainfield, have a brand new one for the boys. As the A. A. warriors tell it, with the ball put in play within a yard of the goal they were defending, Referee Phillips, a brother of the official so popular in scholastic circles, charged that the Elizabeth team had been off-side, and as the five-yard penalty would place the ball well over the goal line, he awarded Holy Cross a touchdown. Had Holy Cross crossed the goal line on the play, they would have been wholly within their rights in refusing to accept the penalty but if, as A. A. members assert, no touchdown was scored, the Plainfield team was entitled to no more than half of the remaining distance to the goal. It is hard to believe that an official of Mr. Phillips' experience would be guilty of such a "boner" and still harder to believe that the A. A. players would be easy enough to stand for such a ruling."

Boiling it down to hard facts and revealing the true status of affairs, we are compelled to inform the misled pencil wielder that it was the Elizabethean's own official who levied the penalty in question Saturday afternoon and not Phillips, as is alleged in the squib printed above. The County Seat delegation's loud protest of the unfair treatment dealt out by the referee substantiates our contention that he did everyhing possible to make the game go in the Elizabeth direction but this happened to be one instance where he slipped up and fell with a thud.

BEST ROADS FOR AUTOMOBILES TO PRINCETON-YALE GAME SATURDAY

The Yale-Princeton football game will be played in Princeton on Saturday. This annual contest, always a hard fought one, will bring out a host of football enthusiasts; additional interest is added this year by the opening of the new Palmer Stadium. This magnificent structure of reinforced concrete will accommodate the thousands who will reach Princeton by trolley, train and motor car to witness the great battle.

Great care has been taken by those in charge of arrangements to handle the great number of motor cars, so that motorists will not be unduly inconvenienced. Police officers will be stationed at all important points to direct the traffic.

The best route for Plainfield motorists to take is to go from here to New Brunswick by way of Samptown and New Market and go to the postoffice at that place. Then the next right fork, go under the railroad and turn left into Somerset street 37.0. At a cemetery bear right 38.0, cross the railroad 39.2, go straight through Franklin Park 43.3, take the left fork 46.3, bear right 49.3, run through Kingston 50.1. Cross the railroad and the canal, then cross a bridge and at an old mill turn left 50.4 and run straight into Nassau street in Princeton 53.5.

Entering Princeton on Nassau street, pass Harrison street and Princeton avenue, then turn left into Murray place, which follow across Prospect avenue, where it becomes Fitz-Randolph road. Go one block and turn right into the Western Way to the entrance of the Palmer Stadium.

Arrangements have been made east of the Stadium for parking 4,000 cars. The charge for parking space is $1. For motorists who wish the service of a garage, several will be found on Nassau street. The total capacity of these establishments is about 200 cars.

No automobiles will be permitted on Prospect avenue. Washington road will be closed at both ends; Harrison street will also be closed from Nassau street to the Western Way.

When the Brotherhood war came to an end baseball salaries slumped decisively; when the American and National leagues buried the hatchet a decade ago there was a general curtailment; when the Federals and O. B. draw long and passionately from the pipe of peace—which seems an inevitable consequence—salaries will slump again. Baseball salaries have reached their zenith. It isn't likely they will ever again be as lofty as they are today. For one thing, it will be harder to start a baseball war in the future, for once a peace pact is entered into with the outlaws the magnates will see that the fruitful territory is protected, and this protection will be strengthened as interest in the game increases. This particular was neglected in the past. Baseball men have learned their lesson.

George Chip has been knocked out only once since his preliminary days. Al McCoy accomplished the feat. Some called it a lucky punch. Perhaps it was, but the knockout was clean, nevertheless, as the following account of the incident proves:

"Chip was stowed away in one minute and 40 seconds. Chip carried the fight to McCoy, landing left to head. McCoy returned a light right to body. They clinched, working toward the center of the ring. It was there, while at close quarters, that the decisive blow was struck. McCoy stepped back and Chip bored in. George led a left to face, which fell short. McCoy countered with a light straight right to head, and as Chip ducked McCoy brought over the left. The blow was half hook, half uppercut, and did not travel more than a foot; but it put Chip dead away."

The Fed magnates have gone so far that they can't stop. If they quit right now their losses will be tremendous; they cannot continue operating with the same teams and players they had in 1914; if they are after peace they will have to hold the winning hand in the argument with organized baseball, and the winning hand will be signed contracts. The one chance for O. B. to weaken and give in to the peace agreement would be for them to fear another wholesale raid upon their property. The National league cannot afford to have another bunch of headliners kidnaped; the Phillies were wrecked last winter; and other clubs were weakened; the American league must keep Walter Johnson within its circuit, and probably if the Feds get these big contracts they will have quite a bit to say when it comes to talking peace.

The Carlisle Indian football season will conclude with a contest against Vanderbilt university alumni at Nashville on December 5. Coach Warner's eleven will also play games with Auburn and the University of Georgia.

Marty O'Toole, the highest-priced player in baseball, and who has been a $22,500 failure with the Pirates, wants to labor under George Stallings. Marty believes the man who has worked wonders with men who failed for other managers would be able to make him a winning hurler. O'Toole recently was turned back on the Pirates after a brief trial with the Giants. He says he won't play with Pittsburg, and that he either must be given a berth with the Giants or Braves if he is to be saved to organized baseball.

Much ado is made over Johnny Kilbane's intention of leaving the featherweight class to fight lightweights. Johnny's bid for fame and money is tame compared to what Ned Hunt accomplished June 11, 1746. On that date Hunt, weighing 128 pounds, defeated Major Hawkesley, a 238-pound giant, in 10 minutes. The fight took place in England. Two years later Hunt met Dick Mills, a heavyweight. Hunt hit Mills so hard the big man was out for a half a minute, but his backers threatened Hunt's life unless he renewed the fight. He did, and after an hour of battling was forced to quit because a foul blow fractured several of his ribs and rendered him insensible. The Prince of Wales recognized Hunt's gameness by pensioning him.

FRANK BRUGGY WILL PLAY NEXT YEAR WITH ROCHESTER

Frank Bruggy, who formerly played baseball with the Plainfield Pets, but who made such a fine record with the champion Lawrence team, of the New England League last season, seems to be in great demand in minor leagues and when the names of the players drafted by minor clubs was made public today, he appeared to belong to two clubs of the International League.

Before the close of the baseball season in October it was stated that Bruggy would become a Brave next season and that the contract had been signed, but the latest report shows that he has been drafted by the Rochester team, of the International League. The Toronto team, of the same league, also has its eyes on this player, but their bid was disallowed. The Lawrence team will lose one of its best players, as Bruggy was the star last season with the willow and in the field.

With a triple victory, on their own alleys, over the Rutherford five, the members of the Jersey City team took first place, last night, in the Elks League bowling race. The Hudson county pin-knights were there for tallies of 1,001 and 1,003 in the first and second games, respectively, and have now a record of six tallies of 1,000 or better in the fifteen league games that have been rolled this season. The Rutherfords were by no means outclassed, for in the first game, with 997, they were only four pins to the bad, and with 988 in the second controversy, finished only fifteen pins behind. The third game was also close, Jersey City, with 941 being thirteen pins ahead. Corydon had two counts of 234, and he averaged 218.1 for the match. Wasserman tallied 221, and had an average of 201.1. Mahlenbrock and Murphy were both there for 211. Widmayer tallied 226 and 213 for Rutherford, with an average of exactly 200; W. Waters marked 215 and 200, averaging a pin less than 200, and A. McCormack's ability to a fine finish was a big factor in giving the New Brunswick quintet a clean sweep in an Elks' League bowling match on the New York team's alleys. In each game it was up to McCormack to strike out and he turned this creditable trick three times in a row. New Brunswick with 928, took the first game by twenty-five pins; captured the second affair, with 898, by eighteen pins, and finished seven pins ahead in the third game, with 921. Both Greenwald and Coyne were there for 200 for the visitors.

SOMERSET COUNTY PLAYERS WILL PERFORM FOR RUTGERS

Robert Bowlby, of Somerville, and Howard Mason, of Bound Brook, will start for Rutgers in the football game with Stevens, November 21. Coach Sanford has decided upon the change in order to give the regulars a rest before the contest with Washington and Jefferson, which will be played on November 28. It is probable that the two Somerset county boys will get into the game with New York University on Thanksgiving Day.

Bowlby has been playing halfback on the second team throughout the season. According to Sanford, he is the best plunging back in Rutgers, and he never fails to give a good account of himself in the daily scrimmage with the varsity. It is believed that he will gain a regular berth on the first team in another season. He will play right halfback against Stevens.

Mason has already played several games with the varsity. He is heavy, and handles himself well, and would be assured of a first team position if he had a little more experience. He will start the Stevens game at guard.

P. H. S. ATHLETES IN PENN RELAYS

Invitation Received by Management of Track Team This Morning.

FRITTS WILL BE COACH

Pastime A. C. Athlete Has Already Started Rounding His Charges Into Shape for the Spring Campaign—Some Good Performers.

The management of the Plainfield High School track team, this morning, received a letter from the promoters of the University of Pennsylvania relay games requesting the local institution to have representatives on hand for the two-day celebration this year. It is probable that Plainfield will be represented by several of its strongest competitors in the annual big games and Coach Jack Fritts, of the track team, will probably accompany his charges. He is at present rounding the men into shape for the big event and has several stellar performers to pick a team from. New Brunswick High School and Battin and Pingry Schools, of Elizabeth, are also entered.

The meet will be held on Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24, 1915, and is the twenty-first meet held under the Athletic Association of this university. The preparatory school events, in which the local school is interested, will be run off on Saturday and, will consist of relay races, 100 yard dash and 120 yards hurdle, hammer throw, shot put, pole vault, high and broad jumps.

One of the objects of this meet is to prepare athletes for the American teams that take part in the Olympic games every four years and the Oxford and Cambridge Universities, of England, are generally represented. However, the present war may keep them from coming over this time.

P. H. S. GIRLS' TEAM WILL PLAY ALUMNI

Miss Helen Brynarski Will Lead the "Grads" Combination on Nov. 28.

Arrangements have been made for the annual basketball game between the Plainfield High School girl's team and the Alumni and it will be played on the night of November 28, instead of Friday night, November 27, as is on the schedule, in the new High School gymnasium. Miss Helen Brynairski, who is captain of the "graduate" team, has succeeded in getting a team of old stars and will make the present team play for the game.

Two of last year's champions will play against their old teammates in this game. Miss Bessie Morris and Miss Margaret Mortimer will play guard and Miss Ruth Douglas will also get a chance at that position. Captain Helen Brynairski will play centre and Misses Jessie Stewart and Alice Mehl, 1911-12 stars, will occupy the forward positions. Miss Elsie Rodenbaugh, a graduate of the Ninth street institution, who now resides in Westfield, will play side centre.

All of these players are stellar performers and will undoubtedly give a good account of themselves against the team that will strive to retain scholastic honors this year. Although the team has not yet been made up the Misses Dorothy Crane, Sadie Rothberg and Erma Good are sure to play the first game of the season against their predecessors.

MRS. H. R. STOCKTON WILL PLAY AT LAKEWOOD

Between fifty and sixty entries had been received last night, for the invitation golf tournament for women which will begin today at the Country Club of Lakewood. From Philadelphia there will Miss be Eleanor Chandler, of the Country Club, and Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Quaker City title holder, while this district will be represented more prominently by Mrs. E. F. Sanford, of Essex County, Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl, and Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of Plainfield.

EAGLES' GAMES POSTPONED.

The Eagles Fraternal League bowling match scheduled for last night, between the Newark and Elizabeth teams, on the latter's alleys, was postponed until November 30.

RABBITS SCARCE HUNTERS CLAIM

More Nimrods Than Cotton-Tails in the Woods According to Returns.

REPORTS TURNED IN

Watchung Mountain District the Rendezvous for Many Gunners—Harry Dreier's Store a Meeting Place for Those Returning.

Despite the fact that the woods in the Southern part of the State have been rumored to be filled with small game, hunters who spent yesterday gunning in the Watchung Mountain region got little return in the way of rabbits and squirrels. A number of pheasants were bagged by Plainfield and North Plainfield sharpshooters, but these were to be expected, inasmuch as the nearby wooded districts were recently stocked by the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission with this much sought quarry.

One hunter returning from Mt. Bethel said that rabbits were scarce and there appeared to be about a dozen nimrods for every cotton-tail in the woods. The biggest bag he ran across in that district totaled three trophies of the hunt. The rabbits caught are unusually large, however, and this in a way makes up for the small numbers.

Many more of the city and borough sportsmen went out at daybreak today to various sections. The woods on the first and second mountains were the objective points of many, while several went to South Jersey. Three automobile parties left North avenue at 7:30, one going to Flemington, another to Pluckemin and a third to Stirling.

Gray squirrels have been seen in large numbers, but comparatively few have been shot during the first thirty-six hours of the 1914 season. If the opening day's returns are to be taken as a criterion of what is to follow during the remainder of the month the season for hunting wild fowl will not be a very satisfactory one. Gunners who yesterday visited the favorite feeding and resting places report that the birds are very scarce, with the possible exception of pheasants.

A cold snap is very much needed in order to bring about the best results for the nimrods. The ground does not contain sufficient moisture to enable the dogs to take up the scent readily and another heavy rain would also come as a welcome to the sportsmen. Duck hunters have encountered a scarcity in this game. They say that a cold snap will bring the birds out in large numbers.

Ray Schmidt and William Gaub, of the borough, arrived in town last night after a day's tramping, each lugging several rabbits and a couple of pheasants. The North Plainfield fire laddies are planning to hold a roast in the rear of the headquarters on Somerset street when some of the trophies of the hunt will be pressed into service. Gaub and Schmidt spent the day in the neighborhood of Mine Brook.

Charles Stahl, Oddie Clark and Frank Hollenbach, another trio of boroughites, visited Liberty Corner, yesterday, and were rewarded with several rabbits.

George Summers and Albert DeCamp went to Hunterdon county and each bagged three cotton-tails.

A couple of rabbits were brought back by Edward Gaub and Franklin Terry, who stuck close to home and scoured the woods at the foot of the Watchung Mountains.

Harry Dreier's store on West Front street, has once more become the rendezvous for hunters and a number congregated there last night, on their return from the chase to talk over the 1914 hunting situation. It was the consensus of opinion among the nimrods that bunnies were migh-

REAPING BENEFIT.

From the Experience of Plainfield People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Plainfield residents on the following subject will interest and benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No beter proof can be had.

Mrs. William E. Gardner, 322 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered a great deal from rheumatic pains across my back. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. I was in a miserable condition for months. Nothing I tried seemed to give me any relief until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's drug store. They seemed to take hold at once, banishing the rheumatic pains and regulating the action of my kidneys. They improved my condition so much that I soon felt like a different woman. I will always endorse Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gardner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a pot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

TWO FINE FIELDS FOR BIG COLLEGES

Yale and Princeton Universities Now Have Wonderful Gridirons.

BEST IN THE COUNTRY

Yale "Bowl" and Princeton Stadium Cost Over $1,000,000—Former Will Seat 61,000 People—Formal Opening at Princeton, Saturday.

Classic Eastern football games will take on added interest this month, for within the next two weeks Princeton and Yale will dedicate imposing stadiums, playing contests before an aggregate assembly of more than one hundred thousand spectators. The initial gross gate receipts will exceed $200,000, while traveling, hotel and other incidental expenses on the part of spectators will add fully $500,000 to the total amount expended in witnessing the play. In fact, it is probable that the opening of these colossal football amphitheatres will put more than one million dollars in circulation when the railroad, advertising, training, hotel, restaurant and a score of incidental operating disbursements are considered.

Another million dollars is represented in the present structures and the adjacent buildings and improvements either under construction or projected. The Palmer Memorial Stadium presented to Princeton University by Edgar Palmer of the class of 1903, represents an outlay of $300,000, the individual gift of Mr. Palmer. The Yale Coliseum when completed will have cost $700,000. The land upon which it stands cost approximately $150,000, while $300,000 was expended for the "Bowl," as it is termed at Yale. Another $15,000 will be spent in the erection of the new athletic clubhouse and the baseball cage. Still another $100,000 will be devoted to a general improvement of the ground surrounding the new buildings. This large sum of money has been secured in part by class and graduate subscriptions; private donations and from existing athletic association funds available at Yale.

From an architectural standpoint the two stadiums differ greatly. Seen from a distance the Princeton structure is extremely imposing, resembling to a certain extent the Harvard Stadium on Soldiers' Field, Cambridge. The Gothic style carried out in all Princeton buildings has been followed as far as possible. It is of U shape, with the open end facing Carnegie Lake. The main entrance at the northern end consists of two massive towers connected by a sweeping arch. On each side of this entrance smaller arches alternate with supporting columns throughout the exterior length of the stadium. It is so situated that the rays of the November sun strike the field at right angles, giving each team equal advantage in the matter of light and shadow.

The general statistics of the stadium are as follows: Seating capacity, 41,000; length, 672 feet; width, 320 feet; height, 66 feet; number of rows of seats, 48; number of exits, 26. Under the tiers of seats is a concourse which will permit of a winter running track, while surrounding the football field proper is a quarter of a mile running track with a 220 yards straightaway. The structure is composed entirely of reinforced concrete. Although the Dartmouth and Williams College teams played in the stadium, the formal opening will be held in connection with the Yale game Saturday.

It is not until the spectator enters the Yale "Bowl" that the immensity of the New Haven stadium dawns upon him. Due to its sunken type of architecture the structure is not impressive when seen from a distance. In general appearance it resembles a reservoir. A retaining wall of moderate height, surmounted by a turfed tank, is first seen as one approaches the amphitheatre. The wall is pierced by a number of entrances, while the main entrance is through a large arch flanked by tall towers somewhat on the order of the gateway of the Princeton stadium. Once the upper tiers of seats in the Yale "Bowl" are reached, however, there is a complete change in the picture.

The structure stretches away in a perfect circle, row after row of seats descending like steps to the playing field far below. There are 57 circular tiers of these seats, giving a capacity for a trifle more than 61,000 spectators. By the erection of steel superstructure around the crown of the "Bowl," seating arrangements can be made for 100,000 persons should the future attendance of big football games warrant this addition. The rows of seats are divided by circular and right angle concourses and aisles and entrance or exit is made through some thirty of tunnel-like ramps. The extreme height is a little over sixty feet. The field is about twenty-five feet below the surface and the retaining wall and bank rising about thirty-five feet above the surrounding land. Due to the great circular sweep distances across the structure are considerably magnificent.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Waxed Tomatoes—Take large, not too ripe tomatoes, as nearly perfect as possible, wipe clean with a dry cloth, have paraffin hot and paint tomatoes with camelshair brush. Be sure the tomatoes are all covered, but do not put on a very thick covering.

Sweet Apple Pickles—Pare and core enough sweet apples to make two gallons of nice large pieces. Prepare a good pickle of three pints strong cider vinegar, two quarts maple syrup or brown sugar enough to make sweet, and spice to taste, with whole cloves and stick cinnamon. Steam apples until very tender (a few at a time), then place them in the pcikle and let stand on back of stove where they will keep warm, but not scalding hot. Let remain there about twenty-four hours, then put in cans and seal.

TO PRESERVE A HUSBAND

Choose carefully, and not too young, from such varieties as a good moral or, better, a Christian atmosphere produces. When once you have chosen, let that part remain forever settled, and give plenty of time to thought of preparing your choice for domestic use.

Do not insist in keeping him in a pickle, neither constantly in hot water. Even poor varieties are sometimes made sweet and tender by garnishing with patience, sweetened with smiles and flavored with kisses.

Wrap well in a mantle of charity. Keep warm with a constant flow of domestic devotion and serve with toothsome edibles.

When thus prepared they are warranted to keep for years.

THE TABLE

Cream of Potato Soup—Take four or five large potatoes and one onion; boil in salt water until done. Pour part of water off, add one pint milk and a dash of pepper. Now take four or five thin slices of bacon or pork, cut in small pieces, fry brown and add to soup. Browning the meat gives it a rich flavor. In making bean soup don't boil the pork, but brown in a pan with a little flour and add to the soup. Try this once and you will always do it.

Fruit Salad—One dozen bananas, one dozen oranges, one-half dozen good apples, one pound green grapes, one bunch celery, one pound English walnuts, a few chopped pickles. Pour over dressing made as follows: Yolks of four eggs, well beaten, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, one cup vinegar, one teaspoon mustard, salt and pepper, three-fourths cup sweet milk. Cook until thick in double boiler.

Shoo Fly Pie—One cup sugar (brown is best), one cup flour, butter to make this in crumbs; two-thirds cup water, one-half teaspoon baking powder in the water; flavoring to taste. Pour this into crust, sprinkle crumbs on top and bake in moderate oven.

Mock Cherry Pie—Two cups cranberries cut in halves and washed in cold water to remove seeds; one cup raisins, cut in two; one and one-half cups sugar, one teaspoon cornstarch wet with a little cold water; add one cup boiling water poured in two teaspoons vanilla. Mix all together. Bake with two crusts. Sufficient for three pies.

Delicious Oatmeal Bread—Pour one cup boiling water over two cups oatmeal in a large bowl. Let stand till blood heat, add two cups bread sponge, mix well; and one-half cup corn sirup or one-half cup brown sugar, one cup chopped raisins, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon lard, one-half cup nutmeats, enough flour to mix stuff. Knead until smooth and elastic. Let rise till it doubles in bulk. Mold into two loaves, let rise again, bake slowly about an hour.

Chocolate Gingerbread—One cup brown sugar, half cup molasses, one egg, two tablespoons melted butter or other shortening, half teaspoon cream of tartar, one teaspoon ginger, half teaspoon cinamon, a few drops lemon essence, one even teaspoon soda dissolved in a teacup of sour milk. Melt one ounce of chocolate in a teaspoonful of butter, add with two cups flour. Bake in moderate oven about 20 minutes.

UNIONS' BIGGEST PARADE PLANNED

Great Demonstration of Organized Labor in Philadelphia, Friday.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11—The greatest demonstration in the history of union labor in America will take place here on Friday night, as a feature of the convention of the American Federation, which opened here yesterday. Fully 100,000 men will be in line, and 5,000 musicians will take part. Every branch of organized trade will be represented in the big torchlight parade, and President Gompers and his fellow officials, as well as Mayor Blankenburg, will review the parade.

The aid that union labor can give to the movement to make America the leading manufacturing nation of the world was one of the subjects discussed last night by President Samuel Gompers, in his annual address. The opportunities afforded by the European war to accomplish this end, he declared were, fully appreciated by union men, and that organized labor was prepared to take the various lines of action in aiding America to achieve this supremacy. A plan was proposed to interest municipalities and trades bodies all over the country in the campaign for foreign trade.

In connection with the movement for trade expansion, an industrial exhibition was opened today in Horticultural Hall. It is the most complete exhibition of union-made products ever presented to the public. Motion pictures showing union workers and sanitary, up-to-date methods, are also features of the exhibit.

In the monster parade, Frank Feeney will act as chief marshal. His aides will be Leonard Kraft, Joseph M. Ritchie, Frank O'Brien, Charles Torpey, Harry Sample, John J. McDevitt, George H. Ulrich, James C. Cronin and William Young, Jr. The marchers will assemble at 8 p. m., and headed by President Gompers in a motor car, will march to Horticultural Hall, where President Gompers and his suite will review the delegations.

One of the most important questions to be decided at the convention is the choice of officers. The re-election of President Samuel Gompers will be hotly contested, as it was last year, but friends of the labor chieftain declare he will receive a handsome majority of votes.

PETIT JURYMEN.

The following petit jurymen have been drawn from this end of Union county: Plainfield—Charles F. Fulmer, Hanry H. Taylor, John C. Bicknell, George H. Wean, Edward A. Brown, Guion H. Fountain, William T. Kaufman, Edward W. Davis, Daniel W. Littell, Jr., Joseph H. Angerbauer and Charles S. Langdon. Westfield—Henry A. Gomes, Moses A. Hoppock, Walter R. Darby. Fanwood—William G. Britton and James H. Goodrich.

PARISH LUNCHEON

The Women's Guild, of the Church of the Holy Cross, will give a luncheon in the parish house tomorrow afternoon, from 12:30 to 2 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to aid the work of the various guilds of the parish. Tickets can be procured at the door.

WILL DEMONSTRATE THE KILLING OF CHICKENS

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement will hold its monthly business session Wednesday evening, November 18, at which time a professional will give a demonstration of killing and picking chicken, the exhibit being under the direction of D. G. Kelyer, of Trenton Junction. Professor Victor G. Aubray, of the New Jersey Experimental Station at New Brunswick, a graduate of Storr's College, will be the speaker of the evening, addressing the association on the subject, "Conditioning Birds for the Show Room."

The final plans for the winter poultry show in this city will be presented at that meeting by the board of trustees, who held a meeting last Monday, and completed arrangements for the occasion.

SANTA CLAUS SHIP SAILED YESTERDAY

Brooklyn, Nov. 11—The good ship Jason, laden with the Christmas gifts of a million American boys and girls to a million homeless and unhappy boys and girls in the war section of Europe, steamed on her way yesterday, crossing the ocean with her precious burden of good things to delight the hearts of the sufferers. The big ship is loaded from stem to stern, and hardly a nook can be seen, for the avalanche of boxes and barrels of gifts filled up all the spare space.

From all parts of America the gifts have come to the Jason, and even far-off Honolulu, in Hawaii, sent a big contribution of toys from the boys and girls who live there. The gifts are not all toys and playthings, for the little Europeans are cold and hungry, and good, warm clothing, as well as goodies for the Christmas dinner occupy a big section of the ship.

The ship is a big, new American vessel, officered by Americans and manned by Americans. Every one of the men aboard is a blue-jacket, and the sailors have given three cheers and vowed that the gifts will reach the children in the stricken land safe and sound. The big ship is 536 feet long and 65 feet wide. She can carry 10,500 tons, and she is today loaded nearly to her capacity. For she is taking a big cargo of coal, as well as Christmas gifts, for coal is a very necessary thing for the Jason and the other American vessels who are across the water. The ship cost nearly a million dollars, and is made of steel throughout. Henry T. Meriweather is the name of the commander of the ship.

When the ship sailed, she flashed her farewell by wireless to the children in America, and will let them know of her progress by means of her powerful wireless equipment. When she arrives in Europe willing hands will undertake to distribute the gifts where they are most needed, and on Christmas day a million little ones will be thinking of the boys and girls in America, and how kind they are, and will kneel down and pray that American children will never suffer as they have suffered from the terrors of war and famine.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The Black Spot Is Out.

The carrying of equal suffrage in Nevada gives especial satisfaction to the friends of equal rights, because Nevada is wholly surrounded by suffrage States. It was the one black spot remaining in the solid block of white upon the suffrage map.

Honor to the Losers!

While every one is congratulating the women of the winning States, just as much honor is due to the women of those States where the victory was postponed. They worked as hard, as faithfully, and with as much self-sacrifice as the women who carried their battle through to success.

Jane Addams, who has just got back from a speaking tour for equal suffrage in the campaign States, pays tribute in the Chicago Tribune to the magnificent work done by the women and the unselfish enthusiasm with which they have toiled, with the whole force of evil interests in every State arrayed against them.

Miss Addams declared that she was surprised at the wonderful organizations which the women of the States which she visited had formed, and the unity of action and uniqueness of methods that they have used and are using in convincing the men that they should let the women in on the voting."

"Each State had worked out an efficient system of reaching its voters," said Miss Addams. "In Nevada where the women form only a small percentage of the population and where the voters are scattered, suffrage literature has been utilized to convert the men. In Nebraska, the women organized automobile tours and visited practically every village and hamlet in the State.

"In Nevada the liquor interests are battling fiercely against giving women the vote. Reno is looked upon as a playground for the men. The cities in the States surrounding Nevada have been 'cleaned up' by the women and some of the men are afraid women's blue laws would change the color of Reno."

In Missouri, Miss Addams "found the brewery interests arrayed in a powerful organization. Back of the liquor interests were the vice forces. In the other States the same interests were active in opposing the women. Large funds have been raised in these States to fight the possibility of the women getting the vote, and in most instances the opposition's funds are much larger than the meager campaign funds of the women's organizations."

Ohio has made an especially thorough and admirable campaign, carefully planned, and carried out with infinite labor and the most self-sacrificing devotion. This was shown by the 131,000 certified signatures obtained within a few months and at a cost of only $312. But the handicaps were too heavy. Ohio has a great many Germans, a great many cities, and a formidable liquor interest. The Germans have many fine qualities, but their opposition to equal rights for women is notorious. The enormous sums spent by the liquor interest in the Ohio campaign were a matter of general comment, not only in Ohio, but in the press of neighboring States; and it is a matter of common experience that the city vote usually gives a majority against equal suffrage, which requires the country vote to overcome it.

Nebraska carried on a skilful and active "home-made campaign," like that of Kansas two years ago. Most valiant and self-sacrificing work was done also in North and South Dakota and Montana. If we rejoice more over the winning States, we do not the less love and honor the women of those that lost.—A. S. B.

Women were an important factor in the elections in ten States last week. Next to the campaign States, the interest of Suffragists was centred on those where women are already enfranchised.

Returns so far show a heavy vote cast by women. In Kansas it was estimated that about 200,000 women were voting. In Illinois the proportion of registered women to registered men voters was about equal, despite the fact that women could not vote for the most important offices on the ticket.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I wish I could do something to earn some money, so we could board," said a disappointed looking woman, as she sat looking off over the lake at her feet.

"Do you mean it, Sallie?" asked her friend in surprise.

"Certainly I mean it. I am heartily sick of housework. It is so discouraging. Your whole day is put in getting meals, that no one appreciates. Half the time the men are so busy thinking of business that they could not tell you what they are eating. Or I'm straightening rooms that might just as well be left alone, for they will look exactly the same the next day," replied Mrs. Gardner.

"I can understand your attitude," said her friend. "How true it is that

"'What e'er we have or haven't
Is a source of real regret.'"

There was no reply; only a moody gazing at the waves, lapping the stones as she dug a hole in the sand with her parasol.

"What is troubling you, Sallie? You are not yourself today."

For answer Mrs. Gardner put her handkerchief to her eyes and began to sob convulsively.

"Tell me what is the matter," entreated her friend, drawing her head to her shoulder.

"Perhaps you can help me. I will tell you all about it," she finally said, controlling herself with an effort. "Will hasn't been a bit well. He smokes all the time. I can't get him to stop, no matter how much I say about it. He is so nervous and his stomach is all out of order. I thought I would get him a treat for today. I bought him a squab. They are expensive, so I only got one. I thought he would not notice that I had none, but he did not read the paper as usual this noon. When he saw that I had no meat, do you think he would eat a bite? No, sir! He flew all to pieces and went to the office hungry. Now tomorrow he will be sick," and the little woman fell to sobbing on the kindly shoulder.

When she was quieter her friend said:

"Don't you see that it would be very humiliating and exasperating to a chivalrous man to have you do such a thing?"

Mrs. Gardner took her handkerchief from her eyes and gazed at her friend in wonder.

"Men always prefer to give women the best of everything and to have one's wife revert to customs of the days when women ate what was left after their lords had dined makes a man feel like a monster," continued her friend.

"But I did not care for squab; really I didn't, and I knew he did," broke in the wife.

"After this if you cannot get squab for two, get beef for two. Nervous irritation is worse for your husband than no meat."

"I can't see any reason for his acting so when I was trying to do something to please him," said Mrs. Gardner with a sob in her voice.

"Can't you see what it is like? It would be the same as if you blacked his boots and did other slavish and undignified things. It makes him feel like a brutal tyrant. Don't try to economize that way again; it's belittling. Another thing, don't nag him about smoking. It will do no good and it increases his nervous irritation," said her advisor.

"I'll try not to," promised the other with a discouraged sigh.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Peacock Lost His Pride.

But One Evening Mr. Peacock Had to Go to a Meeting.

"SHALL I tell you a story about how one peacock lost his pride?" asked daddy.

"Oh, yes, do!" cried Jack and Evelyn, and so daddy began.

"This peacock lived in a country lane along with chickens and geese and doves. He had a pretty little home, prettier than Mr. Rooster's coop or Mrs. Dove's cote or the house where Mr. and Mrs. Goose lived.

"He was so very proud, however, that he never associated with any of the other barnyard fowl, and when he would go out for a walk with Mrs. Peacock and all the tiny peacocks he never noticed the common fowl at all, but would strut right past them with his tail all spread out and a sharp eye upon his little family to see that they did not look at or speak to any one.

"But one evening Mr. Peacock had to go to a meeting of all the other peacocks in the neighborhood and so left Mrs. Peacock and the little peacocks at home.

"It was a very fine meeting and broke up rather late. Mr. Peacock spread his tail and swaggered down the village street until he came to the lane where he lived.

"There was a good deal of excitement in the lane he noticed, and just then the cry of 'Fire!' rang out, and some one else shouted: 'It's Mr. Peacock's house! It's been set on fire by a lightning bug!'

"Then how Mr. Peacock did drop his tail and scamper, and, sure enough, when he got to his home it was bursting into flames.

"'Where are my wife and daughters?' he cried. 'In the house!' shouted Mr. Rooster. 'Get 'em out; get 'em out!' wailed Mr. Peacock, not attempting to do anything at all to help.

"'We can't open the door!' quacked the geese as they ran for water.

"'Save my family and I will reward you!' wailed Mr. Peacock. 'I will give each of you one of my beautiful feathers,' and he spread out his tail into a great fan.

"'How foolish you are,' spoke up Mr. Rooster. 'We don't want your feathers, and you aren't half so beautiful as you think you are. Just bestir those ugly feet of yours and kick in the door, and then very likely we can save your family.'

"Mr. Peacock looked down at his feet, dropped his tail and gave the door of his house a kick.

"In went the door, and out trooped Mrs. Peacock and the little peacocks.

"You see, Mr. Peacock lost his pride long enough to do something useful."

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLD OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv

REV. DR. BIRNEY S. HUDSON IS CALLED

Park Avenue Baptist Church Invite Him to Become its Pastor.

BELIEVED HE'LL ACCEPT

Has Had Many Successful Pastorates, is a Fine Preacher and Worker—Would Succeed Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, Now in Boston.

Upon the recommendation of a special committee, of which David M. Runyon was the chairman, the congregation of the Park Avenue Baptist church, at its meting, last night, extended a unanimous call to Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, of Atlantic City, to become pastor of the church, to succeed Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, who resigned to go to Boston. It is expected that Dr. Hudson will accept the call as he preached here several times as a candidate. The congregation is much pleased over the prospects of securing the Atlantic City clergyman as its pastor. It is hoped that he will begin his work here the first Sunday in December.

Dr. Hudson is a graduate of Hilldale College, in Michigan, with the degrees of C. E. and C. M. His theological course was taken at Newton Seminary, the Institute of Boston and Chicago University. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on him by two colleges, voluntary and without his previous knowledge.

The first pastorate of Dr. Hudson was at Tecumseh, Mich, three and a half years; then in succession he was at Detroit, Mich., four years; Hastings, Neb., four years, and then at Atlantic City, six years. He has an excellent record for increased membership in all his pastorates. There were 325 additions at Hastings and about 300 at Atlantic City, where there was the greatest growth numerically and financially in the church's history. He began with 290 members and at present there are 425.

Dr. Hudson is married and has one daughter, who has just entered Vassar College. Mrs. Hudson is actively interested in all church work. Dr. Hudson possesses an attractive personality, is an excellent preacher, and his pastorates have been marked by his pastoral work. He is well-known in Baptist denomination and highly esteemed throughout the State and his friends believe that he will be a strong addition to the ministerial force of Plainfield.

When the State Baptists wanted to raise $300,000 for its work, Dr. Hudson was given a leave of absence at the request of those in charge of the work to undertake the proposition and he succeeded.

RANDOLPH GILES DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Former Well Known Plainfielder Succumbs to a Long Illness.

Randolph Giles, aged 37 years, son of Nelson B. Giles, of New Market, and a brother of Mefford R. Giles, of this city, died at his home in Los Angeles, California, last night at 10 o'clock, following a long illness from complications. Mr. Giles had been in the West about eight years. Several years ago while in the U. S. Navy he contracted a fever at the time he was stationed in Manila and this is thought to have been the indirect cause of his death.

Mr. Giles was born at New Market, and lived in this city for several years. At one time he was in the employ of the U. S. Express Company, as a driver. Later he enlisted in the navy, and after making a trip around the world, gave up his position owing to ill health and afterward took another one in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. While in the navy he visited China during the Boxer uprising. Before retiring he was made a corporal.

After going West, Mr. Giles partly recovered his health, but more recently developed complications. There survives a wife, two brothers, Mefford R. Giles and Russell Giles, the latter being with him when he died; also his father, Nelson B. Giles, and two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Giles and Mrs. Charles Johnson, the last three named of New Market. Mr. Giles was well known in this city and vicinity, where he had many friends.

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue. tf

BORO SCHOOL "FRAT" TO AID CITY'S POOR

North Plainfield Students Find a New Use for Secret Society.

It was decided yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Sigma Gamma Kappa, of North Plainfield High School, to hold a "hard times" party. This party will be held Saturday evening in a vacant house on Sycamore avenue. P. H. Wische, the owner, has kindly consented to let the society have the free use of the house for that occasion.

The party will be open only to those who are members of the society and all who attend will be expected to bring old clothing of some sort which will later be distributed to the needy of Plainfield.

The nature of the party itself has not been learned, but those who come are asked to wear old clothing and to come prepared for a general good time. Refreshments will be served which will be furnished by members of the society.

This is a novel idea and is one which the society will not only enjoy, but will be of benefit to the poor to whom the clothes will be sent.

Saengerbund Hall Transformed Into a Scene of Gayety Last Night.

Delegations from police departments in Bound Brook, Somerville, Westfield, Newark, Jersey City and the Orainges were present at the sixth annual ball of the local branch of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association held in Saengerbund Hall, last night. The affair was one of the most auspicious events ever conducted by this organization and was attended by Councilmen Graves, Cose, Blatz and Babcock, as well as City Judge William G. DeMeza, Chief of Police Kiely and other prominent city officials. A banquet preceded the program of entertainment in the large auditorium and the thirty-two members of the local branch and a number of honorary guests enjoyed a sumptuous repast served by Tommy Timbo in his usual satisfactory manner.

The interior of Saengerbund Hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with streamers and autumn foliage and terpischorean music was furnished by L. R. Anderson's orchestra, of Newark. The program of dancing was the principal feature of the evening, the festivities lasting until long after midnight.

The local committee or arrangements was: General chairman, Arthur A. McGinley; printing, Ferdinand Bader; hall, Frank Sweeney; music, Martin Flatley; reception, Martin Welsh; entertainment, Thomas Flatley, and refreshments, Dennis O'Keefe.

MISS TAYLOR IS AWARDED $3,500

Wins Her Suit Against Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

FIANCE GETS $3,000

Court Settles Case of Alexander Stamler As Jury Returns Verdict In Plaintiff's Case—Trial Ends Circuit Court Term.

Elizabeth, Nov. 12—Miss Anatasia Taylor, a trained nurse of Plainfield, was awarded $3,500 damages by a jury in the Circuit Court, yesterday, after an hour's deliberation. Her action was brought against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for injuries received on November 26 last, when in company with Alexander Stamler, her fiance, she was stalled in an automobile at the Picton crossing of the railroad. The court gave Mr. Stamler $3,000.

The trial lasted three days and much expert testimoney was taken covering the physical condition of Miss Taylor. In her state of demand she averred that part of her injuries were of a permanent nature. Some of the claims, however, were not permitted to weigh as evidence. In referring to this Judge Speer said that the courts have laid down a rule that such claims are sentimental for which the payment of money is not allowed.

The court also ruled that the question as to whether or not Stamler was negligent in running the automobile when the pair were injured would have no bearing in Miss Taylor's case. While the jury was deliberating in Miss Taylor's case, counsel for Stamler and the defendant company agreed to have Judge Speer decide the legal aspect of his suit and in the event of the jury finding for Miss Taylor on the facts to be bound thereby.

Judge Speer had just awarded damages to Mr. Stamler when the jury in the Taylor case brought in its verdict. Mr. Stamler is a Rahway merchant. The conclusion of this suit practically end the Circuit Court term.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING.

TO ACT ON CONTRACTS.

The North Plainfield Common Council will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening, at which time the question of the contracts for the new joint sewer system will come before the body for action.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR WORKING GIRLS

Local Social Workers Are Organizing Friendly Society for This End.

Several local social workers, interested especially in work among girls working in factories and stores, are planning a rejuvenation of the Plainfield Girls' Friendly Society and a rally meeting will be held in the Parish House of the Grace P. E. church on East Sixth street next Tuesday evening. Mrs. E. Vicars Stevenson, who formerly had charge of this work, has been succeeded by Mrs. H. Bernard Coombe and she will be assisted by a number of enthusiastic workers. It is proposed to launch an active membership boom and place the local organization on a par with similar branches in other cities. Other nearby towns, among which is Westfield, have flourishing societies of this nature and the Plainfield workers are optimistic of making their membership roll the largest in the State.

The meeting Tuesday night will be held at o'clock and it is desired that as many working girls as possible be present at that time to enjoy the program of entertainment arranged for their benefit. There will be a number of pleasing features arranged and the first night's program will be typical of those which are to follow. Games, music and dancing will be among the numbers to be enjoyed by the girls and a local young woman has consented to be present Tuesday night to act as an instructor in the modern dance numbers. A Victrola has been loaned for the occasion and all of the latest dance records have been obtained. Sewing and other features particularly adaptable to the working girl's life will be introduced from time to time. Visits will be made to organizations of a similar character in nearby towns and an insight will thus be gained concerning the methods in vogue in other places. The Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, is one of those interested in the plan and he has consented to do what he can to make the project a success locally.

MUCH ADO ABOUT ONE COTTONTAIL

Oscar Phillipson Still in Jail and Maintains Defiant Attitude.

FRIENDS ARE ACTIVE

Petitions in Circulation Will Be Presented to Governor—Justice Snape Makes a Statement — "Spite Work" Alleged.

Seven days of confinement in the Somerset County jail at Somerville have failed to make nineteen-year-old Oscar Phillipson, of 309 Manning avenue, think better of his determination to spend three months in the county jail rather than have his mother scrape together a $120 fine levied against him by Justice of the Peace Thomas A. Snape in the borough police court last Thursday. Phillipson was convicted of shooting a rabbit out of season and with using a repeating rifle. According to the justice a penalty of $100 fine or ninety days in jail was the sentence for the first offense and $20 or thirty days for the second. When a Daily Press reporter called at the Phillipson home this morning, the mother had left for a day's shopping trip to New York city, but the prisoner's sister, Mrs. Lionel Cruickshank, was bitter in her denunciation of "Jersey Justice." She claimed that the boy's apprehension was the result of "spite work" on the part of a neighbor, Joseph E. Plum, the two families having been at odds since Mrs. Phillipson refused to take milk from Plum, but instead walked a distance of several blocks to obtain this food from a widowed friend. She alleged that Plum's children had flung taunts at her mother each time she passed the house on her errand.

According to Mrs. Cruickshank, the feud culminated last Wednesday night when Oscar, in a state of rage, declared that he would "break the Plum boys' back" when he caught him in the act of stoning his younger sister. The Plum boy is said to have retorted, "My father saw you shoot a rabbit and we're going to have you put in jail."

The next day the senior Plum informed Chief Weiss, of the North Plainfield police department, of the rabbit shooting and the complaints against Phillipson ensued. In court the defendant is said to have assumed a fresh attitude and declared that he would rather go to jail than pay a fine as he was out of work and could live on the county for three months.

When seen by a reporter in Somerville, the prisoner again stated that he would rather be in a cell than know that Plum was going to profit

"FOURTEEN YEARS ON THE FIRING LINE"

Robert R. Gailey, Famous Princeton Man, to Speak Here Tonight.

Robert R. Gailey, one of Princeton's best known graduates and a leader in Christian work in China for the past fourteen years, will address a men's meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tonight on the subject, "Fourteen Years on the Firing Line." Mr. Gailey is thoroughly conversant with conditions in China and is said to have a statesman-like view of the present situation there and in his address will give some interesting information regarding them.

Mr. Gailey comes here at the request of the Princeton Club, of Plainfield, under the auspices of which the meeting is to be held. He will be accompanied by Fletcher S. Brockman, National Y. M. C. A. secretary for China, who will also address the meeting. All men of the city and vicinity are urged to attend this meeting.

PLAN BENEFIT TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Mayor Stewart and Councilman Cose Arranging Details of Worthy Scheme.

Acting on a suggestion made several days ago by Councilman John H. Cose, Mayor Percy H. Stewart has tentative plans underway for a big benefit theatrical performance to aid the city's unemployed. While the matter is yet in its infancy, the Mayor and Mr. Cose are at work on the details and are already drawing substantial support to their cause. A definite announcement may be made in the course of a week.

Mr. Cose's plain in its embryonic stage is to arrange an entertaining program from among professional and amateur talent contributed gratuitously. There is no doubt in the mind of the Mayor and Councilman but what the show would be given the hearty support of the citizens financially able. The money thus secured could be used as a basic fund to establish credit for worthy families or to supply coal and provisions where relief is distressingly urgent. It is realized the city's poor fund is supposed to care for the poor and indigent but the appropriation is already so closely pressed its limitations are being reached. The benefit performance money can be placed in the hands of a volunteer committee and carefully distributed over the widest possible area.

The Mayor's office continues to be besieged by unemployed men seeking work, but there is no avenue of relief. The new trunk sewer is to be gotten underway within a few days and the contractors have agreed to put local men on the job wherever possible. It is believed that even this small opportunity will be accepted by many who are in desperate straits.

PHILLIPSON CASE BEFORE GOVERNOR

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley Will Confer With Executive Today.

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, a member of the New Jersey Riparian Commission, is in Trenton today in conference with Governor Fielder regarding certain matters under consideration by the Commission and will at that time present the case of Oscar Phillipson, the imprisoned Fish and Game Law violator, to the State executive. Mr. Smalley has interested himself in behalf of young Phillipson and intends to enlist the Governor's aid in a direct way in the cause.

This is not the first time that Mr. Smalley has taken an active part in cases of this variety and he is very much incensed over the severity of the penalty. What the result of today's conference will be remains to be seen, but Mr. Smalley is prepared to lay the entire matter before Governor Fielder and is optimistic of his chances of bring about the rescinding of the sentence.

AGAIN SURROUND PRZEMYSL FORT

Austrians Admit That New Siege is Underway in Official Statement.

NO CHANGE IN FRANCE

Allies Reported to Have Repulsed Attempt to Carry Assault at River Yser—Germans Destroying Bridges in North of Flanders.

Amsterdam, Nov. 12 (Central News Cable).—Official admission that the Russians have again surrounded Przemysl, and have instituted a new siege against that fortress, and that the Austrians have evacuated Central Galicia, is made in a statement at Vienne by the Austrian general staff headquarters.

It is reported that 100,000 German troops have passed through Ghent. It is declared that they are on their way to Ypres, where the fighting is heaviest, but as they come from Bruges and Ostend, it is considered more likely that they are bound for Brussels. The Gevernor of Ghent was superseded yesterday by Col. Mantenfel.

It is learned from a reliable source that the municipality of Ghent has been given notice that it had until noon today to pay the Germans 10,000 pounds, as pay for the officers and men of the German forces stationed in the vicinity.

The Germans have blown up the bridges at Stroobrugge and Woerkerke and are stopping all traffic to Holland from Flanders. The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche states that the Germans have arrested five of the leading citizens of Lokeren, including the burgomaster, as the result of the alleged discovery of rifles belonging to the civic guard in the Town Hall.

An official denial of the report that General Von Hindenberg has been taken prisoner by the Russains, which was given out in Petrograd, has been issued in Berlin, according to a despatch from the German capital.

The Germans are destroying the bridges over the Leopold Canal in the Suffering Belgians In Need of Food and Clothing

Belgian Homeless Sleeping on Straw in a Barn.

Contributions continue to arrive at the Daily Press office for the suffering women and children of Belgium, and many checks have been sent to the committee of well-known local women who have been soliciting funds and sewing to aid in the work. A meeting of the committee was held at the home of Mrs. Frederick Wallace, on Hillside avenue, this morning, at which many encouraging reports were received. The Daily Press has received since the last report on Tuesday, a subscription of $5 from a friend, to be added to the cause.

The picture herewith gives but a meagre idea of what these sufferers in Belgium are going through. The local fund is not intended to do a thing for the soldiers, as their wants are being taken care of by the government and through the Red Cross fund. The money raised, and the clothing being gathered by the local committee is being sent direct to those who will use it to relieve the want and suffering of the women and children, and the old men who are unable to fight, but who have been deprived of their homes. Thousands of dollars worth of edibles are needed, and the want has become so great abroad that the Americans are now requested to buy the goods in this country and ship them instead of sending money.

In addition to the general fund being raised by subscriptions of all sizes, an effort is being made to secure ten subscriptions of $100 each from Plainfield men, the whole to be used for the cause, and no one will have to pay the sum unless the entire $1,000 is subscribed. Through the Daily Press three of these $100 subscriptions have been pledged, and anyone wishing to contribute to the cause can notify this newspaper. The other subscriptions may be sent direct to the Daily Press, or to Miss Hartridge, treasurer of the local fund.

One of the three men who promised to give $100 sends his check for the amount to the Daily Press this morning, with the following comment: "Upon reading your editorial last night and the cables from our American representative, showing the instant need of the Belgians, my wife and I at once concluded that this money is no longer ours; it belongs to the Belgians, and the more quickly you send it the better. I therefore enclose check for $100 without conditions."

The total amount sent direct to the Daily Press for the cause has now reached $179, and the entire amount pledged direct to members of the local relief committee or in answer to appeals made in the Daily Press is about $1,500.

FALLS IN SWAMP.

With his mind on a pheasant that he was endeavoring to bag and not on where the pursuit was leading him, John Hill, proprietor of the Park Hotel Stables, who was one of a hunting party composed of Earl Ising, Walter VanPelt, George Endicott and Herman Pfeister, strode off of terra firma into a swamp in back of Rajotte's brick yard, yesterday morning, sinking up to his waist in the mire. He immediately emitted lusted yells for help. His companions, who were also after the pheasant and who had circled the swamp, thinking that Hill was only fooling paid no attention to his yells. When Hill, however, failed to join them after several minutes of his yells continued to echo back from the same point, they gave up pursuing the pheasant and hurried back. They found Hill red in the face endeavoring to extricate himself with his every effort sinking him deeper in the mire. They could not reach Hill with their hands as he was too far out in the swamp for that. So they cut down a small sapling and extended it to the slowly sinking man. It required ten minutes of time and the efforts of all four men to land Hill on solid ground once more.

Copies of a set of resolutions dealing with the American flag have been presented to the Board of Education by Miss Anna Todd, who is regent of Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R. These copies have been framed and one placed in each school room. The copies read as follows:

The American Flag
its use—its forbidden abuse

The American Flag is the symbol of the brotherhood of man. It stands for courage, for chivalry, for generosity and honor.

No hand must touch it roughly; no hand shall touch it irreverently.

Its position is aloft; to float over its children, uplifting their eyes and hearts by its glowing colors and splendid promise; for under the Stars and Stripes are opportunities unknown to any other nation of the world.

The Government commands the people to honor their flag; men and boys should uncover as they pass the vivid stripes which represent the blood of brave men, and the stars which shall shine on forever. It must be raised at sunrise; lowered at sunset.

It is not the plaything of the hour; it is a birthright of privilege and integrity.

It may not be used as a staff, or whip or covering.

It shall not be marred by advertisement, nor desecrated to the stage.

It was born in tears and blood; it was baptized in blood and tears.

It has floated since June 14, 1777, over a country of benevolence, refuge and progress.

It must be carried upright.

To bear the Star Spangled Banner is an honor; to own one a sacred trust.

It is the emblem of Freedom, of Equity, of Justice for every person and creature as it floats unvanquished, untarnished over the open door of free education.—Presented by Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R.

No person about town seems to remember the Board of Education ever having held their monthly session in a sick room before last Tuesday evening, when their meeting was held in the bedroom of President Augustus F. Todd, who is ill with larngitis. The members had assembled in the Lincoln School one shy of a quorum, so they called President Todd up apprising him of the fact. Mr. Todd told them through the person who answered the 'phone that if they couldn't hold a meeting in any other way that they could then hold it in his room. There was quite a number of bills to be paid and other business of importance to be transacted, so this offer was accepted.

Editor George W. Day, of the Weekly Call, thinks that the borough should pay the tuition of any resident desiring to take up a night course in Plainfield High School. 'Plains & Fanwood.

With the greatly increased traffic at the junction of North and Martine avenues, in the borough, the necessity of having an arc ligat in the middle of the large circle formed by the streets appears more urgent. There are street lights on two of the corners, but the centre is left unlighted and the danger of vehicles colliding is probable. PROCTOR OFFERS ANOTHER FINE VAUDEVILLE BILL

The bill at Proctor's Theatre for the remainder of the week, beginning with today promises another treat. It is headed by Dave Austin and Company, and his own playlet, "His Wedding Morning," an offering of superior excellence; William Cahill, known as "The Man from Ireland," is sure to please, those having seen him in big time houses declaring his act full of snap and go. Others on the bill are Keefe, Langdon and Wheeler, singing and talking; Graham and Randall, comedy and variety, and Wiley and TenEyck, novelty dancing. The photo-plays are changed daily.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Many odd things have been said by the critics in New York and Chicago of the mirth producing elements in "Madam President," the farce in which Fannie Ward will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening. Alan Dale in New York said, "'Madam President' would make a sphynx laugh," while Ashton Stevens, of the Chicago Examiner, remarked: "If the audience had worn meters on its risibles and had been charged by the laughs, we would all have gone home bankrupt. There is a laugh in every line—an old line at that—but almost new in truthfulness of the application." The old stager of the Philadelphia "Inquirer" stated: "There is a world of difference between the airy, blithsome devilry of spirit of a farce like 'Madam President' and the brutal oversentimentalized white slave plays which have been thrust upon us in the guise of moral uplift. Designedly a farce intended to produce nothing more than entertainment, with certain weaknesses of human character, as the theme, the authors and their adaptor have centered the attention on one thing alone and succeeded most admirably." The critic of the Chicago "Inter Ocean" said of "Madam President:" "It is a mere frolic over thin ice,—that's all,—with never a plunge into the puddle and, after frequent immersions in the mire of the modern shock-drama, the public will find this a relief and audiences will laugh instead of shudder."

The announcement by Charles Frohman of the annual engagement of John Drew is always a very welcome one and the news of this distinguished player's coming engagement at the Plainfield Theatre for a single performance on Tuesday evening, November 17, will be of double interest to local playgoers. Mr. Drew returns in a brand new comedy from the hands of Dario Niccodemi and Michael Morton entitled "The Prodigal Husband." In this new play he has been appearing at Mr. Frohman's Empire Theatre in New York uninterruptedly since the opening of the present season. In "The Prodigal Husband," as the title suggests, Mr. Drew appears as an erring husband slightly given over to the life known as "bohemian" and the story has to do with his adventures during a stormy period in which his wife has become estranged from him. In an extremely interesting and sympathetic manner his shortcomings are brought home to him by a slip of a girl in whom he has evinced a protecting interest, the daughter of his housekeeper. Through a series of very amusing scenes, replete with alternating fun and pathos, his adventures make their way to a climax as delightful as it is unexpected. In this newest of Drew roles the actor has never been seen to better advantage, the part supplying him with ample opportunities for the display of the exquisite comedy methods and delicate moments of sincere and sympathetic character portrayal that have made him the leader among our foremost American players. Mr. Drew's supporting company is a distinguished one, with Miss Martha Hedman appearing as the youthful Sihone, and surround roles in the hands of Ferdinand Gottschalk, Henry Crocker, Harry Leighton, Clinton Preston, Grace Carlyle, Helen Hayes Brown, Rose Winter, Josephine Morse, May Gayler, Walter Soderling and J. Homer Hunt.

WILL EXHIBIT LIVING SNAKES AT LECTURE

The teachers and pupils of the High School will be diverted as well as informed by an early entertainment at 8:35 tomorrow morning, in the form of a lecture entitled "Adventures in the Tropics," by Dr. Allen Samuel Williams, of New York city, who has appeared many times in Plainfield and who is accredited with having elevated the average here of ophiological edcuation through teaching facts about the life historic of serpents in the local public schools and elsewhere. The objective of a long journey made in the winter of 1912 by Dr. Williams and his wife was to study the anaconda, boa constrictor and other reptiles in South America and the southermost West Indies.

Many specimens of living serpents, some of large size, were captured by the Williams expedition and brought back to North America for scientific institutions. An interesting incident of the journey was a visit to Tobago, "Robinson Crusoe's" Island, where Dr. Williams went far into Crusoe's Cave," said to have been explored for two miles. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon pictures and the lecturer will exhibit some living specimens of serpents.

SUPREME COURT AND MOVIES.

Washington, Nov. 12.—One of the most interesting cases now before the United States Supreme Court is that involving the right of State and municipal authorities to censor moving picture films. The case was appealed from the Ohio courts on constitutional grounds, the complainant asserting that the act giving the right of censorship to the Industrial Commission of Ohio abridges the right of free publication, and is an interference with interstate commerce. Many States now exercise censorship over the films, and the movie men are testing the constitutionality of the restriction.

ONE WAY TO CUT EXPENSES.

Republican spellbinders made much of the fact during the recent campaign that the Democrats were extravagant in the management of the State, and that they would see to it that expenses were reduced if given control of the Legislature. They have an excellent opportunity to make a big cut by abolishing the useless and expensive county tax boards, which have been in existence for eight years, since former Governor Stokes persuaded the Legislature to create the offices.

Their object was to secure "the taxation of all property in the various counties of this State at its true value, in order that all property, except such as shall be exempt by law, shall bear its full, equal and just share of taxes." If they have not been able to do that in eight years they never will. If they have succeeded it would seem that the necessary supervision could now be left to the high salaried state board of taxation, the members of which get enough pay to warrant the devotion of their entire time to the work. As the Trenton Times says:

The Boards are costing the State $90,000 in salaries, for the compensation of the board members is borne by the State. In addition the counties are paying out more than $30,000 a year to the secretaries and clerks; a total of at least $120,000 that may well be saved. If the valuations have been adjusted and the discriminations eliminated, a county organization of the local assessors, with possibly a secretary working the year through to keep an eye on the work of the assessors, is all that is now required.

Governor Fort recommended the abolition of the county tax boards more than four years ago, when he said in his message to the Legislature that "their object and purpose was solely to secure an increase of taxable values so that the average tax rate upon railway property might be reduced. They have accomplished this purpose with a resultant loss to the public school funds for distribution by the State of not less than $500,000 per year for each year since their creation."

Repeal of the Hillery maximum tax rate law was also recommended by Governor Fort. That was accomplished at the last session, four years after it was made. The next Legislature may well consider the advisability of abolishing the county tax boards, thus saving $90,000 a year to the State and $30,000 to the counties.

There seems to have been a lot of discussion stirred up in the metropolitan newspapers by the sending of a young man to jail for 120 days because he killed a rabbit out of season. Such a story appeals to the sympathy of the general reading public, and naturally yarns concerning such action tell only the side which concerns the accused person. Had the young man been fined for killing the rabbit, probably nothing more would have been heard of the matter, but according to the Justice of the Peace who committed him, he asked to be sent to jail, saying that he had not been able to get any work for some time, and did not care whether or not he went to jail. In fact it is claimed that he was impudent when brought before the Squire. The sentence certainly was entirely too large for the crime, especially when the gunning season would open within a very few days and no particular harm was done by killing the rabbit at this season of the year. The game warden who pressed the charge is generally considered a careful and capable official. There is no doubt that the publicity given the affair will result in the release of the young man from the Somerville jail, after he has had a few days to realize that the courts demand respect, regardless of whether they are presided over by a justice of the peace or a Supreme court justice.

The contributions for the Belgian relief fund continue to come slowly into the Daily Press office, but the $100 ones seem to be few and far between. Times are hard, it is true, but the need is great and Plainfield will have to sooner or later do its share toward relieving the destitute, so why not send along your check and make this city one of the leaders, instead of having it drag along in the rear in this good work.

A photograph of the new sheriff in Mercer county, which appears in the Trenton State Gazette, proves that all of the good old fashioned whiskers have not disappeared in Mercer county anyway. He certainly never got the barber vote. Editorially, the State Gazette says "that frills and furbelows are something that Sheriff Fleming knows very little about." If that statement is true he never looked into a mirror.

Here's a chance for some local civic body. The last days of the local volunteer firemen are approaching, for on January first the few remaining call men will probably go out of office. Would not this be an occasion to "pay our lasts respects" to the protectors of our homes in by-gone days? Here's hoping that someone will get behind a movement to give the "boys" a fitting farewell.

Saturday's contributed editorial is going to preach a new idea to those Plainfielders who are liberal contributors when the needy of the city are in want. It will be a timely lesson for all who aid our local charity organization. It tells how we can make producers out of those whom we have been aiding, so that mendicancy will become a thing of the past.

Just when we were beginning to learn how to twist our tongues around those awful Hungarian names, the Turks have mixed into things, and we are worse off than we were before.

If the Kaiser keeps on distributing iron crosses at the rate that he is reported to have done, it will be more of an honor to be without them, than to have them.

Some Plainfield automobilists never toot their horns, to say nothing of carrying a Plainfield flag on the machine to toot the town along.

HUNTING—A JOB.

Try a hand at it once,
Try a month of hunts,
Then you may tell me honest neighbor,
How you've learned to look at labor,
Work for pay:
Or play.

Hunt every place anew,
Try the heavens too;
To see if you find "Help Wanted" there.
The answer's—No! so ask the air.
It will laugh
And chaff.

I know I heard you say,
In a flippant way—
For he who will there is work to do,
But there's none for the idler, who
With his ways,
Kills days.

So much do I declare
When a man is fair,
And does his work with a loving heart,
And sings and sweats and fills his part,
Work for him,
With vim.

So now we come to you,
Who have work to do,
Of any fashion you may have planned.
Here is the breach where you must stand,
With labor,
Neighbor. —W. A.

TUBERCULOSIS IN THE CHURCHES

One Funeral in Every Ten That of White Plague Victim.

Plainfield clergymen and church folks who have been aiding in the anti-tuberculosis fight will have a stronger comprehension of the seriousness of the white-plague problem after reading a report published today, which shows that one funeral in every ten among church members is that of a victim of tuberculosis.

In reply to a questionnaire sent to all sections of this country by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 2,832 clergymen representing 1,603,300 communicants or parishioners, gave replies telling at how many funerals they officiated for the year ending August 31, 1914; how many of these were due to tuberculosis; how many living cases of tuberculosis they now have in their parishes, and how many communicants or parishioners.

There were 36,798 deaths from all causes reported, showing a death-rate of 229.4 per 10,000 population, which is considerably higher than the corresponding rate for the entire country, 138.7 in 1912. This high death-rate is probably due to the fact that pastors of churches officiate at many funerals of others than members or communicants, while their membership reports are taken from actual records.

As indicating the extent of the tuberculosis problem in the average church the figures show that 10.3 per cent. of all the funerals reported were caused by tuberculosis, and that, in addition to the 3,794 deaths from this disease, the ministers had 4,254 living cases now under their pastoral supervision. In one year, therefore, the 2,852 churches were caring for 8,048 cases of tuberculosis, or an average of nearly three for each congregation. The average size of the congregations was 56, which would indicate that there is a case of tuberculosis developing each year for every twenty church members.

Because tuberculosis demands so much time and money from the churches, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is calling upon all of them throughout the United States to join in an educational campaign against this disease on tuberculosis day, which will be observed during the week of November 29.

SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST SOCIETY HELD MEETING

The monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was held in the church parlors, last night. There were a large number of members present and after the regular business had been held a social time was enjoyed.

Progressive games were played and before festivities closed light refreshments were served. Mrs. George Davis, chairman of the music committee, had charge of the social time.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The first appearance on the screen of Tyrone Power, the well-known dramatic star, will take place at the Strand Theatre, next week, where he will be seen in "Aristocracy," Bronson Howard's celebrated drama success, which has been presented throughout the country for more than three decades. Its interest has continued from the initial production until the present, and as human nature never changes, the plot is as fresh today and as applicable to modern conditions as it was a generation ago. The Strand Topical Review containing the latest news pictures from the entire civilized world, including a newly arrived lot of European war pictures taken at the front by the Strand's special representative is another interesting feature. A new Keystone Comedy, said to be exceptionally funny, a scientific subject and new travel picture concludes the picture part of the program. The management announces a new departure in the musical entertainment. Fradkin, the Russian violin virtuoso, has been engaged as soloist for a limited period. Fradkin, who has been the concert meister with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, is said to produce tones of exceptional warmth and sweetness allied to a brilliant and powerful technique. The Strand Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Carl Edouarde and the Strand Male Quartet will render a program of classical and popular selections.

MRS. G. E. BACKUS MADE PRESIDENT

Newark Conference Home Mission Society Elect at Closing Session.

INTERESTING REPORTS

Bureau Secretaries Review the Work of the Past Year—Miss Helen Carlton Conducts the "Closing Hour" Service.

The election of officers, together with the annual reports of bureau secretaries comprised the chief business at this morning's session of the thirtieth annual meeting of the Newark Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society, at the First M. E. church. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Charles E. Coffin, after which the report of the secretaries were given as follows:

Mission supplies, Miss Jennie E. Laughlin; mite boxes, Mrs. A. D. Vreeland; Young People's Work, Miss Florence Hawkes; home guards and jewels, Miss Mary E. Doolittle; reading circle and literature, Mrs. E. T. Reynolds; temperance, Mrs. Emma Bourne; evangelism, Miss Jessie M. Newland; systematic beneficience, Miss Annie E. Weeks.

Then followed the election of officers as follows:

President, Mrs. George E. Backus, Jersey City; vice-president, Miss Helen Carlton, Elizabeth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hedley R. Woodward, South Orange; recording secretary, Mrs. W. R. Doremus, Mountain Lakes. Boonton; treasurer, Mrs. Emeline C. MacNaughton, Orange.

The conference will close this afternoon with the annual report of district secretaries, which will be made as follows: Mrs. Frederic J. Hubach, Elizabeth; Miss Jennie E. Laughlin, Jersey City; Miss Jeannette P. Hunt, Newark; Mrs. William Quinn, Paterson, after which Miss Elizabeth McCreery, of Elizabeth, will give a review of the annual reports and Miss Grace M. Roraback will speak on "Efficiency and Methods." Miss Alice M. Guernsey, editor and business manager of general publications will install the newly-elected officers, after which Miss Carlton will conduct the "Closing Hour."

Following a banquet for the delegates which was served in the church last night at 6:30 o'clock, the evening session of the conference was held in Vincent chapel, where a number of addresses were made by prominent members of the conference.

The address of Rev. Dr. Fred Clare Baldwin, pastor of Calvary church, East Orange, on "America's Opportunity," was a feature of the gathering. The speaker referred to this country as the melting pot of the world. With the great immigration which has marked the development and growth of the country, it is giving the United States one of the greatest opportunities in missionary endeavor known to history was the opinion of the speaker.

Mr. Baldwin pointed out unless the mission work as carried on in this country by local churches, were successful, little could be expected from the foreign field. An earnest appeal was made to carry on the work on the home field to the greatest extent possible, that America might be, not only a Christian nation in name, but a Christian people as well.

Other speakers and their topics at last night's meeting were as follows:

"The Woman's Home Missionary Society as a Spiritual and Social Factor in the Local Church," Rev. Charles M. Anderson, D. D., pastor of First M. E. church, of this city.

"The Hope of the Woman's Home Missionary Society for the Future," Miss Grace M. Roraback, national field secretary; "Efficiency of the Organization of the Woman's Home Missionary Society from a District Superintendent's Point of View," Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, of this city, superintendent Elizabeth district, and "The Woman's Home Missionary Society, Its Scope and Outlook," Mrs. Mary Leonard Woodruff, national corresponding secretary.

MUCH ADO ABOUT RABBIT

financially by having him arrested. According to Justice Snape the informant in such cases gets $50 out of the fine in the event of the payment of the same and Plum would have come into this reward had Phillipson have paid the money over to the court.

Rumor had it last night that an attempt was made by certain parties to "buy" witnesses in order to get them to testify against the defendant. This clue was run down and it was found that Game Warden William Hoblitzel, of Rahway, who acted in the matter owing to the illness of the Somerset county game warden, had promised William Carson, a seventeen-year-old schoolboy, remuneration providing he would agree to come to court and give what information he knew. When interviewed by a Daily Press reporter Mr. Hoblitzel admitted that he promised the boy a share of the fine, intimated as $5, but that he had never paid the witness the money owing to the fact that the fine was not paid. According to Justice Snape the game warden has no authority to make such an agreement, as the distribution of the money is provided for by law and is done by the justice.

The home of the Phillipsons is in a sparsely settled section of the borough and the premises are surrounded by tall grass and woods. One rabbit was seen to race through the yard as the reporter stood on the front porch this morning, and according to Mrs. Cruickshank the cottontails are far from being scarce in that neighborhood.

Another brother of the boy was in Plainfield this morning, enlisting the sympathies of certain prominent business men in the cause and filling the last petition. Although the petitioners plan to present their request to the Governor it is not likely that this action will bring results. It will be necessary for the boy's lawyer to make application to the Court of Common Pleas before next Monday for a retrial.

In an interview with a Daily Press reporter this morning, Justice Snape said:

"So much newspaper comment has been made upon my decision in the case that I should like to make the basis of my decision in that matter plain. An act entitled 'An Act for the Proection of certain kinds of Birds, etc.,' Laws of 1913, page 194 provides, 'That any person who shall kill a rabbit between the tenth day of October and the ninth day of November, both inclusive, shall be liable to a penalty of $100. The defendant, Oscar Phillipson, admitted violating this section of the statute and I had no option in the matter other than to impose the penalty provided for by the Legislature.

"An Act for the protection of certain kinds of game, etc., page 476 Laws of 1912, makes it unlawful to use any gun or rifle holding more than two cartridges at one time, and that may be fired more than twice without reloading. The defendant admitted that he used a repeating rifle when he killed the rabbit. The statute provides a penalty of $20 for each offense, which penalty, upon the admission of guilt, I was obliged to impose.

"The fines imposed in both instances are not the imposition of a punishment for crime but the statute provides that the action, although criminal in its nature, is a civil action and that the fine, if paid, is divided between the informer, that is the person making the complaint and the State Game Commission. Several persons have spoken to me about suspending sentence in this case. For the benefit of the public generally, I will say that I have no more authority to undo my judgment in this case than I would have to forgive a person against whom indictment had been passed for a grand larceny or a milk bill. This matter is in no other civil case is entirely in the hands of the persons for whose benefit a judgment is rendered, namely the informer and the State Game Commission and I well realize that persons who are entirely wrong in their estimate of the benefits of the game laws, namely the boys, girls, housekeepers, and the informer, waste no further time with the defendant of this class, as he has no authority to adjust the matter. I do not make the laws, but I see to it that they are enforced the same as the laws relating to the statute books."

The petition now in circulation reads as follows:

"To the Hon. James F. Fielder, Governor of the State of New Jersey:

"We, the undersigned, respectfully ask that you, as Governor of the State, look into the case of Oscar Phillipson, nineteen years old, sentenced by Justice Snape, of the Borough of North Plainfield, to 120 days in the county jail at Somerville with the additional cost of court.

"We petition that, if possible, the sentence be revoked, for we feel it a serious matter that a boy with a clean past should have his future darkened, especially when he was truthful and admitted his guilt. For his mother's sake, too, we ask his pardon, as Oscar and a younger brother, Mrs. Phillipson says, are the sole means of support for herself and her two little daughters."

The letter that Mrs. Phillipson will send to the Governor is as follows:

"Honorable Governor Fielder:

"In making an appeal to you for the release of my son, Oscar, from the Somerset County jail, in Somerville, I would like to make known to you certain facts regarding the circumstances in which I am placed.

"Since having no husband, my two boys have been my sole support, Oscar being the oldest at the age of ninteen and Willie a year younger. These two boys have worked and supported our home from the time they were old enough to leave school. The rest of the family consists of my two little girls, who are still in the primary grade in school. I myself am a physical wreck, without strength to do anything, and therefore feel this blow as no one else can.

"I am very grateful to these good people who have sympathized with us in our sorrow and have taken it upon thmeselves to bring it before you. I can only hope and pray that you will consider my sorrow and the future of my boy, who has tried to take the place of a husband and father for us, and in which he has succeeded to a certain extent up until now. A prison sentence would throw his future on the rocks, so to speak, and be a blot on his character for life, and render him less able to look after us.

"Hoping you will be so kind as to do all in your power to aid me in this affair, I am,

"Very truly yours,
"(Signed) LINA PHILLIPSON."

WAR NEWS

[illegible] city of Lyon crossed a dispatch to the Telegraph from its correspondent at Stais. The large railway bridge at Heyst has been blown up and other means of communication in the north are. Large bodies of troops continue to be transported to the south and east from this section. The Hotel De Ville, town hall of Ypres, is reported to be badly damaged.

Halil Bey, president of the Turkish Council of State, has arrived at Bucharest, capital of Roumania, on a special mission, says a despatch from Bukarest to the Vossische Zeitung. The purpose of his mission is not known.

Grand Duchesse Marie, in the speech from the throne at the opening of the Luxemburgian chamber, expressed a protest at the violation by the Germans of the neutrality of her principality.

Paris, Nov. 12.—That the battle continues with alternate advances and repulses is the substance of the official statement issued at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the French War Office. It says:

"On our left wing the battle continues uninterruptedly with the same violence, followed with alternate advances and repulses that, however, are thus far without decisive importance. In a general way the battle front is not materially changed since the evening of November 10. It extends along the line of Lombaertzyde and Nieuport, the Nieuport canal to Ypres, advancing from Ypres to the region of Zonnebeke, and east of Armentieres.

"There has been no change in the position of the British troops who have repulsed the attacks of the enemy, particularly in offensive movements undertaken by the Prussian guards.

"From the LaBassee canal, as far as the River Oise, only minor engagements have occurred. In the region of the River Aisne, in the vicinity of Vailly, we maintain our positions in the face of desperate hand to hand counter attacks. We have made more effective our position on the ground previously retaken from the enemy in this vicinity. In the region of Craonne at the Heurtebise farm, our artillery brought up to silence the enemy's guns and has demolished several of them. There has also been some progress made by our forces near Berry au Bac. In the Argonne region; in the Woevre; in Lorraine and in the Vosges, the respective positions have undergone no change.

London, Nov. 12.—The Allies this morning repulsed an attempt by the Germans to carry by assault the River Yser, opposite Dixmude, says an announcement by the official news bureau. The Allies retained their position on the east bank of the river, between the river and the canal. Renewed assault with artillery has been made north of Ypres.

A despatch from Nish says that it has been officially announced that six battalions of Austrian infantry, which crossed the Danube near Szeclerevo, on November 9, have been annihilated by a Servian counter attack.

Rear Admiral Troubridge, of the British Mediterranean fleet, has been completely acquitted by a naval court martial at Portland, on charges brought against him of permitting the German warships Breslau and Goeben to escape into the Dardanelles.

Lloyd's agency today received a message from Havre announcing that the French steamer Duchesse of Berne foundered in the Havre roadstead in a gale. Eleven persons were drowned.

London, Nov. 12.—(Central News Cable).—Captain Karl Von Muller of the Emden, and Prince Francis Joseph, of Hohenzollern, who was a lieutenant on the German cruiser are both prisoners of the Australians. Both were captured unwounded. This information is contained in an announcement by the official press bureau. The losses from the crew of 361 on the Emden are unofficially reported to have been 200 killed, and thirty wounded. The Admiralty has ordered that all the honors of war be accorded to the survivors. Captain Muller and all the officers have been allowed to retain their swords in recognition of the bravery and daring displayed by them while the Emden was the terror of the British shipping on the Indian Ocean.

A despatch from Athens to a news agency says it is learned that a conspiracy has broken out at Constantinople against the Germans and members of the young Turks party. The chief conspirators have been arrested and shot. The population of the Ottoman capital is becoming very excited as a result of the Turkish defeats on Sunday, and has visited its resentment on a number of German non-commissioned officers who were attacked on the streets.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Claims of continued successes by Austria in its campaign against Servia were made in a wireless despatch from the Vienna foreign office to the Austro-Hungarian embassy here. The despatch follows: "Desperate fighting along the line of Sabac, Lesnica, and Stave and easterly of Loznica, Krupan and Ljubovija continued victoriously for the Austrian-Hungarian troops which again are occupying strong positions, under heavy losses for the Servians. Among numerous captives is Col. Robakovic. Amongst the different cannon taken is one heavy modern cannon.

Artillery apparently is being used in the Russian pursuit of the retreating Germans in the eastern theatre of war. A despatch from Petrograd made public by the Russian embassy today says: "Along the Caucasian front on November 9 on the Keprekiu position, artillery fighting continued. From some points on the Black Sea shore the appearance of the enemy's ships was observed."

There has been no request from England that the United States police South America with especial view to preventing Ecuador and Colombia from permitting violations of neutrality. This positive statement was made by Consul Lansing, of the State Department, today. "It is a fact," he said, "that the British ambassador has informed the United States that aid has been given the German fleet operating off South America, in provisioning and coaling the vessels, but no request for action by the United States was made. The action of the British ambassador could be regarded as nothing more than a hint at the most that admonitory action by the United States Government might possibly check the alleged neutrality violations on the part of South American governments. The ambassor openly charged that information of the movements of the British fleet recently defeated by German warships off the Chilean coast had been given the German commander through wireless stations in Colombia and Ecuador.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 12.—A cable from Talcal, Chili, says that four German warships were sighted Sunday morning, steaming north off Coquimbo, Chili. Coquimbo is 150 miles north of Coronel.

Paris, Nov. 12.—A news agency despatch from Petrograd says: "It is estimated here that during the recent fighting in East Prussia the Germans lost seventy per cent. of their officers. From October 23 to November 5 the total Russian captures amounted to 323 officers, 31,750 soldiers, four mortars, fifty-two cannon, fifty-two quick-firers and a large quantity of munitions of war, including a quantity of provisions."

Amsterdam, Nov. 2 (Central News Cable).—A despatch to the Fremdenblat from Vienna declares that the Russians are near Bejdeja and bombarded Czernowitz, capital of the Hungarian crown land of Bukowina, on Monday. The Austrian batteries, says the despatch, easily silenced the Russians whose vanguard bore the brunt of the fighting before Czernowitz and retreated before the counter assaults of the Austrians.

New York, Nov. 12.—Officials of the American Red Cross Society are busy completing arrangements for sending another large consignment of foodstuff, clothing, bandages and medical supplies for the European war sufferers. The goods will be loaded aboard the French steamship Rochambeau due to leave here for France on Saturday. A similar consignment is aboard the steamship Potsdam bound for Europe.

Here's the story of a missed third strike that cost a ball game and also a post-season city series. It happened in Chicago. The Cubs had won three of the five games played for the city title this season. It happened in the sixth battle. Vaughn was working against Benz. Benz had been hit freely and the Cubs were in the lead. Only one hit had been made off Vaughn. In the fifth inning two batters for the Sox went down in order. Up came Buck Weaver, who was celebrating his wedding day. Buck hit the atmosphere three resounding whacks without getting in the immediate vicinity of the sphere. Weaver missed the third strike, but Bresnahan, the Cub catcher, also missed it. That was the break for the Sox. Weaver swiped second, Collins walked, and then came a succession of singles. Before Vaughn went to the bench the Sox had won the game, tying up the series. The Sox also won the seventh game, giving them the city championship for the fourth straight time, all because Roger Bresnahan failed to hold a third strike.

George Stallings probably would not have won a pennant for Boston, let alone a world championship, if the Federal league had not induced Jack Quinn to jump to Baltimore. Boston secured Quinn from Rochester last winter, trading Hank Gowdy and Dick Dudolph for the pitcher. Quinn jumped to the Baltimore Feds and the deal was canceled, thus saving to Boston the two men who did the most to give the Hub baseball's biggest honor. But Jim Gaffney, president of the Braves, doesn't see it in that light. He's suing Jim Gilmore, president of the Federals, for $30,000 damages for inducing Quinn to jump.

"When are you going to quit umpiring, Jack?" asked Billy Evans of Jack Sheridan two years ago.

"When this pair of shoes I bought three years ago gives out," replied the dean of umpires.

"Well, Jack, I see you are still wearing those same shoes," said Evans last spring.

"Yes. I don't know if they will last the season, but when they give out I quit, too."

September 24 found Evans and Sheridan working together at Chicago. Sheridan was still wearing that old pair of kicks.

"I guess this is about the last day for these shoes, Bill, and that means I am through, too," said Sheridan, and he made good his threat. The shoes were hanging together and that was about all. He was never seen upon the diamond again.

The remarkable feat of George Stallings in taking a score of untried youngsters and three veterans and whipping the nondescript outfit inta world's championship team in two years weakens one of organized baseball's arguments against the Federal league. Magnates in the two older organizations often have claimed that it is even impossible to develop players fast enough for two leagues, let alone three. How, then, could Stallings afford to get rid of more than twenty tried and experienced men and fill their places with odds and ends of young material from the minor leagues' bargain counters?

University of Pennsylvania football folowers have three reasons for rejoicing this year. Penn's team is making a fine showing on the gridiron and two teams coached by former Penn stars are ripping things up in grand style. Bill Hollenbeck's Penn State team is the first to get as good as a tie with Harvard since the Yale-Harvard game of 1911. Bob Folwell's Washington and Jefferson outfit held Harvard to a 10 to 9 score and defeated Yale 13 to 7. A few years ago Hollenbeck and Folwell played side by side at Penn.

Bill Klem, by umpiring six of the last seven world series, is the champion world series umpire in the country, but Tommy Connolly of the American league is giving Bill a warm race. Connolly has umpired in five world series. He worked in the games of 1893, '08, '10, '11 and '13. Jack Sheridan worked in four world series, Silk O'Loughlin and Cy Rigler, in three each, Billy Evans and Bill Dinneen in two each, and Jack Egan, George Hildebrand and Bill Byron in one each.

OLDFIELD A "COME BACK" IN NOVEL ROAD RACE

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 12—Barney Oldfield won the Los Angeles to Phoenix road race, yesterday. Oldfield finished third, seventeen minutes behind Nikrent, but won the race on elapsed time.

Oldfield had to drag his car out of the swollen Auga Fria River with a team of horses and just outside of Glendale, nine miles from the finish, engine trouble stopped him again for a brief period. Bramlette dashed across the finish steering his car with two boards rigged as steering levers in place of the damaged regular gear.

HOLY CROSS WILL MEET BROOKLYN AGGREGATION

The Holy Cross team will practice tonight for the last time before it meets the fast Midwout aggregation from Brooklyn. This will be a hard game and will probably be the best played of the season as the boroughites are now performing at their best.

The Midwouts have beaten the Cupid eleven that defeated Holy Cross early in the season. The contest will start promptly at 3:15.

PLAYER SIGNS LIFE CONTRACT.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 12—Walter J. (Rabbit) Maranville, shortstop of the world's champion Boston National baseball team, and Miss Elizabeth Renette Shea, were married yesterday in the Church of the Sacred Heart by Rev. Patrick F. Boyle. Gifts were received from Manager Stallings, Captain Johnny Evers and other members of the Braves.

MRS. STOCKTON STAR OF BIG GOLF EVENT

Local Woman Tops the Field at Lakewood, Leading Mrs. R. H. Barlow.

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of the Plainfield Country Club, who made more advance last season than any other metropolitan district player, managed to beat Mrs. Ronald Barlow, Philadelphia, by two strokes yesterday, in the Lakewood Country Club's first fixture for women golfers. Mrs. Stockton received a prize last year for making the greatest advance and lasted until the third round of the national championship in September.

A well played 88, the only score of the day under 90, enabled Mrs. Stockton to lead the field in the qualifying round. In second place, with an even 90, was Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion; and Mrs. Stockton and Mrs. Barlow, who played together and were the first pair out, were well ahead of the rest of the field. As a reward for her victory Mrs. Stockton will receive a cup given by Mrs. George J. Gould.

It was on the outward journey that Mrs. Stockton gained the two stroke advantage that won the low score prize, for coming in the totals of the two leaders were the same. Mrs. Stockton did not begin as if she had hopes of winning, for she was bunkered twice on the first hole and took 6. She soon began to play good golf, however, and kept on even terms with Mrs. Barlow up to the long ninth, where she forged two strokes into the lead. On that hole the wind, which blew pretty hard all morning, carried Mrs. Barlow's ball into some mounds on the left of the course and the Philadelphia golfer was lucky to get out as well as she did. As it was, she took five shots to get to the green and finished by taking three putts when she did get there. The resultant 8 gave her a total of 49 going out, to Mrs. Stockton's 47.

Coming in Mrs. Stockton began with a 3 on each of the short water holes and continued to play good golf up to the sixteenth. On each of the last three holes she played safely and did not attempt to carry the bunkers. She needed 6 on each of them, and Mrs. Barlow, taking chances, managed to get a 5 on the sixteenth and another 5 on the home hole, clipping to half the four stroke lead that Mrs. Stockton had established. The rally came a little too late to be of any real good, however.

A splendid short game, especially her good approach shots, won for Mrs. Stockton. On several greens her approaches were so close to the pin that she needed only one putt, and she did not take three putts on any green. Both Mrs. Stockton and Mrs. Barlow frequently were off the course from the tees, though part of the time the wind was to blame. The winning card:

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield:

Out	6	4	5	4	5	6	6	5	6—47
In	3	3	4	4	4	5	6	6	6—41

Six golfers made the round in less than 100, and 108 tied for the last place in the first eight. Mrs. Percy Ingalls and Mrs. L. F. F. Wanner, both of Essex County, were the ones who tied, and on the playoff Mrs. Ingalls won. The first hole was halved in 5, and on the second Mrs. Wanner drove into a trap, making it easy for Mrs. Ingalls to win 6 to 8. By winning she earned the right to meet Mrs. Barlow in the first match round.

Three eights qualified in the tourney and two match rounds will be played today in all three divisions. The draw leaves Mrs. Stockton and Mrs. Barlow in opposite halves, so that in no event can they meet before the final tomorrow.

NEWARK PINNERS WILL PLAY LOCALS TONIGHT

The Plainfield Elks will try to recover some lost ground tonight, when the Newark pinners appear on the Watchung avenue alleys in the Senior Bowling League. The locals now occupy last place alone since New Brunswick made a clean sweep Tuesday night, and they will have to pin some to beat the Newarkers.

Two other matches will be played tonight, when the Ranway five will play in Paterson and Elizabeth will play on the Hoboken drives. These three games may make a difference in standings for this week.

TWO GAMES AT HOPE.

The Hope chapel basketball team is practising hard this week in anticipation of a hard game Saturday night when the strong Viking quintet, of Tottenville, will appear here. There will be a preliminary contest between the Hope boys' team and the team representing the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

THERE'S TWO SIDES TO EVERY QUESTION.

Several kicks have been lodged by those directly affiliated with the Holy Cross football team against an article published in these columns last night, concerning the treatment accorded certain lovers of the gridiron sport by officials of the Holy Cross club. It might be said for the benefit of these few ever-present kickers that the articles written for publication in these columns are of an independent character.

Patrons of good repute, who attend Holy Cross football games and are subject to insults have as much right to a come-back as the Holy Cross team has to a boost when it downs a rival. The character of the men who called our attention to the incident that occurred last Saturday is beyond question and we inquired minutely into the details surrounding the affair before we gave it publicity. We're ready to hear the Holy Cross side of the case, if there is any, and it might be well for the kickers to lodge their complaints with the right party and not seek a roundabout means of gaining what little satisfaction they get.

BLATZ AND HILLMAN DID SOME PINNING

Former Won all Six While Hillman Won Three With Two Hundred Scores.

Frank Blatz increased his first place average some in the Knights of Columbus bowling tournament last night, when he won six straight games and was not defeated. He did not bowl extra high scores but they were just a little higher than his opponent's marks and he had at least sixteen points to spare in all the games. In the first series of the night, Hillmann was his victim and his highest score was 149, while Blatz's lowest mark was 179. Blatz made this in his first game when Hillmann registered a 146 and the scores of the next two games were 180 to 149 and 183 to 135.

Caulfield then fell before Blatz in three straight games and he came within sixteen points of tying the score in the second game. The scores of the games were 182 to 145, 179 to 163 and 191 to 112. Hillmann and Moynihan pinned the best game of the night when the former made three two hundred scores for an average of 215. Moynihan was never in it from start to finish as his highest score was 171. Hillmann made high score of the night in the first game when he hit the wood for a 231 and then dropped off to 212. His third game was the worst of all but he was still two points above the two hundred mark. He won three and lost three last night. Three matches will be played tonight and the following will be matched: Shannon vs. Howe, Sullivan vs. Wilson, Shannon vs. Sullivan.

The scores:

Batz	179	180	183
Hillmann	146	149	135

WITH THE NIMRODS

Robert McCormack scoured the woods near High Bridge, yesterday, and returned to Plainfield, last night, with ten rabbits and two of the prettiest pheasants we have ever seen.

Hunters filled the smoking cars of eastbound Central Railroad trains that passed through here last night, between the hours of 5 and 9. Each of the gunners had good bags of the rabbits and a number of birds were also noticed.

Trainmen, when asked about the amount of game they see on trains, claim that it is equal to that of last year. Birds, especially, seem plentiful, and hundreds of ducks have been in the possession of hunters homeward bound.

Curtis Dall and Grechem Sharp, two local boys, spent Tuesday and yesterday hunting near Rahway. They returned with large numbers of rabbits in both instances. A number of birds were also brought to the ground by the boys.

Hackettstown has become a rendezvous for many hunters this year. The brush section near there is well stocked with English pheasants and quail and rabbits are also running good.

Despite the fact that gunners who returned home Tuesday night reported a scarcity of small game we notice some fairly good returns have been made during the two opening days.

A local party went by automobile to Englishtown, yesterday, and returned with twenty-two rabbits, six quail and four pheasants.

Between Waretown and Forked River the birds are said to be plentiful.

Reports from Virginia indicate that the hunters in that part of the country have run into the biggest harvest of quail in recent years. A localite left for a trip to that section, this morning, and will be gone ten days.

Albert Emmons, of the borough, hunted around Whitehouse, yesterday, and bagged a couple of fine partridges.

American sharpshooters would do well to investigate a pastime that has been very popular in England. It is the English method of becoming skillful with the shotgun. The idea is to walk through a field in which traps are concealed in the brush or bushes and break as many as possible of the targets which are thrown in front of the marksman, at his right or left, or over his head, always at angles which he cannot guess beforehand. In England trapshooting is rather a means to an end, than an end itself, for there it is regarded primarily as excellent practice for field hunting, and men who are guests at country houses are expected to be proficient with the shotgun and qualified to participate in a grouse hunt.

P. H. S. ELEVEN MAY NOT PLAY HOLY CROSS

Coach Patch Against Letting High School Team Meeting Club.

The football game that has heretofore been announced as practically settled between the Holy Cross and Plainfield High School teams for Saturday, November 28, is still quite uncertain and there is a great possibility of the game not being played at all. Although the city school team played the boroughites last season and put up such a wonderful fight, Coach Patch thinks that the schoolboys should not oppose the North Plainfield club or any other club team.

The city team has been playing a very hard schedule and will probably be ready to put away their togs after they play the Alumni in the annual game Thanksgiving Day.

The matter has not been definitely decided on as yet, but Manager Doyle and Coach Patch will settle it in the near future.

JACK RICKETTS OUT FOR Y. M. C. A. BASKETBALL TEAM

The Y. M. C. A. basketball squad held a very good practice last night, and are now ready to meet the Newarkers next Saturday in the first home game of the season on the local court. Paul Collier, who has consented to help the team, was present last night, and gave some very helpful pointers.

Jack Ricketts, who played with the Scotch Plains Parish House five last year, was present last night, and showed up good in a forward position. He will make a strong bid for the place and will be on the floor Saturday ready to play if necessary. Both silent and number signals are working to perfection and a good game is assured all who attend Saturday night.

IROQUOIS REDS STILL LEAD Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE

The Iroquois basketball team, of the Indian League of the Y. M. C. A., continued its winning streak, yesterday, and now has full possession of first place with four victories and no defeats. Yesterday it defeated the Sioux team by the score of 6 to 1 while the Wawayanda five walloped the Omaha quintet, the score being 16 to 3. Taylor was the star of this game, making five field goals, while Henry scored the most points for the Iroquois. The scores.

EDDIE PLANK WILL PLAY WITH YANKS NEXT YEAR

Philadelphia, Nov. 12—Pitcher Plank, of the Athletics, will wear a Yankee uniform next season. There are still a few details to be agreed on before the official announcement is made.

When Connie Mack was asked for waivers on Plank the New York American club refused to pass him up, hence the securing of the famous pitcher by Frank Farrell. It is also reported that following the agreement on peace terms, Russell Ford and Ray Caldwell, will rejoin the Yankees pitching staff.

HAS BAD FALL IN HUNT CHASE

Col. Bellows Rendered Unconscious When Thrown From Mount.

Col. C. E. S. Bellows, while riding with the Watchung Hunt Club hounds, yesterday afternoon, on the mid-week run, was thrown from his mount in taking the last fence before the finish, the animal turning a complete somersault and rolling on top of the rider. Mr. Bellows was picked up in an unconscious condition and hurried to his home in an automobile. A physician was summoned and an examination showed that no bones were broken and in his opinion the injuries were not of a serious nature. Mr. Bellows hopes to be out soon.

There were about a dozen riders that met the hounds at the New Brooklyn pond, South Plainfield. They were thrown in on the Rufus Delafield farm, the line leading across that farm to the Wooden and Manning estates, the hounds being checked at Samptown. They were taken up again and they led the field the fastest pace of the season across the Clark, Tappen, Slattery and Endicott farms, where there was much fencing. The run ended on the Dunbar farm, covering about sixteen miles. It was just before the finish that Col. Bellows had his fall, the only incident that marred a fine chase.

Those who finished were Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H., Miss Mary F. Baker, H. Stuart Hollis, R. H. Towner, H. L. Finch, A. C. Fox and Huntsman Harrison.

ROYAL ARCANUM PLAN FOR GALA TIME TONIGHT

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, has planned for a gala time tonight, at its rooms in the Babcock building. A fine entertainment will be followed with the serving of refreshments. "Billy" Murray, famous for his popular songs, will attend the meeting, and a humorist and a string artist, are also announced to assist in the entertainment.

A large attendance of the members of the council is expected and they are privileged to invite their friends. A short business meeting will precede the entertainment.

FREEHOLDERS TO GRANT HEARING ON LIGHT MATTER

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders has fixed November 27 as the time for a special meeting for a public hearing in the matter of the application of the Summit Water and Electric Company for the right to erect poles and string wires through certain highways in Warren township. The company, it is said, had begun this work without permission, and was stopped by the authorities. When the question of lights was up for a vote in the township, it was carried by a vote of 26 to 6.

Since it is said, many of the taxpayers upon learning of their increased assessments for lights from which they will derive no benefit, have taken steps to stop the improvement. The township commissioners, Arthur Hoffheimer, Alfred Binz and E. E. Cooper are said to be in favor of the lights.

INFORMAL DANCE.

The second of a series of informal dances at the hall of the Watchung Improvement Society is to be held December 4 under the direction of Edmond Texier and William H. Texier. Auto buses direct to the hall will leave Front street and Somerset street at 8:30.

BRITISH BATTLE FLEET IN NORTH SEA IS EAGER TO MEET BOTTLED UP GERMANS

Top, British dreadnought Princess Royal; bottom, British fleet in North Sea led by superdreadnought Neptune.

Stung by recent reverses at the hands of the Germans, the powerful British battle fleet in the North Sea is eager to meet the German fleet, now bottled up in the Kiel Canal. Two of the most powerful fighters in the British navy are the superdreadnought Neptune and the dreadnought Princess Royal. The Neptune was launched in 1909 and completed in 1911. She is a ship of 19,000 tons, has 25,000 horsepower and a speed of 21 knots. Her armament consists of ten 12-inch guns, six 4-inch guns and three torpedo tubes. The Princess Royal, one of Britain's newest dreadnoughts, has a displacement of 26,350 tons, an indicated horsepower of 76,510, cost over $10,000,000, and carries a complement of 980 officers and men. She is equipped with eight 13.5-inch guns, five mortars and two torpedo tubes. She has an average speed of 28 knots.

MOURN THE DEATH OF SENATOR KEAN

Directors of Plainfield-Union Water Company Pass Resolutions.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, on Tuesday, the president reminded the board that on the fifth instant, John Kean had passed away at his home at Ursino, and spoke of the loss which the company had sustained and the directors personally by Mr. Kean's death. Thereupon, Foster M. Voorhees presented the following resolution, which was read and adopted:—

"Resolved, That since our last meeting this company has suffered a deplorable loss in the death of John Kean, our vice-president, who was the founder of the company and its principal supporter in the troublesome years when its works were constructed and its business undertaken. Drawn into the enterprise by an accident of business Mr. Kean saw an opportunity to establish a useful and important means of public service; he realized the difficulties of the undertaking and knew that repeated efforts to accomplish it made by others in more favorable times had failed. But when he decided to undertake the work he prosecuted it with the same degree of courage and perseverance that marked his useful and honorable career both in public and private life; and he lived to see more than fifty thousand people efficiently served by the company and constantly sharing in the success of his labors. One of his last business efforts was to improve the company's property, and to make provision for its efficiency in years to come. It was his wish and admonition, often expressed, that the company should discharge its important duties carefully and liberally throughout the communities in which its works are located, realizing the necessity and value of their good will, and it should be our purpose, now that he is gone, to continue that policy.

"And Be It Further Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Kean there passed away our steadfast friend and a courteous gentleman, and in his vacant chair we realize a painful loss that we will not forget and nothing can repair.

"And Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be engrossed and presented to the family of Mr. Kean, and printed in the newspapers of the county."

The members of the force shall rank as follows: Chief, Assistant Chief, Captains, Privates. Whenever two or more officers have the same title, they shall rank in relation to each other in the order of the respective dates of appointment to their offices.

Sec. 2. The duties of the several officers and members of the said force shall be those prescribed by the laws of the State, the ordinances of the City and the Fire Department rules and regulations now in force, or such as may from time to time be prescribed and established by resolution of the Common Council.

Every member of said force shall perform such duties as may from time to time be assigned to him by his authorized superior officer.

Sec. 3. Members of the force other than officers shall be divided into five classes according to their respective terms of service, as follows:

Class E.—First year of service.

Provided, that the Common Council, upon recommendation of the Mayor, may advance any regular member of the force from a lower to a higher class for especially good work or meritorious service, whether he shall have served his full time specified above or not.

Sec. 4. The pay of the force is hereby fixed as follows said rates to take effect on and after January first Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen:

Chief	$1800 per annum
Assistant Chief	1,350 per annum

Sec 5. Subject to the ultimate control of the Common Council, the Chief shall have authority to station officers and privates belonging to the force at such Fire Houses of the City as he may deem proper, and also to detail such officers and men to such duty in connection with the department as he shall deem for the best interest of the department, and he may change any such station or revoke any such detail at his discretion.

Sec. 6. The Chief and Assistant Chief shall constitute and be called the "Board of Engineers." They shall make such rules and regulations for conducting the Department, not inconsistent with the laws of the State or ordinances of the City as they may deem advisable, subject to approval by the Common Council.

Sec. 7. All officers and privates, except those now serving in the Department, shall be nominated by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council, in the same manner as other City officers, and they, after confirmation, as well as the officers and men now serving, shall hold their offices and continue in service as such during good behavior, efficiency and residence in the City, and shall not be removed from office or employment for political reasons or any other cause than incapacity, mis-conduct, non-residence or disobedience of just rules and regulations which are or may be established for the government of the Department.

Persons to be eligible to membership in the Department must be citizens of the United States, of good moral character and able to read and write the English language. They must be in good health sound in body and mind, and capable of performing the duties required of them; they must present the certificate of the City Physician that they are physically capable of performing the duties required of them. They must be nominated by the Mayor, recommended by the Board of Engineers and confirmed by the Common Council, and before entering upon their duties as members of the Department, they shall sign an agreement, to be deposited with the Chief that they will abide by and conform to the ordinances of the City and such rules governing the Fire Department as have been or may be approved by the Common Council. All applications for membership shall be made in the handwriting of the applicant, who shall present the same in person to the Mayor, the Committee on Fire and Buildings or the Board of Engineers.

Sec. 8. Any applicant or applicants for membership in said Department may be required, by resolution of the Common Council, to submit himself to trial at active fire duty under service conditions for a period not exceeding six months. Such service shall be regarded as part of an examination as to the qualifications of the applicant. But no such service shall be deemed to entitle such applicant to membership in said Department, nor to continue such trial after proper notice to discontinue the same. During the continuance of such trial the applicant shall be entitled to be paid at the rate of Sixty ($60.00) Dollars per month. When any applicant is nominated, recommended and confirmed as a member of the Department after such trial service, the period covered by such trial service shall be deemed and counted, for the purposes of classification only, as service in Class E, and he shall be entitled to pass into Class D at the expiration of one year from the date when his trial service began. But he shall be entitled to the pay provided for Class E members only from the time of his confirmation by the Council.

Sec. 9. In the Department the day shall commence at eight o'clock in the forenoon, and no leave of absence shall begin before that time. Every member of the Department shall devote all his time to the duties of his office, and even when absent on leave shall be subject to immediate recall by the Chief or Acting Chief.

Sec. 10. The Common Council shall from time to time establish such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of the States or the Ordinances of the City for the government and control of the Fire Department as may be necessary to make the Fire Department efficient, prompt and useful, and may provide therein such penalties or forfeitures as may be deemed necessary or expedient. These rules shall be established by Common Council by the passage of a resolution or resolutions embodying the same, and when so established shall be binding upon all the officers and members of the Fire Department. Printed copies of such rules shall be supplied by Common Council and delivery of at least one copy thereof shall be made to each officer and member of the Fire Department. Such delivery shall be deemed conclusive of the making and contents thereof.

Sec. 11. No persons shall, during a fire drive a wagon, cart or other vehicle over any hose or other fire apparatus under penalty of Ten Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 12. No person shall hinder or molest or attempt to do any violence to any officer or member of the Fire Department while in the performance of his duty, under penalty of Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 13. No person or persons shall raise, create or continue a false alarm of fire under penalty of Twenty Dollars for each offense.

Sec. 14. The Chief shall be the Fire Marshal and Fire Inspector of the City of Plainfield, and shall perform such duties as shall devolve upon him as such by the laws of the State, and the ordinance of the City of Plainfield. He shall keep an accurate record of the names of the officers and members of the Department and all appointments and transfers, resignations and removals of firemen as the same shall take place from time to time, and such other particulars as may be necessary and proper. He shall have sole and entire command at fires and alarms of fires, and over all members of the Department, apparatus and appurtenances belonging to the same and all other persons aiding and assisting the Department. In addition to performing his duties as Building Inspector he shall devote his whole time to the service of the Department, and shall report the condition of the Department to the Committee on Fire and Buildings as often as they shall request. He shall order officers, men and apparatus out to work, wash, drill or for inspection, at such time and place as he may designate, and whenever he may deem it necessary for the efficiency of the Department. In the absence or disability of the Chief, the Assistant Chief, and in the absence of both the Chief and Assistant Chief, the ranking captain shall assume command and perform the duties of the Chief, and in such case shall be known and designated as "Acting Chief."

Sec. 15. The Chief or Acting Chief shall be responsible for the property of the Department. He shall see that all engines, motors, hose wagons, trucks, hose and horses, and all other apparatus and property belonging to the Department are kept constantly in order for immediate and efficient service, and shall report immediately any repairs that may be necessary to the property in his charge to the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Sec. 16. Upon going to or returning from an alarm of fire, in no case shall persons not connected with the Department be allowed to ride on any apparatus of the Department.

Sec. 17. All complaints to the Chief, or Assistant Chief, against any member of the Department for mis-conduct or neglect in the performance of his duty, shall be forthwith reported to the Committee on Fire and Buildings. All complaints made by citizens or persons of good repute to the Mayor or any member of the Common Council against any member of the Fire Department for mis-conduct or neglect in the performance of his duty, shall be forthwith reported to the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Sec. 18. No intoxicating beverage of any description whatsoever shall be allowed on the premises of the Fire Department. Any member of the Fire Department may, for intoxication, be deprived of his badge and suspended for or dismissed, at the option of the Common Council.

Sec. 19. No person or persons except officers and members of the Department shall at any time enter any of the houses of the Department, except the Mayor of the City, members of the Common Council, visitors accompanied by a member of the Fire Department, or any police officer in the proper discharge of his duty, and no boys shall be permitted in any house of the Department, or to have any access whatever to the apparatus in going to or returning from fires or alarms. The members are hereby enjoined to enforce the provisions of this section. No bills for expenses incurred for the Fire Department shall be presented to the Council until the same shall have been certified by the Chief as correct.

Sec. 20. Any member of the Department who shall violate any section of this ordinance, or any rule or regulation made pursuant to the authority of this ordinance shall be liable to reprimand, fine, suspension without pay, or dismissal from the Department, at the discretion of the Common Council.

Sec. 21. The office of "Call Men" is hereby abolished.

Sec. 22. The ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to Establish, Regulate and Control a Fire Department in the City of Plainfield," approved May 6, 1899, and all amendments thereto are hereby repealed, and all other ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent with this Ordinance are, so far as inconsistent herewith, repealed.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

AMERICAN WOMEN TAKE BIG INTEREST IN "MADE IN AMERICA" FASHION FETE

"Made in America" evening gown and evening coat exhibited at fashion fete.

At the big "Made in America" fashion fete in New York last week were many leaders of fashion, who showed the greatest enthusiasm over the gowns and coats displayed, two of which are here shown. The evening gown is of white faille and silver brocade, embodying all the points of the Louis Philippe model harking back to the '60's. The evening coat is of white velour and black fox. There is a very narrow long waistline at the back. The bottom is very full and made in square scallop effect; wide fox band at bottom.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

For the Hungry Boy After School—A friend of mine who has three hungry boys of different ages, who come home from school clamoring for "something to eat," has devised this scheme to keep them out of the pantry: She has three boxes plainly lettered with their names, and after dinner she fills each with whatever is best for that particular boy.

When hanging rug on the line to beat, instead of hanging directly on the line, secure a strong pole (like the one rugs come wrapped on), fasten the line around ends of it; then hang rug over pole; will prevent rug wrinkling up and it will hang straight.

Hint on Eyelet Embroidery—In working eyelet embroidery, so fashionable now, before piercing the eyelet with small scissors cut a thread or two each way and the hole will be smooth and no danger of having threads drawn, even in the thinnest material, as is often the case when the hole is punched without the cutting.

THE TABLE

Pumpkin Pie—Three heaping tablespoons stewed pumpkin mixed with one-half cup granulated sugar, one dessertspoon flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little milk; add pinch of salt, yolks two eggs, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one large cup sweet milk. Now stir all together well, add last one tablespoon melted butter and white of one egg well beaten. Bake in slow oven in raw pie crust. When done spread over top the remaining white beaten very light with one teaspoon granulated sugar. Set in oven till light brown.

Thanksgiving Plum Pudding—This is the old-fashioned Thanksgiving pudding, such as grandmother used to make. It must be cooked a few days before it is to be served. Make a custard of four eggs, two cups sugar, one teaspoon cassia, one small nutmeg (grated), a little salt and two quarts milk. (Do not cook.) Butter deep earthen pudding pot, line bottom with raisins. Next put slices of buttered stale bread (minus crusts), sprinkle with sugar. Pour in some custard. Next put in a layer of raisins, and keep alternating until dish is two-thirds full. Bake four or five hours slowly, putting in a little custard occasionally until all is used. When done, run knife around edge and set pudding away to cool. Serve with whipped cream or any good sauce.

Gingersnaps—Put one pint New Orleans molasses, one cup light brown sugar, two-thirds cup drippings and one tablespoon ginger in sauce pan and boil until it thickens considerably. Cool and add one teaspoon soda dissolved in one-half cup water. Mix enough flour to make soft dough, roll very thin, cut and bake in hot oven.

Delicious Sweet Pickles—Purchase one dozen large sour pickles (not dill). Cut the min small chunks and place in two quart crocks. To each crock add a cup of granulated sugar and let stand 48 hours.

Baked Cream Fish (very nice)—Four-pound fish boiled and chopped fine, one quart milk, two small onions, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons flour, yolks two eggs, one-fourth cup butter. Heat milk in double boiler. When hot add onions chopped fine, salt and pepper. Cook about 20 minutes, thicken with flour wet in milk, and add butter and yolks of eggs. Put fish and dressing in baking dish in alternate layers, cover with buttered cracker or bread crumbs and bake half hour in moderate oven.

Baked Onions—Parboil 20 minutes. Put in pans and just cover with water. Bake until tender. When done, add one cup cream to liquor and thicken in pan. Have an egg well beaten and pour mixture over it; pour over onions and serve. Very nice served with beef loaf and baked potatoes, all of which can be done in oven at same time. If all is prepared in the morning, makes an easy dinner to get at night.

Mint Cocktail—Cut one can pineapple into small cubes. Remove pulp from three oranges and cut into small pieces. Break one-fourth pound after-dinner mints into tiny pieces and mix with the fruit an hour before lunch, setting away in cold place. Serve in sherbet glasses covered with crushed ice and powdered sugar. This is delightful for first course for dinner or luncheon, and could be used for dessert if one preferred.

NATIONAL CONVENTION OF SUFFRAGISTS

Advocates of "Votes for Women" Are Now in Session at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The stormy political conventions of the national parties, which have thrashed out bitter rows of leaders and measures, will be overshadowed and entirely outdone in turbulence and fighting spirit, by the suffragists who have gathered here for their national convention. That is, if one can judge from the lobbying, wire-pulling, utterances and set faces of the leaders of the factions who are to meet in a battle of words and votes. Although the formal opening of the convention of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association was an enthusiastic demonstration for the cause, the hearty cheers for the leaders this morning and the stirring welcoming speeches were but the gorgeous lightning flashes before the breaking of the storm.

Most all of the delegations arrived last night and early this morning, and they reported they were unpledged as to their stand on the issues to be discussed. Their arrival brought the partisans out in force to bring persuasion to bear on the questions that have agitated the divisions of the national association, and the button-holing of the olden days on the lobby deck was scarcely up to the methods adopted today. Social influences were not overlooked in the scurry for votes, and the skirmishers in beautiful gowns sought out the social leaders in the groups that came in from east and west.

Governor W. B. Hooper, Mayor Hillary Howse and Mrs. Crozier French, president of the Tennessee State Suffrage Association, delivered addresses of welcome to the delegates at the State House this morning. For beauty and enthusiasm, the meeting exceeded all previous conventions of the vote-seekers. Tonight, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Association, is to deliver her annual address, and tomorrow the opening guns in the fight on issues will be fired.

There are two questions which will form the nucleus of the discussion. The first is the question of a federal amendment for suffrage, or States rights. There is a strong feeling that the national organization should work heart and soul to wring a suffrage amendment from Congress. The southern women, particularly, oppose this attitude, and for the past two days they have been holding meetings in Chattanooga, formulating a plan to stand pat on the right of individual States to accomplish the necessary measure.

The second big question is the two suffrage measures now in Congress. Many members of the national organization maintain, with the national board and Mrs. Medill McCormick, that the Shafroth amendment to the constitution is the only way to secure enough equal suffrage States to make possible a straight suffrage amendment to the Constitution, which has always been and still is the ultimate aim of the association. The Shafroth amendment provides for submitting the question to the voters in each State by initiative petition. But the Congressional Union, the offspring, though a very precocious and rebellious one, of the national organization, backs the Bristow-Mendell amendment only. The Union has a grip on its parent through various of its leaders.

Almost overshadowing this difference, is the matter of the Congressional Union's policy in holding the Democratic party responsible for the non-passage of a suffrage amendment, and its action in working to defeat Democrats, a policy which Dr. Shaw, the national president, has condemned as suicidal, and which is contrary to the non partisan policy long since adopted by the association.

The Congressional Union represents the radical wing of the movement, and therefore another interesting feature of the convention will be the election of officers, which may bring about a test of strength between the radicals and the conservatives. Dr. Shaw will probably be re-elected president without serious opposition. Miss Jane Addams, first vice president, will not consent to serve another term, and other officers will refuse re-election.

The most important of the controversies that have been carried here from the smaller organizations is that between Mrs. Medill McCormick and Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, which has caused a bitter fight in the Illinois organization. Another is the split in the Congressional Union membership at Washington, where the wives and friends of Southern Democratic congressmen have bolted the Union and formed an organization opposed to the political activities of the Congressional Union.

Daily Christmas Hint

A Gift For the Literary Woman

The charming lamp illustrated here would be much appreciated by the woman of literary tendencies as a desk lamp in her boudoir. The base is a daintily modeled cupid, which supports a canopy of crystal iridescent beads, which show very effectively when the electric bulb is turned on.

Or the lamp would go charmingly upon milady's dressing table with its array of silver and crystal.

An electric lamp with all the other desk appurtenances to match would be a useful present for the literary woman.

There is quite liable to be a dearth of imported articles for Christmas gifts on account of the terrible war in the European countries, whence our most exquisite gewgaws are imported.

Another hint. Colonial articles, either real or imitation, are always in demand, and doubtless this dearth of imported novelties will have stimulated home manufactures and the hunters for colonial novelties in a manner which has never yet been known in this country.

A desk lamp in brass, with inkwell, trays, blotter corners and small clock, would also be charming gifts for the woman who burns the midnight oil.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I did not know there were two families named Putney in Grace church," said Mr. Putney, holding a letter in his hand. "This letter evidently belongs to the other family."

Mrs. Putney came toward him and, leaning on her broom, looked over her husband's shoulder to read the letter.

"Why, that is for us," she said, a little breathlessly.

"For us?" he echoed. "We never borrowed any money from Rev. Amos. How can it be for us?"

"Why, I borrowed it," said his wife, beginning to sweep vigorously. "I wanted to get some things for Agnes when she was married and I had to have money to go to her out in Idaho."

"I gave you money to go to her in Idaho. What do you mean? Surely you never borrowed $200 without saying a word to me, Mattie," said Mr. Putney, still staring blankly at the letter.

"Yes, I did, Ben," said his wife, adjusting her dusting cap before the mirror.

"What security did you give? People don't lend money without security, and Amos is poor enough; surely he had no money to lend," said the man, still dazed.

"No, but he said he had credit and if I needed the money he could get it for me for a year. It was the time you lost your position at the courthouse."

"So you thought you would help out by plunging us in debt $200. It's like you, I must say," said the man bitterly.

"Now, don't be hateful, dear," said his wife coaxingly, trying to look bewitching, but the effort failed.

"Sit down there and tell me all about this thing," he said sternly. "If anything could drive a man mad it's such doings as this. I am so humiliated. Amos thinks I was cad enough to send you to borrow money instead of doing it myself. What did you spend it for?"

"There was $75 for Agnes' underclothes. I just couldn't have her married without pretty underwear," said Mrs. Putney, getting her handkerchief in readiness.

"Go on," said her husband with a groan.

"Then there was $50 for bills at different stores. I had to pay them, the people were getting so disagreeable," she continued.

"What about your allowance? That was always paid when I had work," he said.

"I got in debt," she wailed, putting her handkerchief to her eyes.

"Don't turn on the waterworks," said her husband impatiently. "What else did you spend?"

"Oh, I don't know," came in heartbreaking tones from behind the handkerchief. "How can I remember everything I spent over a year ago?"

"Get the bank book," was the curt rejoinder.

While she was fumbling in the drawers of her writing desk Mr. Putney sat with his head buried in his hands. When she handed him the book, he said:

"I shall have to take $212 from the money we saved from the wreck when we were forced to sell our house because we could not keep up the payments. Mattie, you are a helpmate."

And taking his coat and hat from the hall he strode out of the house.

Mrs. Putney, left alone, refreshed herself with a good cry.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—A Famous French Literary Simpleton

Pointed His Gun Out the Window at the Robin.

"EVER hear anything about Calino, the French simple fellow, kiddies?" asked daddy.

The children snuggled close and cried "No!" together, just like that.

"Well," said daddy, "sometimes the people created in books by writers who really know how to write get to be just as real to our minds as a person who lived in flesh and blood.

"Calino is such a person, and he sails blithely through the humorous literature of France much the same as the Irish 'Paddy' does in English literature. Alice in Wonderland, too, seems like a real little girl, although Lewis Carroll makes her do the most impossible things in his book.

"Well, this Calino is made to say the funniest things.

"For instance, one day at school he got into a fight with another boy and went home to his daddy with a deep gash on his forehead.

"His daddy, of course, was very much scared and inquired how he got the awful cut.

"'What cut, daddy?' foolishly asked little Calino, though he might have known very well what his daddy meant.

"'Why, that cut on your head, of course!' replied his daddy.

"'I bit myself there, papa,' said Calino.

"'Why, child, you couldn't bite your own forehead!' said Daddy Calino.

"'Oh, yes, daddy! I got up on to a chair and did it,' calmly announced this little simpleton.

"One morning Calino rose early and went out with his gun to get some game.

"Over in the garden of his friend Camille he saw a robin up in a tree. He aimed at it, but it flew down back of the fence out of the range of his gun.

"Then Calino went to his friend Camille's house, crept upstairs softly, stole into Camille's bedroom without waking him, who was sound asleep in his bed, pointed his gun out of the window at the robin and fired.

"Bang!

"Of course Camille jumped out of bed in great alarm.

"'What is the matter?' he shouted.

"'Oh, did I wake you up?' asked Calino, very much surprised. 'I pulled the trigger very softly.'"

The children both laughed gleefully. "He was a funny fellow, wasn't he, daddy?"

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Adv.

A man was prejudiced against buying on credit. He thought that anything bought for his personal use "on time" would be priced too high, that his personal affairs would be unpleasantly investigated and that any such transaction would be undignified and unbusinesslike.

Parisian "Gaitor Boots"

With GRAY and FAWN CLOTH TOPS.

The most pronounced style-note of the present Fall season—and Gray Top Boots are extremely scarce just now. The best of these toppings are made of what is known as "DREADNOUGHT CLOTH"—it comes from abroad, and the supply has, of course, been greatly curtailed by the war.

Good cloth tops are also made in this country, but the American mills have not been able to keep up with the unprecedented demand that has sprung up for these shoe all over the country.

We are pleased to announce that we have a very good supply of these popular boots in the daintiest models you have seen this Fall.

The prices are $4.00 to $6.00.

SEEK BAIL FOR RABBIT SLAYER

Newton Smalley Ready to Act as Bondsman if Court Makes Order.

RELEASE IS PREDICTED

Rumor Has It that Phillipson Will Gain His Freedom Within Forty-eight Hours—Governer Fielder Consulted—Informer Seeks Aid.

Efforts are being made today by Winfield S. Angleman, counsel for nineteen-year-old Oscar Phillipson, the convicted game law violator, to have his client released on bail. Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, has enlisted his sympathies in the young man's cause and stated this morning that he would be glad to furnish the necessary bonds if the court would grant the prisoner's release pending a retrial of the case. Mr. Smalley visited Governor Fielder, during the Riparian Commissioners' meeting in Jersey City, yesterday, and at that time took up the matter with the State executive. Governor Fielder promised to take the matter under advisement and will communicate with Mr. Smalley informing him as to the proper course to be pursued.

Mr. Angleman spent several hours yesterday in an effort to induce Justice of the Peace Thomas A. Snape who sentenced the youth to 120 days in the Somerville jail, to reopen the case, but Mr. Snape steadfastly maintains that he has no legal right to do this. He contends that the matter is entirely up to the State Game Commission and the informant. Ernest Napier, of East Orange, president of the State Commission, was consulted last night, and he promised to take the matter up with the attorney general.

The facts developed since the investigation was instituted, coupled with the almost unanimous protest of the community, makes it certain that Phillipson will be released within the next forty-eight hours. There is an affidavit in the possession of Mr. Angleman showing that Union County

MARTIN GALBRAITH DIES IN 77TH YEAR

Well Known Citizen Passes Away at His Home Today.

Martin Galbraith, aged 77 years, one of the best known citizens of Plainfield, died this morning at his home, 540 West Sixth street, following a long illness. He had lived in this city for the past fifty years, where he was well-known and respected. During the Civil War he was engaged in the lumber business in the West, being very successful. He returned here shortly after the war.

Mr. Galbraith was one of the founders of St. Mary's church, and a faithful communicant at the services until ill health prevented his attendance. He possessed admirable qualities and had a large circle of acquaintances.

There survives a wife, two daughters, the Misses Anna and Catherine Galbraith, and five sons, Daniel J., Peter F., Den J. Galbraith, of this city, and John F. Galbraith, of Sag Harbor, L. I., and Martin Galbraith, Jr., of Metuchen. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, where a requiem high mass will be said for the repose of the soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

S. P. T. WILBUR LAID UP.

Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue, is confined to his home suffering from an injury to his shin sustained in attempting to get into an automobile one day last week. The victim is recovering rapidly and it will be only a question of a few days before he is about again as usual.

FILE EXCEPTIONS TO WILL ACCOUNT

Orphans' Court Fixes November 20 as Time for Hearing in Gahagan Case.

Elizabeth, Nov. 13.—Exceptions were filed today in the Orphans' Court, to the accounting of the executors of the will of William A. Gahagan, formerly of Plainfield. The exceptions are taken by four daughters of the deceased. The executors are the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Gahagan; son, Edward F. Gahagan, and a son-in-law, William J. Gorman.

The court fixed Friday, November 20, as the time for a hearing in the matter. William R. Wilson represents the four daughters, while Carey & Erwin, of Jersey City, are counsel for the executors. Mr. Gahagan died at his home in this city, February 19, 1912, leaving a large estate.

BLUE INK MARKS CANCEL BALLOTS

Recent Election Shows Many Others to Be Ignorant of Fact.

A compilation of facts following last week's election has conveyed the information to local officials that many ballots were thrown out because voters used inks and pencil marks of a color prohibited by the Geran law. Anything but black ink and black pencil is illegal, but the distinction is not regarded seriously by scores of men entitled to suffrage. Many of them think blue ink is just as good as black because most fountain pens hold the former, and others use any kind of pencil as long as it makes the necessary cross.

In one district in North Plainfield eight ballots were thrown out because blue ink fountain pens had been used, while in another five men lost their vote for the same reason. One man had placed his crosses so carefully it looked as though he had used a compass to get the exact position but the azure tint in his fountain pen fluid cancelled his painful precision. On the city side of the brook the blue marks were equally numerous and the various election committees are planning a campaign of instruction in this respect before the next election.

MRS. A. E. VOORHEES DIES IN THIS CITY

Morristown Woman Stricken With Apoplexy While Visiting Relatives.

Mrs. Frances A. Voorhees, aged 59 years, wife of A. E. Voorhees, of Morristown, died last night at the home of her cousin, Mrs. J. S. Cramer, in the Endress apartments at West Front street and Madison avenue, following a stroke of apoplexy which she suffered on Tuesday night. Mrs. Voorhees came to Plainfield a week ago today to visit her cousin, and at that time was enjoying excellent health.

Mrs. Voorhees was born at High Bridge, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bennett, of that place. After her marriage she removed to Morristown, where for many years her husband has conducted the United States Hotel. Mrs. Voorhees was a member of the Presbyterian church and was widely known and esteemed.

Mrs. Voorhees, beside a husband, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Cook, of Morristown, and her cousin, Mrs. J. S. Cramer, of this city. Arrangements were made today to have the remains removed to Morristown, where the funeral and burial will take place.

$6 MORE FOR THE RELIEF OF BELGIAN HOMELESS

Two more contributions were received this morning by the Daily Press for the Plainfield Belgian Relief Fund. M. E. D. sent $5, and $1 was contributed by a friend. This brings the total received by this newspaper to $185. The local fund gathered by a committee amounts to about $1,500 at the present time.

TELLS OF WORK AMONG CHINESE

"Bob" Gailey Delivers Graphic Account Before Audience of Men.

NATIVES RESPONSIVE

Well-known Missionary Says the Chinese Learn Readily and Have Made Marked Strides in Civilization—Other Speakers.

Missionary work being conducted by Princeton University and the American Y. M. C. A. in China was graphically described to a large audience of men at the Crescent Avenue church, last night, by Robert R. Gailey, one of Princeton's best known graduates and a leader of this work in Perkin, and Fletcher S. Brockman, national Y. M. C. A. secretary in China. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Plainfield Princeton Club and was in charge of Samuel T. Carter, Jr. Mr. Gailey was graduated from Princeton in 1896 and has spent a number of years in China.

When Mr. Gailey went to China sixteen years ago he was of the opinion that it was impossible to accomplish the work proposed, he being the second American representative to go to that country. The Princeton work in China is done in co-operation with the Y. M. C. A., and the methods of that great organization have been adopted by the collegiate representatives. During the first six or eight years that Mr. Gailey was in China he was the sole representative from Princeton and a fund known as the "Gailey" fund was started. This consisted of contributions from the New

NEEDLEWORK GUILD DISPLAY ADMIRED

More Than 3,000 Garments Exhibited at the Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting and exhibition of garments of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, which were held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday afternoon, attracted a large number of people who greatly admired the fine assortment of garments displayed. There were in all about 3,000 separate articles, all the work of the local members of the guild, and they included everything that can be used to advantage in the various institutions here, among which they will be distributed.

Among the institutions that will benefit by this work are Bonnie Burn, Muhlenberg Hospital, Children's Home, Hope chapel, Parochial School, the Day Nursery, in addition to a number of special cases which have been brought to the attention of the guild members.

The distribution of the garments is made today by the officers and members of the guild. During the exhibition, yesterday, tea was served, this being in charge of Miss Lucy Talmage. Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen and Mrs. E. H. Booth poured, and they were assisted by Miss Alice Smith, Miss Garbrielle McQuaide, Miss Catherine Brown and Miss Grace Wilcox.

During the annual business meeting these officers were chosen for the coming year:

Honorary president, Mrs. John B. Dumont; president, Mrs. F. O. Herring; vice presidents, Mrs. C. E. Ryder, Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Miss Lucy Talmage and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen; executive committee, Mrs. Jabez Gilbert, Mrs. F. W. Butler, Mrs. W. A. Pinto and Mrs. F. S. Martin. It was reported that the past year has been one of the most successful in the guild's history.

It's Tough to be Out of Work but the unemployed may soon be able to procure something to do if they will leave their names at the Mayor's office, in the City Building, North Avenue tf

GOVERNOR SCORNS THE ALLEGATIONS

Hears Charges of Township Committee Against County Tax Board.

ENDS LONG SQUABBLE

Considerable Testimony Taken on Both Sides of the Case Today—Governor Was Asked to Remove Members of Tax Board.

Trenton, Nov. 13—Governor James F. Fielder culminated a long standing squabble between the North Plainfield Township Committee and the Somerset County Tax Board, this morning, following a public hearing before him in Trenton, when he announced that he saw no reason why the members of the County Board should be removed from office as petitioned by the Township Committee. The hearing was held to dispose of charges brought by the Township Committee against the Tax Board regarding the taxing of certain properties owned by the Mt. St. Mary College authorities. Governor Fielder concluded the hearing by announcing that he saw no evidence to warrant him to deal out even so much as a reprimand to the Board members.

The complaining forces were led by former Assemblyman William de la R. Anderson and, although a number of witnesses were examined by Anderson, who took entire charge of the Committee's side of the case, the impression created was not a favorable one. Petty grievances were in evidence throughout the cross-examination and nothing of a substantial nature was brought out by the complainants.

In disposing of the charges, Governor Fielder said that the whole question of the taxation of Mt. St. Mary College property had been handled very informally and that the Township Committee should have taken an appeal to the County Tax Board. This course, however, was ignored. The State executive further stated that the entire matter might have been settled without bringing the charges and necessitating so much trouble.

Azadiah Beekman appeared as counsel for the Tax Board, while Peter Backus, of Trenton, was counsel for the college.

GAVE INTERESTING LECTURE ON INDIA

L. V. F. Randolph Shows Fine Collection of Views at First Baptist Church.

An interesting illustrated lecture on "India" was given at the First Baptist church, last night, by L. V. F. Randolph, the proceeds being for the purpose of liquidating the church debt through the making of a number of improvements. The views, more than one hundred, were taken by Mr. Randolph while on a visit to India, and they are considered among the finest collections in existence.

The pictures gave one an excellent idea of the many fine temples and other public buildings throughout India, as well as the customs of the people. Mr. Randolph explained in an interesting way the difference in the many religions in that country.

The broad highways, lined with beautiful trees and other foliage, together with the imposing buildings throughout the cities and country districts were all pictured. The views were unusually clear and are considered works of art. Mr. Randolph was at a slight advantage last evening, having only recently recovered from an illness which threatened to prevent his attendance at the lecture.

"GET ACQUAINTED" SOCIAL.

Under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, a parish social will be held in the parish house next Tuesday night. All the members of the church and theird friends are cordially invited to attend and it will be in the form of a "get acquainted" affair.

MOY SPENT $42.75.

Former Mayor George W. V. Moy, who was the Progressive Congressional candidate, has filed his statement of expenses with County Clerk James C. Calvert. This shows that he personally contributed $50 to his campaign and expended $42.75.

INJURIES FATAL TO DUNELLENITE

Ambrose H. James Had His Back Broken in Fall From Trestle.

WIFE'S PREMONITION

Removed to Muhlenberg Hospital After Accident at Bloomsbury and Died Last Night—Well-known in Dunellen.

Ambrose H. James, aged 41 years, of Columbia street, Dunellen, a foreman of a bridge gang of the Central Railroad, died in Muhlenberg Hospital at 5 o'clock last night, as a result of falling off of a temporary trestle that was being torn down near Bloomsbury, and breaking his back. The trestle was used as a "run around" while a new concrete bridge was in the process of erection. The gang that was employed under James in destroying the bridge was composed entirely of Dunellen men, the majority of whom witnessed the sad accident.

The tracks, ties and stringers of the trestle had all been removed when the accident happened, the caps and bents being all that remained. Three of James' men were jacking the cap off of one of the bents and James was standing on the cap of another bent, holding a rope in his hands which was attached to the cap that was being torn off. He was holding the rope in order to prevent the cap from falling over the further side of the bent on some men working in a ditch below on one of the wings of the new bridge. When the cap had been pried off and commenced falling from Elizabeth, Nov. 13—Hearings on thirty appeals from assessments levied on Plainfield property will be considered by the County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, at a hearing in the City Hall there Tuesday next.

One of the principal appeals will be that of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Plainfield, which claims exemption from an assessment of $11,000 on a house and barn at 115-120 East Fifth street. The assessor claims that the house was not used for the purpose provided by the law covering exemptions. If the exemption is not allowed a $5,000 reduction in the assessment will be asked.

FORM AN ALLIED TRADES COMMITTEE

Will Promote the Social Welfare of the Craftsmen of This City.

The Labor Day Parade Committee passed out of existence, last evening, and the Plainfield Allied Trades' Committee formed. The affairs of the old committee were brought to a close, all bills ordered paid, and subcommittees discharged.

The new committee, the purposes of which will include the caring for, in a measure, the social side of the life of the local craftesmen, was formally organized and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Richard D. Scott; vice-chairman, H. S. Dorflinger; secretary, Ernest A. Rhodes; treasurer, Allan R. M. Anderson; trustees, Milton H. Hincheliffe, Thomas Dunphy and Samuel J. Bowden. Fifteen unions were represented in the new organization, with forty-four delegates as members.

Tentative plans were discussed for a ball during the course of the winter, and a carnival in the spring, through which it is hoped to secure sufficient funds with which to conduct another parade next fall. Thomas Dunphy, E. A. Rhodes and Richard Scott were appointed to make the preliminary plans for the ball.

Mr. Williams showed seventy-five colored pictures of his trip, illustrating typical South American scenes.

After the lecture Mr. Williams showed six live snakes captured by him on his trip.

ARCANUM MEMBERS HOST AT EVENING OF JOLLITY

Members of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, No. 711, held a social event in their lodge rooms here last night, entertaining one hundred friends with a social program. Ernest R. Pruden, a brother of Regent R. A. Pruden, was initiated into the lodge. The young man was so anxious to become a member of the organization that he went all the way to New Brunswick by bicycle to take out the necessary papers.

Professional entertainers from New York and Newark provided an excellent program of amusement and it was voted by all to be one of the best occasions of this nature that the local lodge has ever enjoyed. The local order will attend in a body the meeting to be held in Elizabeth Monday night, meeting at the depot to board the 7:40 train.

TERRIFIC FIGHT IS UNCEASING

Germans Said to Have Completed Measures to Cover a Possible Retreat.

SUBMARINE IS SUNK

Great Activity by German Fleet in Kiel Canal—British Casualities Are 57,000 Men, According to Premier Asquith.

Amsterdam, Nov. 13 (Central News Cable)—The fighting at Dixmude and Ypres continues to be of the most desperate character, according to despatches from across the Holland-Belgium border. Fresh troops are constantly arriving in the German line. The Germans have now completed measures for covering a possible retreat from Flanders. Two principal lines are provided. The first extends from Antwerp to Mons, through Hal, and the second along the Meuse.

Paris, Nov. 13—Less violence in the battle along the Yser is reported in the French war office statement given out at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It is stated that the Allies' troops have continued to progress little by little. The statement reads as follows:

"From the sea to the River Lys the conflict presents a character of violence less than on the preceding day. Numerous efforts by the Germans to cross the Yser Canal by a sortie west of Dixmude and at other points of passage above there have been checked. Generally speaking, our positions have been maintained without change. To the north, to the east, and to the south of Ypres the attacks of the enemy have been repulsed.

"At the end of the day, at different points of our line and that of the British army from the region to the east of Armentieres to the Oise, there have been cannonades and minor actions. In the course of the last few days of fog our troops have not ceased to progress little by little. They are established almost everywhere at

MRS. STOCKTON LOST IN LAKEWOOD FINAL

Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Winner, Breaks Record for the Course.

Lakewood, Nov. 13.—After working her way into the final round of the invitation golf tournament for women over the Lakewood Country Club links, Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of the Plainfield Country Club, lost out in the crucial test this morning, to Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Country Club, Philadelphia, the result being 5 up and 3 to play. The match gave Mrs. Barlow the title and the chief cup of the tournament. The Plainfield woman mounted to the top after some closely contested matches with several of the country's feminine golf cracks and her defeat in the finals was accomplished only after her opponent had set up the lowest score ever returned on the Lakewood links by a woman. The Philadelphia club's representative played in fine style and led Mrs. Stockton going out by five strokes. On the homeward trip she gained an advantage of three strokes over her Plainfield opponent.

The cards:

Mrs. Barlow:
Out .....5 6 4 4 6 5 5 5 5—45
In .....3 3 5 6 5 4 5 6 5—42—87

Mrs. Stockton:
Out .....6 6 5 5 7 5 5 5 6—50
In .....4 4 4 5 4 5 6 6 7—45—95

On the outward trip the two players performed on an even basis, Mrs. Barlow negotiating the second, sixth, seventh and eighth holes in the same number of strokes as her opponent. It took Mrs. Stockton one more stroke to make her first, third, fourth, fifth and ninth holes. Although the Plainfield representative kept on an even basis with her experienced opponent in several of the holes she never managed to gain an advantage. The golf being staged was remarkably consistent and Mrs. Barlow exhibited a degree of coolness and confidence that was noticeable to the gallery of enthusiasts.

Coming in Mrs. Stockton fell one stroke behind in the first and second holes, but on the third went Mrs. Barlow one better for the first time during the match. She followed this up in a style that instilled confidence in her playing by taking an advantage of one stroke on the fourth and fifth holes, but Mrs. Barlow's consistency again came to the fore on the sixth and she went the Plainfielder one better, and regained a stroke in the seventh, tied the eight and gained two strokes in the final.

The number of vacant houses in the borough at the present time is the smallest in some years. Only two old houses are unoccupied and all of the new ones in the course of construction are waiting to be taken possession of by different parties. A striking comparison of the increase that has taken place in the valuation of land in the last three years is shown by the figures of a local man who says he has been offered $2,000 for a plot of ground that he paid less than one-third of that amount for three years ago. Work is nearly finished on a two and one-half story house at North and Farley avenues for a Brooklyn man and the MacGuire house on Forest road has just been completed. A two and one-half story house will soon be erected for a New York man on First street, a thoroughfare recently cut through from South to LaGrande avenue, by H. C. Lockwood. The Sorenson cottage on Park avenue, Scotch Plains, has just been finished and work will soon start on the construction of three modern dwellings on Mountain avenue from E. L. Hand. The large house that a New York teacher by the name of Dickinson is building is beginning to show signs of completion, but will not be finished for some time yet as Mr. Dickinson is building it himself, with the help of one other man, in his leisure time. The house is beautifully situated on the road to Glenside and commands an excellent view for several miles. The lower part will be of stone and when completed it is expected that the structure will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. He has been at work on it for nearly a year and intends beautifying the grounds around it as well.

TO GET BEER TOMORROW.

Petrograd, Nov. 13—The resumption of the sale of beer, which, by decision of the Government, will be permitted beginning to morrow, has brought forth a storm of protest from many sources. The newspaper Novoe Vremya severely criticises the new order, on the ground that it is at variance with the Emperor's decision and may revive the dormant national appetite for strong drink.

CALIFORNIA'S "FARMER BOYS" END TOUR

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 13—The carload of "farmer boys" which California sent to Washington and Atlanta, arrived home today, bringing the congratulations of Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture, to the clubs of boys and girls who are booming the "back to the farm" movement here.

The transcontinental tour of the boys is the first of its kind, and other states are planning to take up the idea. The lucky boys were the prize winners in the agricultural clubs, and their tour was entirely satisfactory as an opportunity to study agricultural conditions across the country.

While in Washington, the boys met Secretary Houston, who praised highly the interest which is being taken in the agricultural clubs by the boys and girls of America. Following the reception, they inspected the various branches of the Government's big department of agriculture. They then visited Atlanta and other cities on their way home. Prof. B. H. Crocheron, of the extension department of the College of Agriculture, University of California, had charge of the party.

WANDERING CHICKENS COST OWNERS $23.49

In one respect chickens are much the same the world over, viz.: unless housed up they are prone to wander over into the garden of their owner's neighbor. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peiver, of Lincoln, failed to keep their chickens housed up and as a result they were the defendants yesterday, in a case tried before Judge Rene P. F. von Minden, in the Borough Hall. Mrs. Susan O'Grove, the plaintiff, alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Peiver's chickens wandered over into her garden and scratched up her fall sowing of spinach and kale seed, thereby destroying her early spring crop prospects.

After deliberating over the evidence, as brought forth by Lawyer Edward S. Fisher, of Bound Brook, who appeared for the plaintiff, and a New York city attorney, who represented the defendants, the court awarded Mrs. O'Grove a judgment of $20 and costs, amounting to $23.49.

The officers as elected at the morning session yesterday, were installed at the conclusion of the meeting by Miss Alice M. Committee reports were made by various chairmen, while the annual reports of the district secretaries were made as follows: Elizabeth, Mrs. Frederick J. Hulsach; Jersey City, Miss Jennie E. Laughlin; Newark, Miss Jeannette J. Hunt; Paterson, Mrs. William Quinn.

MANY ENJOY ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ABOUT CHINA

Many people enjoyed an illustrated lecture on "China," given by Mrs. Harper Silliman, at the Y. W. C. A., last night. The lecture was about the association work in that country and the beautiful stereopticons made it all the more interesting.

An appeal was made for the support of the work in that country and the rapid increase makes necessary a greater support. This lecture is known as the annual "foreign" party of the association.

S. of A., in the near future.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The burial took place at Readington, Hunterdon county, today.

VILLA LEADS 45,000 MEN OUT TO BATTLE

Is Seeking Carranza Forces Under General Gonzales at Queretaro.

Washington, Nov. 13.—General Villa left Aguascalienes yesterday at the head of a force of 45,000 picked men, to give battle to the Carranza forces at Queretaro under General Pablo Gonzales. The latter is said to have between 15,000 and 40,000 troops, although reports indicate that there is dissatisfaction in his ranks and that one of his officers already has deserted with a considerable force. This force is said to have offered battle yesterday to the Constitutionalists at Leon, between Queretaro and Mexico City, the result not yet being known.

General Bliss, in command of the border patrol, has gone to Naco to take personal charge of the situation there. Colonel Hatfield, in command of the cavalry stationed at Naco, telegraphed the War Department today that Governor Maytorena, outside the town, had kept up a continuous shrapnel fire, but that he had made no move that indicated a general assault on Hill's position.

The State of San Luis Potosi has announced its intention of supporting the acts of the Aguas Calientes Convention. There is every indication that a considerable addition to General Villa's army will be drawn from this State, which is within striking distance of the State and City of Mexico.

WANTS ORDER SERVED FOR DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE

John H. Van Winke, of this city, appeared before the Orphan's Court in Elizabeth, this morning, with an application for an order of distribution in disposing of the estate of the late Joseph Webster.

The testator died in 1854 and Mr. Van Winkle is the sole surviving executor of Catherine Webster, his wife. The estate consists of property located in this city.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS; TURKEYS WILL BE PLENTIFUL

Washington, Nov. 13.—With the approach of Thanksgiving Day, the Department of Agriculture today issued a warning to housekeepers against unscrupulous dealers in poultry who may seek to charge exorbitant prices for turkeys. The explanation of the extra charge, it is suggested, will be the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease. Such explanations, the department experts declare, should not be accepted for the disease virtually will have no effect on the quality of the fowls or on their marketing. There are plenty of turkeys for all, the department asserts, for the past season has been unusually favorable for the breeding of the fowls.

BORO GRADE STUDENTS WILL BE TRIED BY CLASS COUNCIL

The three eighth grade classes of Somerset School have just instituted a new form of class government in which students of the class may be tried by a court consisting of the different officers of the class for misbehavior and other matters that arise.

Each class has its own court, consisting of the president, vice-president, secretary, marshal and police officers, who are elected by the members of the class. There is also a committee of six appointed by the president to draw up a constitution which controls the workings of the court.

When a person is brought before the court for misbehavior or some other offense he has committed in the class, he is tried and sentence is passed on him. If he now fails to comply with the wishes of the court he is sent to the supervising principal of the school to be dealt with as necessary.

This is certainly a novel idea and is one which is being used by schools in the State with great success.

STILL ANOTHER GAME.

FUNERAL OF ETHEL LEHMAN.

The funeral of Ethel C. Lehman, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Lehman, of Cranford, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital, was held at the home of the parents at 8 o'clock last night. Rev. Dr. Green, of Cranford, officiated. The burial was in Fairview cemetery, Westfield, today.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

WOMEN AND THE NEWSPAPERS.

The woman has quite a different relation to a newspaper than a man. The male biped, for one thing, reads the morning as well as the evening newspaper. His better half as a rule does not have time for morning reading. She does find time, however, and very readily accepts it, for reading the paper that is left at the door late in the afternoon. The early morning hours of the housewife are filled with many cares. The late afternoon and evening is her recreation time. The afternoon newspaper, then, must appeal to the domestic, home instinct of its readers as well as give the news.

Women are the best readers of advertisements. Men have satisfied their disposition toward levity at the expense of the "weaker sex" by calling attention to this fact. They have ascribed it to a woman's natural curiosity and to her sense of bargaining. They have thought it to be a weakness—a lack of seriousness of mind. They have pointed to it as evidence that a woman is more eager to keep in touch with shop news than with the time—with politics, current history and political and social and commercial development.

Men, however, are coming to realize that a woman reads advertisements not because she lacks appreciation for and interest in the news and editorial columns, but rather because she is naturally more thrifty than a man. The wife and housekeeper reads advertisements because she is conscious of her responsibility for the economical management of the household. She realizes that upon her judgment and ability will depend very much how far her husband's salary may be spread and stretched in keeping the family well nourished and well clothed.

The wise little woman in the home will usually show herself quite as able to criticise editorials and pass opinion upon current events as her husband. She also shows a keener knowledge of the advertising news than he. And in this she shows greater wisdom. She knows that mony and time can be saved by doing her shopping for all the departments of the home in the daily advertising columns of the evening newspaper. She has come to know that advertisement reading, bargain hunting, knowledge of new goods and wares pays. It is a knowledge that touches the pocketbook.—Elizabeth Journal.

MISS MARCH TO SPEAK.

The series of special evangelistic services which have been conducted at Grace M. E. church, the borough, during the past three weeks, will be concluded this evening, when Miss Emily March will be the speaker. Special music will feature the meeting.

NEED FOR STATE LAW.

There are few pedestrians who have not been blinded at times by the glare of powerful electric headlights on automobiles using the Plainfield streets. Frequently people are so blinded that they run directly into the path of other autos, and accidents result. In Newark, Commissioner Gillen, of the Board of Works, has declared that he will endeavor to secure the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the operators of automobiles from using any headlight, "unless it is properly shaded so as not to dazzle or blind other users of the highway, or make it difficult or unsafe for them to ride, drive or walk thereon."

Mr. Gillen has the right idea, but apparently is not familiar with the fact that under the provisions for State registration, the only law which it is necessary for automobilists to obey, or be familiar with, is the State law, and no local restrictions can be passed. What the Newark official should do is to go to the Legislature. It is true that we have too many laws already, but this regulation is certainly needed. Not only should the flaring lights be removed from autos within city limits, but they should also be taken from some of the street cars, and a State law is the proper method. That would be observed, because there would be little or no trouble about revoking the license of a chauffeur, while a local ordinance would have about as much attention paid to it as is now paid to some of the blue laws.

William Riddle, the mayor of Atlantic City, has gained much notoriety because of his open declarations in favor of Sunday saloons. His latest blast has been delivered since election, and it was one of regret because the selection of a Republican Legislature dispels all hope of getting open-Sunday legislation at the session which starts in January. In other words, the people of the State are condemned because they elected men who can be depended upon to let the liquor laws alone. From all reports, as the Camden Post-Telegram says, Atlantic City has not done so badly with the saloons closed on Sundays; in fact the opinion grows that the cutting out of Sunday booze is really a benefit to the resort, its gain in reputation as a law-abiding community and in the character of its over-Sunday patronage offsetting the loss of bar and cafe receipts on the Lord's Day. However, if Local Option should ever be adopted for general application the seashore resorts have the right to demand a local referendum on the question of permitting the sale of liquor six or seven days in the week.

If John J. Carroll, chairman of the Republican City Committee, is a candidate for city clerk, as is reported, it will not be the first time that an effort has been made to get James T. MacMurray's job. And it is pretty safe to predict that when the Council organizes next January Mr. MacMurray will be re-elected. Whether or not they agree with him politically there is not a member of the Council who does not realize that it will be mighty difficult to find a better man for the place. His experience in the office, the present term of which runs out next year, has proven of great value to the members of the Council in the past, and experience is a mighty important thing. Mr. MacMurray is a shrewd politician, and if he wants the place again, the chances are that he will get it.

A short time ago it was announced that former Mayor Newton B. Smalley would resign as a member of the North Plainfield Board of Education because he felt that the State law interfered too much with the administration of the schools by the local Boards of Education. That Mr. Smalley's complaint is general is proven by the fact that Senator Ackley, of Cumberland county, appeared before a special committee of the Senate on Wednesday to object to the present code requirements for school buildings, claiming that they impose a hardship upon the small school districts by requiring buildings that cost more than the districts can afford to spend. The Senate committee will make a report on the subject to the coming Legislature, and it is probable that the matter will receive more than passing attention by the law-makers.

Add to that great list of American brevities which includes "Of agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnegan," the following from Charles H. S. Robinson, defeated Republican candidate for Congress in Massachusetts, when his campaign expense was filed: "I received nothing, spent nothing, promised nothing, got nothing."

It may be all well enough for some of the residents of Plainfield to shout about stopping something, but wouldn't it be a great deal better for the city if they started something?

The West End Sage suggests that it might be a good thing to call off the war abroad until the North Plainfield rabbit question is settled.

The world is said to owe every man a living. Some people evidently think that a street corner is a good place for a collection agency.

The contributing editor for tomorrow will be Henry E. Haws. His topic will be "The Aims and Methods of Modern Charity."

GERMAN SERMON AT LOCAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. G. Dacuble will preach a German sermon at the St. Peter's Lutheran church, corner Grove street and Mercer avenue, on Sunday. Mr. Dacuble's stay in the United States is of particular interest. He is president of the mission of what until a few months ago was in German Togoland, in Africa. His services were of such value that the German Emperor conferred a decoration upon him. With several associate missionaries he was on his way from Africa to revisit his home in Germany when the war broke out, and the course of the steamer was turned to Pernambuco, Brazil. From there the German missionaries took passage to Philadelphia, only to be stopped by the French cruiser Conde, have their trunks and money taken from them. They will remain under the protection of the United States until the close of the present war.

WILL START CAMPAIGN FOR DRINKING FOUNTAINS

The local Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U., at their session early in the week, decided to make an active campaign in the interests of having a number of drinking fountains placed in various parts of the city. Such fountains have been used in this city upon several occasions in the past with varied successes. A few years ago, a fountain was erected on North avenue, but was afterward removed to West Eighth street, in front of the City Park. Another fountain stood for years at Somerset and Front streets, but the blessing was abused, and it was found necessary to have it removed.

What course the campaign will take is not as yet known, as the details have not as yet been completed, but it is believed that plans will be well underway by spring.
